Lesson -23

Writing: Effective Sentences: Unity, Coherence, And Emphasis

We looked at different kinds of sentences in the last lesson, simple, compound and complex. In this lesson, we will focus on writing effective sentences by looking at issues like the unity of a sentence and the emphasis in a sentence.

Effective Sentences

What is it that makes sentences effective?
There are three elements which make for effectiveness in sentences: unity, coherence and emphasis.

- By unity we mean that every part of a sentence/composition must contribute to one main unifying thought.
- By coherence we mean that the various parts of a sentence/composition must follow one another in an order which makes their relationship clear.
- By emphasis we mean that the most important parts of a sentence/composition must be so placed that attention is directed toward them rather than toward less important parts.

I. Unity: A good sentence should have unity, that is, it must express one main idea. Although a sentence may contain more than one fact, all the facts must relate to the main idea. E.g. the models were all dressed in the latest fashions and many of them are unemployed. This sentence does not have unity. The first clause tells us about the model's clothing, e.g. the models were all dressed in the latest fashions and many of them are unemployed. While the second one mentions unemployment; the two different ideas don't belong to one another in one sentence. They should be stated in two separate sentences. This sentence is a sample of a sentence that lacks unity. Unity is violated in five ways:

(i) By combining unrelated ideas
(ii) Putting too many ideas / details in a single sentence.
(iii) Failure to complete an idea or grammatical construction
(iv) Subordination
(v) Parallelism

(i) Combining unrelated ideas e.g. The students at the college use a great deal of abusive language and they are from all parts of the country.
(ii)Too many ideas or details put in a single sentence distract the reader from the main thought of the sentence e.g. Reading his daily newspaper that morning, standing at the crowded bus stop, the morning sun just lighting up the tops of the high buildings and making the sleepy-eyed people shade their eyes, made a great impression on me.

EXAMPLES

i. The students at the college use a great deal of abusive language and they are from all parts of the country.
ii.Reading his daily newspaper that morning, standing at the crowded bus stop, the morning sun just lighting up the tops of the high buildings and making the sleepy-eyed people shade their eyes, made a great impression on me.

(iii) Failure to complete an idea or a grammatical construction: Such sentences are the result of carelessness on the part of the writer who thinks that the reader will not object to filling in the gaps in the thought e.g. -

- This is such a heavy chair.
- I was so pleased about the letter.
- The news is too wonderful.

All these expressions can be improved by adding a clause or substituting another word for such, so and too. e.g.

- This is such a heavy chair that it is not easy to carry.
- I was so pleased about the letter that I ran to tell my mother.

The news is too wonderful to be believed. / The news is indeed wonderful.
Some clauses express complete thoughts and others do not. Those that express complete thoughts are independent or main clauses, others are called dependent or subordinate clauses. Now if a sentence contains not one single thought but a complete thought containing a number of constituent thoughts, then you have to decide which of the several ideas is the main idea and which ideas are subordinate and then so construct the sentence that the subordinate thoughts will give emphasis to the main thought.

When you place the principal or main thought in a subordinate position unity of the sentence is destroyed.
(Faulty) The fielder in the slips dropped the third catch, when the match was definitely lost.
(Improved) When the fielder in the slips dropped the third catch the match was definitely lost.
The fielder in the slips dropped the third catch, when the match was definitely lost (Faulty)

Consider these statements:
He was born of poor parents. He was obliged to work his way through college.
He graduated with honors at the heads of his class.
Two of these statements may be subordinated to the third.
Although he was born of poor parents and was obliged to work his way through college, he graduated with honours at the head of his class.
He was born of poor parents. He was obliged to work his way through college.
He graduated with honours at the heads of his class.

Practice 1:
The following sentences can be improved by using the correct connectives and making the subordinate thoughts give emphasis to the main thought.
1. I was reaching down to pick up my cap just as I saw the two snakes.

2. We came within sight of the village when our car suddenly caught fire.
3. Because he has been to college is no sign he is cultured.
4. The main reason I left early was because I was bored.
5. Mr. Jamshed is the Vice President while the Saeed is the Secretary.

Practice 2:
The following sentences are lacking in unity. Improve them by adding details & changing words where necessary.
1. The librarian was so discouraged about the lack of funds.
2. Our situation is too wonderful
3. Trying to work when my neighbour is playing his drum is such a problem.
4. The young ladies wore bright coloured socks and were kind hearted
5. She is so talented.
6. Computer courses have more appeal for the college student today.

We have seen that less important ideas must be made subordinate to the main idea of a sentence. However, if two ideas are co-ordinate, they must be given equal rank in the sentence. This is known as parallelism. Students very often use faulty parallelism. Great care must be used in the matter of parallel structure. Nouns must be parallel to nouns, verbs to verbs, subordinate clauses to subordinate clauses gerunds to gerunds, etc…..

The following sentences are examples of faulty constructions.

(a) She told me to look on the table and that I should tell her what I found.
(b) Seema's job is reading books and to write book reviews.
(c) He was considerate, friendly, and people respected him.
(d) The couple want to travel extensively and new experiences.
(e) The professor drew attention to the beginning of the revolution and how it ended.
(f) Getting the groceries, taking the children to school and to feed the dog are his daily tasks.
NOTE 1: e.g. For lunch I had an apple pie and banana.

NOTE :(1) It is often necessary to repeat preposition or other words in order to make parallelism clear. e.g. For lunch I had an apple pie and banana.
(Improved) For lunch I had an apple pie and a banana.

(2) Correlatives (either…or / not only…also) should be used only with parallel elements.
He not only likes tennis but also golf.
(Improved)
He not only likes tennis but also golf.

You must bear in mind that faulty parallelism is worse than no parallelism at all. You should use parallelism freely in your sentences but should resist all temptation to force into parallel structure clauses which are not parallel in thought.
Practice 3:

The following sentences contain errors in parallelism. Correct the errors.

© Copyright Virtual University of Pakistan

1. Swimming and to go fishing are my favourite sports
2. I both want exercise and to be amused.
3. He offered either to pay for it now or tomorrow.
4. Not only were they disappointed but also angry.
5. As we were unfamiliar with the route and because of approaching darkness, we decided to ask for advice.
6. The boy's face was streaked with dirt and his feet muddy.

II. So far we have looked at how the unity of sentences is destroyed. Now we shall turn to the second element, coherence, which helps to create an effective sentence. A sentence has coherence when the various parts follow one another in an order which makes their relationship clear.
Correct handling of matters of unity, parallelism and subordination contributes to coherence. When working for coherence there are 4 pitfalls which must be avoided at all costs. These are weak, general or ambiguous reference of pronouns, split constructions, use of mixed constructions and mixed figures of speech and needless shifting from one point of view to another – all these destroy coherence in a sentence.

1. Reference of Pronouns: e.g.

(i) Ahmed saw Basit and Zahid yesterday and he said that he had the money. (ambig)
(ii) My aunt's cat was crippled; and she was never the same again. (Ambiguous aunt, cat?)
(iii) She put the computer on the table, which her sister had bought.

Note: Don't treat an antecedent first as singular and then as plural. e.g.
(i) The Guard Company is now using coal in their furnaces instead of fuel oil.
(ii) The club has done their best to raise the money.

2. Split Constructions: e.g.

(i) The batsman started to viciously hit the stumps.
(ii) If we had the time, we could make some changes, if we wanted to.

3(a). Bad construction

(i) This is the book to which I was referring to.
(ii) The author gives the best idea of the problem than any other I have read.

(b). Mixture of figures of speech

e.g. My castles in air came tumbling down into a bottomless heap.

4. Aimless shifting from one point of view another will destroy coherence in a sentence. This can be due to a needless shift from
(a) Active to passive
(b) From singular to plural
(c) From past tense to present.

For Example

(i) He ran to the station and the train was taken by him. (Active to passive)

(ii) If one tries hard, they can accomplish much. (Singular to plural)
(iii) The only words that we were able to distinguish are 'horse' and 'cart'.
(Past to present)

Practice 4:

The following sentences lack coherence. Try to make them better.
1. Susan and her sister both saw the film, but she was disappointed.
2. I wrote and asked my uncle to let me know about the books as soon as he can.
3. He took an oath to never, no matter what happened, reveal the secrets of the organization.
4. She is as old if not older than Henry.
5. We have and will again talk to him about his plans.
6. She, having worked steadily at the sewing machine for three hours and having finished stitching five dresses, she sat down wearily in the armchair.

III. Emphasis.

(a) Position: e.g.
(i) Her son graduated with honours, we were told.
(ii) You shall be called a liar, in all probability. (Weak)
(iii) She flatly refused to see him, for some unknown reason.
(b) Order of Climax: e.g.
During his long stay with the club he served as president, secretary, treasurer and vice president.
(c) Repetition e.g.
i) The dog was his only friend, his only companion, his only confidant, and his only heir.
ii) They believe that most of us believe they are lazy.
(i) I have never seen anything like it in my life. (Natural Order)

Practice 5:

The following sentences can be made more emphatic.
1. He testified that he had passed college, middle school, and high school examinations.
2. We were informed by the doctor that the young girl had been told of her mother's death by him.
3. Go away, if you don't like it here.
4. His mother is one person he can confide in.
5. My sister is happy in her new house, on the other hand.
6. It is a worthy cause, I think.
In today's lesson we considered the general elements - unity coherence and emphasis which make for effectiveness in sentences. We shall continue with sentence construction in the next few lessons

Lesson -24

Writing: Identifying Sentence Errors

In earlier lessons we have been exploring ways of writing more effective sentences. In this lesson, we will look at the errors we all make and how to revise these errors.

Sentence Errors to be Avoided:

Having considered the general elements which make for effectiveness in sentences, we will now take up four common errors in sentence construction. These errors should be avoided by all who write in English. These errors are:
i Sentence Fragments
ii Run-on sentences
(a) Fused sentences (b) comma splice iii Misplaced and Dangling Modifiers

Sentence Fragments

We said that a sentence is a group of words that must contain a subject and a verb. It must also express one complete thought. Therefore a number of ideas must not be huddled together in a simple unit. Now a sentence fragment, as the phrase tells you, is less than a sentence - it is a fragment because it lacks a subject or a verb or because it does not express a complete thought. The following are samples of fragments.

- My neighbour being a typical businessman who prides himself on his efficiency.
- Because there are two computers on his desk.

The writer of these incomplete statements apparently forgot that a sentence must express a complete thought. You might say that professional writers-novelists, short story writers use incomplete sentences, but if you look closely you will see that their fragments convey complete thoughts and they convey them immediately

I. Dependent Word Fragments

Some fragments contain a subject and a verb, but they do not express a complete thought e.g.
- Since Ami was tired.
- When the postman arrived.
- After I had switched off the light.
- Since Ami was tired, she took a nap.

When the postman arrived, we handed him the letters.

There was loud knocking on the front door after I had switched off the light

Practice1

Identify the part you think is not a complete sentence.
1. After the new department store opened. Several small shops went out of business.
2. The nurse pierced my arm four times with a syringe. Trying to take a blood sample.
3. The old lady was trembling with excitement. As it was her first airplane ride.
4. The police cordoned off the area. Because there was a gas leak.
5. The small child was always active. Running, jumping, climbing on chairs, dashing in and out of rooms.
- Sarah had to clean up the mess that the children left in the verandah.
- I passed the chemistry which I had expected to fail.
- Yesterday I ran to a man who was my best friend in school.
- Sarah had to clean up the mess that the children left in the verandah.
- I passed the chemistry which I had expected to fail.
- Yesterday I rant into a man who was my best friend in school.

Practice 2:

This practice will give you a sense of the difference between a dependent-word fragment and a complete sentence. Turn each fragment into a sentence by adding a statement that completes the thought.
1. When I rang the doorbell, _____.
2. Since I had forgotten my house keys, _____.
3. As I walked into the classroom, _____.
4. Unless her temperature goes down soon, _____.
5. Schools were closed yesterday, _____.

1. When I rang the doorbell, the lights of the house went out.
2. Since I had forgotten my house keys, I had to break the door.
3. As I walked into the classroom, the fire alarm rang.
4. Unless her temperature goes down soon, we will have to consult a specialist.
5. Schools were closed yesterday because of the political rally.

II. -Ing and To Fragments

(a) When a word ending in -ing appears at the beginning of a group of words a fragment may result. e.g.
- Hoping to buy things cheaply. Poor people often go the Sunday bazaars.Here the second statement is a complete sentence. But the first group of words lacks both a subject and a verb, so it is a fragment.
(b) Here is an example of a 'to' fragment.
- The ladies jogged through the park. To lose weight.
There are two ways to correct -ing and to fragments.
a) Connect the fragment to the sentence it explains. e.g. - Hoping to buy things cheaply, poor people often go to the Sunday bazaar. Remember to put a comma after an-ing or a to word group that starts a sentence.

© Copyright Virtual University of Pakistan

b) Create a complete sentence by adding a subject and a verb to the fragment and revise the material as necessary. e.g. -Poor people often to the Sunday bazaar. They hope to buy things cheaply.- The ladies jogged through the park. They wanted to lose weight.
Hoping to buy things cheaply, poor people often go to the Sunday bazaar.
-Poor people often to the Sunday bazaar. They hope to buy things cheaply.
- The ladies jogged through the park. They wanted to lose weight

Practice 3:

First identify the -ing or to fragment in each of the following items. Then rewrite the correct version using one of the two methods just discussed.
1- Police officers stood all over the road. Directing traffic around the accident.
2. Rising high into the sky. The huge yellow kite could be seen for miles.
3. Sarah painted a landscape. To enter the contest
4. To get off the diving board. The swimmer did a somersault.

1- Police officers stood all over the road. Directing traffic around the accident.
- Police officers stood all over the road, directing traffic around the accident.
2. Rising high into the sky. The huge yellow kite could be seen for miles.
- Rising high into the sky, the huge yellow kite could be seen for miles.
3. Sarah painted a landscape. To enter the contest.
- Sarah painted a landscape. She wanted to enter the contest.
4. To get off the diving board. The swimmer did a somersault.
-The swimmer wanted to get off the diving board. He did a somersault.

III. Added-Detail Fragment

Another common kind of fragment begins with one of the following words: like, including, such as, for example, for instance, except, without, especially*, and* also. All these words introduce an additional point or example to what has already been stated. e.g.
- Everyone enjoyed the feast. Except the fish.
- We had to read several novels. Including 'The Ice Age'.
In each of these examples, the second word group lacks both a subject and a verb.
Note that each of these fragments begins with an Added Detail word or phrase: except and including. To correct an Added Detail fragment you follow the same two methods as used for the last type of fragment -ing and to fragments.
A. Add the fragment to the sentence it explains.
B. Create a new sentence by adding a subject and verb to the fragment and revise the material as necessary.

Practice 4

Identify the added - detail fragment in each of the following items then write the correct version using one of the two methods given earlier.
1. The former playmates walked passed one another. Without saying a word.

2. For a main dish, I often serve meat and vegetables. For example, fish and spinach.
3. The policeman searched the room for clues. Such as old photographs, old letters and old receipts.
4. Oranges are full of nutrients. Especially vitamin C.

1-The former playmates walked past one another without saying a word.
2-For a main dish, I often serve meat and vegetables. For example, I mix fish with spinach.
3- The policeman searched the room for clues such as old photographs, old letters and old receipts.
4- Oranges are full of nutrients especially vitamin C.

IV. Missing - Subject Fragments

Some word groups are fragments because, while they do have a verb, they lack a subject. e.g.
-The poor woman paid all her utility bills. But then had little money left over for food.
- The nurse held a smiling baby. Then posed for the photographers.
In each of the above examples the first statement is a complete sentence and second word group is a fragment.
Note that in each fragment the subject is missing. The first fragments omits the subject of the verb had and the second fragment omits the subject of the verb posed.
To correct a missing-subject fragment you again follow the same two methods that you used for the correction of the earlier types of fragments.
(a) Connect the missing-subject fragment to the sentence that comes before it. Add a joining word if needed for a smooth connection as given in the examples that follow.
(a) - The poor woman paid all her utility bills but had little money left for her food..
-The nurse held a smiling baby and then posed for the photographers.
(b) Create new sentence by adding a subject to the fragment. Normally you will add a pronoun that stands for the subject of the previous sentence.
(b) - The poor woman paid all her utility bills. But she had little money left for her food..
- The nurse held a smiling baby. Then she posed for the photographers.

Practice 5:

Identify the missing subject-fragment in each of the following items. Then write the correct version using one of the two methods you have learned.
1. The sleeping dog opened one eye to look at the postman. And then went back to sleep.
The sleeping dog opened one eye to look at the postman and then it went back to sleep.
2. Each morning, my secretary checks the answering machine for messages. Then opens the mail.
-Each morning, my secretary checks the answering machine for messages. Then she opens the mail.
3. Maryam skipped her afternoon classes. And worked on a paper due the next morning.
Maryam skipped her afternoon. Classes and she worked on a paper due the next morning.
4. The movie had melodious music and popular actors. Yet made little money at the box office.
Melodious and popular Yet it made little money at the box of
The movie had melodious and popular actors. Yet it made little money at the box office.

Lesson Review

Answer each question by filling in the correct word/words in the blank space.
1. To be sentence, a group of words must contain a subject and a _____and it must express_____.
2. Words such as because, until and while are known as _____words because word groups that begin with them depend on another statement to complete the thought.
3. Fragments that begin with words such as like, especially, and for example are known as _____fragments.
4. One way to correct an added-detail fragment is to create a new _____ by adding a subject and _____to the fragment.
5. One way to correct a missing-subject fragment is to add a _____ to the fragment.

TEST:

Sentence Fragments
Rewrite the following. Correct any fragments.
1. We go to Murree Hills during the summer vacations. Whenever we can, of course.
2. Our literary circle has only two officers. Miss Niazi being president and Mr. Awan being secretary treasure.
3. Living in the city is not always pleasant. During the summer months particularly.
4. He hated learning foreign languages. Latin, French and German especially.
5. Moving up the mountain at a fast pace. The soldiers were soon exhausted. They were not used to climbing at high altitudes. Where the air was thinner.
6. When people are scared. The hair on their bodies really can "stand on end". Each hair is attached to a tiny muscle. This can pull the hair straight up. The muscles react together in response to a great fright.

The word groups beginning with when & which are dependent – word fragment, so each needs to be added to the sentence that comes before or after it. When people are scared, the hair on their bodies really can "stand on end". Each hair is attached to a tiny muscle which can pull the hair straight up. The muscles react together in response to a great fright.

Lesson -25

WRITING: REVISING SENTENCE ERRORS

In earlier lessons we have been exploring ways of writing more effective sentences. In the last lesson we did sentence errors and in today's lesson we will continue to look at sentence errors and how to revise these errors.
In the last lesson we looked at the most common type of sentence error - the sentence fragment. Today we shall examine the next two most common types of sentence errors, which are the run-on sentences and dangling modifiers. First we will look at run on sentences.
A run-on sentence is a sentence that is made up of two complete thoughts that have no clear break between them.
There are two kinds of run-on sentences:
(i) Fused sentences
ii) Comma splice sentences.

(i) Fused Sentences:

Two or more sentences that run together with no marks of punctuation between them are said to be fused. The two sentences or two complete statements / thoughts are simply stuck together into one sentence. The writer of such a sentence is either extremely careless or is ignorant of the most elementary facts about sentence structure. E.g.
(a) Computer skills are useful in college. They will help you in getting a job as well.
(b) Our club raised money for the Red Crescent an organization like this is a wonderful thing.
(c) He left early he said he had a toothache.
A good way to prevent fused sentences is to read aloud what you have written. Also look within the sentence for words like I, you, he, she, it, we, they, there, this, that, now, then and next. Such words often signal the beginning of a complete thought.

Examples

(a) Computer skills are useful in college. They will help you in getting a job as well.
(b) Our club raised money for the Red Crescent an organization like this is a wonderful thing.
(c) He left early he said he had a toothache.

Recognizing Fused and Comma Splices

Practice1.

Identify the following sentences as fused (F) or comma splice (CS). Then mark the place between the two complete thoughts with a slash (/). The first two have been done for you.
E.g. (a) The room is locked / no one has a key. F
(b) The wall is covered with ivy, / a stone path leads to the wall. CS
1. Raheel likes to cook his wife taught him how. (_____).
2. The bell rang the wrestlers returned to the ring. (____)

© Copyright Virtual University of Pakistan

3. The trunk is in the basement it has a handle missing. (_____)
4. The waiters served soft drinks to the children they offered coffee to the adults. (_____)
5. It rained during our trip to Murree we played cards and told stories. (_____)

Correcting Fused Sentences:

There are 3 ways of correcting a fused sentence.
1. Divide the fused sentence into two sentences.
- The lake is calm today it looks like a blue mirror. (Wrong Version) (Corrected Version)
- The lake is calm today. It looks like a blue mirror. (Corrected Version)
2. Put a comma and an appropriate joining word (such as and, but or so) between the two complete thoughts E.g. (I) Computer skills are useful in college they will help you in getting a job as well.(Erroneous version)
-Computer skills are useful in college, and they will help you in getting a job as well.(Correct version) (ii)Yousaf Youhanna has a pulled muscle he won't play any cricket this season. (Erroneous version)
-Yousaf Youhanna has a pulled muscle, so he won't play any cricket this season. (Correct version)
Note:

The comma always goes before the joining word - not after it.
3. Use subordination to make one of the complete thoughts dependent on the other one. To subordinate a complete thought, change it from a statement that can stand alone as a sentence to one that cannot stand by itself.
To do so, begin the thought with an appropriate word, such as because, when, if, before, since, until, unless, while, as, though and after.

