ENG516_Glossary

1. Accuracy :Accuracy in technical communication refers to grammatical and contextual correctness.
2. Achievable objectives :Achievable objectives are those objectives which are achievable and attainable in terms of abilities, realistic facilities and logistics.
3. Assessment and Evaluation :Assessment is concerned with individual student's learning. Evaluation refers to course evaluation as a whole.
4. Authentic Materials :The term 'authentic' denotes that the texts were written for purposes other than language teaching and learning. Authentic materials could be real commercial documents, newspaper articles, recordings of meetings and conversations used in the workplace, newspaper clippings, excerpts from case studies, reports.
5. Aviation English :Aviation English is the de facto language of civil aviation which is called Radiotelephony; it is a specialized communication between pilots and air traffic controllers, and other personnel associated with the aviation industry.
6. Backwash Effect :When the course is designed with the test in mind, its effect is called wash back. Wash-back, according to Brown and Hudson, is "the effect of testing and assessment on the language teaching curriculum that is related to it".
7. Business Communication :The communication which takes place at the workplace, in the educational setting, corporate office, or in a government job, is called business communication and is basically carried out in the English language.

By ASFAND YARR

ENG516_Glossary

8. Business English for Academic Purposes :English for academic purposes or EAP comes under the umbrella of ESP, and is required for those who use language to perform academic tasks or for employment.
9. Case Studies :A case study is a description of a problem or decision faced by a company business. It describes a specific business problem and creates a jumping off point for analysis and discussion.
10. Code of conduct :Code of conduct is the rules which are observed in different fields of life including education and pedagogy.
11. Communication Needs :Communication needs are the communication channels - traditional like letters and reports and the telephone as well as modern like the internet, intranet, fax, and instant messages-which we use to communicate.
12. Communicative Language Teaching :Communicative language teaching (CLT), aims to develop learners' ability to use language to communicate. CLT is not a precise term and can mean different things to different people.
13. Controlling :Setting standards, checking actual performance against standards, taking corrective action as needed
14. Course Books :Course books are the major source of framework material which can be used extensively.
15. Dealing with Professional Content :A contentious issue in teaching of Business Communication is the amount of professional content in the course design.
16. Designing a Course :Designing a business English course is a matter of making a series of decisions based on information gathered during a needs analysis about learners' communication, business and pedagogical needs.

By ASFAND YARR

ENG516_Glossary

17. Discourse Competence :Discourse competence, on the other hand, deals with language in use, although it is important to note that the word discourse can be used in a variety of ways by language professionals.
18. EAL :English as an Additional Language
19. EBE :English for Business and Economics
20. EGAP :English for General Academic Purposes
21. EGBP :English for General Business Purposes: targets those learners who have lack of working experience (pre-experienced or low-experience)
22. EGP :English for General Purposes
23. EMP :English for Medical Purposes
24. EOP :English for Occupational Purposes
25. ERPP :English for Research Publication Purposes
26. ESAP :English for Visual Arts Study
27. ESBP :English for Specific Business Purpose
28. ESS :English for Social Sciences
29. EST :English for Science and Technology
30. Ethnocentrism :Ethnocentrism is the view that one's culture is the center of everything, and other cultural groups are judged with reference to it and are compared to one's cultural group.
31. EVP :English for Vocational Purposes
32. Feedback :Feedback is information given to the learner about his/her performance with the objective of improving performance.
33. Framework Materials :Frameworks are explicitly structured contexts designed to help teachers and learners.

By ASFAND YARR

ENG516_Glossary

34. Grammar :Grammar is the set of rules and conventions of language shared by a group of native speakers (whereby we decide whether a particular language form is right or wrong).
35. Grid :A grid or framework sets out the aims and objectives, followed by all the elements that we believe are necessary for someone to be able to meet the objectives.
36. Intercultural Competence :One's ability to know and deal with attitudes, behaviors, beliefs, and values of other cultures other than one's own culture.
37. Leading :Getting others to get the job done, motivating
38. Learning Strategies :Learning strategies are "…characteristics we want to stimulate in students to enable them to become more proficient language learners" (Oxford, 1990).
39. Learning Styles :Dunn and Dunn (1979) define learning styles as "A term that describes the variations among learners in using one or more senses to understand, organize, and retain experience".
40. Linguistic Competence :Linguistic competence is shown in the use of the basic elements that go together to form a language, such as vocabulary, grammar, phonology.
41. Listening Skills :Listening is a conscious selective process, unlike hearing which is involuntary, depends on non-verbal signals.
42. Necessities, Lacks, Wants :We call 'necessities' the type of need determined by the demands of the target situation. The gap between the target proficiency and existing proficiency can be referred to as the learner's lacks. Wants are learners own view of what they "want" from the course, which might be in conflict with the course and the instructor's perceptions of learners' necessities and lacks.

