

VIRTUAL UNIVERSITY OF PAKISTAN

03126968553

Semester Fall 2023

LECTURE WISE NOTES:

Short Questions File & MCQ's File

03126968553

COURSE: ENG001

Short Questions File For Midterm

LECTURE # 01

According to Donald Norman of Stanford University, what does he consider to be the most important tool for human advancement?

Answer: The invention of writing.

What role does writing play in transmitting knowledge across cultures and time?

Answer: Writing makes it possible for each new generation to build upon the work of the previous and transmit knowledge from person to person.

What are the three key aspects that Donald Norman suggests for students to focus on from the first day of school?

Answer: Doing well in studies, enjoying self-expression, and becoming more self-reliant.

Why does Norman emphasize the importance of writing from first grade through college and adulthood?

Answer: Because writing is practical, job-related, stimulating, social, and therapeutic in various aspects of life.

What are some common types of documents that professional and white-collar workers frequently write?

Answer: Memos, letters, briefing papers, sales reports, articles, research reports, and proposals.

What challenges do schools face in providing sufficient instruction in writing, according to the paragraphs?

Answer: Challenges include teachers not being trained to teach writing, large writing classes, and difficulties in measuring writing skills.

According to research, what are some common issues with students' writing skills?

Answer: Lack of clarity, coherence, and organization. Only a few students can write persuasive essays or competent business letters.

What does writing require as its final stage in the complex process of communication?

Answer: Clear thinking, sufficient time, reading, a meaningful task, interest, practice, and revising.

What are some reasons for writing, as mentioned in the paragraphs?

Answer: Sending messages, keeping records, expressing feelings, and relaying information.

What are the essential components for writing well, according to the paragraphs?

Answer: Clear thinking, sufficient time, reading, a meaningful task, interest, practice, and revising.

How does writing differ from speaking in terms of its process?

Answer: Writing is not a natural extension of speaking and requires systematic instruction and practice.

What are some characteristics of spoken language that differentiate it from written language?

Answer: Dialect variations, use of voices, bodies, pauses, intonation, and pronunciation.

What distinguishes written language from spoken language in terms of learning?

Answer: Not everyone learns to read and write, and written language follows a standardized form of grammar and structure.

How do writers convey meaning and ideas in writing?

Answer: Writers rely on the words on the page to express meaning and ideas.

What is a key characteristic of writing that allows it to be planned and changed through editing before being read by an audience?

Answer: Most writing is planned, and changes can be made through editing and revision before an audience reads it.

In writing, what do writers use instead of pauses and intonation to convey meaning?

Answer: Punctuation.

How do writers receive feedback from their audience, and how does it differ from speakers?

Answer: Writers have a delayed response from audiences or none at all, and they only have one opportunity to convey their message.

How does the formality of writing differ from speaking?

Answer: Writing is more formal and compact compared to the often informal and repetitive nature of speech.

What type of sentences do speakers typically use, and how does it differ from writers?

Answer: Speakers use simpler sentences connected by lots of "ands" and "buts," while writers use more complex sentences with connecting words.

What is the role of the audience in the writing process compared to speaking?

Answer: Writers must consider what and how much their audience needs to know about a given topic, whereas speakers gauge their audience's reactions in real-time.

How does writing progress in terms of logical flow and explanations compared to speaking?

Answer: Writing progresses more logically with fewer explanations and digressions compared to speaking.

What is the importance of note-taking in the context of writing?

Answer: Note-taking can be a helpful practice, such as taking notes on trips or outings, to stimulate writing about experiences.

What is the suggested benefit of keeping a journal in terms of writing practice?

Answer: Keeping a journal is an excellent writing practice and provides an outlet for venting feelings, expressing thoughts about personal experiences, and recording events.

How can writers enhance their vocabulary and fluency in speaking and writing?

Answer: Writers can enhance their vocabulary and fluency through games like crossword puzzles, word games, anagrams, and cryptograms, as well as by making lists and copying favorite songs or poems.

LECTURE # 02

What common attributes do good writers share, according to Friedrich Nietzsche?

Answer: Good writers prefer to be understood rather than admired, and they don't write for hypercritical readers.

How does Willa Cather describe the qualities of a first-rate writer?

Answer: A first-rate writer cannot be easily defined; it is the aspect that escapes analysis that makes them first-rate.

How is writing described in terms of being both an art and a science?

Answer: Writing is considered an art with various styles and a science that involves using different techniques.

What does the quality of good writing depend on, according to the paragraphs?

Answer: The parameters for good writing depend on the target audience and their preferences.

How do content writers differ from newspaper writers in terms of writing style?

Answer: Content writers often use first and second person, while newspaper writers use an objective tone (third-person reporting).

What are the general yardsticks for determining whether someone is a good writer?

Answer: Factors include a good flow, eye-catching content, language, sentence structure, grammar, ideas, and form.

What qualities do newspaper writers display, as mentioned in the paragraphs?

Answer: They should have a lively interest in people, places, and events, write in an understandable style, possess good spelling and grammar, appreciate the role of a local newspaper, accept irregular hours, and work under pressure to meet deadlines.

What skills does a good journalist need, besides being a good writer?

Answer: A good journalist needs to be a good communicator, possess a broad range of knowledge, have a good grasp of grammar, and a sense of ethics and accuracy.

How do good writers adapt their messages to different situations?

Answer: Good writers are context-sensitive and adapt their messages to both sensitive and non-sensitive situations.

What do great writers know about their readers' needs?

Answer: Great writers know what information is important for "skimmers" and "skeptics" among their readers.

What does the success of a message depend upon, according to the paragraphs?

Answer: The success of a message depends on social contact, common medium, transmission, and understanding.

What is a key skill that good writers possess in terms of persuasion?

Answer: Good writers know how to persuade their readers effectively.

What is essential for great writers in expressing their ideas?

Answer: Great writers have the ability to express their ideas clearly in a logical format that is easy for readers to understand.

In what formats can great writers write well, according to the paragraphs?

Answer: Great writers can write well in a variety of formats, including technical, persuasive, and descriptive prose.

Why is it important for great writers to understand their audience?

Answer: Great writers know who their audience is and write in a manner that will appeal to this specific audience.

What characteristic does a great writer possess in terms of creativity?

Answer: Great writers have a strong sense of creativity and always generate new ideas for material.

What skills do great writers have in conducting interviews?

Answer: Great writers have excellent interviewing skills and know how to make a subject open up to get the best material.

What research skills do great writers possess?

Answer: Great writers have strong research skills and can quickly find the information needed to make their pieces more interesting.

What specific knowledge should writers have about the subjects they write about?