Example
- Youhanna has a pulled muscle he won't do any batting in this tournament.
-Because Youhanna has a pulled muscle, he won't do any batting in this tournament.
Note:

Put a comma at the end of a dependent word-group that begins a sentence.

Practice 2: Correct each of the fused sentences that follow using one of the methods described earlier. Use a different method for each sentence.
1. It wasn't his idea he should have known better than to do it.
   It wasn't his idea. He should have known better than to do it.
2. It's easy to begin smoking it's much harder to quit.
   It's easy to begin smoking, but it's much harder to quit.
3. Some workers at the factory have been laid off the others are nervous.
   Because some workers at the factory have been laid off, the others are nervous.

4. The room looked wonderful the carpets had just been vacuumed.
   The room looked wonderful. The carpets had just been vacuumed.
5. The fish was served with its head still on, I lost my appetite.
   Because the fish was served with its head still on, I lost my appetite.
6. First you should clean the floor, and then you should vacuum the carpet.
   First you should clean the floor, and then you should vacuum the carpet.

Correcting Comma Splice:

A comma splice can be connected by using one of the same three methods suggested for correcting a fused sentence:
1. Divide the comma splice into two sentences:
-Saad is always nervous about tests. His grades are usually the best in the class.
2. Connect the two complete thoughts by placing a joining word (such as and, but or so) after the comma:
-Saad is always nervous about tests, but his grades are usually the best in the class.
3. Use subordination (add a dependent word to one of the complete thoughts):
-Saad is always nervous about tests although his grades are usually the best in the class.

Practice 3:

Correct each of the comma splices that follow, using one of the methods suggested. Use a different method for each sentence.
1. Fahd was talking on the phone; he was switching TV channels with his remote control at the same time.
-Fahd was talking on the phone, and he was switching TV channels with his remote control at the same time.
2. Mules are very sure-footed; they're used for climbing steep mountains.
-Mules are very sure-footed, so they're used for climbing steep mountains.
3. The electricity at the shopping center went out; all the shops had to close early.
-Since the electricity at the shopping center went out, all the shops had to close early.
4. Bicycles are the world's best method of transportation, they don't pollute the atmosphere.
- Bicycles are the world's best method of transportation, because they don't pollute the atmosphere.
5. I don't like the Principal's way of expressing herself, I agree with many of her ideas.
- Although I don't like the Principal's way of expressing herself, I agree with many of her ideas.

Review of Fused and Comma Splice Constructions

Fill in the missing word in each space.
1. A _____is made up of two complete thoughts that are incorrectly joined together with nothing between them.
2. A _____ is made up of two complete thoughts that are incorrectly joined together with only a comma between them.
3. One way to correct fused sentences and comma splices is to add a _____and a capital letter.

© Copyright Virtual University of Pakistan

4. Two complete thoughts can be joined together in a sentence by a comma and a _____ word such as and, but or so.
5. Two complete thoughts can be joined together in one sentence by adding a _____ word such as when or because.
6. The fused sentence and the comma splice are also known as _____ sentences.

Answers:
1. Run-on
2. Comma splice
3. Full stop / period
4. Joining
5. Dependent
6. Run-on

Test:

Fused & Comma Splices
Rewrite each of the following sentences using the methods suggested.
1. A plane flew very low overhead, the houses rattled loudly.
-A plane flew very low overhead, and the houses rattled loudly.
2. Garlic may smell bad it tastes delicious. It has other good qualities as well. Garlic can help lower cholesterol it is also supposed to keep away disease.
- Garlic may smell, but it tastes delicious. It has other good qualities as well. Garlic can help lower cholesterol, and it is also supposed to keep away disease.
3. My psychology final exam is next week; I am very worried about passing it. Because I was sick at the start of the term, I never completed the prescribed reading. For the past month I've been working in the evening, it's hard to find time to study; I will ask the teacher for extra help it may be too late.
Modifier is one or more words that describe another word or group of words. In the following examples the modifier is bold faced and the word it modifies is underlined e.g.
(i)The woman with gold-rimmed spectacles is my boss.
The modifier with gold-rimmed spectacles describes woman.
(ii) My neighbour has a spaniel with one ear missing
(iii) I have nearly a thousand stamps.

Misplaced modifier is a modifier that is incorrectly separated from the word or words that it describes. The misplaced modifier seems to describe words that the writer did not intend it to describe. When modifiers are misplaced, the reader may misunderstand the sentence.
-My brother bought a used car from a local dealer with a leaking pipe.
-The sparrow built a nest at the back of our house of grass and twigs.
-Anjum Nisar almost sneezed twenty times last night.
-My brother bought a used car (with a leaking pipe) from a local dealer.
-The sparrow built a nest (of grass and twigs) at the back of our house.
- Anjum Nisar sneezed (almost) twenty times last night.

PRATICE 1:

Identify the misplaced word(s) in each sentence. Then rewrite the sentence placing the modifier where it will make the meaning clear.
1. I am returning the jacket to the store that is too small.
2. The couple looked at thirty sofas shopping on Saturday.
3. The woman tore open the parcel she had just received with her finger nails.
4. The bracelet on Ayesha's arm made of silver belongs to her mother.
5. Take this jar to uncle Aman's home which he lent to me.

Single Word Modifiers

NOTE:

Pay special attention to single word modifiers, such as only, almost and nearly. For their meaning to be correctly understood, they should be placed directly in front of the word they describe.
e.g. (i) I only asked my boss for one day's leave, but he refused.
(ii) I must have almost answered a hundred ads before I found this job
(iii) After returning from college my niece nearly spends all evening on the telephone.

I asked my boss for only one day's leave, but he refused.
I must have answered almost a hundred ads before I found this job.
After returning from college my niece spends nearly all evening on the telephone.

Dangling Modifiers

Staring dreamily into space, the instructor's loud voice startled me.
-Staring dreamily into space, I was started by the instructor's loud voice. OR
-As I was staring dreamily into space, the instructor's loud voice startled me.
Here are more samples of ways by which dangling modifiers can be corrected.
-When pulling out of the driveway, the pillar blocks my view.
-When pulling out of the drive way, I find my view blocked by the pillar.
OR
– Whenever I pull out of the driveway, the pillar blocks by view.

PRACTICE 2

In each sentence identify the misplaced or dangling modifier. Then rewrite each sentence so that its intended meaning is clear.
1. The man returned the overdue book to the librarian with apologies.
2. The soldiers hold up in the caves almost went without food and water for a week.
3. The sky was blue and clear when we arrived home. But only a short while later, with a sudden crash of thunder, we hurried to close the windows in the bedrooms. Staring out at the downpour,

© Copyright Virtual University of Pakistan

we were glad to be safe inside. Then we remembered our open car windows, groaning with dismay.
4. I lost my raincoat last winter. I thought I'd looked everywhere for it. Then, yesterday, stuffed under the bed, I spotted it. Wrinkled and dusty, I was still delighted to see it.

In today's lesson you looked at some more sentence errors – the fragment, fused and comma splices and dangling modifiers. All good writers avoid these errors, and you should also try to avoid making such errors.

Lesson -26

Subject Verb Agreement

In a correctly written sentence, the subject and verb agree i.e. match in number. In other words a singular subject will take a singular verb and plural subjects will take plural verbs. Most students have no problem handling a simple sentence where its not difficult to make the subject and verb agree or match. e.g.
- My mother works at two jobs. My grandma takes care of my brothers and sisters.
Not all sentences are so straight forward.
In today's lesson you shall learn about situations that can cause problems with subject - verb agreement.

Revision of Present Tense

Before we look at the situations that can cause problems a little revision of the tenses is necessary to brush up your knowledge. e.g.- Last night, I played chess. My friends played cards.
Now this sentence you must have noticed is in same for all subjects, whether singular or plural. However, present tense verbs have two forms. Look at the following table. Notice the pattern of present tense verbs.

Singular	Plural
I work	You work
You work	We work
He works	They work
She works
It works

Did you notice that:
(i) There is an S at the end of present tense verbs for singular subjects except for I and you.
(ii) There is no S at the end of present tense verbs for I, you and all plural verbs.

Practice1. Choose the correct form of the verb.

1. The rag picker (sort, sorts) huge bundles of rags.
2. The rage pickers (sort, sorts) huge bundles of rags.
3. The student (listen, listens) to music while studying
4. The students (listen, listens) to music while studying.
5. The worm (wriggle, wriggles) in the glass tube.
6. The worms (wriggle, wriggles) in the glass tube.
7. The gardener (whistle, whistles) while watering plants.
8. The gardeners (whistle, whistles) while watering plants.

Subject & Verb separated by Prepositional Phrase.

Having revised the present tense verbs we will now look at the situations which can pose problems in subject-verb agreement.

© Copyright Virtual University of Pakistan

In many sentences the subject is close to the verb, without the subject coming first.
The 1st type of problem situation occurs when the subject and verb do not occur side by side. e.g.
Most shops on Mall Road are having sales this week.
In the above sentence, a prepositional phrase on Mall Road, separates the subject shops and the verb are having. A prepositional phrase is a group of words that begins with a preposition (*such as, in, on, for, from, of, to) and ends with a noun or pronoun.

S V V
Most shops on Mall Road, are having sales this week.

Remember the subject of the sentence is never part of a prepositional phrase.
Let us have short practice of finding the subject of a sentence with a prepositional phrase.

Practice2.

In the following sentences first identify the prepositional phrase, and then pick out the subject of each sentence. Finally spot the verb that agrees with the subject.
1. One of my best friends now lives / live in Dubai.
2. The wafer in this ice cream taste / tastes like sawdust.
3. Many people in the Indo-Pak subcontinent speaks / speak several languages.
4. No person in my class sleep / sleeps through my lecture.
5. The toddler by the swings is / are my nephew.

Answer:

S PP V
1. One (of my best friends) now lives (in Dubai)

S pp v
2. The wafer (in this ice cream) tastes like sawdust.

S pp v v
3. Many people (in the Indo-Pak subcontinent) speak several languages.

S pp v
4. No person (in my class) sleeps though my lecture.

S pp v
5. The toddler (by the swings) is my nephew.

Verb Coming Before the Subject

In most English sentences, the verb usually follows the subject e.g.
I (saw) the film.
The plate (dropped) from her hands.
A plane (crashed)

But in some sentences the verb comes before the subject. Such sentences often are questions, or they may begin with prepositional phrases or word groups like There is and Here are.
I (saw) the film.
The plate (dropped) from her hands.
A plane (crashed)

i. What was the result of the cricket match?

Even in such cases where the verb comes before the subject, the verb must agree with the subject. e.g.

i. What was the result of the cricket match?
(The verb was is singular, so it agrees with the singular subject result, of the cricket match is the prepositional phrase).

Remember the subject of a sentence is never in a prepositional phrase.
ii. There are many unemployed teachers in the district. (Plural v, Pl subj).
iii. Here is the computer disk of the lesson. (Sing v, sing subj)
iv. In that box are other photographs (Pl v, pl subj)
v. What was the purpose of that lecture? (Sing v, sign sub)

If you are not sure of the subject in a sentence, find the verb and then ask "who?" Or "what".
In the second sentence for e.g. you would ask, 'what are there in the district?" The answer, "unemployed teachers", is the subject.
For the third sentence, the question would be, 'what is here?' the answer, 'The computer disk' is the subject.

Practice3.

Identify the subject and verb in each sentence.
i. Where is / are the keys of the cupboard?
ii. Underneath the big stone live / lives may colonies of ants.
iii. In my back garden grow / grows many herbs. ,
iv. Why does / do you always have to be right?
v. Here is /are some cards for you.

Indefinite Pronoun Subject:

The third situation that can pose problems in subject-verb agreement is when there is an indefinite pronoun subject. Indefinite pronouns are pronouns that do not refer to a specific person or thing.

Each	anyone	anybody	anything
Either	everyone	everybody	everything
Neither	someone	somebody	something
One	no one	nobody	nothing

1. The pronouns in the above box are always singular.
2. They always take singular verbs.

Note the subject-verb relationships in the following sentences with indefinite pronouns subject.
e.g.

© Copyright Virtual University of Pakistan

i. One of those correspondence courses is still open. (Sing sub one; sing v is)
ii. Neither of my parents is alive.
(Sing sub neither; sing v. is)
iii. Somebody was opening my letters (Sing. Sub somebody; sing. v was)
iv. Nearby everyone in my class owns a computer. (Sing sub. Everyone; sing v owns).

Note the subject-verb relationships in the following sentences with indefinite pronouns subject. e.g.
i. One of those correspondence courses is still open.
ii. Neither of my parents is alive.
iii. Somebody was opening my letters
iv. Nearby everyone in my class owns a computer.

Practice4.

Identify the subject and the verb that agrees with it.
i. 'Everything in this crate goes / go upstairs', she said.
ii. Neither of the phones works / work.
iii. No one favors / favor a cheat.
iv. Each of the appear / appears to have been nibbled by the same person.
v. Something about her story sound / sounds suspicious.

Compound Subjects
The fourth and the last type of situation which can pose problems in subject-verb agreement are compound subjects.

1- Compound Subjects

Usually two or more subjects which are joined by and, they require a plural verb. e.g.
i. Petrol and car repairs are my biggest expenses every month.
ii. There were VCRs and Cameras for rent.
iii. Crockery and cutlery items are included in the bill.

2- When compound subjects are joined by or, nor, either…or, neither…nor, not only… but also, the verb agrees with the closer subject. e.g.
-Either grapes or mango ice cream is the specialty every Saturday at the students dining hall.
-Either mango ice cream or grapes are the specialty every Saturday at the students dining hall.

3- While most indefinite pronouns such as each, everyone, one somebody etc. are always singular, there are a few pronouns that are not. The pronouns both and a few are always plural and require plural verbs.
e.g. - Both of my aunts play the sitar and sing professionally. A few of my cousins are also actors

4. The pronouns all and some are either singular or plural depending on the words that follow hem. If the words after them are singular, then they are singular. If the words after plural, then they are plural e.g.
-Some of the chicken is still on the table.
(Since chicken is singular, some is singular in this sentence a singular verb, is needed).
-Some of the guests are not having chicken.
(Since guests are plural, it makes some plural in this sentence. The plural verb 'are' is appropriate over here).

Practice 5

Identify the verb given in brackets that agrees with the compound subjects.
i Our aunts and uncles (stay / stays) with us when they come to Lahore.
ii. (Is / are) the actor and actresses ready to take the curtain call?
iii. Ropes and a clamp (holds / hold) the mural.
iv. The broken head lights and side light (was / were) the result of my bad driving.
v. The batsmen and the wicket keeper (require / requires) a fitness certificate.
vi. All of the students at the lecture (was / were) glad when it was over.
vii. Either Jameela or her daughter (stay / stays) at home to take care of Iqbal.
viii. Neither the head clerk nor his assistant clerks (has been / have been) fired for corruption.
ix. Not only Khalid but also his friends (is / are) to blame for the accident.
x. A few of the strawberries (tastes / taste) funny.

Test

Each of the following passages contains two mistakes in subject-verb agreement. Find these mistakes and correct them.
i. The rain forests of Brazil is home to many species of frogs. Nobody among the world's scientists know exactly how many. More types are being discovered all the time.
ii. The paint on the house and garage are peeling. Also each of the buildings need repairs. However, there is never enough time to do those jobs.
iii. One of our professors always listens to students and makes sure they understand the lecture. Each of his students feel free to ask questions. Also the tests in his classes are always fair and clear.

Review:

Fill in the correct words in each space.
1. A singular subject takes a _____ verb. (Singular / plural)
2. A plural subject takes a _____ verb. (Singular / plural)
3. The (singular or plural) _____ of present tense verbs is sometimes formed by adding the letter s to the end of the verb.
4. The subject of a sentence is often found in a prepositional phrase. (T / F) _____.
5. Compound subjects require a plural verb. (T / F) _____.
6. The indefinite pronouns anyone and everybody take a _____ verb. (Singular / plural)
7. The pronouns both and few are always plural and require plural verbs. (T / F) _____.

RECAP:
In this lesson, you looked at subject -verb agreement within sentences and how an awareness of correctness can improve your written expression. All good writers keep in mind these aspects of language and avoid these subject verb discrepancies, and you should also try to avoid making such errors.

Lesson -27

Writing

In earlier lessons we have been exploring ways of writing more effective sentences. In today's lesson we will look at pronouns, their agreement reference and pint of view which are essential for good writing.

Pronouns (Agreement, Reference Point of View)

Look at the following sentences and see if you locate the mistake in each sentence.

1. Each of my students required four to five chances to pass their driving test.
2. If there are stains on any hotel sheets, they should be removed at once.
3. People go to the neighborhood restaurant because you get low-priced meals.

Explanation

1. Each of my students required four to five chances to pass his driving test. (Each is singular. It requires a singular Pronoun, his to refer to it.)
2. If there are stains on any hotel sheets, the sheets should be removed at once. (Which is to be removed-stains or sheets? Pronoun they could refer to either one. Replacing they with the sheets makes the meaning of the sentence clear.)
3. People go to the neighborhood restaurant because they can get low priced meals. (People requires a third person pronoun, they. Sentences that begin in the third person should not suddenly shift their point of view to the second person, you.)

In today's lesson you will learn how to avoid the three most frequent kinds of Pronoun mistakes: pronoun agreement, pronoun reference, and pronoun point of view.

I. Pronoun Agreement

Agreement shows the relationship between nouns and pronouns and their verbs and between nouns and their corresponding pronouns. Agreement specifies that a singular noun / pronoun uses a singular verb, a plural noun /pronoun takes a plural verb, a singular pronoun refers to a singular noun and plural pronoun refers to a plural noun. A pronoun must agree in number with the word it refers to (sometimes call the pronoun's antecedent. e.g.

1. The students have spent many hours studying for their examinations. The antecedent of 'their' is 'students'.)
2. The book Yousaf lent me is missing its cover. ('Its', a sing. pronoun, refers to book, a single pronoun.)
3. If your friends don't get here soon, they'll miss the train. (They, a plural pronoun, refers to friends a plural noun).

The following is a list of indefinite pronouns which are always singular.

Each	anyone	anybody	anything
Either	everyone	everybody	everything
Neither	someone	somebody	something
One	no one	nobody	nothing

e.g.

i). Each of the wild horses raced for its freedom.
ii) Neither of my sons ever feels like cleaning his room.
No one in the class wanted to read his / her paper aloud.
No students in the class wanted to read their papers aloud.

Practice 1 (A)
For each sentence write the pronoun needed and the word that the pronoun refers to. The first sentence is done for you.
1. Neither of the babies has had (his, their) polio shot yet. (The pronoun needed is his. The word it refers to is neither).
2. Many high schools now require (their, its) students to take a computer course.
3. Each of the girls invited (her, their) mother to the party.
4. Nobody can join the club unless (they are, he / she is) invited.
5. Everything in the office has (its, their) own place.

Practice 1 (A)
For each sentence write the pronoun needed and the word that the pronoun refers to. The first sentence is done for you.
1. Neither of the babies has had (his, their) polio shot yet. (The pronoun needed is his. The word it refers to is neither).
2. Many high schools now require (their, its) students to take a computer course. (The pronoun needed is their. The word it refers to is schools).
3. Each of the girls invited (her, their) mother to the party. (The pronoun needed is her. The word it refers to is each).
4. Nobody can join the club unless (they are, he / she is) invited. (The pronoun/s and verb needed are he / she. The word the pronoun(s) and verb needed are he or she. The word the pronoun(s) refer to is nobody).
5. Everything in the office has (its, their) own place. The pronoun needed is its. It refers to everything.

Practice 1 (B)
Choose the correct pronoun(s) from the words given in brackets.
6. Each of the actresses who auditioned believes (she, they) should be chosen for the main role.
7. If anybody is interested in a part-time job at the library, (he / she, they) should let the chief librarian known.
8. Either medicine is fine, but (it, they) must be taken regularly.
9. Somebody in the ladies' lounge stole my dark glasses, and I would love to get back at (her, them)
10. Neither of my uncles has ever smoked in (his, their) life.
Answer:
Practice 1(B): Choose the correct pronoun(s) from the words given in brackets.
6. Each of the actresses who auditioned believes (she, they) should be chosen for the main role.
7. If anybody is interested in a part-time job at the library, (he / she, they) should let the chief librarian known.
8. Either medicine is fine, but (it, they) must be taken regularly.

