For final term
Eng201 Short Notes
Composed by M.Amir

Lecture 23-45

You can watch this lecture's video through this link:
https://youtu.be/sSuGFhYbZWI

Question: Write steps of planning a report.

Ans:
Steps are as follows:

- Define the outline and purpose
- Outline the issues for investigation
- Prepare a work plan
- Construct research
- Analyze and interpret data

Question: How many ways of making an oral communication?

There are six ways of making an oral communication?

- Extempore.
- Impromptu.
- Memorization.
- Reading.
- Modes of Delivery
- Delivery Guideline

What is proposal writing?

The proposal outlines the plan of the implementing organization about the project, giving extensive information about the intention, for implementing it, the ways to manage it and the results to be delivered from it .A proposal is a very important document.

Difference between vague and ornate language?

Ornate Language Use the simplest, most direct words possible. Simplest Used for their own sake, ornate words simply distract the reader from your main point.

CStudy With Amir

Vague language although the amount of detail in your writing will depend on your audience, use specific facts whenever possible.

What is difference between memo and letter?

Ans: Business memos are internal documents sent to employees to convey information about the company. It means its use to talk inside organization. Business letters are external communiqués, often related to sales activities or customer needs or to query a vendor or government agency. It means its use to talk outside organization.

In how many ways Question Marks are used?

In 3 ways Question Marks can be used:

1. Use a question mark to end an interrogative sentence.
2. Use a question mark to change a declarative or imperative sentence into a question

How many types of Body of report?

- Introduction
- Text
- Terminal section

The Qualities of a good manuscript?

A manuscript should be visually attractive. This means that it should be orderly, that there should be obvious divisions and subdivisions. A manuscript should invite readership.

What is an example of a dangling modifier?

A modifier is considered dangling when the sentence isn't clear about what is being modified. For example, "The big" doesn't make sense without telling what is big which leaves "big" as a dangling modifier; but, "the big dog" is a complete phrase.

Write any two rules to create visual aids in your communication?

1. Use color on your slides but avoid orange and yellow which do not show up very well when projected. For text only, white or yellow on blue is pleasant to look at and easy to read.
2. Typically use a minimum 18pt Times Roman on OHPs, and preferably larger.

What is the purpose of business message?

Study With Amir

There are three purposes for a message: inform, persuade or goodwill. The first purpose is to inform where a message can be used to communicate routine, repetitive, daily tasks, instructions, codes, steps and procedures in the workplace.

How is a diagram created?

- Decide exactly what you want to show.
- Create an appropriate means to represent your subject with geometric shapes, or perhaps sketches that suggest their appearance.
- Provide the explanations people need in order to understand your diagram as a separate key, in the title or as part of the diagram itself.

Write any two rules for capitalization?

- Capitalize the first words of sentences, including sentences cited in quotations.
- Capitalize all nouns, pronouns, verbs, adjectives, adverbs, and subordinating conjunctions.

What Is a Sentence Fragment?

It is missing one of three critical components: a subject, a verb, and a complete thought.

How to conduct a job interview

- Prepare for the interview.
- Understand the STAR interview process.
- Describe the company and the position to the interviewee.
- Explain the interview process to your interviewee.
- Learn about the interviewee's career goals.
- Ask questions related to the position.
- Gather more information with follow up questions.

What are organizational charts?

An organizational chart uses rectangles and lines to represent the arrangement of people and departments in an organization. It reveals the organization's hierarchy, indicating how the smaller units are combined to create larger units. It also indicates who reports to whom and who gives direction to whom.

How can we create a pie chart?

To create a pie chart, you draw a circle and draw lines that slice it into wedges. Each wedge occupies a portion of the circle's circumference proportional to the amount of the total pie that the wedge represents. Arrange the wedges in a way that helps your audience.

Study With Amir

How Formal Speeches and Presentations can be developed?

Developing formal speeches and presentations:
Developing a major speech or presentation is much like writing a formal report, with one unique to an oral communication channel. This is both an opportunity and a challenge. The opportunity lies in the interaction that's possible between you and Explain 'Title fly and Title Page'.

The title fly is a plane sheet with only the title of the report on it.
The title report includes four blocks of information:

- The title of the report
- The name, title and address of the person that authorized the report
- The name, title and address of the person that prepared the report.
- The date on which the report was submitted.

What is Writer's Block?

Writer's block is what we call the experience of getting stuck while writing. Although the results are the same, there are many sources of writer's block:
lack of information, lack of a well defined purpose, poor knowledge of the audience, lack of confidence.

What is an example of a sentence fragment?

Here is a glaring example of a sentence fragment: Because of the rain. On its own, Because of the rain doesn't form a complete thought. It leaves us wondering what happened because of the rain.

Which is an example of an open ended question and close ended question?

Open-ended questions are broad and can be answered in detail (e.g. "What do you think about this product?"), while closed-ended questions are narrow in focus and usually answered with a single word or a pick from limited multiple-choice options.

Write a note on correctness principle of communication?

The following things are at the core of concreteness:

- Grammar
- Punctuation
- Spelling

What are organizational charts?

CStudy With Amir

An organizational chart uses rectangles and lines to represent the arrangement of people and departments in an organization. It reveals the organization's hierarchy, indicating how the smaller units are combined to create larger units. It also indicates who reports to whom and who gives direction to whom.

Difference between w consideration and courtesy?

The difference between consideration and courtesy is the feeling that goes behind it. Consideration is more compassionate and has more depth because when you are considerate of another person's needs or feelings you care and are concerned about what to do concerning that person. On the other hand, courtesy is mainly because you feel like it's the right thing to do, you don't care as much or you don't have much attachment to why you are doing it.

Difference between Table of content and appendix of a report?

The table of contents provides an outline of analysis reports for readers who do not wish to read the entire report or flip through it looking for the section which contains what they are looking for. On the other hand , appendix would include derivations of equations, tables of raw data, sample equations, and so forth. But the only way to be certain that what is placed in the appendix belongs there is to assess it within the context of audience needs.

What is the problem with a double negative in a sentence?

Use only one negative word to express a negative idea. In English, using two negative words to express one negative idea creates a positive rather than a negative interpretation.

What is Analogy?

An analogy is a comparison of certain similarities between things which are otherwise unlike. Discussion In education, teachers commonly uses analogies to introduce something new to students. They compare the new material to something the students already know and understand

END

Composed by M.Amir

YouTube Channel name: CStudy with Amir

CStudy With Amir