Personality traits are enduring characteristics that describe an individual's patterns of thinking, feeling, and behaving. These traits influence how a person interacts with the world and others around them. Commonly, personality traits are categorized using models such as the Big Five, which includes:
Openness to Experience: Creativity, curiosity, and willingness to try new things.
Conscientiousness: Organization, dependability, and discipline.

Extraversion: Sociability, assertiveness, and enthusiasm.

Agreeableness: Compassion, cooperation, and trust.

Neuroticism: Tendency toward emotional instability, anxiety, and moodiness.

These traits exist on a spectrum, and individuals can exhibit different levels of each trait.