9. Somebody in the ladies' lounge stole my dark glasses, and I would love to get back at (her, them)
10. Neither of my uncles has ever smoked in (his, their) life.

II. Pronoun Reference

Just as a pronoun must agree in number with its antecedent it is also necessary for effective communication for a pronoun to refer clearly to the word it stands for. If the meaning of a pronoun is uncertain, the sentence will be confusing. This agreement between a noun and its pronoun is related to number, person and gender, and is called, reference. e.g.

(i) Rabia told Nafeesa that she had got an A in her term paper.
(ii) Javeria told Laila she will be unable to keep her job.
(iii) Personnel and management have reached tentative agreement on its contract.
(iv) Each student is encouraged to submit their work on time.
(v) There was no question after the lecture, which was regrettable.
(vi) Both of Basits's parents are doctors, but it doesn't interest Basit.

(i) Rabia told Nafeesa that she had got an A in her term paper. (who got the A - Rabia or Nafeesa? The word she and her could refer to either one).
(ii) Javeria told Laila she will be unable to keep her job.
(iii) Personnel and management have reached tentative agreement on its contract.
4. Each student is encouraged to submit their work on time.
(v) There was no question after the lecture, which was regrettable. (What was regrettable - lecture lack of questions? Be careful with the use of the pronouns 'which' and 'this'. They must clearly, refer to one things or situation.
(vi)Both of Basits's parents are doctors, but it doesn't interest Basit. (What doesn't interest Basit? Pronoun it doesn't refer to anything in the sentence.)

Notice how communication is enhanced in these sentences given earlier. For the first example you can write

(i) Rabia told Nafeesa, "You got an A on your term paper". OR Rabia told Nafeesa, " I got an A in my term paper".
(ii) Javeria will be unable to keep her job – according to what she told Laila.
(iii) Personnel and management have reached tentative agreement on personnel's contract.
(iv) Each student is encouraged to submit his or her work on time.
(v) There were no questions after the lecture. Not having questions was regrettable.
(vi) Both of Basit's parents are doctors, but medicine doesn't interest Basit.

Practice 2

Choose the correct word / words from those given in the brackets.
1. As Riaz told his father about being arrested, (Riaz, he) began to cry.
2. Students complain that (they, the maintenance staff) don't keep the library tidy.

© Copyright Virtual University of Pakistan

3. Mahnoor tore off the wrapping paper from the present and then threw (it, the paper) in the rubbish bin.
4. Many poor people shop at the Sunday bazaar because (they, the vendors) give a 05 percent discount.
5. Many people enjoy hiking and camping, but I'm not interested in (them, those activities).

III. Pronoun Point of View

Pronouns that refer to the person who is speaking is called a first person e.g. I, me, our. A pronoun that refers to someone being spoken to, such as you, is a second person pronoun. And a pronoun that refers to another person or thing, such as he, she, it, is third person pronoun. Here are the personal pronouns in first, second and third person groupings. (See on red slide only)
When you write your pronoun, point of view must stay the same. Do not shift unnecessarily from one point of view to another, as in the following sentences.

Personal Pronouns

	1st Person	2nd Person	3rd Person
Singular	I, me, my	you, your	he, him, his
	Mine		she, her, it, its
Plural	we, us, our	you, your	they, them, their

(i) The worst thing about my not writing letters is that you never get any back. (The writer begins with the first person pronoun my, but then shifts to the second person pronoun you).

(ii) Though we like most of our neighbors, there are a few you can't get along with. (The writer begins with the fist person pronouns we and our, but then shifts to the second person pronoun you).

These sentences can be improved by eliminating the shifts in person:
(i) The worst thing about my not writing letters is that I never get any back.
(ii) Though we like most of our neighbors, there are a few we can't get along with.

Practice 3

Improve the following sentences by eliminating the shifts in person.
1. What I like best about holidays is that you don't have to set an alarm.
2. The laborers have to take a break at 11:00 whether we want to or not.
3. Whenever students are under a great deal of stress, we often go into depression.
4. If you plan to do well on this course, one should plan on attending every lesson.
5. When I first began to work as a nurse, I was surprised at how rude some patients were to you.

Answer:

1. What I like best about holidays is that you don't have to set an alarm.

- What I like best about holidays is that I don't have to set an alarm.
2. The laborers have to take a break at 11:00 whether we want to or not.
- The laborers have to take a break at 11:00 whether they want to or not.
3. Whenever students are under a great deal of stress, we often go into depression
-Whenever students are under a great deal of stress, they often go into depression.
4. If you plan t do well on this course, one should plan on attending every lesson.
- If you plan to do well on this course, you should plan on attending every lesson.
5. When I first began to work as a nurse, I was surprised at how rude some patients were to you.
- When I first began to work as a nurse, I was surprised at how rude some patients were to me.

TEST A:

Rewrite the following sentences after correcting the pronoun mistakes.
1. Neither friend wants to work in (his/their) family business.
2. If anyone does not want (his or her / their) pudding, I'll eat it.
3. When I was stopped for speeding, he said I'd been going beyond the speed limit.
4. I won't go to Abrar ul Haq's concert tonight because there's no way you could get a ticket.

TEST – (A) Rewrite the following sentences after correcting the pronoun mistakes.
1. Neither friend wants to work in (his/their) family business. (Neither an indefinite pronoun is singular. The second pronoun must agree with it in number).
2. If anyone does not want (his or her / their) pudding, I'll eat it.
3. When I was stopped for speeding, he said I'd been going beyond the speed limit.
- When I was stopped for speeding, the police officer said……
4. I won't go to Abrar ul Haq's concert tonight because there's no way you could get a ticket.
- I won't go to …….. No way could I get a ticket.

TEST B:

Each of the following passages contains two pronoun mistakes. Find the mistakes and rewrite the correct version of the passage.

1. Bashir told Yousaf that he needed a new car. Bashir went on to say, "I still like my old Suzuki, but the car spends more time in the workshop than on the road." Yousaf agreed that anybody who had to pay for so many repairs to their car should buy a new one.

(Bashir told Yousaf, "I need a new car". Yousaf….. Yousaf agreed …….. So many repairs to his car should buy a new one.

2. The restaurant down the road isn't making a profit these days. During an inspection last month, they found rats and cockroaches in the kitchen. The bad publicity caused the restaurant to close down for a week, which was damaging to the restaurants business.

-The restaurant down the road …….. The health officials found …….. Close down for a week. This closing was damaging

-The restaurant down the road …….. The health officials found …….. Close down for a week. This closing was damaging
3. Each of the sisters is a successful artist in their own field. Amina does oil paintings that she sells at the Grow Eaters' Gallery. Kamilia makes jewelry which one sells by herself from her home.

Each of the sisters is a successful artist in her own field……. Which she sells by herself from her home.

4. An angry looking man stood outside the bank, shouting that they had stolen his money. Passersby walked around him quickly because you did not know what he might do.

- (They have nothing in the sentence to refer to). Shouting that the bank employees had stolen his money….quickly because they (passers by) did not know…….

TEST C:

In the following passage each sentence contains one pronoun mistake. Find the mistakes & correct it.
1. When Aunty Mussarrat and Uncle Riaz arrived, we all jumped up from the dinner table and rushed to the door, shouting their greetings. 2. "I'm sorry we're late," said uncle Riaz, "but Mussarrat insists on driving at forty miles an hour, no matter how late you are." 3. "But you were late in coming home from work and also in leaving Islamabad, and it's all yours fault", Aunty Mussarat answered. 4. "The worst thing for me is living with such a fussy man you always have to wait for him to finish selecting his wardrobe, washing his car and combing his hair just right," continued Aunty.

Answer: In the following passage each sentence contains one pronoun mistake. Find the mistakes & correct it.
1. When Aunty Mussarrat and Uncle Riaz arrived, we all jumped up from the dinner table and rushed to the door, shouting their greetings. 2. "I'm sorry we're late," said uncle Riaz, "but Mussarrat insists on driving at forty miles an hour, no matter how late you are." 3. "But you were late in coming home from work and also in leaving Islamabad, and it's all yours fault", Aunty Mussarat answered. 4. "The worst thing for me is living with such a fussy man is you always have to wait for him to finish selecting his wardrobe, washing his car and combing his hair just right," continued Aunty.

Sentence 1: their greetings - our greetings we all jumped
- We is a 1st person pronoun. Their is a shift to the 3rd person point of view.
Sentence 2: how late you are – how late we are Sentence 3: its – it does not refer to anything in the sentence: and the lateness is all you fault.
Sentence 4: such a fussy man is you always have to wait for him - I always have to wait for him.

Lesson Review

Answer each question by telling in the correct word or words in the blank.
1. Words such as each, everyone, and something are _____ pronouns.
2. Words such I, you, and they are _____ pronouns.
3. A _____ person pronoun is one that refers to the person being spoken to.
4. True or False? A pronoun may be singular even if its antecedent is plural. (___)
5. True or False? A writer should not needlessly change from the first person to the second person. (_)

RECAP:

In today's lesson you looked at some more sentence errors and how to improve your written expression by focusing on – the pronouns, their agreement and the point of view. All good writers keep in mind these aspects of language and avoid these errors, and you should also try to avoid making such errors.

Lesson -28

Word Choice

This lesson is in two parts. In the first part you shall learn about the use and choice of words and expressions, and in the second part you shall look at a number of words that are often mistaken for one another because they are homonyms – i.e. they are words that are pronounced the same, or almost the same, but are spelled differently and are different in meaning.
To be a good writer you must learn to use words and expressions that are suitable to the subject, to the occasion and also for the audience you are writing for.

Even the most casual student of English soon becomes aware of the fact that there are several different speech levels. Some words are unmistakably bookish or literary, some are informal or colloquial. Every trade and profession has its own technical jargon. Then there are words that are used only for humorous effect and there are words that are never used in polite situations. So you realize that there is a great variety of situations and an equal variety of words to go with them.
Not all writing problems involve grammar. A sentence may be grammatically correct, yet fail to communicate effectively because of the words that the writer has chosen. The student of language and literature must take an interest in words. Slang, clichés and wordiness are three enemies of clear communication. Slang expressions are lively and add colour to our everyday speech but it is generally out of place in formal writing. Most slang terms are often vague substitutes for more exact words.

Careful writers avoid weakening their writing with slang. Slang is a living language no doubt, as new words and expressions are coined almost daily and most of these die out equally quickly. For example:

Slang: When my mother saw me zonked out on the sofa, she lost it.
Revised: When my mother saw me sleeping on the sofa she became angry.

Slang: When my mother saw me zonked out on the sofa, she lost it.
Revised: When my mother saw me sleeping on the sofa she became angry.

Slang by its nature is informal. Slang is commonly used in talk among friends or colleagues but is not suitable for good writing or for formal occasions, especially the kind used by and typical of only one class of persons, such as, army slang, prison slang... As I said earlier, slang may be appropriate in casual conversation, but it is not appropriate in formal writing.

It is not realized by foreign learners of English that slang is used by limited social groups. Slang in USA is different from that in the UK, Australia and other English speaking countries. Slang expressions of the 1960s sound out-of-date or are meaningless now. Use slang only when you have a specific purpose in mind, such as being humorous.

Practice 1.

Rewrite the following sentences changing the expressions of slang by using more effective language.
1- All the viewers trashed the new Tom Cruise film.
-All the viewers condemned the new Tom Cruise film.
2- I was really cheesed off when Rizwan called me a lair.
-I was really very angry when Rizwan called me a lair.
3- Working in the library has been a real drag.
-Working in the library has been boring.

CLICHES

Clichés: are expressions that were once lively and interesting. However, because these expressions have been used so much and so often, they have become predictable, dull and boring. A good writer tries to avoid clichés in his / her writing. Try to use fresh expressions. Here are some examples of clichés.

After all is said and done	clear as crystal
a long felt want	cool as a cucumber
avoid like the plague	light as a feather bored to tears	make ends meet better half	pretty as a picture
bolt from the blue	red as a rose busy as a bee	sick and tired
cold as ice	tried and true
In this day and age	time and again

Clichés e.g.

i. The boys in my class were down in the dumps because they were fighting a losing battle with their discrete maths course.
ii. She speaks loud enough to wake the dead.
Iii The children in the nursery class have been busy as bees all day, but they still seem fresh as daisies.

Wordiness

Some writers show off their command of the language by using big, difficult words. Actually this is very annoying for the reader.
Notice, for example, how easily the following wordy expression can be replaced by one or two words.

Wordy Expression	Single Word
a large number of	many
at an earlier point in time	before at this point in time	now due to the fact that	because during the time that	while each and every day	daily
few in number	few
green in color	green
in order to	to in my own opinion	I think in the event that	if in the near future	soon made the decision to	decided on account of	because postponed until later	postponed
small in size	small

Look at the following sentences and see which ones communicate well.

1. Due to the fact that the printer ran out of the toner, they went to the local store for the purpose of buying some.
- Because the printer ran out of the toner, they went to a local store to buy some.
2. At this point in time we have not yet scheduled the date of the next meeting.
-We have not yet scheduled the next meeting.
3. In my opinion, I think the quota system in jobs is totally unfair and uncalled for.
- I think that job quotas are unfair.

To help you develop your skill in choosing words effectively, we will do a short exercise. See if you can identify errors of cliché or wordiness in the following sentences. Then rewrite the sentence.

1. My neighbour's conversation is too gross for me.
- My neighbour's conversation is disgusting.
2. The audience was bored to tears by the lecture on Iqbal.
- The audience was bored by the lecture on Iqbal.
3. Owing to the fact that the buses are on strike, no one arrived on time.
- Because of the bus strike, no one arrived on time.
4. The boys are pulling your leg when they say they can't be at your party. Don't listen to their teasing - they wouldn't miss your party for the world.
- Joking (sl) really want to go to your party
5. You can't believe what my neighbor says. He's a gas bag. During the time I've known him I've heard him tell many lies.
1. always exaggerating (s), since (w)
6. She was as happy as a lark when she learned that she had got an A on her term paper. But her happiness didn't last long due to the fact that there had been a complete mistake in the compiling of result.
- (happy (c), because (w)

Now we turn to the second part of today's lesson. We shall look at 20 pairs of words that are frequently confused with one another. The most commonly confused words are:

Lesson -29

Punctuation (Comma and Apostrophe)

Having looked at syntax, at what makes for good, effective sentences, errors in sentence construction and certain features of grammar, like pronouns and their Antecedents, subject-verb agreement, we will turn to punctuation. In this lesson you will learn about the Comma and the Apostrophe - two very important items of punctuation and which cause the greatest problems for students of English.

Punctuation depends upon grammar. Until you understand how one part of a sentence is related to another, you cannot punctuate efficiently. Commas are not marks to be added to a completed sentence for artistic effect; they are very much a part of a well written sentence as are correctly placed pronouns and adverbs.
In writing, punctuation takes the place of pauses, gestures, rising tone and other such features of speech.

Most people make use of some system of vocal punctuation in their speech. Some sentences would be clear enough without any punctuation marks. But readers have come to expect that sentences that are constructed in the same way will be punctuated in the same way. Therefore, certain rules of punctuation have come into being, and sensible writers follow them.
The greatest problems in punctuation have to do with the use of the comma, and the apostrophe.

We shall take up the comma first and then consider the apostrophe. This does not mean that there are no other marks of punctuation: the colon, semi-colon the full stop / period, the question mark, exclamation mark, the dash quotation marks, parentheses and square brackets are other well known marks. But we shall focus on only two as these pose the greatest number of problems in punctuation.

The Comma [,] indicates a very short pause. Writers may disagree about a few of its use, but most of them agree about the five main uses which we will now consider.

Insert commas where needed in the following sentences.

i. Before leaving home the child's nanny collected a milk bottle a bag full of diapers a blanket and a rattle.
ii. Although he is eighty my grand dad walks ten miles daily.
iii The cutlery box if I remember correctly is in the big trunk upstairs
iv. The paint company displayed thirty shades of color but the fussy lady still could not find anything to order.
V. The house agent said 'It may take you a while to get used to the place."

Answer:

i -Before leaving home the child's nanny collected a milk bottle, a bagful of diapers, a blanket, and a rattle.
Explanation: Commas are needed to separate the items in a series.
ii - Although he is eighty, my grand dad walks ten miles daily.
Explanation: the comma separates the introductory phrase from the rest of the sentence.
iii -The cutlery box, if I remember correctly, is in the big trunk upstairs.
Explanation: The words if I remember correctly, interrupt the flow of the rest of the sentence, so they are set off by commas.
iv -The paint company had displayed thirty shades of color, but the fussy lady still could not find anything to order.
Explanation: The comma separates two complete thoughts connected by the conjunction or joining word 'but'.
Explanation: The comma separates a direct quotation from the rest of the sentence.

Today's lesson explains five main uses of the comma.

Comma Rules

i. Between items in a series.
ii. After introductory material.
iii. Around words that interrupt the flow of sentence.
iv. Between complete thoughts connected by a joining word.
v. With direct quotations.

A comma often marks a slight pause / break in a sentence. When you read a sentence aloud, you can often hear the points where slight pauses occur. These pauses / breaks occur at the point where one of the five main comma rules applies.
In general, use a comma only when a comma rule applies. When you are in doubt about whether or not to use a comma, it is often best to leave it out. We'll look at these rules one by one.

Rule 1: Comma between items in a series

The comma is used to separate three or more items in a series - words, phrases, or clauses may be used in a series as in following examples.

i. The village women sold pottery, baskets, blankets, and silver jewelry. (Words)
ii. The women spread their wares on the pavements, on doorsteps, and especially under trees in the town square. (Phrases)
(iii) The tribal elders took part in the dance, their women sold pottery and jewelry, and their children ran around happily playing games. (Clauses).
(iii) The tribal elders took part in the dance, their women sold pottery and jewelry, and their children ran around happily playing games. (Clauses).

© Copyright Virtual University of Pakistan

NOTE: Do not use a comma when the series contains only two items. e.g.
-The college cafeteria now serves sandwiches and cold drinks.

Practice 1.

In the following sentences insert commas between items in a series.
i. Most countries now recycle newspapers plastic bottles and aluminum cans.
ii. Walking jogging and bicycling are all inexpensive exercises.
iii. The learner driver went through a red light steered off the side of a road and ended up on the footpath.

Answer:

Practice 1. In the following sentences insert commas between items in a series.

(i) Most countries now recycle newspapers, plastic bottles, and aluminum cans.
(ii) Walking, jogging, and bicycling are all inexpensive exercises.
(iii) The learner driver went through a red light, steered off the side of a road, and ended up on the footpath.

Rule No. 2 Comma After Introducing Material:
A comma is used to separate introductory material from the rest of the sentence.
Examples:
- After the mother had given the baby a bath, it feel asleep.
- Pushing and shoving each other, the ladies rushed into the sales section.
- With the ceremony of releasing doves in the air, the festival got off to a rousing start.

NOTE: The comma may be omitted if the introductory phrase/clause is so short that misreading is unlikely. e.g. As the flames rose the crowd gave a shout.

Practice 2.

Insert commas after the introductory phrase/clause in each of the following sentences.
i. When the lights went off the children let out a loud yell.
ii. During the operation the doctor accidentally dropped the medicine bottle on the floor.
iii. Disappointed by the batsman's performance the fans threw bottles and fruit peel at the fieldsmen.
iv. After waiting in the queue for two hours the students were told that the office had run out of admission forms.
Answer:

Practice 2.
Insert commas after the introductory phrase/clause in each of the following sentences.
i. When the lights went off, the children let out a loud yell.
ii. During the operation, the doctor accidentally dropped the medicine bottle on the floor.

iii. Disappointed by the batsman's performance, the fans threw bottles and fruit peel at the fieldsmen.
iv. After waiting in the queue for two hours, the students were told that the office had run out of admission forms.

Rule No. 3. Put a comma around words that interrupt the flow of a sentence.

Sometimes sentences contain material that interrupts the flow of thought. Such words or group of words should be set off from the rest of the sentence by commas. e.g. My mother, who is very old, complains that I do not give her enough time.

One way of testing the interruption of the flow of thought is to read aloud such a sentence.

If you read aloud the above sentence you can hear the words "who is very old" interrupt the flow of thought. Such interruption often contains information that is less important to the sentence.
Examples:
-The owner of the house, grumbling angrily, came out of the house to claim his dog.
-The college, which was built in 1937, needs a face lift.
-The college auditorium, though, is in fairly good condition.

Practice 3.

