

MGT503 FINAL TERM CURRENT PAPER 2022 SOLVED BY PRINCE ALVI

1) Management by Objectives (MBO) how its effectiveness for business Marks (05)

The MBO approach usually results in better teamwork and communication. It provides the employees with a clear understanding of what is expected of them. The supervisors set goals for every member of the team, and every employee is provided with a list of unique tasks

2) How a Communication Play vital role for Business Marks (05)

Communications also helps in preparing organizational plans and policies. Open channels of communication helps in leading to new ideas and innovations. Employees who understand what is important to their company & can focus on spotting opportunities that can help further success to the organization

3) McClelland's acquired-needs theory (5 marks)

Acquired needs theory, also known as McClelland's Needs Theory, Three-Need theory, Achievement Motivation Theory, or Learned Needs theory, is a theory that is based on the notion that people's needs are acquired as they live their lives or through experiences of life. The needs are derived from the reaction to the stimuli in the external environment.

4) Charismatic-Visionary Leadership

Charismatic leaders might be used to inspire a company to stay the course and generate excitement around the mission and vision. Visionary leaders are tasked with helping to move toward innovation and cultivating a new direction for the company.

5) Diff b/w leader & manager

The main difference between leaders and managers is that leaders have people follow them while managers have people who work for them. A successful business owner needs to be both a strong leader and manager to get their team on board to follow them towards their vision of success.

6) Inequity impact on employees

Their research found that inequality causes a wide range of health and social problems, from reduced life expectancy and higher infant mortality to poor educational attainment, lower social mobility and increased levels of violence and mental illness.

7) Value chain

A value chain is a concept describing the full chain of a business's activities in the creation of a product or service -- from the initial reception of materials all the way through its delivery to market, and everything in between.

8) Entrepreneurship's sa 2 qs tha

Entrepreneurship refers to the process whereby an individual or a group of individuals uses Organized efforts and means to pursue opportunities to create value and grow by fulfilling wants and needs through innovation and uniqueness.

For any query feel free to ask princealvi9222@gmail.com

MGT503 FINAL TERM CURRENT PAPER 2022 SOLVED BY PRINCE ALVI

1. Three important themes stand out in this definition:
  - a. The pursuit of opportunities
  - b. Innovation
  - c. Growth
2. Entrepreneurship will continue to be important to societies around the world.

9) Imp of entrepreneur and small business in society

Entrepreneurs are important to market economies because they can act as the wheels of the economic growth of the country. By creating new products and services, they stimulate new employment, which ultimately results in the acceleration of economic development.

10) Core activities job model

It states that there are five core job characteristics (skill variety, task identity, task significance, autonomy, and feedback) which impact three critical psychological states (experienced meaningfulness, experienced responsibility for outcomes, and knowledge of the actual results), in turn influencing work outcomes

11) Define organization chart and how does it benefit the organization?

The organization chart is a line diagram that depicts the broad outlines of an organization's structure.

An organization chart, also known as an org chart or organizational chart, is a useful tool that businesses can use to display the structure of their company. Presented in the form of a flow diagram, the chart helps to show the relationships between different departments and employees

12) What benefit does groups give to an organization?

Advantages of being in a group

Gaining skills that are essential for career success. ...

Increased productivity. ...

Developing understanding through discussion and explanation. ...

Strengthening communication skills. ...

Sharing responsibilities.

13) 3 factors of motivation for the professionals

Motivation is the willingness to exert high levels of effort to reach organizational goals, conditioned by the effort's ability to satisfy some individual need.

The three factors, which together build enthusiasm, are as follows:

Equity/Fairness – People want to be treated fairly at work.

Achievement – People want to do important, useful work, and be recognized for it.

Camaraderie – People want to enjoy good relationships with their co-workers.

14) Define departmentalization and how does it benefit the organization?

Departmentalization is an organizational structure that separates people into groups, or departments, based on a particular set of criteria. These departments have their own leadership and work together to complete tasks. With large or complicated projects, multiple departments may work together.