43. Negotiations :A negotiation is a special meeting in which parties need each other's agreement in order to achieve an effective result.

44. Organizing :Delegating/assigning tasks, establishing channels of authority, coordinating work of management teams

45. Pedagogical Needs :Pedagogical needs are teacher's needs, needs of learning situation or the learning environment and learning needs or learning styles of learners.

46. Planning :It includes establishing goals and standards, developing plans, and rules and procedures and forecasting future.

47. Presentations :Presentations are communication situations in business where one person is speaking, while others listen.

48. Proposals :Proposals are basically long reports, whose purpose is to persuade someone or a company to carry out what you propose. When you write a proposal, you are aiming to sell your idea or convince or persuade someone to accept your idea.

49. Ready-made Materials :The most common ready-made material is course books, which are popular all over the world. Course books are textbooks, of which the teacher and the students have copies, which are to be followed systematically as the basis for course design.

50. Scope of Business Communication :The legitimate scope of business English teachers is to design and deliver courses which aim to increase the language knowledge and communication skills, management skills, cultural awareness and professional context.

ENG516_Glossary

51. Smart Objectives :Objectives should be specific, measurable, achievable, relevant, and time bound, to specify what one needs to achieve, answering six questions: Who? What? Where? When? Which? Why?
52. Staffing :Deciding what type of people should be hired, setting performance standards, evaluating performance
53. Syllabus :A syllabus is a document which says what should and will be learnt.
54. Tailor-made Material :Tailor-made material is designed to supplement the course book or the regular course.
55. Task based Learning :The task-based approach aims at providing opportunities for learners to experiment with and explore both spoken and written language through learning activities.
56. Task Based Test :The task-based approach in language teaching aims at providing opportunities for learners to experiment with and to explore both spoken and written language through learning activities which are designed to engage learners in the authentic, practical and functional use of language for meaningful purposes.
57. Teaching and Training :The terms teaching and training are used interchangeably. Teaching implies lessons and training implies professional development.
58. Teaching Business English :Various reasons account for the growing awareness about the need for teaching Business Communication - increased trade/commerce activities, globalization, faster means of travel, growth of ICT, internationalization of education, social media, etc. This is accompanied by an acceptance of English as a lingua franca by almost all nations of the world. The teaching of English communication has been influenced by a variety of disciplines, including linguistics, general language learning and teaching, educational psychology and management training.

59. The Evaluators :The evaluators are who decide how effective the training, the trainer, the trainees, the participants and the audience are.

60. The Face of Politeness :'Face of Politeness' is a technical term meaning attention paid to the self-respect of addressee and ultimately of oneself. It is about meeting a person's 'face needs' for self-respect.

61. Types of Letters :There are various types letters e.g. inquiry letter, bad news letter, recommendation letter, transmittal letter, and so on.

62. Types of Reports :In business many different kinds of reports are a requirement and are written routinely. Feasibility, recommendation, research, proposals trip/lab/minutes of meetings, incident, progress, investigation reports are the most common ones.

63. Using Role-Plays and Simulations :Using Role-Plays and Simulations Role-plays are activities where the learners take on a role, they do not play themselves. A simulation refers to an activity where the learner is playing him or her, and (ideally) simulates what he or she might do in real life.

64. Using the Syllabus :The use of syllabus varies according to teaching context, country and institution. The human factor and individual characteristics are also factors as are resources, human and material, and the teaching approach.

65. VESL :Vocational English as a Second Language

66. What are Needs? :The difference between current situation and the target situation is called need.

ENG516_Glossary

67. What is Culture? :A national culture is related to national identity and attributes of groups of people. A company culture is a set of corporate values which is shared by a team or department.

68. What is Intercultural Training? :Intercultural training is about helping people to interact successfully with people from other cultures.

QUIZ GROUP

https://chat.whatsapp.com/LDxdhXj8cjOK11wWSZfmdR

FILES GROUP

https://chat.whatsapp.com/F8pHB8zHZEB1lha0wR6EHA

By ASFAND YARR