Insert commas around the interrupting words in each of the following sentences.
i. The house built of white stone was finally completed in 1890.
ii. the park forty acres of prime land provides a fine view for the surrounding buildings.
iii. The scenery of Switzerland which resembles that of Kashmir inspired him to write his novel.
iv. Laila who was wearing a new dress yelled at the boys who spilled tea on her.

Rule No. 4. Comma between complete thoughts connected by a joining word.

When two complete thoughts are combined into one sentence by a joining word like and, but or so, a comma is used before the joining word.
Examples:
-Multan is one of the oldest cities in Pakistan, and it is also one of the most interesting.
- Some historians claim that Uch Sharif, another city in Punjab is older, but all agree that the Indus Valley has been continuously inhabited for thousands of years.
-Perhaps you have read about this old city, or perhaps you have even visited Uch Sharif.
-Money may not buy happiness, but it definitely makes misery bearable.

NOTE: Do not add a comma just because a sentence contains the word and, but or so. A comma is used only when the joining word comes between two complete thoughts. Each of those thoughts must have its own subject and verb. e.g. i- Shama spent the morning in the college, and then she went to the civil secretariat. (Comma: each complete thought has a subject and a verb. Shama spent; and she went) ii- Shama spent the morning in the college and then went to the civil secretariat. (No comma is needed here, because the second thought is not complete, and it doesn't have its own subject.)

Practice 4: Insert commas before the joining words in the following sentences.

(i) The cricket team has lost five matches in a row but they are as popular as ever.
(ii) Kauser wasn't wearing her reading glasses so she couldn't read the fine print in the dictionary.
5. I used to be able to play the sitar very well but now I'm out of practice.
6. It is not a festival precisely nor is it a village fair.

Answer:
Practice 4: Insert commas before the joining words in the following sentences.

(i) The cricket team has lost five matches in a row, but they are as popular as ever.
(ii) Kauser wasn't wearing her reading glasses, so she couldn't read the fine print in the dictionary.
(iii) I used to be able to play the sitar very well, but now I'm out of practice.
(iv) It is not a festival precisely, nor is it a village fair.

Rule 5. Comma with Direct Quotations :

Commas are used to separate directly quoted material from the rest of the sentences.
Examples:
-The coach shouted, "Move, move fast."
- The student said, "Do you mind if I ask a question?"
-The customer grumbled to the waiter, "This tea tastes like ditch water."

Note: When the comma comes at the end of directly quoted words, it is included within the quotation marks. e.g. - "After this class," whispered one student to her friend, "let's go to the cafeteria."

Practice 5. Insert commas to set off quoted material in the following sentences.

(i) "We are ready to leave" said a cheerful voice on the bus mike.
(ii) "This book" complained the student to the book store owner "is twenty rupees cheaper at the other store."
(iii) The cashier said "We don't take cheques."

Answer:

(ii) "This book," complained the student to the book store owner "is twenty rupees cheaper at the other store."
(iii) The cashier said, "We don't take cheques."

Review: See if you can recognize which comma rule applies to each sentence. Then identify the place where the comma(s) is / are required.

a. Comma between items in a series.
1. Comma after introductory material.
2. Comma around interrupting words.
3. Comma before a word that joins two complete thoughts.
4. Comma with direct quotations.

1. Glaring around the room the boss demanded silence. (_____)
2. I heard a horn blowing so I glanced up at my rearview mirror. (_____)
3. The professor won't leave the house without his hat his briefcase and his umbrella. (___)
4. The city children unused to the darkness of the forest sound it hard to sleep. (____)
5. The man whispered "Listen very carefully to what I have to say". (_____)

Answer:

1. Glaring around the room, the boss demanded silence. (b)
2. I heard a horn blowing, so I glanced up at my rearview mirror. (d)
3. The professor won't leave the house without his hat, his briefcase, and his umbrella. (a)
4. The city children, unused to the darkness of the forest, sound it hard to sleep. (c)
5. The man whispered "Listen very carefully to what I have to say". (e)

The Apostrophe [,]

Look at the following sentences and see if you can spot the word that needs the apostrophe.

1. it's impossible to see stars in daylight.

- It's the contraction of the words it is. The apostrophe takes the place of letter i, which has been dropped.

2. The judge can't hear the case until next month.

- Can't is the contraction of the word cannot. The apostrophe shows that two letters (n, o) have been left out.

3. No one likes the college principal's new attendance rules.

The apostrophe plus s shows that the new rules belong to the principal. The apostrophe comes after the last letter of the word principal. Likes does not take an apostrophe, because it is not possessive. It is a verb.

4. The sandwiches at Greens' restaurant are the best in town.

The apostrophe after the s, shows that the Greens own the restaurant.

The apostrophe is a punctuation work with two main purposes.
1. It is used in a contraction, showing that one or more letters have been left out of a word.
2. It is also used to show possession - that something belongs to someone.

The Apostrophe in Contractions:

A contraction is formed when two words are combined to make a new word. The apostrophe takes the place of the letter or letters that are omitted when forming the contraction. Here are a few common contractions.

© Copyright Virtual University of Pakistan

I + am = I'm	She + will = she'll
It + is = it's	You + will = you'll
Does + not = doesn't	You + would = you'd
Do + not = don't	Will + not = won't

Contractions are commonly used in every day speech and writing. They are not slang. Some people in Pakistan think using contractions is wrong. Read out a passage and you will notice how frequently words are contracted.

Wouldn't you like to go to the movies tonight? There's a film I've been wanting to see, but it hasn't been in Lahore until now. You've been wanting to see it too, haven't you? Shouldn't we ask the others to go with us? They're always saying they've plenty of free time, don't they?

Contractions That Cause Problems

There are 4 pairs of words that can cause problems to students. These are:
1. They're-(meaning they are) and their (meaning belonging to them)
2. It's (meaning it is or it has) and its meaning belonging to it.
3. You're (meaning you are) and your meaning belonging to you
4. Who's (meaning who is) and whose meaning (belonging to whom)

Notice how each of these words is used in the sentences that follow.

1. They're their
2. It's its
3. You're your
4. Who's whose

-They're upset about the damage done to their new car.
- It's a shame that the college failed to honor its own faculty.
-Your parents said you're their favourite child.
- Who's the person whose car number plate is missing?

- They're (they are) upset about the damage done to their new car. (car belonging to them).

- It's (it is) a shame that the college failed to honor its own faculty.
-Your parents (belonging to you) said you're (you are) their favorite child.
-Who's (who is) the person whose care number plate is missing.

The Apostrophe to Show Possession ['s]

In the following phrases the apostrophe and s ['s] are used to show possession of singular or plural norms not ending in s.

- This is a man's job
- These are men's jobs
- Children's games are not always simple
- My sister-in-law's great love is shopping.
-She reads Huxley's essays.

In the case of plural nouns ending in S, the apostrophe alone is used.

- She rang the Shahs' doorbell.
- The two dogs' tracks were visible in the snow.
- The ladies' toilet / wash-room was locked.

When Not to Use An Apostrophe: In Plurals and Verbs

The possessive and plural forms of words are often confusing. Remember that a plural is formed simply by adding an s to a word; no apostrophe is used. Look at the following sentence to see which words are plural and which are possessive:
- Samina's new boots have golden buckles.
+boots, buckles -plural. More than 1 boot, buckle + Samina's: the word with the apostrophe plus s, is possessive: i.e. Samina owns the boots.
- also many verbs end with an S. e.g. He owns the cinemas . Owns is a verb. Do not put an apostrophe in a verb.

Practice 6.

Add an apostrophe where necessary.
(i)The head of the departments mood is much better after he gives out the assignments for the day.
(ii) This years new television shows are much worse than the programs of last year.
(iii) Mind your ps and qs.

Answer:
Practice 6.

Add an apostrophe
(i)The mood of the department's head is much better after he gives out the assignments for the day.
Department's – head belonging to the dept.
Gives – Verb. Assignments - Plural
(ii) This year's new television shows are much worse than the programs of last year.
Year's - belonging to this year. Shows - pl, programs: pl,
(iii) Mind your p's and q's.

Review: Identify the correct answer.
1. A contraction is two words combined into
   - a. one word
   - b. a possessive
   - c. a plural
2. In the contraction she'd, the apostrophe
   - a. shows that she posses something
   - b. takes the place of would
   - c. indicates a plural
3. To make a possessive, an apostrophe plus an s is usually added to
   - a. the name of the owner
   - b. whatever is owned
4. An apostrophe is not needed in
   - a. a contraction
   - b. a plural

In today's lesson you have learnt about Punctuation and the problem areas in punctuation skills that are required for effective writing.

Effective Writing (paragraphs)

In this lesson and the following couple of lessons, you will learn the principles of writing. We will begin with how to write an effective paragraph and the principles you learn here will help you to write longer essays/papers.

Writing is not easy, especially in a foreign language. Writing is, in fact, a process. It is done in a series of steps & stages. It is a skill that comes with great effort, hard work and practice. If you want to learn how to write, you can.

The first thing of concern in writing is content i.e. what you have to say - your ideas, thoughts and feelings. Unfortunately, some students are so conscious about rules and mistakes that they do not focus on what they want to say. Rules do matter but not at the beginning stage. Now students in Pakistan have a fear of English, especially while writing because they have never learned how to write. They resort to learning model essays and answers to questions by heart. Your attitude in this respect is very crucial and important. It is your attitude that will determine how much effort you will put in learning to write.

We will begin with a paragraph. A paragraph is a series of sentences about one main thought, idea or point. The paragraph is like a sentence in the sense that it must concern itself with one thought. While some ideas can be adequately treated in a single sentence, others require the fuller treatment which is afforded by a series of sentences (i.e. the paragraph) or a group of paragraphs, chapters, section(s) or even a book. A paragraph typically starts with a point and the rest of the paragraph provides details to support and develop that point.

Your goal in writing a paragraph should be:

i) To make a point
ii) To support the point
iii) Orderly arrangement of material
iv) Write error free sentences

i) It is best to state the point in the first sentence. The sentence that expresses the main idea or point of a paragraph is called the TOPIC SENTENCE. The topic sentence is a general statement and the other sentences provide support for the general statement. If you recall the beginning of the course, you had a lesson or two on identifying the topic sentence and its supporting details.
ii) To support the point, you need to provide specific reasons, examples, & other details that explain & develop the point.
iii) You can organize the supporting details in a paragraph in two ways. You can use a listing order (first of all, secondly next in addition.) or time order (first, next, and finally.)
iv) If you use correct spelling & follow grammar, punctuation & usage rules, your sentences will be clear & well written.

© Copyright Virtual University of Pakistan

Look at the following two passages. Notice how the topic sentence which is underlined is supported by the sentences that follow. The first passage is written by a student. The second one is written by a famous writer. Notice how both make a point at the beginning and then go on to support that point with specific evidence and this is what we are going to concentrate in this lesson.

My Neighbours

1. The new family that has moved in next doors is quite a noisy family. Ever since they arrived, we have not had peace for a day. Their young daughter is the loudest person I have ever known. She pops out her head every half hour from her bed room window and screams for the old man who works for them. Cries of 'Babaji! Babaji!' resound in the area. Then the whole neighborhood can hear what she wants Babaji to fetch her from the market. As for the other children they are no better.

Screaming and shouting at the top of their voices, they play hide and seek late into the night, and their dogs, barking loudly, join them in their sport. As if this is not enough, just when the neighborhood is about to turn in for the night, loud stereo music blares form their house, shaking and rattling everyone's nerves. I think we need to call a meeting of the other neighbors and do something about this.

2. On the day after the burial of a celebrated man, his friends and enemies apply themselves to the work of writing his biography. His school fellows relate in the newspapers his boyish pranks, another man recalls exactly, and word for word, the conversation he had with him twenty years ago. The lawyer, who manages the affairs of the deceased, draws up a list of the different offices he has filled, his titles, dates and figures, and reveals to the matter-of-fact readers how the money left has been invested and how the fortune has been made; the grand nephews and second cousins publish an account of his acts of humanity, and the catalogue of his domestic virtues.

- Taine, History of English Literature

Some writers like to start with an idea and then collect evidence to support it. Evidence is supporting materials – statistics, examples, comparisons, contrasts, causes, effects, and expert opinion. Other writers like to start with facts on a topic and then form their ideas from those facts. Still others like to work with ideas and evidence at the same time. They shape their ideas as new facts turn up and collect new evidence as they find fresh ideas.

Practice 1:

Arrange the ideas and evidence in logical order, the most general coming first.

A. [1]The first shelf was crammed with copies of the daily newspapers, The Pakistan Times, The News, The Dawn and The Nation. [2]To the left of the papers, he had piled copies of The Herald, She, The Friday Times and Mag. [3]On the middle shelf, he had a set of the great Urdu and Punjabi classics and a vast collection of science fiction novels and detective stories.

[4]On the top shelf, he had numerous new volumes on cooking, gardening and travel. [5]His library testified to the breadth of his reading habits.

Idea _____

Evidence _____

Sentence 5

_____

Practice 2:

[1]Mathematics has never been easy for me. [2]Now that I am in college, I am having trouble getting through even in business math. [3]I never could solve the mysteries of X's and Y's, sines and cosines. [4]In primary school, I had serious trouble learning the simplest arithmetic. [5]In high school, I barely passed in algebra and trigonometry. [6]My father threatened to take me out of school if didn't learn to add correctly.

Idea _____sentence 1_____

_____

_____

Practice 3:

Select the most appropriate conclusion you might infer from the evidence given. Place the number of the conclusion you select in the blank space.

1. Evidence: My four-year old Suzuki has 80,000 miles on it. It needs a new battery, the alignment of the front wheels is out, the shock absorbers are weak and the upholstery is frayed._____

Conclusion: 1) Japanese cars give good service for 80,000 miles then break down. 2) It's time for me to get a new Suzuki. 3) My four-year old Suzuki needs some minor repairs.

2. Evidence: The rainfall in Dhaka was 88.6 inches in 1960, 86.2 in 1961, 84.2 in 1962, 81.2 in 1963, 80.1 inches in 1964 and 75.1 inches in 1965._____

Conclusion: 1) Dhaka rainfall declined steadily between 1960 and 1965. 2) Dhaka rainfall eventually returned to normal. 3) Dhaka rainfall was 74.1 inches in 1967.

Practice 4:

Identify the evidence that does not support the conclusion. Place the number of the irrelevant evidence in the blank below the evidence. If all of the evidence is irrelevant, leave the blank empty.

Conclusion: The trees in the back yard provide shade all day.

© Copyright Virtual University of Pakistan

Evidence: 1) Four neem trees to the front of the south side protected the yard form the morning sun. 2) A row of towering eucalyptus trees on the west side protect the yard from the evening sun. 3) Two great rubber trees further back on the south side caught the noon and early afternoon rays.
4) Between the trees were low growing rose bushes, Hibiscus and jasmine bushes.
As I stated earlier writing usually takes place in steps. These are
(1) Brainstorming (2) Making brief outline (3) Writing first draft (4) Revising (5) Proof reading
Step I: Brainstorming

(a) Jot down points or ideas and their details as they come to your mind. Just write them down without putting them in any special order. Try to accumulate as many details as you can think of.
(b) Clustering is another strategy. Begin by stating your subject in the center of a blank sheet of paper. Then as ideas come into your mind put them in boxes/circles around the subject/topic.

children hide & seek daughter shouts Babaji

TV

stereo

something needs to be done dogs bark loud music

Lesson -31

Writing: Paragraph

In the last lesson we started to look at paragraph writing. We considered different parts of a paragraph, and we examined the paragraph My Neighbours. We noted that a good paragraph has three major structural parts: a topic sentence, supporting sentences and a concluding sentence.
In addition to the three structural parts of a paragraph, a good paragraph also has the elements of unity and coherence.

First we will look at the first element UNITY. By unity we mean that only one main idea is stated in the topic sentence and the coherence that follows each and every supporting sentence develops that idea. If you are writing on Dreams and you say in your topic sentence that you are going to discuss two important characteristics of dreams, then discuss only these two characteristics only. Do not discuss anything else such as what you dreamt the night before or if you were writing on Television, and in your topic sentence you say that you are going to discuss the effects of TV on society, then discuss only that. Do not discuss anything else such as the invention of television. The second element of importance in a paragraph is COHERENCE. By coherence we mean that your paragraph is easy to read and understand because (i) the supporting sentences are in some kind of logical order and (ii) your ideas are connected by the use of appropriate transitional words. We shall look at the topic sentence from the following points

Characteristics Position
Practice: to recognize topic sentences
Parts of topic sentences
Writing topic sentences
Practice: Writing concluding sentence
Review:

A well written paragraph has 5 elements
(i) A topic sentence
(ii) Supporting sentences
(iii) A concluding sentence
(iv) Unity
(v) Coherence

Topic sentence: Remember the earlier reading lessons in which we have discussed the topic sentence in detail. You have looked at the topic sentence from the readers' point of view. Now you will work at it from the writer's point of view. The topic sentence is the most important sentence in a paragraph as it indicates what the paragraph is going to discuss, and for this reason it is a helpful guide, both for reader and writer.

The topic sentence is:
(a) A complete sentence - it contains a subject, a verb and a complement (which is a word or words used to complete the meaning of a verb).

© Copyright Virtual University of Pakistan

(b) A topic sentence contains a topic as well as a controlling idea. i.e. first it names the topic and then it limits the topic to a specific area that is to be discussed in the paragraph.
For Example:
-Driving on the motor way requires skill and agility.
- Platinum, a precious metal is used for two purposes.

Notice that these 2 sentences are general statements; they do not contain any specific details.

The topic sentence may appear anywhere in the paragraph. It is usually the first or the last sentence of the paragraph. The topic sentence may also be the first and the last sentence of the paragraph. Let us look at three paragraphs:

I) My study table is well organized. I keep ball point pens and coloured pencils in the top right drawer. Writing paper is in the middle right drawer. The bottom right side has all the other material I might need, from paper clips to staples and tapes. The top of the desk is clear, except for a study lamp and a monthly planner. The left side of the desk has two drawers. The bottom one is a file drawer, where I keep my lecture notes from each class. And in the top drawer? That's where I keep peanuts, raisins, chocolates and chewing gum that I snack on while I study.

Here you notice the paragraph begins with a topic sentence "My study table is well organized". The first sentence is a general statement. The main idea-that the writer's desk is well organized - is in the first sentence. The rest of the sentences show us how well organized the desk is.

2) Do you have problems with sleeping? By following a few single guidelines many sleep problems can be avoided. First, don't drink tea or coffee close to bedtime. Next, do not exercise at least three hours before bedtime. Lastly, work out a sleep routine. Try to go to bed at the same time and try to get up at the same.

Here the first sentence introduces the topic of sleep problems by asking a question. A question can never be a topic sentence. It is not making a statement. The second sentence "By following a few simple guidelines many sleep problems can be avoided" states the author's main idea about that topic.

Topic sentences may even come later than the second sentence. See if you can find the topic sentence in the following paragraph.

(3) Today world-wide communications are taken for granted. Through telephone, TV and the internet, we learn instantly what happens all over the world. In ancient times, however, military leaders relied on a much slower, less technical method of sending important messages - pigeons. Homing pigeons are trained to return home from long distances. The birds were kept in cages at the military camps. When a message had to be sent, it was tied to the bird's leg. The bird was then released and it flew back to its base camp after delivering the message.

At first glance, sentence 1 appears to state the main idea as sentence 2 gives examples of the world-wide communication. But it isn't. Sentence 3 which also states a general idea, but points the reader towards another direction (as signaled by the word however) Sentences 4, 5, 6 and 7 provide details to support it. It becomes clear that sentences 1 & 2 lead up to the true main idea of the paragraph which is stated in sentence 3. This is clear because sentences 4, 5 and 6 all give information that explains in detail the general statement in sentence 3.

Sometimes a topic sentence may end a paragraph. When this is so the previous sentences build up to the main idea. Here is an example of a paragraph in which the topic sentence comes last.

Probably in the coming decade there will be more use of home computers. People will use them to shop, to cast votes, file taxes, and take college and university exams. Also, they will be used for playing games. Experts say the work week will be reduced to less than thirty-two hours. Moreover, robots will not only take over many routine service jobs but many dangerous jobs as well. As these forecasts suggest, the coming decade is likely to be a decade of home computers.

Review 1- To find out what you have learned so far, answer each of the following questions. Fill in the blank or put a tick mark against the answer you think is correct.

1. The topic sentence of a paragraph states the
(a) Supporting details
(b) Introducing material
(c) Main idea

2. To find the topic sentence of a paragraph, look for a general statement. True/False
3. The supporting details of a paragraph are more general than the main idea. True/False
4. The topic sentence may appear in a paragraph (a) only once (b) more than once?
5. When the main idea is stated in the last sentence of a paragraph, it is likely to be:
(a) A summary
(b) A conclusion
(c) Either a or b

Now we shall turn to the parts of a topic sentence. A topic sentence has two essential parts-the topic and the controlling idea. The topic (names) the subject or main idea of the paragraph.
The controlling idea makes a specific comment about the topic, which indicates what the rest of the paragraph will be about. It limits the topic to a specific aspect of the topic that will be discussed in the paragraph. e.g.
- Driving in Lahore requires skill and nerves of steel.
- Living in an English speaking country improves English of a foreign student.
- Sri Lanka is famous for its tea gardens.
- Television commercials are misleading.