For any query feel free to ask princealvi9222@gmail.com

MGT503 FINAL TERM CURRENT PAPER 2022 SOLVED BY PRINCE ALVI

15) Briefly describe what is meant by grapevine and what can managers do to overcome it.

Informal communication, better known as “the grapevine,” is communication that takes place without regard to hierarchical or task requirements.

Always keep your employees informed. ...

Choose the right communication channels to build trust with your employees. ...

Eliminate information overload in the workplace. ...

Engage your employees in two-way daily conversations. ...

Spot your internal influencers.

16) Define job specialization and give 4 benefits

Job specialization

The process of focusing one's occupational concentration on a specific area of expertise.

A benefit of job specialization is that it reduces your risk of making mistakes. When you are highly specialized in a certain job function, you have mastery of tasks within that function. With the decreased likelihood of making mistakes, you will provide value to the company you work for in both time and dollars.

Risk reduction.

Improved morale.

Task proficiency.

Equipment specialization.

Increased speed between tasks.

17) Define reinforcement theory and what can managers do to change employee behavior?

Reinforcement Theory Reinforcement Theory is counter to goal-setting theory. It proposes that behavior is a function of its consequences.

1. Reinforcement theory argues that behavior is externally caused.

2. What controls behavior are reinforcers, which are consequences immediately following a response

That increase the probability that the behavior will be repeated.

3. Reinforcement theory ignores factors such as goals, expectations, and needs.

4. It focuses solely on what happens when a person takes some action.

5. How can the concept of reinforcement be used to explain motivation?

18) Define organization and team work of organization?

Organization an organized group of people with a particular purpose, such as a business or government department.

Teamwork is, “The process of working collaboratively with a group of people in order to achieve a goal. Teamwork is often a crucial part of a business, as it is often necessary for colleagues to work well together, trying their best in any circumstance.

For any query feel free to ask princealvi9222@gmail.com

19) What benefit does groups give to a team work force?

Research shows that collaborative problem solving leads to better outcomes. People are more likely to take calculated risks that lead to innovation if they have the support of a team behind them. Working in a team encourages personal growth, increases job satisfaction, and reduces stress.

20) 3 factors of motivation for starting the business.

Entrepreneurs are motivated to start business enterprises due to the following three types of factors: Ambitious factors; Compelling factors; Facilitating factors.

21) Hierarchy need theory ky 2 factors describe karee.

Maslow separated his hierarchy into two different overarching types of needs: growth needs and deficiency needs. The main difference between growth and deficiency needs is the change in motivation as needs are met. Motivation increases are growth needs are met.

22) Difference between Organization productivity and organization effectiveness

Simply put, while productivity is about getting things done, effectiveness is about getting the right things done. Managers run a considerable risk when they try to force more tasks into their buckets, ineffectively.

23) Difference between Differentiation strategy and focus strategy

A differentiation strategy involves attempting to develop products and services that are viewed as unique in the industry.

A focus strategy entails specializing by establishing a position of overall cost leadership, differentiation, or both, but only within a particular portion, or segment, or an entire market.

24) Difference between Downsizing and restructuring

Downsizing usually is the best way that a company can take in order to fight inefficiency and low productivity, while restructuring is the step taken when there is a real crisis that might actually lead to the downfall of a company like debts and low number for the products.

25) What are the Barriers in goal setting?

Barriers to goal setting and planning could be external and internal factors. Inappropriate Goals. Improper Reward System. Dynamic and Complex Environment.

A lack of finance, time constraints, and child care issues, a need to up-skill or get support and the need to acquire resources. We can usually do something about these and the trick is to learn how to get around these.

26) Define Business plan and its purpose.

A business plan is a document that defines in detail a company's objectives and how it plans to achieve its goals. A business plan lays out a written road map for the firm from marketing, financial, and operational standpoints. Both startups and established companies use business plans.

MGT503 FINAL TERM CURRENT PAPER 2022 SOLVED BY PRINCE ALVI

27) Define Contingency plan and the variables of contingency.

A contingency plan is a course of action designed to help an organization respond effectively to a significant future incident, event or situation that may or may not happen.