Answer: Writers should have specific subject knowledge, especially in areas such as science, to produce informed and knowledgeable pieces.

How does writing reflect the world of reality, according to the paragraphs?

Answer: Writers live in a world of reality, and they reflect the same truth in their writing.

What role do the four communication ingredients play in the success of a message?

Answer: The success of a message depends on social contact, common medium, transmission, and understanding.

How does writing contribute to the world of dream and reality?

Answer: Writers reflect the truth in their writing, contributing to both the world of reality and the realm of dreams.

What is the significance of writers knowing the language and the trick of the trade?

Answer: Good writers understand the language and know how to use persuasive techniques to engage and influence their readers.

How does the success of a message depend on the writers' understanding of the four communication ingredients?

Answer: The success of a message depends on writers knowing the importance of social contact, common medium, transmission, and understanding in effective communication.

LECTURE # 03

How does the first example demonstrate consideration for readers in comparison to the second example?

Answer: The second example reflects a greater sense of consideration for readers by providing more information about the situation, explaining the reason for the delay, and expressing apologies.

What are the key questions a good writer seeks to answer in an investigative approach?

Answer: A good writer seeks to find out who, what, where, when, why, and how.

What does a good writer believe about communication reality, according to the paragraphs?

Answer: A good writer believes that a message sent is not necessarily a message received, and the success of a message depends on social contact, common medium, transmission, and understanding.

How does the specialist's response in the example demonstrate a failure in communication?

Answer: The specialist's initial response lacked clarity and understanding, leading to a failure in communication with the plumber.

What are the four points that determine the success of a message, as mentioned in the paragraphs?

Answer: Social contact, common medium, transmission, and understanding.

How does a good writer approach internal biases and shape perceptions?

Answer: Good writers identify and understand the internal biases of their readers, collecting information about them to shape their communication effectively.

What characteristics make a writer persuasive, according to the paragraphs?

Answer: Good writers are strong communicators with the ability to use rhetorical devices, exhibit standard behavior, and influence their readers through strong oral and written communication skills.

What virtues do readers typically look for in a writer, and how do good writers exhibit these virtues?

Answer: Readers look for strong ethics, morality, cooperation, goodwill, efficiency, and trust in a writer, and good writers exhibit these virtues in their communication.

What is emphasized regarding the knowledge of the medium in effective writing?

Answer: Good writers use language in the most effective manner, considering the reception level of their readers.

How do the two pieces in the example demonstrate the importance of being considerate to readers?

Answer: The second piece, with its detailed explanation and apology, reflects a higher level of consideration for readers compared to the first piece.

Why is investigation considered a crucial aspect of good writing?

Answer: Investigation is crucial in good writing because it helps the writer gather information to answer essential questions: who, what, where, when, why, and how.

How does a good writer view the communication reality, and what does the success of a message depend on?

Answer: A good writer views communication reality as understanding that a sent message is not automatically received. The success of a message depends on social contact, common medium, transmission, and understanding.

How does the specialist's initial response demonstrate a failure in communication?

Answer: The specialist's initial response lacks clarity and fails to convey the intended message, leading to miscommunication with the plumber.

Why is it important for writers to know and understand the internal biases of their readers?

Answer: Knowing and understanding the internal biases of readers helps writers shape their communication effectively and overcome potential resistance from their audience.

What characteristics make a writer persuasive, according to the paragraphs?

Answer: Persuasive writers exhibit strong oral and written communication skills, use rhetorical devices, and reflect virtues such as ethics, morality, cooperation, goodwill, efficiency, and trust.

How do good writers utilize their knowledge of the medium in effective writing?

Answer: Good writers use language effectively, considering the reception level of their readers to ensure their message is conveyed appropriately.

In what ways do good writers shape perceptions by understanding the resistance of their readers?

Answer: Good writers collect information about their readers to identify resistance and then develop a game plan to shape perceptions effectively.

What are the key virtues that readers generally seek in a writer, according to the paragraphs?

Answer: Readers typically seek virtues such as strong ethics, morality, cooperation, goodwill, efficiency, and trust in a writer.

How do the two pieces in the example reflect the writers' consideration for readers?

Answer: The second piece demonstrates greater consideration by providing more information, explaining the reason for the delay, and expressing apologies.

Why is investigation considered an important aspect of good writing?

Answer: Investigation is important in good writing because it helps writers gather essential information to answer key questions: who, what, where, when, why, and how.

What does a good writer believe about the communication reality?

Answer: A good writer believes that a message sent is not automatically a message received, emphasizing the importance of social contact, common medium, transmission, and understanding for successful communication.

How does the specialist's initial response in the example fail in communication?

Answer: The specialist's initial response lacks clarity and understanding, resulting in a failure to convey the intended message to the plumber.

Why is it crucial for writers to understand the internal biases of their readers?

Answer: Understanding the internal biases of readers allows writers to shape their communication effectively, overcoming potential resistance from their audience.

What characteristics make a writer persuasive, according to the paragraphs?

Answer: Persuasive writers possess strong oral and written communication skills, use rhetorical devices, and exhibit virtues such as ethics, morality, cooperation, goodwill, efficiency, and trust.

LECTURE # 04

According to H. W Fowler/The King's English, what qualities should a good writing endeavor to have?

Answer: A good writing should be direct, simple, brief, vigorous, and lucid.

What preferences are suggested by Fowler for word choices in good writing?

Answer: Fowler suggests preferring the familiar word to the far-fetched, the concrete word to the abstract, the single word to the circumlocution, the short word to the long, and the Saxon word to the Romance.

What does William Zinsser emphasize as the secret of good writing?

Answer: The secret of good writing, according to William Zinsser, is to strip every sentence to its cleanest components, eliminating unnecessary words and constructions.

What impact do unnecessary words and constructions have on writing, according to William Zinsser?

Answer: Unnecessary words and constructions weaken the strength of a message, according to William Zinsser.

What is emphasized as crucial for journalists' success in communication?

Answer: The success of journalists depends largely on how well they communicate with their readers.

What are the suggested guidelines for writers before they begin writing?

Answer: Before writing, writers should decide on their message, know their audience, and define their purpose.

What are the general characteristics of good writing mentioned in the paragraphs?

Answer: Clarity, completeness, conciseness, creativity, consideration, correctness, credibility, courtesy, and concreteness are the general characteristics of good writing.

How is the success of a message related to the three elements: message, audience, and purpose?

Answer: The success of a message is linked to the writer's ability to choose words that convey thoughts effectively, communicate with readers, and set the correct tone based on the purpose.

What does it mean for writing to express a clear point?

Answer: Expressing a clear point means conveying the writer's main idea or the significance of the object, place, or person described.