Writing Topic Sentence:

Now you will have some practice in writing topic sentence. Keep the given points in mind.
(i) A topic sentence should be neither too general nor too specific.
(ii) It should not unhide too many unrelated ideas e.g. Sri Lanka is famous for its temperate climate, its many tea gardens and its ancient temple.
(Too many controlling ideas would require 3 separate paragraphs)

Practice Writing Topic Sentences

Write a topic sentence for each of the following topics. Include both a topic and a controlling idea

1. The effect of TV on children
2. Books on travel/Travel Books
3. Gardens
4. Popular Entertainment (general subject)
5. The Benefits of Foreign Travel

1. The effect of TV on children

Television is seriously affecting children. Their attention span has shortened notably. They are now so used to a TV being on that they have trouble working in quiet classrooms.

2. Books on Travel/Travel Books

Books of travel have always been popular. Even in ancient times traveler's tales were eagerly read. Name a few travelers.

- Marco polo
- Ibn-e- Batuta

3. Gardens

A beautiful garden is a constant source of pleasure. (Talk about some pleasure-sitting in peace and calm environment. Place of retreat, rest.)

4. Popular Entertainment (General Subject)

Popular entertainment such as pop music has undergone great changes.

5. The Benefits of Foreign Travel

Whether travel in foreign lands will benefit the traveler depends entirely on the traveler himself. Opening sentences given - try to carry on from here.

The Concluding Sentence: A concluding sentence has two purposes:

(i) It signals the end of the paragraph. For this you should use words like ‘in conclusion’, ‘in summary’ or ‘finally’.

(ii) It gives a final comment on your topic.

The following examples illustrate two different types of concluding sentences. The concluding sentence may repeat the main idea of the topic sentence in different words or it may summarize the main points of the paragraph which are not stated in the topic sentence.

Examples:

(I) Synonyms: Most people think of ‘synonyms’ as words ‘having the same meaning’, but it is easy to show that synonyms are always partial, never complete. ‘Tall’ and ‘high’ are usually considered synonyms while we can have both a tall building and ‘a high building’ we cannot have both ‘a tall boy’ and ‘a high boy’. Therefore, we should be careful in choosing words because many words that we considered turn out not to be really synonyms. (Repeats main idea of topic sentence)

(ii) Some people delight in inflicting pain on harmless little creatures. Such as flies, worms and frogs. They also take pleasure in killing them. This is very cruel of them. They ought not to do so, because it is wrong to cause unnecessary pain to any creature. Besides, from being cruel to little animals, men are often led, to become cruel to the fellow creatures, and they learn to do very cruel deeds. Whenever a man is tempted to hurt or kill any such creature he should pause to think how he would feel if any creature more powerful than he, were to do the same to him. (Concluding sentence summarizes the main 2 points not specifically stated in the topic sentence.)

Practice 4: Writing Concluding Sentences

In the following paragraphs underline the topic sentence.
(a)Determine the main idea of each paragraph.
(b)Add a good concluding sentence at the end of paragraph using signal words *(Finally, to sum up, at last, in conclusion).
Paragraph 1:

The scientist is more interested in doing scientific work than in defining it. He sometimes says that a piece of work or book is unscientific, and what he actually means by that phrase is that it is inexact, that it is badly arranged; that it jumps to conclusions without sufficient evidence, or that the author has allowed his personal prejudices to influence his report…….. [by scientific work, then we mean that which is as exact as is possible, orderly in arrangement, and based on sound and sufficient evidence].
Paragraph 2:

The habit of economy can easily be formed if we have a will to save. The first important thing in the formation of this habit, as in the case of many others, is to make a beginning. It does not matter with what sum we begin. We should make use of the first opportunity to make a beginning; secondly we should keep this habit alive by consistent effort. All this is possible only by a strong will-power. If once we decide to save, we should start immediately……..

Paragraph 3:

There are numerous everyday words in English that have come from other languages. English speakers relaxing at home, for example may put on pajama's which is a Persian word. A sleep in the afternoon is called a 'siesta' a Spanish word. When we wash our hair we 'shampoo' it-from the South Indian word champi.

Lesson -32

(Unity, Coherence and Organization)

In the last lesson, we have looked at the three structural parts of a paragraph. In addition, we have learned that a good paragraph requires the elements of unity and coherence. We will first look at unity in a paragraph.

Unity

A good paragraph has unity i.e. in each paragraph only one main idea is discussed. Unity has two parts. Every supporting sentence in the paragraph must be directly related to the main idea. This is the first part of unity. Remember, do not include any information that does not directly support the topic sentence e.g. if your paragraph is about the 'advantages of foreign travel' discuss only that. Do not discuss traveling locally. To make it better, discuss only one advantage in each paragraph. However, sometimes it is possible to discuss two or three aspects of the same idea in one paragraph if they are closely related to each other.

The second part of unity is that every supporting sentence must directly explain or prove the main idea expressed in the topic sentence. Students often write supporting sentences that are way off the topic. For example, if you are writing about the high cost of college fees, you could mentions inflation as one factor. But if you go on to write three or four sentences on inflation and the difficulty of educating three or four children of a family, then you are wide off the topic, and your paragraph will lack unity. The unity of a paragraph is determined by the terms of the topic sentence.
Your sentences must be related to the key terms of the topic sentence. Otherwise, it must be left out.

Look at the following paragraph. Which sentence does not contribute to a unified effect?

Playing tennis keeps my mother fit.

1. Running around the courts keeps her muscles toned up and gives them the flexibility of a teenager.
2. We still have the cup she won for finishing first in the one-mile race in her college Annual Sports.
3. Serving especially gives her a sense of balance.
4. Even at the age of fifty two, my mother continues to play tennis and she plays it well.

In the following paragraph notice how all the details are unified–they are about the same subject/topic of the paragraph.

Hamid was a big, bouncy guileless man who slapped you on the back whenever he met you. He loved to crack jokes and would poke you in the ribs to make sure you got the point of his jokes. He had a passion for food and a passion for ideas. 'Now take the constitution, for instance. I can't believe that we have made a mess of it. There is only one way to come out of this practical mess.' he would continue, examining one idea after another. His strong, protruding teeth would glisten from far away as he sat in the midst of friends, eating and discussing.

How do we determine that this is a unified paragraph?

Note the specific terms of the subject/topic and the specific terms of the comment about the subject. Hamid is the subject, and it is obvious that only concrete explanations would maintain unity, and not just any vague comment about him. That comment centers round the words, big, bouncy, guileless, and on his having a passion for food, and a passion for ideas.

In the next example, note the details that have been selected to develop the topic of paragraph are more specific, more concrete than the topic idea. One thing that you must remember is that do not lengthen paragraphs by throwing in more generalities.

In the following paragraph which sentence is not concrete enough?

1- The young Pakistani woman has become a puppet in the hands of fashion gurus. 2- She does everything they tell her to do. 3- She raises hemlines when they give the nod. 4-They are lowered when a new look is needed to raise sales. 5-At their suggestion she wears bright colours, and when they propose dull colors, she takes to wearing drab colors.

It is sentence no. 2 which merely repeats what the topic sentence says. You should not merely repeat the same statement in different but equally general words. In the examples you have seen so far all of the details have been equal to one another. This does not happen all the time. The details of a paragraph may have other logical relationships to each other. There may be sub divisions and further sub divisions of sub division. For example, if you are asked to write on the characteristics of a good Pakistani citizen, you may break down the characteristics into three subdivisions – awareness, knowledge and action. You may provide concrete details for all or some of the subdivisions. It need not be in the same quantity for each.

Characteristics of a Good Pakistani Citizen

a) Awareness–what is happening in the world around him at the local, national and international level?
b) Knowledge–of his basic human rights, constitutional rights.
c) Action–participation in community work, political participation (voting)

Length & Type

A good, effective paragraph should be long enough to clinch its point. How that can come about will depend on the topic and the audience who is to read depends on the topic and the audience who is to read the writing. For instance a strong argumentative position might require proof. You will have to see if the terms of the topic have been discussed.

Practice 1:
Here is a topic sentence. Look at its key terms. Then decide which detail would not be related to the key term.

1. Topic sentence: Folk songs are popular because of their greater realism.
Key Terms: popular, greater realism Details: a) spontaneous participation
b) Honesty about love
c) Powerful, down to earth emotions
d) Involved with ecology

2. Which detail would not be unified with regard to the key terms of the following topic sentence.
Topic Sentence: Inflation has affected a varied cross section of the public
Key Terms: Affected, cross section Details: a) people with fixed incomes
b) Petty shop owners
c) Medicine & hospital charges
d) Overcrowded conditions in hospitals

3. Which detail would not be unified with regard to the key terms of this topic sentence?
Topic Sentence: The pollution problem has increased in great proportions.
Key Term: Increased Details: a) Cars & buses on city sheets
b) Deforestation
c) Polluted rivers
d) Competition by imported vehicles

4. Which detail is not a subdivision in the development of a paragraph on historical novels?
a) appeal to patriotic feelings
b) usually based on a factitious event
c) presents events in a very simplified way
d) glorify war

5. In a paragraph on Urdu films, which three details would be grouped under a major subdivision about the qualities of the hero?
a) They can sing and dance.
b) Emerges from fights without a scratch.
c) Can jump from great heights
d) Monotonous plots

6.
Write three sentences that develop the following topic sentence: Modern technology has helped the housewife.
Key Term: Helped, housewife

1. Save time, Labour, effort-kitchen
2. Cleaner, Efficient, Washing,

3. Fridge, Saves daily cooking

II. Coherence

Now we shall look at the second element of a good paragraph i.e. coherence-which means "to hold together." Coherence in writing refers to the movement from one sentence to the next which must be smooth and logical. In the same way in a longer piece of writing the movement form one paragraph to another must be smooth and logical. In other words, it means there should be no sudden jumps in thought. Each sentence should flow smoothly into the next. Coherence can be achieved in two ways.

i) By using transition signals to show how one idea is related to the next.
ii) By arranging sentence in a logical order.

Transition Signals

We have had a lot of transition signals in our earlier lessons. It was from the perspective of reading. Now we are going to look at transition signals for the perspective of writing. Some writers think of transition signals similar to the road side traffic signs that tell the reader the direction he/she has to take. In other words they tell the reader when the writer is taking a similar route idea (words like similarly, moreover, furthermore, in addition) or an opposite route/idea (on the other hand, however contrast) or giving an example (for example, for instance) or result (as a result) or a conclusion (in conclusion).
By using transition words, you guide your reader and make it easier for him/her to follow the writer's ideas. Transition words give coherence to your paragraph.

PRACTICE:

Look at the following 2 paragraphs. Both paragraphs give the same information, yet one is easier to follow than the other because of the use of transition signals.

Paragraph 1:

Students who come to college from high school find that at first they have a few problems. Their college is usually much bigger than their high school. The new first year student often does not know any of the students of the higher classes. These students are not always friendly to him/her. They play tricks on him/her or tease him / her. Before he/she was one of he biggest students in his / her school; now he / she is one of the smallest. Another problem is that he/she no longer has his/her classroom. He/she has to go to a different classroom for every subject. The unfortunate student has to carry all his things with him/her. He/she is not used to this. Our first year student does not have a class teacher either.
Instead of one teacher whom he/she knows well, he/she has six or seven teachers whom he hardly knows at all. The boy or girl starting college often finds it rather strange at first.

Paragraph 2:

Students who came into college from high school find that at first they have a few problems. The main problem is that their college is much bigger, usually, than their high school. Another thing is that the new first year student often does not know any of the students of the higher classes. And these students are not always friendly to him. Sometimes, they play tricks on him or tease him. Another change is that before he was one of the biggest students in his school; now he is one of the smallest.

Yet another problem is that he no longer has his own classroom. Now he has to go to a different classroom for every subject. And the unfortunate student has to carry all his things with him. He is not used to this. Moreover, our first year student does not have a class teacher either. Instead of one teacher whom he knows well, he has six or seven teachers whom he hardly knows at all. There is no doubt that the boy or girl starting college often finds it rather strange at first.

Each transition signal has a special meaning. Each one shows how the following sentence relates to the preceding one. It does not mean that you use a transitional signal in front of every sentence. That would be just as confusing as using a few transitional signals. Good writing requires that you use enough transitional signals to make the relationships among your ideas clear.

Practice: Choosing Transition Signals

Choose the transition signal that best shows the relationship between the sentences. Make punctuation changes as required.
1. A recent article in The Herald suggested ways to reduce inflation. The article suggested that the prime minister reduce the central budget; _____ it suggested that the government reduce central, provincial, and local taxes. (*however, in contrast, furthermore)
2. The writer said that the causes of inflation were easy to find, _____ the cure for inflation was not easy to prescribe. (*for example, therefore, however).
3. In physics the weight of an object is the gravitational force with which the earth attracts it. _____ if a man weighs 150 pounds, this means that the earth pulls him down with a force of 150 pounds.
(*moreover, therefore, for example)

The second way to achieve coherence in a paragraph is by arranging the sentences in some kind of logical order. As there are different kinds of logical relationships, there are different ways of organizing ideas and sentences in a paragraph. Your choice of one kind of logical order over another will depend on the topic and the purpose of your writing. It is possible to combine two or more different logical orders in the same paragraph. The two most common kinds of logical order in English way of writing are:
1- Chronological order
2- Order of importance

The word chronological is related to the word time. Chronological order, therefore, is a way of organizing the ideas in a paragraph in the order of their occurrence in time.

You could use this order of organization for something as simple as a recipe, and for something as complex as a history of any movement. However, chronological order is not just used for historical events; it is also used to explain processes and procedures, business, science and engineering. A paragraph that explains how to solve a problem, perform an experiment are known as 'process' or 'how to' paragraphs.

There are two important points to keep in mind when writing a good chronological paragraph.

1. Discuss the events or the steps in a process in the order in which they take place.

2. Use chronological transitional signals (first, next, after, then, in 1960).

Notice how the following two paragraphs are organized according to time.

a) The History of Computers

The first generation of computers which used vacuum tubes, came out in 1950. Univac I is an example of these computers which could perform thousands of calculations per second. In 1960, the second generation of computers was developed and these could perform work ten times faster than their predecessor. Second generation computers were smaller, faster and more dependable than first-generation computers. The third generation computers appeared on the market in 1965.

b) How to Make Carrot Pudding

If you want to cook something that is delicious and quick to make, try this recipe for carrot pudding. First, scrape the carrots (1 kilo) and then grate them. Boil milk (1 kilo) and add the grated carrots. Let them boil. Add I cup of sugar. Next beat one egg thoroughly; pour the beaten egg into the boiling milk and carrots. Stir the mixture. Add 2 tablespoons of finely grated coconut. Mix well. Cook till mixture becomes thick. Turn off the gas. When the mixture cools, pour it into a dish.

The topic sentence of a chronological paragraph in some way indicates the time order. In the paragraph on computers, phrases such as in 1950, in 1960 was developed, appeared on the market, 1965 give the reader a hint that this is a chronological paragraph. In a process paragraph, such as the one on how to make carrot pudding the process to be described is named in the topic sentence.

The following are topic sentences. Check with a tick mark ( ) those suggesting a chronological paragraph will follow. Circle the word/words that indicate the chronological order. The first is done for you.

Example:
In the past thirty-five years, (developments) in the field of electronics have revolutionized the computer industry.
1- The worst day in my life was the day I left my family and my friends to come to Canada.
2- In my opinion, television programs can be divided into three types: excellent, mediocre, and poor.
3- The life cycle of the Pacific salmon is one of nature's most fascinating phenomena.
4- Gold is prized for two important characteristics.

Order of Importance:
The second common way to organize ideas in a paragraph is to discuss them in order of their importance. This is done in 2 ways. You can discuss the most important point first and work down to the least important point or you can begin with the least important and end your paragraph with the most important. The way you choose will depend on your topic and your purpose of writing; both ways can be effective.

Suppose you are asked to write about the two most important influences on your life besides your family, and you decide to write about a teacher who had so much influence on you that it somehow changed you. Here, again, you would discuss the two influences in the order of importance–how strongly each affected you. Again, as with chronological order it is important to use transition signals to guide your reader form one point to the next.
Now look at the following two model paragraphs. Notice how they are organized.

Model Paragraphs:

(1) As a child, my favorite food was salted peanuts, and I never seemed to get enough. Every time I stepped out of the house I would think of some excuse to visit the corner shop which sold small packets of salted peanuts. I even devised elaborate techniques for eating the stuff. Some I would eat from beginning to end, starting at the top of the packet and ending at the salty base. Others I would throw casually into the air, letting them land in my wide open mouth.

(2) For more than 75 years, my father functioned like a well-oiled machine. No matter what the time of the year, what the weather, he got up at 4 a.m. while it was still dark, and went out for a long, brisk walk with his dog. He came back at 7 and went to work at exactly 7:30. But then one day, nobody knows why, the machine came to a halt. My father just lay in bed. It didn't matter anymore what time it was. He just didn't care. His connections with the world seemed to have been snapped. The lights seemed to have gone out. My father had decided not to live any more, and that was it.

Choose any 2 topics, one form group A & one from group B and write a paragraph on that subject. Remember to use transitional signals.

Group A	Group B
(Order of Importance) Why it is important to:	(Chronological Order)
a) Learn English	A typical day in my life
b) Stop smoking	The happiest day of my life
c) Reduce pollution	The unhappiest day of my life

Essay Writing

In the previous lessons, we have looked at paragraph writing. Now we shall move forward and look at longer pieces of writing which consist of several paragraphs. The problems we considered in sentence and paragraph writing are also the fundamental problems of longer composition–the same problems of unity, coherence, and emphasis. While some topics can be treated in a single paragraph, others require more elaborate development. In longer compositions, we find problems of arrangement. A longer composition, such as an essay, divides itself usually into a number of parts. In what order shall we present them? How much emphasis should be given to each fact? These are some of the problems faced in essay writing.

Now a lot depends on the purpose of your writing. If you are writing primarily to give information, then you need to be as exact as possible in the interest of clear, logical presentation of facts. If you are writing to describe something, or to create an image or a picture then you will perhaps put less emphasis upon accurate measurement and more upon suggestive and revealing details. If you are writing to tell a story, you will have to decide upon the point of highest interest and arrange your material carefully to give your reader the feeling or illusion of taking part in the action.
Writing an essay is not more difficult than writing a paragraph. There is only one difference of length. The principles of organization are the same for both. Therefore, if you can write a good paragraph, you can also write a good essay.

Process of Writing

Writing usually takes place in steps or stages. There are five stages or steps in the writing process.
(1) Getting ideas: brainstorming, clustering & free writing
(2) Making brief outline
(3) Writing the 1st draft
(4) Revising
(5) Proof reading

Step I: Getting Ideas: Primarily from reading, talking to people, listening to talk shows, TV programs on current issues etc.
(a) Brainstorming – For ideas jot down points or ideas and their details as they come to your mind. Just write them down without putting them in any special order. Try to accumulate as many details as you can think of. This is one strategy of beginning an essay.

(b) Clustering: The other strategy is clustering. Here you begin by writing your subject or topic in the center of a blank sheet of paper. Then as ideas come into your mind you put them down in boxes or circles around the subject or topic. You will now see a sample of clustering.
(c) Free writing, this is also a very useful technique. Here you just write down whatever comes into your mind about the topic. Continue writing for some time without stopping to worry about grammar or spellings etc.

CLUSTERING

children hide & seek daughter shouts Babaji

noisy neighbors loud music

stereo TV

something needs to be done

dogs bark loudly

II. Step Two: Prepare a rough outline. This is going to be the backbone or skeleton on which the rest of the writing will be built. It shows at a glance the point of the paragraph and the support for that point. It will help you to see if you need to do more writing to clarify your main point or its support. You will learn how to write an outline in your next lesson. Here I will just show an example of an outline.

Example of an outline:
Biography of a celebrated man
a) Friends and enemies
b) School fellows-pranks, conversations
c) Offices held, distinguished figures
d) Relatives-accounts of his acts of humanity and virtues

(iii) Third step: Writing the 1st draft: The purpose here is to develop the context of your document. So be ready to put in additional thoughts and details that did not come to your mind earlier. Do not spend time correcting words or sentences that you may decide to remove later on.

(iv) Fourth step: Revising: This is the most important part of writing-a practice our students are not encouraged to develop.