Contingency variable refers to the specific factor that could impact the outcome of a particular situation positively or negatively. For example, in a business setting, the type of leadership a team has may be the contingency variable that creates greater productivity or a hostile work environment.

28) Difference between corporate level strategy and business level strategy? 5 marks

Business and corporate-level strategies differ primarily in their objectives. A business strategy focuses on competing in the marketplace, while a corporate strategy focuses on business growth and profits. Corporate strategies function at a higher level than business strategies.

29) Why is normative leadership important and how it helps in problem solving? 5 marks

The normative leadership model is a model that helps leaders assess important situational factors That affect the extent to which they should involve subordinates in particular decisions.

1. Five types of management method for solving group problems are delineated.

A. Autocratic I (AI): You solve the problem or make the decision yourself using present Information.

b. Autocratic II (AII): You obtain necessary information from subordinates without Involving them in the decision, and make the decision yourself.

c. Consultative I (CI): You share the problem with the relevant subordinates individually, Then you make a decision which may or may not be influenced by subordinates.

d. Consultative II (CII): You obtain ideas and suggestions from subordinates in a group Session, but make the decision yourself.

e. Group II (GII): You share the problem with your subordinates as a group and coordinate Their efforts to devise a solution.

30) Define situational leadership and how it helps manager? 05 marks

The situational leadership theory, developed by Paul Hersey and Ken Blanchard, is on the Premise that leaders need to alter their behaviors depending on the readiness of followers.

1. Two leader behaviors are considered to be independent dimensions.

2. The four levels of readiness defined along a continuum from low to high readiness prescribe The appropriate leadership style.

3. Leaders should help increase the task-related readiness of their followers as quickly as feasible By adjusting their own leadership styles.

4. Studies have found the situational theory of leadership particularly effective with newly hired Employees and employees in new jobs.

5. Recent analyses are tending to support Fielder's original research do suggest that there are Additional factors at work that are not accounted for in the contingency model.

For any query feel free to ask princealvi9222@gmail.com

31) Define social loafing? And five steps to resolve social loafing manager can use? 05 M

Social loafing is the tendency of individuals to expend less effort when working in groups

To reduce the likelihood of social loafing, managers, may

- 1) Assign just enough people to do the work
- 2) Have each group member of different tasks
- 3) Make each individual's work visible in some way
- 4) Provide for individual feedback
- 5) Having individuals work with people they respect

32) Explain three weakness in Maslow's needs theory? 03 marks

The model is too simplistic:

The same product or service can satisfy several needs at once.

The model lacks empirical support for the rank-ordering of the needs.

The model is too culture-bound: it lacks validity across different cultures and the assumptions of the hierarchy may be restricted to Western cultures.

33) Overcoming barriers to effective interpersonal communication?

Make Your Ideas Clear Before Communicating. ...

Ensure the Time of Your Communication is good. ...

Use a Language Your Listener Can Understand. ...

Make your Message to the Point and Short. ...

Check if the Other Person has Understood Your Message.

34) Differentiate btw feedback control and feed forward control? (5 marks)

Feedforward control measures one or more inputs of a process, calculates the required value of the other inputs and then adjusts it. Feedback control measures the output of a process, calculates the error in the process and then adjusts one or more inputs to get the desired output value.

35) Write any 3 form of functional structure of departmentalization?

The functional form of departmentalization is more appropriate under certain circumstances.

- a. The organization is small or medium-sized.
- b. There is a limited number of related products or services, or a relatively homogeneous set Of customers or clients.
- c. The organization is large and diverse, but the environment is stable.

36) Write 5 competitive Porter's forces model?

The Five Forces

Threat of New Entrants.

Bargaining Power of Suppliers. ...

Bargaining Power of Buyers. ...

Threat of Substitute Products. ...

Rivalry among Existing Competitors

37) Laissez-faire leadership style?

Laissez-faire leaders generally give the group complete freedom, provide necessary materials, Participate only to answer questions, and avoid giving feedback.

