1. Accredited :Accredited is (Of a person, organization, or course of study) officially recognized or authorized.
2. Allocation :The action or process of allocating or sharing out something is called allocation.
3. Alternative 'Concurrent' Model :A student simultaneously studies both one or more academic subjects, and the ways of teaching that subject, leading to a combined bachelor's degree and teaching credential to qualify as a teacher of that subject.
4. Anomaly :Something that deviates from what is standard, normal, or expected
5. Approach :It is a way of looking at teaching and learning. Underlying any language teaching approach is a theoretical view of what language is, and of how it can be learnt. An approach gives rise to methods, the way of teaching something, which use classroom activities or techniques to help learners learn.
6. Assess :Evaluate or judge
7. Audio Lingual Method :It is a teaching method and based on behaviorist theory, which postulates that certain traits of living things, and in this case humans, could be trained through a system of reinforcement. The correct use of a trait would receive positive feedback while incorrect use of that trait would receive negative feedback.
8. Autonomous :(Of a country or region) having the freedom to govern itself or control its own affairs.
9. Caution :Vigilance, carefulness
10. Collocation :The habitual juxtaposition of a particular word with another word or words with a frequency greater than chance is called collocation.

11. Communicative Language Teaching Approach :It is an approach to language teaching that emphasizes interaction as both the means and the ultimate goal of study.
12. Community Language Learning :It is a language-teaching approach in which students work together to develop what aspects of a language they would like to learn. It is based on the Counselling-approach in which the teacher acts as a counselor and a paraphraser, while the learner is seen as a client and collaborator.
13. Concocted :Assemble
14. Concordance :Agreement or consistency
15. Consecutive' Model :A student simultaneously studies both one or more academic subjects, and the ways of teaching that subject, leading to a combined bachelor's degree and teaching credential to qualify as a teacher of that subject
16. Content Based Instruction :The focus of a CBI lesson is on the topic or subject matter. During the lesson students are focused on learning about something. This could be anything that interests them from a serious science subject to their favourite pop star or even a topical news story or film.
17. Contextualize :Place or study in context.
18. Continuous Professional Development :CPD is the process by which teachers (like other professionals) reflect upon their competencies, keep them up to date, and develop them further.
19. Continuum :Range, variety
20. Cooperative Language Learning :It is group learning activity organized so that learning is dependent on the socially structured exchange of information between learners in groups and in which each learner is held accountable for his or her own learning and is motivated to increase the learning of others.

21. Crucible :A situation of severe trial, or in which different elements interact, leading to the creation of something new
22. Curricula :It is the plural of curriculum which means syllabus
23. Deontology :The study of the nature of duty and obligation
24. Dimensions :Aspects, features
25. Discourse :In linguistics, discourse refers to a unit of language longer than a single sentence. More broadly, discourse is the use of spoken or written language in a social context.
26. ESP (English for Specific Purposes) :It stands for English for Specific Purposes. It is defined to meet specific needs of the learners. It makes use of underlying methodology and activities of the discipline it serves. It is centered on the language appropriate to these activities in terms of grammar, lexis, register, study skills, discourse and genre.
27. Feedback :Feedback is information given to the learner about his/her performance with the objective of improving performance.
28. Grammar :Grammar is the set of rules and conventions of language shared by a group of native speakers (whereby we decide whether a particular language form is right or wrong).
29. Grammar Translation Method :Sometimes also known as the Classical Method, this is a traditional teaching technique that was used to teach Latin and Greek and was particularly in vogue during the 16th Century. The focus at this time was on the translation of texts, grammar, and rote learning of vocabulary. There was no emphasis on speaking and listening comprehension because Latin and Greek were taught more as academic subjects rather than a means of oral communication.

30. In-service :(Of training) intended for those actively engaged in the profession or activity concerned.

31. Innateness :Existing in, belonging to, or determined by factors present in an individual from birth : native

32. Interpersonal :The interpersonal function refers to the grammatical choices that enable speakers to enact their complex and diverse interpersonal relations. This tenet of systemic functional linguistics is based on the claim that a speaker not only talks about something, but is always talking to and with others.

33. Intrapersonal :It is a communicator's internal use of language or thought. It can be useful to envision intrapersonal communication occurring in the mind of the individual in a model which contains a sender, receiver, and feedback loop.