Revising means that you rewrite, build upon what has been written to make it better. It is at this stage that you get rid of unnecessary material, improve on what you are going to retain. A typical revision means writing on two or more drafts. Here you insert details left out, put in transition words which would make smoother reading. If you are working on a word processor, take out a hard copy so that you can see your entire document at one time.

(v) Step Five: Proof reading: This is the final stage in the writing process. It means checking carefully for spelling, grammar, punctuation and other errors. Use your dictionary for this purpose. Proof reading is often hard work and students want to avoid proofing. If proofing is done carefully, it will ensure that your written work looks as good as possible.

There is no single correct way of writing English. Good writing depends on a set of specific writing skills. Three skills are involved in writing.
(i) Skill of communication i.e. putting your ideas across to the reader.
(ii) Skill of organizing your idea in the shape of sentences and paragraphs.
(iii) Stylistic - achieving the right level of formality i.e. appropriate tone.

Writing is a form of problem solving. The writer has two tasks before him (a) the task of generating ideas and (b) of composing those ideas into some sort of shape in other words giving structure to those ideas.

All writing, whether journalistic or academic (a report, an essay, an assignment, a term paper, a project) has structure. There is first the introduction, second the main body in which the ideas are developed and third the conclusion.

I. The Introduction

The introduction is concerned with the topic or subject of writing. In the introductory paragraph, you will state the problem/the issue in a few general statements to attract your reader's attention and a thesis statement to say how you intend to treat the topic/issue of your essay. The thesis statement is just like the topic sentence in a paragraph.

Try to catch the reader's attention so that they would want to continue reading. This can be done in a number of ways:

- By posing a question
- Using an apt quotation
- A dialogue
- A striking description or image
- Making a controversial statement
- Developing a historical perspective
- Background
- Making an appeal for action/change

II. The Main Body

The second part of the essay is the main body where you develop the main idea with the help of examples and details. This part consists of more than one paragraph. Each paragraph develops a subdivision of your topic. So the number of paragraphs will vary with the number of subdivisions. Moreover, you can organize the ideas by chronological order or by way of importance just as you did for a single paragraph.

III. The Conclusion

In the third and last part of the essay you draw your conclusion. There are many ways of ending your composition. You should create a feeling of finale /fina:li/. This may take the form of a summary or review of the main points discussed in the body of the essay. Here you may even propose recommendations.

In essay writing, paragraphs are written and designed to serve as part of a longer composition. In a skillfully written essay, each paragraph has its own proper place, just as each word has its proper place in a coherent, emphatic sentence. And just as there is a problem of transition from one sentence to another within the paragraph, so there is some problem when dealing with a group of paragraphs. So you can see that writing an essay is essentially the same as writing a paragraph. The difference is of length.

Lesson-34

Essay writing

In the last lesson, we briefly looked at the structure of the essay-a long composition. If you recall it was said that an essay has three parts: I- the introduction, II- the main body and III- the conclusion. We shall now look at the introductory paragraph, the thesis statement and the concluding paragraph in greater detail.

Introductory Paragraph: Students often complain that they have difficulty in getting started. A lot of time is spent in thinking the first sentence. Now if you know what the purpose of an introduction is, you would not have so much difficulty.

An introduction has four purposes:
1. Introduce the topic of the essay.
2. Give a general background of the topic.
3. Specify the overall, 'plan' of the essay.
4. Arouse the reader's interest in the topic.

If you remember the introductory paragraph has two parts: (i) General statements (ii) A thesis statement

Look at the following introductory paragraph. Notice the two parts.

1. Anyone born in the twentieth century will have seen a lot of changes take place in nearly every aspect of human life. 2. While some found these changes fascinating, others found them discomforting and they want to return to the simpler, less mechanical life style of the past. 3. On the one hand, the twentieth century brought about a higher standard of living, along with higher pollution level, the weakening of human relationships and the diminishing of spiritual and moral values.

You will have noticed that the first sentence in this paragraph is a very general comment about the subject, the twentieth century. Its purpose is to attract the attention of the reader and introduce the topic of the essay. The sentence no. 2 is more specific. The third sentence is the thesis statement and is the most important sentence in the introduction. Why? Because it states the specific topic (changes in the 20th century) and lists the major subtopics, that will be addressed in the main body of the essay (the high standard of living, pollution, and values).
An introductory paragraph may even indicate the method of organization of the essay such as chronological order, order of importance, comparison and contrast, or cause and effect.

In short, the thesis statement then:
(i) States the main topic
(ii) Lists the subdivision of the topic
(iii) May indicate method of organization of essay
(iv). Usually stated in the last sentence of the introductory paragraph

Practice 1:

In the following three introductory paragraphs, the sentences in each are not in the correct order. Rearrange the sentences beginning with the most general statement first until the introduction becomes more specific. The thesis statement should come at last.

(A)1- Lahore's heavy traffic problems can be solved by building under and overhead passes along the canal roads, by improving the public transport system within the city, and by building rapid transit systems from the rural areas to the city. 2- Traffic congestion is caused by thousands of cars, vans and buses that come into the city from the neighboring small towns as well as from the thousands of cars that come from within the city limits. 3- One of the most serious problems that Lahore faces with is traffic congestion. 4- This huge problem must be solved before it gets worse.
Correct order: (Correct order from general to specific and finally thesis statement: 3,2,4,1).

(B) 1- However, in others, the nuclear family i.e. only parents and their dependent children living in one household is the rule. 2- People in different cultures have different systems for family life. 3- In many cultures, people live in extended families in which three generations share the same house. 4- In all parts of the world, the family system is undergoing great changes. 5 In Pakistan too, the traditional family system, the extended family is rapidly giving way to the nuclear family and this could have enormous effects on our society.
Correct order: 2,3, 1, 4, 5.

(C) 1- From observing animal behavior to measuring radio signals from celestial objects in space, scientists have tried different methods to predict earthquakes, but have so far been unsuccessful. 2- Earthquakes are the most catastrophic of natural disasters in terms of loss to human life and property. 3- Despite advancements in scientific knowledge and technology scientists are still not able to predict earthquakes. 4- This paper will examine the history of the science of earthquake prediction, then discuss each of the methods in more detail, and finally present data indicating the success - failure ratios of each method.
Correct order: 2, 3, 1, 4.

Practice 2.

Study these following thesis statements. Which method of organization (chronological order/comparison and contrast) does each one indicate?

Beginning from the pre-independence period and continuing through the period immediately after Independence, the status of women in Pakistan has changed remarkably. _____ .

Answer:

(a) (Method of Organization: chronological)

© Copyright Virtual University of Pakistan

(b) Despite the setbacks in the Zia period, the status of women in Pakistan has improved considerably but it is still very low when compared to the status of women in the West. _____

Answer: (Method of Organization: comparison & contrast)

Practice 3

The following are thesis statements in which both the method of organization and the major subdivision of the topic are indicated. Each subdivision will be the topic of a paragraph in the main body. Read the statement and say (i) What will be the topics of each paragraph (ii) How many paragraphs does an essay probably contain?

(a) The status of women in Pakistan has changed notably in the past decade due to increased educational opportunities and economic independence.
No. of paragraphs (___): _____
(b)The role of women in Pakistani society has undergone great changes especially in the areas of political participation, economic self-reliance and job opportunities.
No. of paragraphs (_) - _____
- _____
- _____

Practice 4

Look at the following thesis statements. The main topic is underlined and the subtopics are in brackets. Indicate the words or punctuation marks that are used to introduce the subtopics.

(i) Capital punishment should be abolished not only because it deprives a human being of life but also because it does not stop crime.
Topic: _____
Subtopic:_____
Words that introduce subtopic:
Answer:
Topic -Capital punishment
Subtopic -Deprives a human being of life
-Does not stop crime.
Words that introduce subtopic - not only, but also

(ii) Women are likely to live longer than men for two reasons: they lead less stressful lives and they look after their health.
Topic: Women live longer than men
Subtopic: _____

Words that introduce subtopic: _____
Answer:
Topic -Women live longer than men

Subtopic -Less stressful lives
-Look after their health
Words that introduce subtopic: Punctuation mark, the colon :

(iii) We protect domestic animals because they are valuable to use materially and emotionally.
Topic: _____
Sub Topic: _____
_____
Subtopic Introductory words _____

Answer:
Topic - Protection of domestic animals
Subtopic -Valuable materially
-Valuable emotionally Subtopic -Introductory words -because

Practice 5

Complete the following thesis statements by adding topics to them. If you use correlative conjunctions (both…and, not only… but also) make sure your structures are parallel.

(i) This life expectancy of the average person is increasing because of _____

(ii) Technology is changing our lives in three important areas: _____
_____

iii) Foreign learner of English has problems with three sounds: _____

(iv) Nobody likes watching television commercials. _____

(v) A good teacher must have the following qualities: _____

Answer:
i) This life expectancy of the average person is increasing because of availability of good food, proper medical care and better living conditions.

(ii) Technology is changing our lives in three important areas: transportation, communication and entertainment.

(iii) Foreign learner of English has problems with three sounds: short vowels, diphthongs and certain fricatives.

(iv) Nobody likes watching television commercials as they are not only dull and boring but they are repetitive as well.

© Copyright Virtual University of Pakistan

(v) A good teacher must have the following qualities: A variety of teaching procedures to use in the class, good knowledge and skill of her subject, and concern for her students.

Writing the concluding paragraph

The concluding paragraph is the final paragraph and is an important part of the essay. Here you tell the reader that you have completed the essay. This is done by either writing a summary of the main points discussed in the main body of the essay or by re-writing the thesis statement in different words. After that you add your final comments on the topic subject. As it is going to be your last opportunity to make your point, you should write a strong, effective message that will be remembered. Let me summarize for you.

The concluding paragraph consists of:
(i)
A summary of the main points
(ii) A restatement of your thesis statement in different words
(iii) Your final comment on the topic of your essay

Model Essay: Look at the introduction and conclusion for the following model essay on 'The Advantages and Disadvantages of Living in the Twentieth Century'.

(Introduction) Anyone born in the twentieth century must have seen a lot of changes take place in nearly every aspect of human life. While some find these changes fascinating, others find them discomforting and they want to return to the simpler, less mechanical life style of the past. While on the one hand the twentieth century brought about a high standard of living, on the other hand it brought along pollution, the weakening of human relationships and the diminishing of spiritual and moral values.
(Conclusion) In conclusion, although the twentieth century has indeed given us a lot of advantages by making us more moneyed, healthier and freer to enjoy our lives, it has, in my opinion, not made us any more sensible and happier. The twentieth century has also made the earth dirtier, the people less humane and our spiritual lives miserable. We should continue to enjoy the benefits of modern technology because they release us from the drudgeries of manual work and allow us the freedom to pursue our interests and objectives. However, we must make collective efforts to preserve the earth's natural environment for future generations. Also, we should try to build relationships with other fellow beings in this world which is increasingly becoming more and more impersonal and mechanized. (Concluding paragraph is introduced with a transition signal in conclusion)

Practice 6
Write concluding paragraphs for the following introductions by summarizing the main points or paraphrasing the thesis statement or adding your own final comments as a final message to the reader.
Introduction 1: Modern life is creating health problems. Stress affects nearly everyone, from the highly pressurized administrator to the busy housewife or student. It can cause a variety of physical disorders, ranging from headaches to stomach ulcers. Stress is not something that can be cured by self-medication like the common cold. However, it can be controlled. One can learn to control stress by enjoying a good laugh or going for long walks, and by maintaining warm relationship with friends, family and colleagues.

Conclusion 1:
In the end, we can say that although stress, a feature of modern life, causes many physical disorder in the human body, it can be controlled by enjoying a good laugh, going for long walks and by maintaining warm relationships with friends, family and colleagues. In my opinion, to control stress we need to cultivate cheerfulness for our own sake.

Introduction 2:
Television is the most popular form of entertainment in Pakistan. People of all ages from all walks of life enjoy watching television. It has been estimated that the average Pakistani watches TV for an average of four hours daily. Thus, TV has had a tremendous influence on its viewers, especially children. Doctors are now of the view that children are adversely affected by constantly watching TV. This is due to the fact that they do not take part in physical activities, spend less time reading, and are constantly exposed to a world of violence that can affect their immature personalities.

Conclusion 2:
To sum up, it can be said that effects of television especially on children are not beneficial. Doctors think that being glued to the mini-screen for many hours at a stretch and watching violence has adverse effects. It will not only affect their physical health and eye sight but also their personalities.

Lesson-35

Writing an Outline

An essay is longer and more complex than a paragraph; therefore, it is even more important to organize your thoughts and plan your essay before you begin to write. The best way to do this is by making an outline. In this lesson, we will first consider what an outline is, and then consider how it can be used for writing an essay and lastly we will have some practice in writing outlines. Outlining is a useful skill to learn because it can be used in both your reading and your writing.

An outline is basically an organization of related ideas. It is a method of grouping ideas together that are similar in some selected way, then presenting them in a simplified manner that clearly shows the relationship within each paragraph and among all the paragraphs.

Preparing an outline is essentially a problem of classifying and organizing. As said earlier, an outline is useful in both reading and writing. Because writing is language that is meant to be read, you can think of reading and writing as different ends of the same communication. All writers use an outline to help make their writing clear. If writers use an outline to organize their writing clearly, their readers should be able to analyze that organization of writing. An outline is like a skeleton which helps the writer to put flesh around it. It is the reader who removes the flesh to see the skeleton underneath.

Suppose you are asked to write about the traffic problems of your city. As you think about the topic, you decide that there are 3 main causes.
Jot down the ideas:
Traffic is a problem because:

- Great variety of vehicles on the road
- Narrow roads
- Drivers do not obey traffic rules

Later you develop these three points and write the following paragraph.

Traffic is becoming a serious problem in my city…(Name of the city) There are three basic reasons. First, there is a great variety of vehicles moving on the road. There are fast moving, mechanical vehicles like cars, buses, vans, motor cycles, motor rickshaws, and there are slow moving vehicles like horse-drawn coaches for public transport called ‘tongas’, oxen and horse-driven carts for carrying goods and merchandise. This mixture of fast and slow moving vehicles is the greatest of traffic problems. Moreover, the number of these vehicles has risen considerably in the recent years.

Another reason is that roads are old and narrow. As cars are parked along the side of these roads, it makes the roads more narrow, leaving little room for the main traffic to move smoothly. Third, as many drivers in my city do not obey traffic rules, the result is the traffic jams from cars going one way and buses going the opposite way on the same road. Thus, there is chaos on the roads of my city.

Now a reader, who reads the above paragraph, can easily make out the outline of its organization which would be something like this:

Traffic problems:

1. Great variety of vehicles
   - fast moving
   - slow moving
2. Narrow streets = cars parked on sides
3. Drivers do not obey traffic rules.

From this example, you can see that an outline has two purposes:

(i) In writing, its purpose is to organize and present ideas effectively

(ii) In reading, its purpose is to analyze the organization and relationship of ideas.

How an outline is written:

The writing of an outline will depend on the purpose and the subject of the essay. The important point is that there is no one way that suits everyone and is superior on all occasions.

Look at the first example of an outline. Suppose you were asked to write on the works of Shakespeare. Now that is a vast topic. The easiest way would be to make a list of all that Shakespeare wrote. He wrote plays, and poetry. So you have already classified his work- plays and poetry. You can further classify or divide his plays into three categories- tragedies, comedies and histories. In the same way, you can divide his poetry into categories: long poems and sonnets.

The Works of Shakespeare

1. Macbeth	8. Othello
2. Merchant of Venice	9. Henry V
3. King Lear	10. Henry IV, Parts I II
4. As You Like It	11. Venus and Adores
5. Romeo and Juliet	12. A Lover's Complaint
6. Midsummer Night's Dream	13. The Sonnets (154)
7. Richard III

The Works of Shakespeare

I. Comedies

- Merchant of Venice
- As you like it

© Copyright Virtual University of Pakistan

- A Midsummer Night's Dream
- Tempest

II. Tragedies

- Hamlet
- Macbeth
- King Lear
- Othello

III. Histories

- Richard III
- Henry IV, Part I
- Henry IV, Part II
- Henry V

IV. Poems

- Venus and Adonis
- A Lover's Complaint

V. Sonnets (154)

You noticed the names are the same in the first and the second list, but the second list is clearer. Why? Because the titles are listed and organized in a meaningful way. The titles are grouped according to similar characteristics under 5 main headings: comedies, tragedies, histories, poems and sonnets. This kind of organization helps in making the differences clear and in focusing on one particular difference or category at a time.
Here are two more examples of topic outlines. Notice the difference between the two.

A

Books I enjoy Reading
I. Fiction
A. Spy thrillers
B. Historical Novels

II. Love Stories

III. Non–fiction
A. Inventers
B. Biographies

IV. Military Heroes
V. Science/Space Exploration

B

Books I enjoy Reading
I. Fiction
A. Love Stories
B. Historical Roman
C. Spy Thrillers

II. Non–fiction
A. Biographies
B. Science /Médical Science/Space Exploration

Example (A) is a poor topic outline as it is confused; the main topics are not of equal importance outline. Example (B) is a good topic outline.
In the two examples of topic outlines–Works of Shakespeare and Books I Enjoy Reading, the topics are arranged in a logical order. You have noticed that only topics are given and each topic begins with a capital letter. Because they are topics and not full sentences a full stop/period has not been used at the end of each topic.

Each topic of the same rank is expressed in the same grammatical form. Also, notice the indentation and the same system of numbers or letters that are used. The method of outlining is presented in brief for you.

1. Jot down ideas as they occur to you.
2. Arrange these ideas in a satisfactory natural or logical order with headings and sub-headings. You may find that some of the ideas which you have jotted down are not included because they do not fit in with the purpose.

3. Label your headings and sub-headings carefully:

Main headings: I, II, III……
Sub-headings: A, B, C…….
Further sub-divisions: 1, 2, 3,

4. Indent: i.e. set down the outline as follows

I……
A……..
B……..
II…….
A…….
2…….
B……..
C……
III……

Subject: Travel

Ideas: Means of travel (bus, train, aero plane, car, etc.)
A particular journey–Peshawar
"To travel hopefully is better than to arrive."
(R.L. Stevenson)
Bacon's 'Essay on Travel', other travel books
Educational value, Holidays, People you meet
Countries I would like to visit, What to see, Language problem, Haj
Customs of the people, Preparation
Outline: Guiding purpose: Personal: Why I should like to travel.

I. Value of Travel

'Travel in the younger sort is part of education; in the elder, a part of experience'--Bacon

A. Knowledge from books e.g. 'From Oxus to Jumna
B. Knowledge from experience–visiting Iran, Afghanistan

Pleasures of Travel

A. Seeing new place
   1. Cities, buildings
   2. Countryside
   3. Historical sites

B. Meeting new people
   1. Customs
   2. Languages

III. Methods of Travel

A. car, bus, train–see the country, meet the people (takes longer)
B. aero plane (get there quicker)

iv Desire to Travel

A. Why I want to travel
B. Where I want to go

V. Preparations for Travel–passport, visa, buy ticket

Note 1: Each heading is expressed in phrase/word

2. Parallel points have parallel wording.

I. II, III, IV, V are all noun phrases
II A: seeing II. B. meeting
IV. A: why IV B. where

3. Do not allow headings to overlap.

4. Do not coordinate any heading which should be subordinated & vice versa.

5. Do not make a single heading or subheading anywhere in the outline e.g. where you have I you must have II & similarly if you put A, there must be at least B, and if 1 at least 2.

The outline provides for a prompt beginning (in this case a quotation) and ending (the buying of a ticket) but information is given about these, and they are not labeled Introduction and Conclusion.

Practice to illustrate the above points 1 & 2

On the left hand side are a series of ideas on the subject of 'Flower Arrangement.' On the right is a framework for an outline. Using the material on the left, complete this outline.

In the following the main headings overlap. Write two corrected versions of the outline:

History of the Punjab

I. Period before 1500
II. Moghuls
III. Sikhs
IV. Period after 1947

Lesson-36

Writing: Selecting and Researching an Essay Topic

Students are asked to write essays on all the subjects they study. It is part of your academic work. You write essays for English, Statistics, Psychology, Economics, etc. So, do not think that essays are written for English only. You will be required to write essays for other subjects as well.

Today's lesson is divided into three parts. First, we shall deal with choosing the essay topic, second, with analyzing essay titles and last, with taking notes for essay writing. Students are usually handed a list of essay topics to write by their teachers. Since a lot of energy and interest is invested in essay writing, it is important to choose your topic carefully. When you first look at the essay topics, you initially only separate those which immediately attract you from those which do not.

Are you being asked about your knowledge of the novel (Let's say 'The Old Man and the Sea by Hemingway to explore the nature of tragedy or the effectiveness of the minor characters and the fish in developing plot and character, or their role in the creation of dramatic tension?