What does it mean for writing to be tightly structured?

Answer: Tightly structured writing contains logical or associative connections and transitions that express the relationship of the ideas described.

What does it mean for writing to be grammatically and syntactically correct?

Answer: Grammatically and syntactically correct writing adheres to the rules of Standard American English, including proper punctuation and spelling.

How can a writer justify the use of unconventional syntax?

Answer: If writers choose to use unconventional syntax, they should be able to justify their choices.

What does it mean for writing to be substantive?

Answer: Substantive writing conveys the impression that the writer is informed about the subject, demonstrating awareness of its significance and implications within a specified context.

How can writing be interesting, according to the paragraphs?

Answer: Interesting writing engages readers through original insights and precise, uncluttered language expressed in a "human" voice.

What are the general characteristics of good writing?

Answer: Clarity, completeness, conciseness, creativity, consideration, correctness, credibility, courtesy, and concreteness.

What is the importance of being clear in writing?

Answer: Being clear in writing involves having a definite purpose and communicating it up front to avoid adverse reactions or misunderstandings.

What is recommended regarding word choices for achieving clarity in writing?

Answer: Writers should choose short, familiar, conversational words to achieve clarity in their writing.

What is the significance of constructing effective sentences and paragraphs in writing?

Answer: Constructing effective sentences and paragraphs ensures unity, coherence, emphasis, and appropriate readability in writing.

How is appropriate readability achieved in writing?

Answer: Appropriate readability is achieved by considering factors like the Fog Index, SMOG Index, and Flesch Index, which assess the complexity of sentences and words in a text.

How can writers use examples, illustrations, and visual aids effectively in writing?

Answer: Writers can use examples, analogies, illustrations, and various visual aids like headlines, tabulations, itemization, pictures, and charts to enhance the readability and engagement of their writing.

What are the suggested preferences for word choices in writing, according to Fowler?

Answer: Fowler suggests preferring the familiar word to the far-fetched, the concrete word to the abstract, the single word to the circumlocution, the short word to the long, and the Saxon word to the Romance.

How does William Zinsser define the secret of good writing?

Answer: According to William Zinsser, the secret of good writing is to strip every sentence to its cleanest components, eliminating unnecessary words and constructions.

What does the success of journalists depend on, according to the paragraphs?

Answer: The success of journalists depends largely on how well they communicate with their readers.

What are the general characteristics of good writing, as mentioned in the paragraphs?

Answer: The general characteristics of good writing include clarity, completeness, conciseness, creativity, consideration, correctness, credibility, courtesy, and concreteness.

LECTURE # 05

Why is it important to be complete in your communication?

Answer: It is crucial to provide all the necessary facts and background information to ensure a comprehensive understanding of the message. The captain's responsibility was to make sure the crew saw the complete picture to navigate effectively.

What are the four checks to ensure completeness in communication?

Answer: The four checks include: 1) Have all the facts been given? 2) Have the essentials been covered? 3) Have all questions been answered? 4) Was there a planned approach to the message?

Why is it emphasized to be concise in communication?

Answer: Conciseness is crucial to accommodate the reader's knowledge and time constraints. In maritime situations, concise communication serves as a life saver, allowing quick reactions to changing sea or wind patterns.

What are the three checks for conciseness in communication?

Answer: The three checks include: 1) Have you directly addressed the subject? 2) Have you avoided unnecessary repetition? 3) Have you conveyed enough information without unnecessary filler words?

In what situations might a creative communication format be necessary?

Answer: Creative formats, such as Q&A, graphics, or figurative language, may be necessary when external factors, like loud winds and sea conditions, hinder traditional communication methods.

Why is it important to be considerate in communication?

Answer: Consideration ensures the communication is worthwhile for the reader. It involves putting the reader first, understanding their needs, and tailoring the message to be receptive to their perspective.

What are the four checks for considerate communication?

Answer: The four checks include: 1) Have you prioritized the client's needs? 2) Have you highlighted their interests? 3) Have you empathized by putting yourself in their shoes? 4) Have you used language that resonates with them?

Why is correctness crucial in communication?

Answer: Correctness ensures the accuracy and reliability of the information. In a maritime context, mistakes in communication can be costly, emphasizing the need for accurate facts, spelling, and grammar.

What are the five checks for correctness in communication?

Answer: The five checks include: 1) Have all facts been verified for correctness? 2) Is the reader's name spelled correctly? 3) Are all numbers and amounts accurate? 4) Is the appearance of the letter effective and well-spaced? 5) Are spelling, punctuation, and grammar correct?

Why is credibility important in communication?

Answer: Credibility enhances the believability of the message. Trust in the communicator's experience and competence is essential, similar to the trust crew members have in the captain's expertise.

How can one reinforce credibility in communication?

Answer: Reinforcing credibility involves writing to reinforce the message and present oneself from a position of reliability and competence.

Why is courtesy significant in communication?

Answer: Courtesy is important as it contributes to winning goodwill and creating a positive tone in the message. Using pleasant words and expressions like "please," "thank you," and "I appreciate" adds to the overall positive impact.

What are the four checks for courtesy in communication?

Answer: The four checks include: 1) Will the message win goodwill? 2) Are positive and pleasant-toned words used? 3) Are expressions of appreciation included? 4) Would you enjoy reading the message?

Why is concreteness important in communication?

Answer: Concreteness provides the reader with crisp details and vivid facts, making the information more tangible and easy to understand. It involves presenting details in a razor-sharp and needle-sharp manner.

What are the three checks for concreteness in communication?

Answer: The three checks include: 1) Have crisp details been provided? 2) Are the details razor and needle-sharp? 3) Have word pictures been used to make facts vivid?

LECTURE # 06

What are the six steps involved in the writing process?

Answer: The six steps are Invention, Collection, Organization, Drafting, Revising, and Proofreading.

According to Thomas Williams, what happens when a writer sits down to write?

Answer: According to Thomas Williams, a writer keeps surprising himself and doesn't know what he is saying until he sees it on the page.

What are some common challenges writers face when starting to write, and how can they be addressed?

Answer: Common challenges include a blank mind and feeling like there's nothing to say. Strategies to address these challenges include exploring the problem, identifying the reader, determining the purpose, and brainstorming ideas.

What questions should you ask yourself during the exploration phase of writing?

Answer: Questions to ask include: 1) Who is your reader? 2) What is your purpose? 3) What image or persona do you want to project as a writer?

How can you make your writing goals operational?

Answer: Writing goals can be made operational by determining how to achieve the purpose, making a plan, and generating ideas.

What are the steps suggested for generating ideas during the writing process?