34. Multiple Intelligence Method :The concept of multiple intelligence was coined by Howard Gardner around 1983. Gardner was a professor at Harvard University when he suggested that we all learn in different ways and according to different learning preferences. He outlined eight different intelligences that he claims are present in all of us, but to varying degrees.

35. Naturalist :The ability to understand and organize the patterns of nature

36. NLP (Neuro-Linguistic Programming) :It is an approach to communication, personal development, and psychotherapy created by Richard Bandler and John Grinder in California, United States in the 1970s. NLP's creators claim there is a connection between neurological processes (neuro-), language (linguistic) and behavioral patterns learned through experience (programming), and that these can be changed to achieve specific goals in life. Bandler and Grinder also claim that NLP methodology can "model" the skills of exceptional people, allowing anyone to acquire those skills. They claim as well that, often in a single session, NLP can treat problems such as phobias, depression, tic disorders, psychosomatic illnesses, near-sightedness, allergy, common cold, and learning disorders.

37. Pedagogists :The art or profession of teaching
38. Pedagogy :The method and practice of teaching, especially as an academic subject or theoretical concept
39. Practitioner :A person actively engaged in an art, discipline, or profession, especially medicine
40. Pre-service :Relating to the period before a person takes a job that requires training.
41. Seamless :Unified, all-in-one
42. Semantics :It is the branch of linguistics and logic concerned with meaning. The two main areas are logical semantics, concerned with matters such as sense and reference and presupposition and implication, and lexical semantics, concerned with the analysis of word meanings and relations between them.
43. Significant :Noteworthy, important
44. Spatial :Relating to or occupying space
45. Suggestopedia :It is a language teaching method originated in the 1970s by Bulgarian psychologist Georgi Lozanov. The name combines the terms "suggestion" and "pedagogy", the main idea being that accelerated learning can take place when accompanied by de-suggestion of psychological barriers and positive suggestion. To this end lessons take place against a background of soothing music in an emotionally comforting environment, with the teacher actively planting and unplanting thoughts in and from the learners' minds.

46. Syllabus :A syllabus is a document which says what should and will be learnt.

47. Tackle :Make determined efforts to deal with (a problem or difficult task)

48. Task Based Language Learning :Task-based language learning is an approach where the planning of learning materials and teaching sessions are based around doing a task. In education, a task refers to an activity where communication is necessary: for example; deciding something, solving a problem, designing or organising something, or telling someone to do something.

49. Technique :A way of carrying out a particular task, especially the execution or performance of an artistic work or a scientific procedure.

50. The Direct Method :The direct method of teaching, which is sometimes called the natural method, and is often (but not exclusively) used in teaching foreign languages, refrains from using the learners' native language and uses only the target language. It was established in England around 1900 and contrasts with the grammar–translation method & Bilingual method of teaching and other traditional approaches, as well as with C.J.Dodson's bilingual method.

51. The Lexical Approach :The lexical approach is a method of teaching foreign languages described by Michael Lewis in the early 1990s. The basic concept on which this approach rests is the idea that an important part of learning a language consists of being able to understand and produce lexical phrases as chunks. Students are thought to be able to perceive patterns of language (grammar) as well as have meaningful set uses of words at their disposal when they are taught in this way.

52. The Natural Approach :The natural approach developed by Tracy Terrell and supported by Stephen Krashen is a language teaching approach which claims that language learning is a reproduction of the way humans naturally acquire their native language.

53. The Silent Way :The Silent Way is the name of a method of language teaching devised by Caleb Gattegno. It is based on the premise that the teacher should be silent as much as possible in the classroom but the learner should be encouraged to produce as much language as possible. The Silent Way belongs to a tradition that views learning as a problem solving, creative, discovering activity, in which the learner is a principal actor rather than a bench-bound listener (Bruner 1966).

54. Total Physical Response Method :It is s a language teaching method developed by James Asher, a professor emeritus of psychology at San José State University. It is based on the coordination of language and physical movement. In TPR, instructors give commands to students in the target language with body movements, and students respond with whole-body actions.

55. Whole Language Method :It describes a literacy philosophy which emphasizes that children should focus on meaning and strategy instruction. It is often contrasted with phonics-based methods of teaching reading and writing which emphasize instruction for decoding and spelling. However, from whole language practitioners' perspective, this view is erroneous and sets up a false dichotomy.