Your teachers read essay topics with care. They know what ideas and what content they want you to cover in your reading and thinking about the topic. They may even help and guide you the way in which they expect you to develop your material. Now this does not mean that you should think that there is only one right way of answering the question. The word 'essay' has its origin in the French word which means 'to attempt' or 'to try out'. And when you write an essay, you are actually 'trying out' your ideas. What I want you to remember is that there are limits on the ways you can handle the essay topic. Therefore, from the very beginning you should analyze what it is that the topic demands. This can save you from working hard over an essay only to have it criticized as "irrelevant". In this lesson, you will learn to develop an approach that will enable you to read and make better notes. In this way, you will learn to refine your thoughts as you learn more about the subject you are writing on.

Characteristics of Academic Essays

Most essays in the Social Sciences share certain general characteristics. There are 4 such characteristics.
1. First you are seldom asked merely to explain or describe a process or event. The task is more complex as you are nearly always asked to combine description with analysis. For example, look at this history topic:

Choose any one day's working session of the Report on The First Round Table Conference. Identify the speaker and discuss the issues and attitudes revealed in that speaker's speech? How would you handle such a question? Would a summary satisfy all the demands made in the topic?

2. Second, you will find that your essays require you to relate general concepts, ideas and theories to particular materials, events, texts, etc. Or you may be required to move from specific events and instances to a more general interpretation of their significance e.g. take the following essay topics:

i. Laughter can range from good-humored banter to cruel mockery–How would you describe the nature of the comedy in Henry IV (parts I & II) and V?

ii. Can the life of the tall Dingas of the southern Sudan living with their cattle be described as a case of symbiosis between man and animal?

Here you will notice it is the relationship between the general and the particular which you are being directed to explore.

3. The third characteristic of the most college essays is that they require you to gather ideas and information from printed sources. Remember some weeks ago I told you that you get idea from reading books, magazines and journals. It is from printed sources that you will get idea.

4. Finally, you will find that essay topics will involve materials that can be interpreted in more than one way. There may be a problem or a controversy you are asked to analyze and make an attempt to resolve. For example, if you get a topic like the following: "Who is freer---The master or the servant"? It is obvious that you are not being asked to explain in a conclusive way the nature of freedom.

Characteristics of Academic Essays

1. General concepts to particular and vice versa
1. Gather combine description with analysis
2. Relate ideas from printed sources
3. Consider various aspects of a problem

But you are being asked to consider various aspects of a problem, select the approach, which seems appropriate to you and to develop it according to a well thought-out plan. So what would be your immediate concern when choosing an essay topic? Ask yourself: what is the essay about? In all respects, it would be CONTENT i.e. what has to be put into it. There are a number of different aspects that you will have to consider: content, concepts, judgment, and knowledge.

1- First you need to check the general area of content defined by key words in the topic. e.g. To what extent does environmental pollution affect global warning? The topic is about global warming, environmental pollution and not about the Indus dolphin or the Houbara bustard or any other near extinction species.

2- Second, you should identify the specific concepts on which the topic is focused.

e.g. to what extent environment and life style of the Hunza people affects their longevity. Here the essay is about the relationship that exists between three concepts: environment, social organization (life style) and health.

3- Third, you are asked for judgment. In the light of your reading and your knowledge, you are asked to say something about the topic-pass some judgment or opinion.

© Copyright Virtual University of Pakistan

The term “To what extent” implies that there may be some truth in the relationship suggested. The terms “Why”, “How far you think this is true” allow room for you to deny the whole basis of the question asked. It is clear that in academic essays there is considerable room for difference in judgment/opinion.

4- Lastly, I am sure you are aware that essays are usually about different bodies of knowledge, i.e. disciplines.
There are some topics that are very broad e.g. Photography, Inflation, Happiness, Travel, Discipline, etc. One of the major difficulties occurs in actually defining or limiting and wording your topic. You should not expect that you will be able to settle on a precise topic at once. You will need to read extensively and talk with your tutor before you can narrow down the subject or topic to a specifically manageable focus.
So the first step must be to analyze your essay topic i.e. analyze the ways in which you are being directed. Look first for the key words which direct how the content is to be handled e.g. what are the key directional words in the following topics:
- In the past twenty years (developments) in the field of electronics have (revolutionized) the computer industry.
-The (causes) of inflation
-Discuss important (religious and national holidays) in (Pakistan)
-The (milestone years) in my life.
-The (Hazards) of driving (small) cars.
-The (quality) of education in Pakistan high schools has (declined).

The task in most college essays is to ‘describe’ and ‘analyze’. The task of describing may be identified by directional words such as ‘explain’, ‘review’, ‘outline’, ‘enumerate’, ‘list’, ‘summarize’, ‘state’, words which direct you to analyze your material include ‘assess’, ‘compare’, ‘contrast’, criticize’, ‘analyze’, ‘discuss’.

NOTE-MAKING FOR ESSAY WRITING

Note making, is a skill and it is also a peculiarly personal affair. You will find plenty of advice from a lot of people on how to take notes or make notes. Notice the difference between note-taking and note- making. Taking notes suggests a passive procedure of recording words verbatim - /v3:beitim/- which means word for word, exactly as spoken or written, like a secretary does while taking dictation from the boss. Making notes demands your full attention. It requires you to be alert to the pattern of thought, its direction and development. You also have to distinguish between what is important and essential and what is not. And it is this active involvement on your part that makes note-making difficult: This is what makes note-making valuable.
As I said at the beginning, note making is a personal affair. How often you have found your fellow students who have borrowed your notes complain, that they cannot follow them and vice versa. This is because you recorded information and ideas which you decided suited your purpose. Therefore what you select and how you record it one matters of personal choice. You may pick up a few useful tips from working at other peoples methods, but ultimately you must develop your own system, which must be flexible enough to meet many different purposes.

Why Do You Make Notes?

Think for a moment of the role note-making plays in the process of writing your essay. Why should we spend time recording the material which is already available in printed form? There are practical and intellectual measures for this which are as follows:

1. Notes are aids to memory. If you are reading for writing a long essay, then you must have some system of sorting and recalling information you will need when you finally come to writing the essay.

2. Your notes are the raw material on which you will work: facts, figures, direct quotations will quickly be available.

3. The process of note-making forces you to:
   - Summarize ideas and arguments
   - Select points relevant to your purposes
   -Understand and interpret the original source
   -Continually clarify and adjust your perception of your essay topic in the light of your increasing understanding of the material.

So note making is an important stage in your understanding of your essay topic. It is the notes that you make which provides the basis for your thinking and the material for your essay.

What do you note, and how much? The content and volume of your notes are governed by three things.
1. The writer's intention: You have to shift the information and ideas being presented by the writer to meet your own specific intentions. The writer presented his ideas according to his interests.
2- The discipline/subject in which you are working. If you are working on a literary or historical topic you may need to include many direct quotations. You must copy them with great accuracy.
3. Your own purpose in relation to your essay topic. Do not take down everything-that is just not possible you would be wasting your time.

Your notes will be more useful if they are shaped from the beginning to suit the demands of your essay topic.

How do you take notes?

Your notes will develop their own format depending on your purpose and on the nature of the sources. There are 4 general principles which apply to all methods of note-making.

1- Clear Identification:
You should record the author, title, place of publication, publisher and edition and even the year of publication. Next to each key point or direct quotation you must note the exact page system.
Record your notes reference.

© Copyright Virtual University of Pakistan

2- Develop them flexibly, in such a way that it is easy to rearrange them for the purpose of your essay; if on loose-paper, then remember to number the pages.

3- Leave room for your comments
Leave wide margins. They are useful for writing your own comments, adding cross-references, etc.

4- Develop an abbreviation system Common symbols can be used such as:

e.g.	for example
b/w	between
&	and btw	by the way
=	is equal to
>	greater than or became
<	lesser than or came from
..	therefore.

Use abbreviations for common words such as agri for agriculture, govt. for government, sci for science, C18 for 18th century, C19 for 19th century. Abbreviate names that recur frequently: Q for Quaid-e-Azam etc. Be careful not to create so many symbols and abbreviations that will create confusion for you.

The techniques of outlining and note making are related whatever method you choose for keeping notes. Their form should clearly show the relative importance of ideas and their relationship. An outline, with its indentation and numbering system helps you visualize the way each idea is related to the other.

Practice:
Read the following passage. Then read the two sets of notes and compare them.

In this discussion of art history, we give special emphasis to three basic factors. First, the background: the religious, social, and economic conditions that make art possible in any period. Second, the foreground: the work of art itself, its style and its variation form other styles. Third, the contribution of the individual artist reveals his inspirations and the extent of his gift.

There are two wrong ideas we must guard against. First, art history is not a development from primitive beginnings in the past to final perfection in our own period. Styles change but artistic quality is more constant. Superior works of art occur in many periods. Second, often one style of art is the characteristic expression of one period. It is useless to attempt any evaluation between styles that have little in common. We should compare a work of art only with work of the same period, as we must recognize that each period posed its own problems and arrived as its own unique solutions.
Now read the following sets of notes (examples A & B). Compare them. Which one is better?

Example A: The author says that there are three basic factors to be considered in art history. The first is the religious, social and economic background. Then there is the style of the art itself, and finally the contribution of the individual artist. But there are two wrong ideas about art history. It is not a development through history: "superior works of art occur in many periods." Since each period in art history has its own problems and solutions, we cannot compare works of art form different periods.

Example B:

I. Three basic factors in art history:
A. Background: religious, social, economic
B. Foreground: the art itself, its style & variation
C. Contribution of the individual artist
II. Must guard against two wrong ideas
A. Art history is not the development through time; there are superior works in many periods, from primitive to present.
B. Cannot compare works of different periods.

Notice that both examples contain identical information. The only difference is the arrangement. The main ideas and supporting details are set out clearly in Example B. This form makes it much easier to recognize the important ideas at a glance.

Practice in Note Making:
Make notes on the following passage by writing an outline on the lines given at the end.

Lesson -37

Ways of Organizing Texts

Linear Relationships: Line & Process

In today's lesson and in the next few lessons, we shall examine the main body of the essay in detail and give you practice firstly in using many common ways of organizing texts as a whole. Secondly, you will be provided with plenty of examples of different types of texts which will help you to see the principles on which the organization of these texts is based. Learning to write in English is not as difficult as it seems. Of course, no one expects you to write like a Shakespeare in a language which is not your own. You are not aiming at writing great literature. Your need is to write clearly and accurately.

English has a central idea and other related information, and it gets the meaning across to your readers. Here I would like to add a note of warning. Writing is such a complex activity that it cannot easily be broken down into a series of skills and sub-skills for teaching. Although no writing course can ever teach you everything you need to know in order to become a competent writer. There is no reason why you cannot learn all that is required about effective writing.

In the last couple of lessons, we have been looking at introductions and conclusions of essays. Good introductions and conclusions hold up the ideas and keep the evidence in order. Take away either the introduction or the conclusion and the whole structure will fall but introductions or conclusion do not make up the whole essay or composition. They only give directions and a sense of finale or finality. Between these two ends of an essay, we use a system. The body of the essay is written according to a system or a pattern and once you choose a pattern, you must stick to it. It is possible to combine the patterns in any one essay.

Conclusion Restatement/Summary
Para

Conclusion opinion: final comment

There are three main patterns for organizing the body of the essay.
Writing showing relationships:

(i.i) Linear
(i.ii) Spatial relationships
(i.iii) Comparison and contrast

I- Linear relationships
a) Chronological
b) Process in linear sequence
II- Spatial relationships: classification & definition
III- Comparison and contrast

c) Process in cyclic sequence
d) Cause and effect

Practice 1:
Read the following text and complete the diagram which follows.

As long ago as 1779, John Frere, an English country gentleman, discovered, at Suffolk, several bones from extinct animals associated with Stone Age flint tools. He published his findings in 1800. Frere's report was not appreciated for another 60 years. But now Frere is known as the founder of prehistoric archaeology.

New Scientist, London, 1800

List the words and phrases that demonstrate the chronological order of the above paragraph.

Practice 2:
Put the following information in an acceptable order.

1- In 1930, the first analog computer was built by an American named Vannevar Bush. 2- This device was used in World War II to help aim guns. 3- Mark I, the name given to the first digital computer, was completed in 1944. 4- This was the first machine that could figure out long lists of mathematical problems, all at a very fast rate. 5- Another important advancement in computers came in 1947, when John Von Newmann developed the idea of keeping instructions for computer inside the computer's memory. 6- In 1946, two engineers at the University of Pennsylvania, J. Eckert and J. Mauchly, built the first digital computer using parts called vacuum tubes.

Practice 3:
Read the following text and see if you can answer the questions given at the end.

A Kashmiri Emigrant's Story:
In 1947, Ahmed Din Butt, a poverty-stricken twenty years old farm worker, left Kashmir for Pakistan. What the future held in store for him, he did not know. However, he was not disappointed that it could not be any worse than the past. He had grown up during the cruel rule of the Dogras in Kashmir and had known what it was to be hungry and jobless.
He had watched his mother died of tuberculosis a month before; his father had died a year after Ahmed Din was born. There was nothing now to keep him in Kashmir, and on a cold March morning, he got into a bus bound for Rawalpindi. In years to come, he would remember this moment.
A) Why do you think the passage starts with 1947 and then goes back into the past rather than starting in the past and ending with 1947?
B) If the text were in the expected sequence, what verb tense would you expect be used?
C) Which of the following tenses are used in the text?
Present/present perfect/past/past perfect

© Copyright Virtual University of Pakistan

Practice 4:

Look at another version of the same story. Compare the two versions, which is more interesting?

Ahmed Din Butt was a bright but poverty stricken twenty years old farm worker who grew up during the Dogra rule in Kashmir. He knew what it was to be hungry and jobless. His father had died in 1928; he had watched his mother died of tuberculosis in February 1947. There was nothing to keep him in Kashmir, so, on a cold March morning in 1947, he got into a bus bound for Rawalpindi. In years to come, he would remember this moment.

Practice 5:

How to mend a punctured football?

Take bladder out of its cover, inflate it a little, dip into the tub of water, with marker let air out, press to find out the hole mark spot, dry bladder, rub marked place and a rubber piece with sand paper, apply rubber solution to both, let them dry, place rubber piece on bladder, press the two very hard.

Practice 6:

Convert the following process into a flow diagram.

STEPS IN PROBLEM SOLVING:

Next the programmer must construct an algorithm flowchart or a block diagram. The relationship between the events is shown by means of a connecting arrow. This is followed by translating the algorithm / flow chart into a computer program. The program is usually written on coding sheets which have a specific format drawn on them. The programmer must then keypunch the program. Or key it in at a terminal. The program must then be tested. Next, take a printout showing if it works or if it has errors (bugs). The last step is to add the data to the program and run the program.

define the program	formulate an algorithm flowchart	translate algorithm into a computer program
Add data run the program	test the program correct the bugs	keypunch program/ key it in at a terminal

The following table gives some sequencing words that are used when describing a process:

Beginning	Middle steps	End
-first	-second (ly)	-last (ly)
- firstly	- third (ly)	- finally
- To begin with	- next	-At the end
- initially	- then
	- subsequently
	- after this

- before this
- At the same time

Read the given passage and notice how the writer uses transition words.

1) Many scientists have worked on solar heating. 2) One such attempt was made in 1949 when a house was designed which was heated by using the energy from the sun. In this house, energy from the sun was absorbed by a large area of blackened metal sheets which were covered by double plates of glass. 3) The air circulating behind the metal sheets carried away the heat. 4) Before the heat could be blown around the house it was first stored in large tanks containing Glauber's salt, a given volume of which can hold eight and a half times more heat than water.

Practice 7:

Read the given sentences and highlight those which carry agent/subject.

a) Rice is harvested out in the fields.
b) Hired laborers load the rice onto bullock carts.
c) The truck cart drivers bring the rice to the factory.
d) The laborers put the rice into the threshers.
e) The rice is threshed by machines.
f) These machines are regularly maintained.

Lesson -38

Ways of Organizing Texts: Linear (Cyclic Process & Cause – Effect)

In the last lesson you learned how to write up a time – based (chronological) sequence and a linear process – a process that consists of a series of stages and which has a beginning and an end. In today's lesson you will still be looking at processes, but this time cyclic, not linear. A natural process is more likely to be cyclic than linear. As the word itself tells you, in a cyclic process, there is no clear beginning or end so that the cycle continues. The following two diagrams illustrate clearly the difference between the two types of processes. A cyclic process is described in very much the same way as a linear process is, except, it is not always clear where the cycle begins.

The two types of processes are

A Linear Process

Input a b c d output

A Cyclic Process

step

Practice 1:
The following flow diagram illustrates the Carbon Cycle. The diagram shows how Carbon is found in the atmosphere, in animals, plants and in the soil. Below the flow diagram is a list of sentences describing the stages in the cycle. The sentences are not in an acceptable sequence. Using the flow diagram as a guide, match the sentences with the stages in the flow diagram to produce a text in acceptable sequence.

i) Sometimes, when plants and animals die and decay, bacteria act upon the decayed body and liberate carbon dioxide as one of the products. (__)
ii) Similarly, plants respire at night and give out carbon dioxide to the atmosphere. (__)
iii) But this never happens because when plants take in carbon dioxide during the day time, animals give out carbon dioxide as a result of respiration. (__)
iv) Carbon dioxide from the atmosphere is used by plants for photo synthesis (__)
v) Sometimes, coal, wood and oil are burnt and this produces carbon dioxide gas which goes into the atmosphere. (__) vi)
This is known as the carbon cycle in nature. (__)
vii) So in this way carbon dioxide is returned to the atmosphere. (__) viii) Carbon dioxide is usually found in the atmosphere, while the compounds such as carbohydrates, carbonates and bicarbonates are found in animals, in plants and in the soil. (__)
ix) Therefore, there is always a continuous cycle – in which carbon is being removed and replaced in some way or the other. (__)
x) If plants keep on removing carbon dioxide from the atmosphere, then very soon the atmosphere may be without any carbon dioxide. (__) Acceptable order would be: viii, iv, x, iii, ii, i vii, v, ix, vi.

The Life Cycle of the Malaria Parasite

Practice 2:
Study the flow diagram and the text. Some of the sentences should not be there: i.e. they are irrelevant. Which ones are they?

The Life-Cycle of the Malaria Parasite
1- Malaria is caused by tiny one-celled animal parasites, called PLASMODIA that are injected into the blood of man by the female ANOPHELES mosquito.
2- Some diseases are transmitted by tiny water animals. 3- The anopheles mosquito sucks blood from a person with malaria. 4- Once in the stomach of the mosquito these parasites undergo some development and end up in the mosquito's salivary glands. 5- House flies transmit microbes on their feet.
6- If this mosquito now bits a healthy person, it introduces some parasites together with the saliva, into the blood of the person. 7- The malarial parasites then enter the person's liver, in which they change and multiply.
8- From there, they pass into the blood cells, where they cause the malaria attack. 9- The spread of insect-borne disease can be controlled.

Sentence No. 2: "Some diseases are transmitted by tiny water animals", and sentence No. 5. "House flies transmit microbes on their feet" are not part of the life cycle of the malaria parasite; therefore, they do not form part of the text.

The above diagram shows how used water is treated and made clean for use. Write a description of this cycle. While writing, keep the following points in mind.

© Copyright Virtual University of Pakistan

To explain the cycle, consider the best point to enter it.
Break down the cycle into stages. Consider the basis on which the stages might be defined. Use a thesis statement in the introductory paragraph.
Use topic sentences for each paragraph within the text.

Give a title to your writing.
1-In the northern areas of Pakistan the once magnificent forests are slowly being destroyed by the effects of air pollution. 2- Pine trees dying from pollution lose their needless, allowing sunlight to reach the forest floor.
3- During this process grass thrives in the increased sunlight and drives out the plants native to the soil, such as moss, which helps to hold rainwater. 4- The soil thus loses its natural power to absorb water and in turn becomes hard which causes rain and snow to slide over the ground instead of being slowly absorbed into it. 5- This results in erosion of the soil. 6- After a heavy downpour, the eroded land finally falls away in huge land slides destroying villages and whatever else that comes in its way, and later causing floods in the plains.

The following table gives some guidelines on the language available for writers to state then degree of certainty

Degree of Certainty	Verbs	Adverbs

HOW TO WRITE CAUSE AND EFFECT:
Cause and effect are closely related. There are several ways of the expressing cause-effect relationship in English. You may either place the cause or the effect first in the sentence. The following sentences contain the same expression, yet one focuses on cause while the other focuses on effect.

1. Because of his depression, he remained quiet.
2. He remained quiet because of his depression.

When you write about cause and effect you have to decide for yourself whether the cause or the effect is more important to you, and what you will focus on. There are many ways of expressing causal relatives in English. The simplest way of showing cause is: because + clause e.g The war started because (the extremists had the upper hand in the government).

Practice 4:

Read the following text and note three expressions used by the writer to show causality. Use (C) for cause and (E) for effect.