Answer: Steps include brainstorming without censorship, talking to the reader by anticipating their questions, and asking journalistic questions like Who, What, Where, When, Why, How, and So What.

What is the textbook formula for starting to write, and why might it not always work?

Answer: The textbook formula involves stating the thesis, writing an outline, drafting, and revising. However, it might not always work, prompting the need for alternative strategies.

What alternative strategies are suggested for starting to write?

Answer: Alternative strategies include determining the purpose for writing, narrowing down choices, and considering the "So what?" factor to make the writing more focused and meaningful.

What are some potential purposes for writing about a specific subject, using "hostel food" as an example?

Answer: Potential purposes include eliciting pity, analyzing institutional cooking, or comparing food quality between different hostels.

How can you achieve your purpose when writing about a specific subject?

Answer: Achieving the purpose involves defining specific means, going beyond mere liking or disliking, nutshelling the idea, and diagramming major points.

What does the collection phase of writing involve?

Answer: The collection phase involves gathering information from internal and external sources to support the writing process.

What are some techniques for probing oneself in the internal source of information collection?

Answer: Techniques include asking questions about definition, description, simple analysis, process analysis, directional analysis, functional analysis, causal analysis, classification, comparison, interpretation, reportage, narration, characterization, reflection, reminiscence, evaluation, summary, and persuasion.

Give an example of listing as a technique for collecting information.

Answer: For example, listing points to consider about the topic "HOLIDAYS," such as good and bad holidays, school holidays, family holidays, holidays abroad, plans and preparations, and special memories.

What are some questions to consider when using the listing technique for collecting information?

Answer: Questions to consider include various aspects like good and bad aspects, different types, comparisons, plans, and personal memories related to the topic.

What are the potential challenges a writer might face during the drafting phase of writing?

Answer: Challenges during drafting include uncertainty about the structure, flow, and coherence of the content.

How can a writer overcome challenges during the drafting phase?

Answer: Overcoming challenges involves focusing on the purpose, creating a clear structure, and ensuring the content flows logically.

What is the purpose of the revising phase in the writing process?

Answer: The purpose of the revising phase is to improve the overall quality of the content by making necessary changes to structure, clarity, and coherence.

Why is proofreading emphasized in the writing process?

Answer: Proofreading is emphasized to ensure that the final version is free from errors in spelling, punctuation, and grammar, enhancing the overall professionalism of the writing.

LECTURE # 07

What are the three external sources of information mentioned in the paragraphs?

Answer: The three external sources are libraries, the internet, and resource persons.

What are the two classification systems mentioned for organizing information in libraries?

Answer: The Library of Congress Classification and the Simplified Dewey Decimal System.

Under the Library of Congress Classification, what category does "History – Americas" fall under?

Answer: "History – Americas" falls under the category E-F.

What are the top ten search engines listed in the paragraphs?

Answer: The top ten search engines are Google, Alltheweb, Yahoo, Hotbot, About, Excite, iWon, MSN, Completeplanet, and Altavista.

Which search engine is known for sites vetted by humans?

Answer: About is known for sites vetted by humans.

What are some highly valuable links mentioned in the paragraphs?

Answer: Some highly valuable links include Online Newspapers, World Fact File, Encyclopedia of Quotations, Columbia Encyclopedia, Encyclopedia of World History, The Element of Style by William Strunk, Encyclopedia Britannica, and Encyclopedia Americana.

What is the next step after writers collect information about their topics?

Answer: The next step is to organize the information, deciding where to place it in the argument and determining which information to omit.

What is one easy way to organize information after the collection stage?

Answer: One easy way to organize information is through outlining.

What are the three main sections of argumentative and narrative papers mentioned in the paragraphs?

Answer: The three main sections are the introduction, body, and conclusion.

What is the purpose of the introduction in argumentative and narrative papers?

Answer: The introduction is used to grab the reader's attention, introduce the main idea or claim, often in the form of a thesis statement.

What should writers consider during the drafting phase of writing?

Answer: Writers should give themselves ample time, find a comfortable place to write, avoid distractions, and take breaks.

What are the higher-order concerns that writers should review during the revising phase?

Answer: The higher-order concerns include clear communication of ideas, organization of the paper, paragraph structure, and a strong introduction and conclusion.

What are the three sensitive areas writers should ask about during proofreading?

Answer: Writers should ask about content, format, and mechanics.

What are some questions to ask about content during proofreading?

Answer: Questions about content include sticking to the point, using good and enough sources, organizing information carefully, checking facts, using illustration, considering readers, and using sufficient detail and description.

What are some questions to ask about format during proofreading?

Answer: Questions about format include choosing an appropriate title, using quotations correctly, using headings and subheadings, labeling graphs, charts, and tables, including a list of resources or bibliography, and numbering the pages.

What are some questions to ask about mechanics during proofreading?

Answer: Questions about mechanics include checking sentences for completeness and sense, consistent verb tense, consistent point of view, subject-verb agreement, proper use of pronouns, spellings, end marks and other punctuation, capital letters and underlining, paragraph indentation, and legibility.

LECTURE # 08

What is the study of the structure of words called?

Answer: Morphology

Define morphemes and provide examples of different morpheme counts.

Answer: A morpheme is the smallest linguistic unit with semantic meaning. Examples: One morpheme - dog, elephant, child; Two morphemes - dogs, elephants, childish; Three morphemes - childishness; Six morphemes - anti-dis-establish-ment-arian-ism.

Differentiate between free morphemes and bound morphemes, providing examples.

Answer: Free Morpheme: Can stand alone (e.g., dog, elephant, child). Bound Morpheme: Can't stand alone (e.g., s, ish, ness, ism).

How are words formed, and what are some examples of word forms?

Answer: Words are formed through portmanteau words, prefixes, suffixes, and compounding. Examples: Decide (verb), decision (noun), decisive (adjective), decisively (adverb).

What is a portmanteau, and provide examples of portmanteau words.

Answer: A portmanteau is a word derived by combining portions of two or more separate words. Examples: Oxbridge (Oxford + Cambridge), brunch (breakfast + lunch), camcorder (camera + recorder).

Explain the purpose of prefixes in word formation, providing examples.

Answer: Prefixes modify or change the meaning of a word. Examples: anti-aircraft, pre-adolescent, postgraduate.

List common prefixes and their meanings, providing examples for each.

Answer: Examples include a- (not, without), ante- (before), anti- (opposing), de- (down, away), inter- (between), non- (absence), over- (excessively), re- (again), sub- (under), trans- (across).

What are noun suffixes, and provide examples of words with these suffixes.

