f) Evolving Work and Family Roles

The proportion of dual-career families, in which both wife and husband (or both members of a couple) work, is increasing every year. Unfortunately, women face the double burden of working at home and on the job, devoting 42 hours per week on average to the office and an additional 30 hours at home to children. This compares to 43 hours spent working in the office and only 12 hours at home for men.

More and more companies are introducing "family-friendly" programs that give them a competitive advantage in the labor market. These programs are HR tactics that companies use to hire and retain the best-qualified employees, male or female, and they are very likely to pay off. For instance, among the well known organizations / firms, half of all recruits are women, but only 5% of partners are women. Major talent is being wasted as many women drop out after lengthy training because they have decided that the demanding 10- to 12-year partner track requires a total sacrifice of family life. These firms have started to change their policies and are already seeing gains as a result. Different companies have recently begun offering child-care and eldercare referral services as well to facilitate women workers as well as are introducing alternative scheduling to allow employees some flexibility in their work hours.

Q: Theory me difference aya tha Herzberg aur Maslow ka

Ans=

Herzberg's Two-Factor Approach

Herzberg Two-Factor theory divides Maslow's Hierarchy into a lower-level and a higher-level set of needs, and suggests that the best way to provide motivation for an employee is to offer to satisfy the person's higher-order needs, ego and self-actualization. Herzberg said that lower-order needs, or hygiene factors, are different from higher-order needs, or motivators. He maintains that adding more hygiene factors to the job is a very bad way to motivate because lower-order needs are quickly satisfied.

Maslow's Need Hierarchy

Abraham Maslow organized five major types of human needs into a hierarchy, as shown in Figure. The need hierarchy illustrates Maslow's conception of people satisfying their needs in a specified order, from bottom to top. The needs, in ascending order, are:

1. Physiological (food, water, and shelter.)

2. Safety or security (protection against threat and deprivation)

3. Social (friendship, affection, belonging, and love)

4. Ego (independence, achievement, freedom, status, recognition, and self-esteem)

5. Self-actualization

Why it is important to share information and benefits during socialization?5 marks

Ans=

Sharing information and benefits during socialization is important because it helps new employees understand the company culture, values, and expectations. It also helps them feel welcome and included in the organization, which can lead to increased job satisfaction and commitment. Additionally, sharing information about the company's benefits and perks can help employees understand the full range of rewards available to them and make informed decisions about their employment.

CEO ki responsibilities

e. CEO: Prior to mid 1980s, new employee orientation operated, if at all, with out any output from the company's executive management. But that began to change, due in part to management consultants advocating that senior management become more accessible to employees. The CEO's first responsibility is to welcome new employees aboard and talk to them about what a good job choice they made. The CEO is in position to inspire these new employees by talking about what it is like to work for the organization. When CEO is present in the socialization process, the company is sending a message that it truly cares for its employees.

CEOs have six primary responsibilities- setting the organization's direction, aligning the organization, mobilizing the business through its leaders, engaging the board, connecting with stakeholders, and managing personal effectiveness.

Q#2 Difference between organizational development and employee development

Ans=imp

Organizational development refers to the process of improving the overall effectiveness of an organization through changes in structure, processes, and culture. Employee development, on the other hand, focuses on improving the skills and abilities of individual employees through training and development programs.

Q#3How to deal with stress

Ans=

Managing Stress

Experts emphasize that some stress is healthy and moderate stress is the key to survival.

- a. INDIVIDUAL COPING APPROACHES—There are a number of ways, that individuals may take to control excessive stress. There are several specific techniques that individuals can utilize to deal with stress. These methods include hypnosis, biofeedback, and transcendental meditation.
- Hypnosis: An altered state of consciousness that is artificially induced and characterized by increased receptiveness to suggestions. Hypnosis is a changed state of awareness and increased relaxation that allows for improved focus and concentration.
 - Biofeedback: A method that can be used to control involuntary bodily processes, such as blood pressure or heart beat rate. Biofeedback is a technique you can use to learn to control some of your body's functions, such as your heart rate
 - Transcendental meditation (TM): A stress-reduction technique whereby a secret word or phrase (mantra) provided by a trained instructor is mentally repeated while an individual is comfortably seated.
The TM technique is a simple, natural mental technique, practiced with the eyes closed while sitting comfortably.

Performance Appraisal Failures:

Some times performance appraisal process do not satisfy the purpose for which it is conducted, that means it is faced with some failures and there are certain reasons, these reasons are as under:

1. Manager lacks information
2. Lack of appraisal skills
3. Manager not taking appraisal seriously
4. Manager not prepared
5. Employee not receiving ongoing feedback
6. Manager not being honest or sincere
7. Ineffective discussion of employee development

8. Unclear language

9. Insufficient reward for performance

Q#5 After suspension employees ky behaviour main kya change ata hai

Ans=

Suspension A suspension or layoff would be the next disciplinary step, usually taken only the prior steps have been implemented without the desired outcome. Exceptions-where suspension is given without any prior verbal or written warning –occasionally occur if the infraction is of a serious nature. A suspension may be for one day or several weeks; disciplinary layoffs in excess of a month are rare. Some organizations skip this step completely because it can have negative consequences for both the company and the employee. From the organization's perspective, a suspension means the loss of the employee for the layoff period. If the person has unique skills or is a vital part of a complex process, her loss during the suspension period can severely impact her department or the organization performance if a suitable replacement cannot be located. From the employee's standpoint, a suspension can result in the employee returning in a more unpleasant and negative frame of mind than before the layoff. Then why should management consider suspending employees as a disciplinary measure? The answer is that a short layoff is potentially a rude awakening to problem employees. It may convince them that management is serious and may move them to accept responsibility for following the organization's rules.

Performance of organization is measured from customer's perspective?

Ans=

What is transference?

Ans=

Transference Because the training occurs in a special environment, an important question to ask is whether learning will transfer to the actual job situation. Transfer of training occurs when trainees can apply the knowledge and skills learned in training course to their jobs. If the learning in one setting does not transfer to the actual job situation, the training has failed. Three transfers training situations are possible (1) Positive transfer of training, when the training activities enhance performance in the new situation; (2) negative transfer of training, when the training activities inhibit performance in new situation; and (3) no observable effect of training