Laissez-faire leaders have an attitude of trust and reliance on their employees. They don't micromanage or get too involved, they don't give too much instruction or guidance. Instead laissez-faire leaders let their employees use their creativity, resources, and experience to help them meet their goals.

38) SWOT, Weakness and Strength

A SWOT ANALYSIS is one method for doing so. The SWOT analysis involves assessing Organization strengths (S) and weaknesses (W), as well as environmental opportunities (O) and Threats (T).

1. Strengths and weaknesses apply to internal characteristics.

a. A strength is an internal characteristic that has the potential of improving the Organization's competitive situation.

b. A weakness is an internal characteristic that leaves the organization potentially vulnerable To strategic moves by competitors.

39) Centralization and decentralization

Centralization is the extent to which power and authority are retained at the top organizational Levels.

2. Decentralization is the extent to which power and authority are delegated to lower levels.

40) Charisma

Charisma is the leader's ability to inspire pride, faith, and respect; to recognize what is really Important, and to articulate effectively a sense of mission, or vision, that inspires followers. Charisma was once thought to be an inborn personality trait.

41) How managers motivate employees

When it comes to motivating your employees, it doesn't take much to send a positive message. An act as simple as praising your team members for doing good work can have a tremendous impact on employee morale. The psychology behind this is clear: Positive feedback helps your employees feel valued in their roles.

42) Strategic management. Four management function

Strategic Management is that set of managerial decisions and actions that determines the long-run performance of an organization. It entails all of the basic management functions—planning, organizing, leading, and Controlling.

43) Marketing control

Marketing control involves setting a desired standard, measuring deviations from the standard and taking the appropriate action. In many cases the standard is expressed in terms of budgets and any substantial deviation from budget is investigated.

44) Competitive advantage

Competitive advantage refers to factors that allow a company to produce goods or services better or more cheaply than its rivals. These factors allow the productive entity to generate more sales or superior margins compared to its market rivals.

45) Formulation strategy

Strategy formulation is the process of using available knowledge to document the intended direction of a business and the actionable steps to reach its goals. This process is used for resource allocation, prioritization, organization-wide alignment, and validation of business goals.

46) Implementation strategy

Strategy implementation is the process of turning plans into action to reach a desired outcome. Essentially, it's the art of getting stuff done. The success of every organization rests on its capacity to implement decisions and execute key processes efficiently, effectively, and consistently.

47) Delegation

Delegation is assignment of part of manager's work to others along with responsibility and authority.

48) Building blocks of organizing (job specialization and work design)

The individual elements of an organizational structure typically include a variety of components that one may usefully see as building blocks: 1) departments or divisions; 2) management hierarchy; 3) rules, procedures, and goals; and 4) more temporary building blocks such as task forces or committees.

49) Organizational performance

Performance is the end result of an activity. Managers are concerned with organizational performance. The accumulated end results of all the organization's work processes and activities

50) Diff b/w equity and inequity

Equity: Inequity is worse to equality.

Equality: Inequality is better than inequity.

51) Intrinsic and extrinsic

Intrinsic Motivators

A person's internal desire to do something for his satisfaction, respect, prestige or loyalty

Extrinsic Motivators

Factors of motivation that comes from outside (environment) or organization like pay, bonuses, tangible benefits etc.

52) Structural org

MGT503 FINAL TERM CURRENT PAPER 2022 SOLVED BY PRINCE ALVI

The structural organization in animals or any other lifeform is the same at the fundamental level. Or in other words, all life currently living on earth are made up of cells. And when cells get together, they form tissues. Tissues, in turn, form organs and organ systems.

53) Types of org structure

Types of organizational structures

Hierarchical org structure.

Functional org structure.

Horizontal or flat org structure.

Divisional org structures (market-based, product-based, geographic)

Matrix org structure.

Team-based org structure.

Network org structure.

54) Control process steps

Control Process

Establishing goals and standards. ...

Measuring actual performance against goals and standards. ...

Taking corrective action. ...

Following up on corrective action.

For any query feel free to ask princealvi9222@gmail.com