Answer: Noun suffixes indicate state, condition, or quality. Examples: -dom (wisdom, kingdom), -ity (capability, flexibility), -ment (contentment), -sion, -tion (celebration), -ness (toughness), -ance, -ence (assistance), -er, -or (fighter, actor), -ist (violinist).

Explain the purpose of adjective suffixes and give examples.

Answer: Adjective suffixes indicate characteristics. Examples: -ive (extensive, selective), -en (wooden), -ic (heroic, poetic), -al (financial, manual), -able (portable, pleasurable), -y (hairy), -ous (mysterious), -ful (hopeful, beautiful), -less (powerless, homeless).

What do verb suffixes indicate, and provide examples.

Answer: Verb suffixes indicate action or making. Examples: -en (brighten, soften), -ize (publicize), -ate (activate), -ify or -fy (simplify).

What is the purpose of adverb suffixes, and provide an example.

Answer: Adverb suffixes indicate manner. Example: -ly (quickly).

How are compound words formed, and provide examples.

Answer: Compound words are formed by combining separate words. Examples: newsstand, flowerpot, ladybug, eye color, handshake.

Distinguish between literal and figurative language with examples.

Answer: Literal language is straightforward, while figurative language involves metaphorical expressions. Example: "The robber struck me on the arm with a piece of wood" (literal) vs. "Suddenly a clever idea struck me" (figurative).

Provide examples of figurative language using literal and figurative expressions.

Answer: Examples include "Sharp knife and sharp tongue," "Tea is sweet and sweet baby," "Yacht sailed gracefully and he sailed through his exams."

Explain the concept of collocations and provide examples.

Answer: Collocations are words that often go together and form common expressions. Examples include "bright-eyed and bushy-tailed," "red in the face," and "locked in mortal combat."

What are the different types of collocations? Provide examples for each type.

Answer: Types of collocations include verb + noun (throw a party), adjective + noun (square meal), adverb + verb (strongly suggest), adverb + adjective + noun (totally unacceptable behavior), and more.

Define denotation and connotation, providing examples.

Answer: Denotation is the literal meaning of a word, while connotation is the emotional or associative meaning. Example: "pig" may denote an animal but connote dirtiness or cheekiness.

Provide examples of words with different connotations (favorable, neutral, unfavorable).

Answer: Examples include "relaxed" (favorable), "time-tested" (neutral), and "guilty of" (unfavorable).

Explain the concept of denotation and connotation through the example of the word "vagrant."

Answer: Negative connotation: "There are over 2,000 vagrants in the city." Neutral: "There are over 2,000 people with no fixed address in the city." Positive: "There are over 2,000 homeless in the city."

Give examples of adjectives with different connotations.

Answer: Examples include "prudent" (timid, cowardly), "dignified" (reserved, stiff-necked), and "persevering" (persistent, stubborn).

Define the terms favorable, neutral, and unfavorable regarding connotations.

Answer: Favorable connotations evoke positive associations, neutral connotations are neither positive nor negative, and unfavorable connotations evoke negative associations.

Provide examples of figurative language using denotations and connotations.

Answer: Examples include "Swollen jaw and swollen head" (literal) vs. "He is a rough diamond" (figurative).

Explain the concept of compounding in word formation.

Answer: Compounding involves combining separate words to create a new word. Examples: newsstand, flowerpot, ladybug.

Provide examples of figurative language using compounding.

Answer: Example: "Combed his hair and combed the jungle" (literal) vs. "Brush up your English" (figurative).

LECTURE # 09

What are unabridged dictionaries, and where are they commonly found?

Answer: Unabridged dictionaries comprehensively cover all known words and are commonly found in libraries on dictionary stands.

How can you identify new words or slang expressions in unabridged dictionaries?

Answer: Check the date of the unabridged dictionary when looking for new words or slang expressions.

Name two titles of common unabridged dictionaries and their respective references.

Answer: Webster's Third New International Dictionary (Ref PE 1625.W36) and Random House Dictionary (Ref PE 1625.R3).

What characterizes an abridged dictionary, and provide examples of common titles.

Answer: Abridged dictionaries are shortened and include only the most common words. Examples include Random House College edition (Ref PE 1625.R34) and Webster's Collegiate Dictionary (Ref PE1628.M36).

Why might one use a historical dictionary, and name two examples.

Answer: Historical dictionaries provide the etymology or derivation of words. Examples include Oxford English Dictionary (Ref PE 1625.O87) and Dictionary of American English on Historical Principles (Ref PE 2835.C7).

Define slang and explain its appropriateness in academic settings.

Answer: Slang includes popular expressions, but in academic settings, formal language usually excludes slang due to its informal nature.

What do usage guides set standards for, and where might you find them?

Answer: Usage guides set standards for formal writing or expression. They can be found in dictionaries.

What does a thesaurus provide, and how is it different from a dictionary?

Answer: A thesaurus provides synonyms. It differs from a dictionary as it doesn't give definitions but rather words with similar meanings.

What information do preliminary pages in a dictionary usually contain?

Answer: Preliminary pages often explain abbreviations and other special features.

Where can one find geographical and biographical information in a dictionary?

Answer: Geographical and biographical information may be found in the auxiliary pages or as a separate appendix in a dictionary.

Define a glossary and explain where you might find it in a book.

Answer: A glossary is a list of technical words or expressions. It may be found in the appendix or auxiliary sections of a book.

What does dictionary order mean, and how is it related to alphabetical order?

Answer: Dictionary order is synonymous with alphabetical order.

Name eight skills that can be developed through team games using dictionaries.

Answer: Alphabetic order, guide words, pronunciation, syllabication, derivation, etymology, synonyms, antonyms.

What are guide words, and where are they placed in a dictionary?

Answer: Guide words are placed at the top of a page to help the user find the correct page alphabetically.

How does syllabication in a dictionary show the division of a word?

Answer: Syllabication shows how a word is divided when it is separated at the end of a line of print.

What does derivation trace, and why is it important?

Answer: Derivation traces what root words are used to form a word. It is important for understanding the word's origin.

Define etymology and explain what it involves.

Answer: Etymology is the study of a word's history, including derivation and how the word's usage has changed over time.

How does usage contribute to understanding words differently in various areas?

Answer: Usage reflects how different areas use words in unique ways.

How is meaning or definition explained in a dictionary?

Answer: Meaning or definition is explained or shown through examples.

What do synonyms and antonyms contribute to in a dictionary?

Answer: Synonyms (words with the same meaning) and antonyms (words with the opposite meaning) contribute to an accurate definition.

What insight do illustrative quotations provide in a dictionary?

Answer: Illustrative quotations, such as those from Shakespeare, give insight into meaning and derivation.

How do maps and plates of illustration contribute to a dictionary?

Answer: Maps and plates provide pictures for reference points, such as showing the location of places.

Why are geographical and historical facts important in a dictionary?

Answer: Geographical and historical facts give significance to places and words. For example, Guam was the site of a major battle in World War II.

What is an encyclopedic dictionary, and what information does it contain?

Answer: An encyclopedic dictionary contains geographical and biographical information in a separate section.

LECTURE # 10

What are the two distinct divisions of parts of speech, and provide examples for each?

Answer: The two distinct divisions of parts of speech are picture words (Nouns, Verbs, Adjectives, Adverbs) and function words (Pronouns, Prepositions, Conjunctions, Interjections).

Define a noun and provide examples of highlighted nouns in sentences.

Answer: A noun is a word used to name a person, animal, place, thing, or abstract idea. Examples of highlighted nouns include goat, opera singer, passengers, library, and philosophy.

In what ways can a noun function in a sentence, and provide examples?

Answer: A noun can function as a subject, a direct object, an indirect object, a subject complement, an object complement, an appositive, an adjective, or an adverb. Examples include "Late last year, our neighbors bought a goat" (subject), and "The red suitcase is Cassandra's" (subject complement).

Explain the concept of noun gender, and provide examples.

Answer: Noun gender refers to whether a noun is masculine or feminine. For example, "author" was used for a man, and "authoress" for a woman. In hotels, a male service person is a "waiter," and a female is a "waitress."

How do nouns change their form to indicate number, and give examples?

Answer: Most nouns change their form to indicate number by adding "-s" or "-es." Examples include truth and truths, box and boxes.

What is a possessive noun, and how is it formed?

Answer: In the possessive case, a noun changes its form to show ownership by adding an apostrophe and the letter "s." For example, "The red suitcase is Cassandra's."

What are proper nouns, and how are they different from common nouns?

Answer: Proper nouns are specific names of people, places, or things and are written with capital letters. They are different from common nouns, which refer to general entities. Examples of proper nouns include Maroons and Monday.

Define a common noun and provide an example.

Answer: A common noun refers to a person, place, or thing in a general sense. For example, "The nearest town is 60 miles away."

What is a concrete noun, and how is it different from an abstract noun?

Answer: A concrete noun is a tangible object that can be perceived through the physical senses. It differs from an abstract noun, which cannot be perceived through the senses. Examples of concrete nouns include judge, files, and beach.

Define an abstract noun and provide examples.

Answer: An abstract noun is a concept or idea that cannot be perceived through the physical senses. Examples include afterthought, nostalgia, and justice.

What is a countable noun, and how does it differ from a non-countable noun?

Answer: A countable noun has both singular and plural forms and can be counted. In contrast, a non-countable noun does not have a plural form and is not usually counted. Examples of countable nouns include table and branches, while furniture is a non-countable noun.

Explain what collective nouns are and provide examples.

Answer: Collective nouns name a group of things, animals, or persons. Examples include flock (geese), jury, steering committee, and class.

What is the importance of verbs in a sentence, and what do they express?

Answer: Verbs are crucial in a sentence as they assert something about the subject and express actions, events, or states of being.

How does an adjective modify a noun or pronoun, and provide examples?

Answer: An adjective describes, identifies, or quantifies a noun or pronoun. Examples include "truck-shaped" balloon, "hideous" wall paper, and "large, yellow" rain boots.

Explain possessive adjectives and provide examples.

Answer: Possessive adjectives (my, your, his, her, its, our, their) are used as adjectives to modify a noun or a noun phrase. Examples include "your phone number" and "his favorite type of bread."

What are demonstrative adjectives, and how are they used?

Answer: Demonstrative adjectives (this, these, that, those) are used to modify nouns or noun phrases, indicating proximity in space or time. Examples include "this apartment" and "those plates."

Define indefinite adjectives and give examples.

Answer: Indefinite adjectives are similar to indefinite pronouns, modifying a noun, pronoun, or noun phrase. Examples include "many people" and "a few goldfish."

What role does an adverb play in a sentence, and how does it differ from an adjective?

Answer: An adverb modifies a verb, adjective, another adverb, a phrase, or a clause, indicating manner, time, place, cause, or degree. Unlike an adjective, an adverb can be found in various places within a sentence.

How do pronouns function in sentences, and what are the types of personal pronouns?

Answer: Pronouns replace nouns or other pronouns to avoid repetition. Personal pronouns include subjective (I, you, he, she, it, we, they), possessive (my, your, his, her, its, our, their), object (me, us, you, him, her, it, them), and reflexive (myself, ourselves, yourself, himself, herself, itself, themselves) pronouns.

What are demonstrative pronouns, and provide examples?

Answer: Demonstrative pronouns (this, these, that, those, what) point to and identify a noun or pronoun. Examples include "this must not continue" and "what book are you reading?"

Explain interrogative pronouns and provide examples.

Answer: Interrogative pronouns (who, whom, which, what) are used to ask questions. Examples include "Who wrote the novel Rockbound?" and "Which plants should be watered twice a week?"

What is the role of subordinating conjunctions, and provide examples?

Answer: Subordinating conjunctions introduce dependent clauses, indicating the relationship with independent clauses. Examples include "after," "because," and "while."

Define correlative conjunctions and give examples.

Answer: Correlative conjunctions always appear in pairs and link equivalent sentence elements. Examples include "both...and," "either...or," and "neither...nor."

What is the purpose of interjections in sentences, and provide examples?

Answer: Interjections convey emotion and are not grammatically related to other parts of the sentence. Examples include "Ouch, that hurt!" and "Oh no, I forgot that the exam was today."

LECTURE # 11

What is a clause, and what are its essential components?

Answer: A clause is a grammatical unit that includes a subject and a predicate, expressing a proposition or idea.

How many basic clause patterns are mentioned, and what are they?

Answer: There are five basic clause patterns: S + V, S + V + C, S + V + O, S + V + IO + DO, and S + V + O + OC.

Provide an example of the clause pattern S + V.

Answer: Example: The children played.

Explain the clause pattern S + V + C and provide an example.

Answer: This pattern includes a subject, a verb, and a complement. Example: You are beautiful.

Define the clause pattern S + V + O and give an example.

Answer: This pattern includes a subject, a verb, and an object. Example: Jinnah inspired everyone.

What does the clause pattern S + V + IO + DO represent, and provide an example.

Answer: This pattern includes a subject, a verb, an indirect object, and a direct object. Example: Ali gave his friend a ruby ring.

Explain the clause pattern S + V + O + OC, and provide an example.

Answer: This pattern includes a subject, a verb, an object, and an object complement. Example: Ali calls his Mom a saint.

In the exercise, identify the basic clause pattern for the sentence "We painted the town red."

Answer: We (S) painted (V) the town (O) red (OC).

Identify the basic clause pattern for the sentence "We passed the boy a collection basket."

Answer: We (S) passed (V) the collection basket (O) to the boy (IO).

What is the basic clause pattern for the sentence "We passed the collection basket"?

Answer: We (S) passed (V) the collection basket (O).

What is the basic clause pattern for the sentence "Adam appears interested in the project"?

Answer: Adam (S) appears (V) interested (C) in the project.

Define the basic clause pattern for the sentence "Hassan is a Math teacher."

Answer: Hassan (S) is (V) a Math teacher (C).

Identify the basic clause pattern for the sentence "His motive was mysterious."

Answer: His motive (S) was (V) mysterious (C).

What is the basic clause pattern for the sentence "I bought the suit"?

Answer: I (S) bought (V) the suit (O).

Identify the basic clause pattern for the sentence "The woman in the row coughed."

Answer: The woman (S) coughed (V) in the row (C).

What is the basic clause pattern for the sentence "Caroline gave Steven a choice"?

Answer: Caroline (S) gave (V) a choice (O) to Steven (IO).

Analyze the sentence "We painted the town red" using the basic clause pattern.

Answer: We (S) painted (V) the town (O) red (OC).

What is the basic clause pattern for the sentence "We passed the boy a collection basket"?

Answer: We (S) passed (V) the collection basket (O) to the boy (IO).

Identify the basic clause pattern for the sentence "Adam appears interested in the project."

Answer: Adam (S) appears (V) interested (C) in the project.

Define the basic clause pattern for the sentence "Hassan is a Math teacher."

Answer: Hassan (S) is (V) a Math teacher (C).

Analyze the sentence "His motive was mysterious" using the basic clause pattern.

Answer: His motive (S) was (V) mysterious (C).

What is the basic clause pattern for the sentence "I bought the suit"?

Answer: I (S) bought (V) the suit (O).

Identify the basic clause pattern for the sentence "The woman in the row coughed."

Answer: The woman (S) coughed (V) in the row (C).

What is the basic clause pattern for the sentence "Caroline gave Steven a choice"?

Answer: Caroline (S) gave (V) a choice (O) to Steven (IO).

LECTURE # 12

What are the two special forms of verbs related to voice, and what are they called?

Answer: The two special forms are active voice and passive voice.

Define the active voice and provide an example.

Answer: The active voice is the "normal" voice where the subject performs the action.
Example: Cats eat fish.

Explain the passive voice and provide an example.

Answer: In the passive voice, the subject receives the action of the verb. Example:
Fish are eaten by cats.

What transformation occurs in the passive voice regarding the object of the active verb?

Answer: The object of the active verb becomes the subject of the passive verb.

Give an example of a sentence in the active voice and then transform it into the passive voice.

Answer: Active: Everybody drinks water. Passive: Water is drunk by everybody.

What are the five basic clause patterns in active tenses?

Answer: Simple Present, Present Progressive, Simple Past, Past Progressive, Future.

Provide an example sentence for the active tense "Simple Present."

Answer: Example: I hear you.

Explain the use of the passive voice when we want to make the active object more important.

Answer: The passive voice is used to give importance to the active object.

When do we use the passive voice if the active subject is unknown?

Answer: The passive voice is used when the active subject is unknown.

In the passive voice, what is the structure that includes subject, auxiliary verb, and main verb?

Answer: Subject + auxiliary verb (be) + main verb (past participle).

How do we form the passive voice in any tense?

Answer: The main verb is always in its past participle form, and the auxiliary verb is always "be." Conjugate the auxiliary verb for the required tense.

Provide an example of a sentence in the passive voice for the present simple tense.

Answer: It is made.

When do we use the passive voice in the present continuous tense?

Answer: It is used when emphasizing an ongoing action or process.

Form a sentence in the passive voice for the past perfect tense.

Answer: It had been washed.

What is the structure for the passive voice in the perfect continuous tense?

Answer: Subject + auxiliary verb (have been) + main verb (present participle).

Example: It has been being washed.

LECTURE # 13

What are modifiers in a sentence, and what is their function?

Answer: Modifiers are words that modify or describe the kernel (basic clause) by providing additional information. They act as decorations, elaborating on essential parts of the clause.

List the types of modifiers mentioned in the paragraphs.

Answer: The types of modifiers are adjectives, adverbs, appositives, and prepositional phrases.

Explain how adjective modifiers function, and provide an example.

Answer: Adjective modifiers modify the meaning of a noun or pronoun by providing specific information. Example: "This is an aggressive team."

Identify the adjectives in the sentence: "I was struck by the dramatic contrast between her sunburn arms and pale white face."

Answer: Adjectives: dramatic, sunburn, pale, white.

Give an example of a sentence with adverb modifiers and identify the adverb modifiers.

Answer: Example: "They sucked their thumbs loudly." Adverb modifiers: loudly.

Explain the function of appositive modifiers, and provide an example.

Answer: Appositive modifiers are noun phrases that follow and describe other nouns. Example: "George Washington, the first president of the United States, loved peanut soup."

Identify the prepositional modifiers in the sentence: "The boy dialed 911 in a panic."

Answer: Prepositional modifiers: in a panic.

List the sentence types mentioned, and provide an example for each.

Answer: The sentence types are simple, compound, complex, and compound-complex. Simple: "Bob went to the store."

Compound: "Bob went to the store, and Sue went to the office."

Complex: "Because the problem proved difficult, they decided to form a committee."

Compound-complex: "The proposal that we wrote was accepted, and we started the project."

Explain the characteristics of a compound sentence and provide an example.

Answer: A compound sentence consists of two or more independent clauses joined by coordinating conjunctions. Example: "The negotiations were successful, so the diplomats returned to their homes."

What distinguishes a complex sentence, and offer an example.

Answer: A complex sentence has one independent clause and one or more subordinate clauses joined by a subordinator. Example: "If you scatter thorns, don't go barefoot."

Define compound-complex sentence and provide an example.

Answer: A compound-complex sentence has at least two independent clauses and at least one subordinating clause. Example: "Tell me what you eat, and I will tell you what you are."

What are the four sentence purposes, and can you identify them in the sentence "Love your neighbor"?

Answer: The four sentence purposes are declarative, imperative, interrogative, and exclamatory. The sentence "Love your neighbor" is imperative.

Identify the sentence purpose in the statement: "I want to wash the flag, not burn it!"

Answer: The sentence purpose is declarative.

What is the sentence purpose in the statement: "The echo always has the last word"?

Answer: The sentence purpose is declarative.

Determine the sentence purpose in the question: "Are second thoughts always wisest?"

Answer: The sentence purpose is interrogative.

LECTURE # 14

What is Direct Speech also known as?

Answer: Direct Speech is also known as 'reported speech.'

When is Indirect Speech usually used in spoken English?

Answer: Indirect Speech is almost always used in spoken English.

If the reporting verb is in the past, what tense is the reported clause in?

Answer: The reported clause will be in a past form.

Provide an example of Indirect Speech with a past reporting verb.

Answer: For example: He said the test was difficult.

When reporting a general truth, what tense is retained?

Answer: The present tense will be retained.

How does the pronoun change when converting from Direct to Indirect Speech for the first person?

Answer: First person pronoun changes according to the subject.

Give an example of pronoun change in converting Direct to Indirect Speech.

Answer: For example: "He said, 'I like you.'" becomes "He told me that he liked me."

What changes occur for adjectives and adverbs in Indirect Speech?

Answer: This becomes That, These becomes Those, Here becomes There, Now becomes Then, Today becomes That day.

Provide an example of a verb change in Indirect Speech.

Answer: For example: "See (pres.) becomes saw (past)."

How are yes/no questions reported in Indirect Speech?

Answer: Yes/no questions are connected using 'if.'

What should be used when reporting questions with question words?

Answer: Use the question word.

Convert the direct question "Do you want to come with me?" into Indirect Speech.

Answer: She asked me if I wanted to come with her.

How are reported questions with question words structured in Indirect Speech?

Answer: The question word is used in the reported question.

Convert the direct command "Give all the help you can." into Indirect Speech.

Answer: He asked that they should give all the help they could.

Provide an alternative way to express the indirect command in question 14.

Answer: He asked them to give all the help they could. Or Let them give all the help they could.

How is a statement with joy expressed in Indirect Speech?

Answer: Exclaimed with joy is used.

Convert the direct statement "I live in Paris." into Indirect Speech.

Answer: He said he lived in Paris.

Convert the direct statement "I am cooking dinner." into Indirect Speech.

Answer: He said he was cooking dinner.

Convert the direct statement "I have visited London twice." into Indirect Speech.

Answer: He said he had visited London twice.

Convert the direct statement "I went to New York last week." into Indirect Speech.

Answer: He said he had gone to New York the week before.

Convert the direct statement "I had already eaten." into Indirect Speech.

Answer: He said he had already eaten.

Convert the direct statement "I am going to find a new job." into Indirect Speech.

Answer: He said he was going to find a new job.

Convert the direct statement "I will give Jack a call." into Indirect Speech.

Answer: He said he would give Jack a call.

How do you convert the direct question "Will he come?" into Indirect Speech?

Answer: He asked would he come.

LECTURE # 15

What is the principle of G1-a in subject-verb agreement?

Answer: The principle of G1-a is to make the verb agree with its subject, not with a word that comes between.

Give an example of subject-verb agreement according to G1-a.

Answer: Example: The tulip in the pot on the balcony needs watering.

When treating compound subjects connected by "and," how should the verb be treated according to G1-b?

Answer: Treat compound subjects connected by "and" as plural.

Provide an example of subject-verb agreement with compound subjects connected by "and."

Answer: Example: Leon and Jan often jog together.

According to G1-c, with compound subjects connected by "or" or "nor," where should the verb agree?

Answer: The verb should agree with the part of the subject nearer to the verb.

Convert the direct sentence "A driver's license or credit card is required." into indirect speech.

Answer: If a driver's license or credit card is required.

How should most indefinite pronouns be treated in terms of subject-verb agreement (G1-d)?

Answer: Most indefinite pronouns should be treated as singular.

Convert the direct sentence "Everyone on the team supports the coach." into indirect speech.

Answer: Everyone on the team supports the coach.

According to G1-e, how should collective nouns be treated in terms of subject-verb agreement?

Answer: Treat collective nouns as singular unless the meaning is clearly plural.

Convert the direct sentence "The young couple were arguing about politics while holding hands." into indirect speech.

Answer: The young couple were arguing about politics while holding hands.

How should the verb agree with its subject when the subject follows the verb (G1-f)?

Answer: The verb should still agree with its subject.

Convert the direct sentence "There are surprisingly few children in our neighborhood." into indirect speech.

Answer: There are surprisingly few children in our neighborhood.

According to G1-g, with subject complement, how should the verb agree?

Answer: Make the verb agree with its subject, not with a subject complement.

Convert the direct sentence "A tent and a sleeping bag is the required equipment." into indirect speech.

Answer: A tent and a sleeping bag is the required equipment.

According to G1-h, what should pronouns "who," "which," and "that" agree with?

Answer: They should agree with their antecedents.

Convert the direct sentence "Take a suit that travels well." into indirect speech.

Answer: Take a suit that travels well.

According to G1-i, what is the usual treatment of words such as athletics, economics, and statistics?

Answer: They are usually treated as singular.

Convert the direct sentence "Statistics are among the most difficult courses in our program." into indirect speech.

Answer: Statistics are among the most difficult courses in our program.

According to G1-j, how are titles of works and words mentioned as words treated?

Answer: They are treated as singular.

Convert the direct sentence "Lost Cities describe the discoveries of many ancient civilizations." into indirect speech.

Answer: Lost Cities describe the discoveries of many ancient civilizations.

What is the focus of G3-a regarding pronouns and antecedents?

Answer: G3-a focuses on making pronouns and antecedents agree.

Convert the direct sentence "Every runner must train rigorously if her or she wants to excel." into indirect speech.

Answer: Every runner must train rigorously if her or she wants to excel.

What is the rule for ambiguous references according to G3-b?

Answer: Avoid ambiguous references by making pronoun references clear.

Convert the direct sentence "When Gloria set the pitcher on the glass-topped table, it broke." into indirect speech.

Answer: When Gloria set the pitcher on the glass-topped table, it broke.

We provide paid services for LMS management, including:

Complete semester LMS management

Assignment solutions

Quizzes assistance

GDB support

If you have any questions or need more information, please don't hesitate to contact us at this number: 03126968553.

VIRTUAL UNIVERSITY OF PAKISTAN

VU Solutions

ABEER FATIMA

0312-6968553

LMS Handling Services

COMPLETE LMS HANDLING

03126968553

Monthly

Half Semester

Full Semester

ASSIGNMENTS, QUIZ'S , GDB & LECTURE
WISE SHORT QUESTIONS FILE 🌟📚👤

FOR MORE INFO CONTACTS US AT WHAT'S APP #

03126968553