TUBERCULOSIS OF THE LUNGS

1- Pulmonary Tuberculosis is caused by infection of the lungs with the tubercle bacillus. 2- Pulmonary damage is due almost entirely to the human form of the tubercle bacillus, as distinct from the type found in cattle which is mainly responsible for glandular and bovine tuberculosis. 3- The bacteria lodge in the lungs is set up a chronic inflammation of a specific, type. 4- They produce areas of infiltration which have a characteristic tubercle formation; hence the name of the organism.

-Study Writing, Lyons & Heasley. CUP

Practice 5:

Which words in the following text show cause and effect relationship?

When rain falls on the mountains, it collects in depressions in the rocks. The extreme cold causes the ice to freeze and glaciers to form. The ice melts and freezes again due to / with changes in temperature. Erosion of the rock of the mountain depression occurs as a result of the continual melting and re-freezing, and is worsened by / made worse by / increased by the action of wind moving the water. Eventually, the water wears away the rock to form a small stream which carries deposits of soil and rock which cause further erosion, gradually enlarging the stream.

Practice 6:

Read the following text and see if you can spot cause and effect words.

Watching violence on TV is beneficial and helps decrease violent behavior because viewers get rid of some of their own aggressive impulses through viewing and in this way reduce the chance that they will perform aggressive acts.

In today's lesson you became familiar with

1- Cause- effect structures in texts and
2- expressions of certainty and doubt.

Now you should be able to identify and express cause and effect accurately and clearly by using suitable expressions of certainty and of cause and effect.

Lesson -39

Ways of Organizing Texts (Spatial Relationships & Classification)

In the last two lessons we examined ways of organizing long texts such as essays, etc… We looked into details at the 4 types of linear organizations:
a) Chronological writing about events in time.
b) Describing processes in linear sequence.
c) Describing a cyclic process.
d) How to show cause – effect relationships.

In today's lesson we shall consider two more ways of organizing texts:
(i) Spatial relationships
(ii) Classification.

Spatial Relationships:
We shall look at some of the conventions that are used in the description of spatial relationships and you will be provided with practice in writing spatial descriptions. The word spatial means dealing with, happening or existing in space. While writing, very often, we have to describe the location of a place, how a place is laid out, or how a set of things / objects are connected.
Now you shall look at some ways of describing things spatially.

Practice 1:
Read the following passage and note the expressions which tell the reader where the place is.

SHIRAZ CENTER
Shiraz Center is a complex mixture of high and low buildings on the edge of Shahdara and the adjoining locality of Gujranwala, just to the North East of Lahore. Although the site itself was industrial wasteland, it is in the heart of a residential district. Along one side of it, runs a rail track, but in every other direction it is surrounded by bungalows and double story apartment flats. Both Shahdara and Gujranwala are fairly prosperous areas, but Gujranwala in particular, has undergone extensive industrial development.

There are basically two ways of organizing a description of a place. One way is to describe the place as if it was being seen from the air - i.e. a bird's eye view.
The other is to describe it from the point of view of a walk through it, which is known as a pedestrian's view.
e.g. The sentence 'Afghanistan is a landlocked country' seems to be about Afghanistan. In this case 'Afghanistan' is also the subject of the sentence. However, in the sentence 'To the East lies Pakistan', 'To the East' is not the subject but is very important information as it locates the position of Afghanistan in terms of some reference point which we already know.
to the North to the West Afghanistan to the East

Practice 2:
Read the following texts and see which is easier to understand.

a) I live in Quetta. The capital of Baluchistan is Quetta. A part of Pakistan is Baluchistan.
I live in Quetta. It is the capital of Baluchistan. Baluchistan is a part of Pakistan.

Practice 3.
Read the spatial description of Lahore and underline the location expressions that are used to guide the reader through the description.

LAHORE: THE OLD & MODERN CITY
The hub of the old city of Lahore is the spacious Minar-e-Pakistan grounds which used to be called Minto Park (the place where the historic Lahore Resolution, demanding the creation of Pakistan, was made in 1940).
Here some of the city's main traffic arteries meet. To the South West of the park are the old Mughal buildings: the Badshahi Mosque built by Emperor Aurangzeb, the Old Fort dating back to Emperor Akbar, the first Mughal ruler, as well as the famous Demontmorency College of Dentistry. To the North East is the depleted river Ravi. To the North West of the park is the tomb of Ali Hajwairy, popularly known as Data Sahib, the patron Saint of Lahore.
Just beyond Data Sahib are located the district and session courts, leading on to the main road of Lahore, The Mall. It is lined by important buildings like the old Punjab University, The National College of Arts, the Lahore Museum as well as hotels. The goods sold in the shops, here, are marked with fixed prices which cannot be reduced by bargaining as in the shops in the old walled city.

Note:
Descriptions of spatial locations are normally organized according to conventional ways of looking at scenes. The most common are:

- general to particular
- whole to part
- large to small
- outside to inside
- top to bottom
- left to right / vice versa

The main point is to be consistent. What ever convention you choose, should be consistent and you should use it throughout, so that the reader may not get confused.

Ways of classifying things:
How to relate classification to the conventions of writing and to practice writing texts based on classification.
One of the easiest ways to organize things is to look for relationships among objects or ideas and arrange them according to their similarities and differences.

© Copyright Virtual University of Pakistan

Practice 4:

Look at the following set of words and put them into groups.
(a) anger love fear emotion envy
(b) table menu waiter restaurant cash register
(c) greetings a wave 'hello' 'hi' 'salaam'
(d) sleep, dream, manager, intelligent happy, teacher.

Practice 5:

The following sentences form a text which refers to the classification chart on FRUITS. Except for the first sentence, they are not in the most logical order. Try to arrange the sentences according to a logical order to form a complete text which fits the organization of the classification chart.
(i) There are three general types of fruits: simple, aggregate and multiple fruits. (__)
(ii) Examples of dry dehiscent fruits are the fruits of the African tulip, rubber and pod of the flame of a forest. (__)
(iii) An aggregate fruit is one which develops from a flower with several ovaries. (__)
(iv) An example of fleshy indehiscent fruits is the papaya, mango and banana. (__)
(v) Each ovary develops into a separate fruit; and so a cluster of fruits may arise from the main fruit stalk. (__)
(vi) The guava, tomato and coconut are simple fruits. (__)
(vii) A composite or multiple fruit is one which develops from a group of flowers (__)
(viii) The Jack fruit and the Pineapple are examples of multiple fruits. (__)
(ix) Both dry and fleshy fruits may be either dehiscent (i.e. they split open allowing the seed to escape when ripe) or indehiscent (i.e. they do not split open when ripe. (__)
(x) Fruits are also classified as dry and fleshy fruits. (__)

Writing a Classification:
Writing a classification is based on convention i.e. how others have done it. But it is mainly based on your purpose in making the classification. Data and ideas are divided into categories and this is done in a logical way. Some types of order are:
(i) according to time (oldest to newest)
(ii) General to particular,
(iii) Scale:
(a) Importance: most important to least important
(b) Size: largest to smallest
(c) Familiarity: best known to least known

Practice 6:
(Sample)

Formal	Education	Informal
Full time	part time	- correspondence course
School	evening classes	Open University
College	short intensive courses	T.V. broadcasts
University	research based study	radio broadcasts
		Adult learning centers
		Self study course

Practice 7:
See how this letter is addressed.

Dr. Ms. A. T. Shah
41, St. 27
Mohalla Araian
Sialkot. Punjab.
Pakistan.

The logical order, here is, from the smallest unit (house to the largest (country)

In today's lesson you learned how texts are organized according to a pedestrian's view and bird's eye view. You became familiar with some expressions of location and learned how to use them in writing. You also learned how data can be classified and arranged in diagrams and texts. You should now be familiar with some expressions of classification and will be able to use them in sentences and texts.

Lesson -40

Writing Skills

Paraphrasing

In today's lesson you will learn about two things;
1- How to paraphrase
2- To write a summary.

One of the things you have to learn in studying English is, how to express yourself in more than one ways. This can be best done by practicing in paraphrasing. A paraphrase is the expression of the meaning of a passage in a different way. Paraphrasing is a writing skill in which an idea (s) or information written in another way without changing the meaning. It is, in other words, writing the given information in different words i.e. you re-phrase the words without changing its original meaning. Paraphrasing is often used in place of direct quoting what a writer has said. It is a skill and is used to rewrite short selections, a series of sentences or paragraphs. A paraphrase is usually as long as the original text in order to communicate its full meaning. Here are some techniques that can help you in writing a paragraph.

1. Your paraphrase may contain some words from the original passage, but try to use synonyms wherever possible.
2. Change direct quotations to indirect quotations - i.e. use reported speech
3. Change active sentences to passive sentences and vice versa.

Step 1. Read the passage carefully a number of times till you understand it fully.
Step 2. Look up words in a dictionary that you do not understand. Try to find synonyms for them.
Step 3. Jot down the main points of the passage.
Step 4. Make an outline with the help of the points you have jotted down.
Remember your outline should contain a The main idea

b. the main supporting ideas or points
c. the primary and secondary supporting details.

Step 5. Write the paraphrase using your own words without omitting any essential idea.
Step 6. Polish the paraphrase.

Practice 1:

It is said that, when in 1998, Brazil lost the World Cup to France; the Brazilians were so disheartened that one had the impression that a big national disaster had taken place and the country itself had died. They say that many did die of sadness. Defeat in championship matches has often caused heart attacks and the despair of the public is usually so great that many take their own lives. Such is the passion of football fans.

Outline

A Brazil lost World Cup 1998
1. Entire country sad
2. Some deaths

B Possible defeat causes strong reaction.

1. Heart attacks
2. Suicides

C Football fans very emotional.

Paraphrase:

In 1998 Brazil lost the World Cup to France. The entire country was overcome with sadness; some people even died. Defeat in championship matches causes strong reaction among fans, from heart attacks to even suicides. Football fans are very emotional about the game.

Practice 2:

The best approach to students' co-operation is the organization of thrift societies. The principle of thrift is as important from the co-operative as it is from the educational point of view. Thrift gives a basic foundation of character and it is easy to form this habit in one's early life. In the process of the formation of this habit, the young student will have to exercise rigorous self-discipline which will not only have a great effect on his own spiritual life but will react to his family, and through the family on society as a whole.

Words: Thrift = saving, economy.

Rigorous = firm, demanding, strict.

Outline:

How students can best cooperate -- thrift societies -- threefold value of thrift -- foundation of character -- formation of habits -- exercise of strict disciplines -- effect of thrift – its deeper influence, spiritually and financially.

Practice 3.

Each of us is here for a brief sojourn; for what purpose, he knows not. Though he sometimes thinks he feels it, but from the point of view of daily life, without going deeper, we exist for our fellow men ---in the first place for those, one depends, and next for all those, unknown to us personally to whose destinies we are bound up by the tie of sympathy. A hundred times every day I remind myself that my inner and outer life depends on the labors of other men, living and dead, and that I must exert myself in order to give in the same measure as I have received and am still receiving. - Albert Einstein

Sojourn = stay, rest, stopover, visit

Destiny = lives, fate, fortunes

Exert = effort, apply

Measure = amount, portion, share

Outline:

Our life brief -- purpose unknown-- but simply felt -- our immediate relation first to those with whom we are intimate, then to those we are allied with by sympathy -- the dependence of my life on the labor of the living and the dead -- feel the duty of give and take.

Practice 4:

Paraphrase the following passage. Follow the steps given earlier.

© Copyright Virtual University of Pakistan

Kaleem Omar, the journalist, has studied Japanese business customs and habits. He says that the Japanese prefer to work collectively as members of groups rather than individually. This, he says, is one of the main reasons for Japan's economic success.

Outline.
A. Reported that Japanese work in groups not as individual.
B. This reason for Japanese economic success.

Paraphrase:
K. Omar the journalist says that the Japanese like to work together in groups and not singly. He believes that this feature is one of the most important factors responsible for Japanese economic success.

Practice 5:

POEM

Lives of great men all remind us
We can make our lives sublime,
And departing leave behind us
Footprints on the sands of time,
Footprints that perhaps another,
Sailing o'er life's solemn main,
A forlorn and shipwrecked brother,
Seeing, shall take heart again.

(i) Substituting other words:
Sublime – lofty, exalted, eminent, grand, noble-
Forlorn- abandoned, deserted, friendless,
Solemn - serious, sober, grave
Main - (obs.) open sea
(ii) The central idea in the above lines is that the lives of all great men remind us of certain duties

(ii) Removing the inversions and rewriting the sentences in the same order.

Outline:
We may make our lives great--- Departing, we may leave behind us footprints on the sands of time---There may be footprints which may be seen by a shipwrecked brother and may help him to take heart again.

Paraphrase:
The lives of all great men remind us that we may also live (make) noble (sublime) lives and when we die (departing) we may leave records of our actions (footprints) in this world (sands of time) like the marks of footsteps left by travelers on the sands of the seashore. These records (foot prints) may be noticed by some serious and grave person (a shipwrecked brother) who has no one to guide him (forlorn) and may encourage him (to take heart) in his distress or sorrow.

iv) Polishing:

The paraphrase may be written as:

The lives of all great men inspire us so that we also may live noble lives, and that, when we die, we may leave behind us records of our noble deeds like the marks of footprints left by a traveler on the sands of the sea shore. These records may, by chance, read by some unfortunate person who, having made a wreck of his life, is in the grip of despair, and this may give him fresh encouragement in his loneliness and misery to make a new start in life.

PRACTICE 6:

News Item

Karachi APP – Rescue workers located the body of a New Karachi teenager on the beach at Clifton, one day after a sand bar where he was walking with his friends washed out in the rising tide. Police sources said the body of Mohammad Irfan, 15, was recovered on the beach on Sunday morning. The body was found 2½ miles away from the area where he fell about 6:15 pm., Saturday afternoon. The boy and his friend, Ali Zaman, were walking on the sand bar with other teens when the sand washed out form under them, said the victim's mother, Zainab Khatoon. Passers-by pulled Ali Zaman to safety, witnesses said.

Paraphrase:

On Sunday, the body of a young man who was drowned while walking on a sand bar, washed away by the tide and was discovered at Clifton beach on Saturday afternoon. His friend who was with him at the time of the accident had been rescued by passers – by.

Some more examples of paraphrase:

1) We have just enough religion to make us hate, but not enough to make us love one another. (Swift)

Our religion is not of the true kind, for we act in just the opposite way of its teaching.

2) The narrowest hinge on my hand puts to scorn all machinery. (W. Whitman)

The smallest joint in the bones of my hand is a far more wonderful thing than any machinery.

3) The main argument in favor of keeping the death penalty for murder is that it will frighten men out of the desire to commit the crime. In other words, it will act as a preventive.

The main argument for retaining capital punishment for murder is that it will act as a deterrent.

4) There are no gains without pains; then help, hands, for I have no lands, or if I have, they are smartly taxed. (Benjamin Franklin)

Nothing can be earned without labour, so set to work, my hands, for what land I have is heavily taxed.

5) No man is so void of understanding as to prefer war before peace; for in the letter children bury their fathers; in the former, fathers bury their children.

No man would be as stupid as to prefer war over peace; for in peace the young bury the old, while in war the old bury the young who die fighting in a war.

6) Applicants are requested to state the reasons for any exceptional treatment they require. (NOTICE AT A HOSPITAL)
Applicants should state why they need special treatment.

7) All drivers and visitors to the hospital are strictly forbidden to park in or on the verge of the road. Attention is drawn to the fact that a public car park is available in Millat Street.
No parking on this road. Use the park in Millat Street.

8)
Civil personnel will halt here and report their presence at the guard room. They will on no account proceed further till vetted and granted clearance by the security officer on duty. Offenders are warned that any failure to observe these regulations will result in detention and prosecution.
All civilians will report at the guard room for permission to enter. Offenders will be prosecuted.

9) In cases where the school day is terminated earlier than the normal time owning to the necessity to get pupils home before the onset of monsoon rains, a careful note of the relevant circumstances must be made and transmitted to the Education Office at the earliest possible opportunity.
In case the school day is shortened owing to monsoon rains, the Education Office must be informed immediately.
The Education Office must be informed as soon as possible if monsoon rains make it necessary to end school earlier than usual.

You looked at different samples of paraphrases – single sentences, short prose passages, a poem, and a news item.

Paraphrasing takes time. It cannot be done hastily.
2. In a paraphrase on no account, you must introduce anything which is not in the original, however, much you may wish or want to; that you can do in an essay but not in a paraphrase.
3. Don't try to change every word of the original. Some words cannot be suitably replaced.
4. A paraphrase is neither an expansion nor a summary.
5. No introducing sentence is needed to begin it.
In today's lesson you learned how to express yourself in a different way. Paraphrasing is a very useful writing skill and goes a long way in helping develop your writing abilities.

Lesson -41

Writing a Summary

Today's lesson deals with another writing skill – how to write a summary. A summary is similar to a paraphrase except that a summary is usually shorter. When you summarize, you compress large amounts of information into the fewest possible sentences. In order to do this, you include only the main points and main supporting points, leaving out the details.

A summary or precis (French word which means the same as summary) is a brief and clear statement in a connected and readable shape of the substance of a longer passage.
Definitions are useful things, even when they make the thing defined sound dull as the above definition does. The reasons for learning how to summarize are really sensible. They are:

Definition:
A summary or precis (French word which means the same as summary) is a brief and clear statement in a connected and readable shape of the substance of a longer passage.

As a foreign learner of English any examination you take, the examiners are likely to test your ability to read, write and think in English. A summary writing will give you;
i) Good practice both in clear writing and clear thinking.
ii) It enables you to express in your own words, somebody else's ideas even if you do not agree with those ideas.
iii) Read the passage carefully.
iv) Read the passage again. Note the different points it contains. Number the points.
v) Strike out points not essential to the meaning, repetitions, illustrations, anecdotes, comparisons, etc...
vi) Arrange the points in a best possible way.
vii) Write summary – first draft.

Polish the draft:
A summary is a brief and clear statement in a connected and readable shape of the substance of a longer passage.

You noticed five words have been underlined.

In the middle ages people had no ideas of scientific farming. Spare cattle were killed and salted for winter eating. Spices were used a lot. They came from the East. The Turks cut the line of supply. Voyages of exploration were undertaken partly to find spices.

As people in the middle ages had no idea of scientific farming, spare cattle had to be killed and salted for winter eating. This unappetizing meat led to a demand for spices, and one reason for the great voyages of exploration was the shortage of spices when the trucks cut the overland route of their supply.
Here are some more examples of phrases that would be better expressed in single words:

© Copyright Virtual University of Pakistan

of a disagreeable nature of a delightful description in a brief manner in a stupid way.
of a silly kind

Here are some more examples that show how easy it is to write wordily and also how the wordiness might be avoided.

-Boys whose way of life is cast in an urban environment	- town boys ((11)
Together with the addition of (5)	- also (1)
Special attention will be paid to activities with an eye to the cultivation of the qualities of initiative, etc. (18)	- special attention will be paid to activities to cultivate initiative (10)
Judged in the light of their results (7)	- Judge by their results (4)
In this connection it should be said (7)	- Here it should be said (5)

Practice 1:

Writing Briefly & Clearly:

1. It is not without interest to observe, in connection with the duration of the school team, that punishments show a tendency to increase in number as the term progresses. (29)
It is interesting to note that punishments increase as the school team progresses (13)

2. Having regard to the recent increase in the number of cases of malaria in this area, it is clearly desirable that the scheme for the provision of more doctors should be put into effect. (34)
The recent increase in the number of malaria cases in this area requires that more doctors should be posted (19)

3. Two men sustained serious bodily injury when their car came into collision with a truck today. (16)
Today two men were seriously injured when their car collided with a truck. (13)

REPETIITON:

People seem, sometimes, to think that what they say twice is more impressive than what they say once. Actually repetition shows weakness, not strength.

Practice 2:
Avoiding Useless Repetition.

For three months, the river is in continuous flood; this state of affairs goes on for the whole of that time without cease.
For three months the river is in flood.
In the end, we eventually agreed to go by the shortest route.
In the end, we agreed to go by the shortest route.
Without warning, unexpected, unheralded, the storm broke on us.
Without warning the storm broke on us.

Putting Ideas Together:

You can do this by subordinating the less to the more important ideas e.g.
It was quite dark; for the sun had set an hour before and the moon had not yet risen when the thief carefully opened the door of his house and prepared to go about his business. (36)
(Here, there are 5 clauses, but it is possible to turn many of them into words or phrases). e.g.
An hour after sunset, in one dark, moonless night, the thief crept to his house to go about his business (20 words) (Here we have 20 words instead of 36 and the meaning, so little changed as to be almost the same).

PRACTICE 3:
Shorten the following without losing any of the meaning.

His efforts, although, they were the best he could make do, ended in failure.
His best efforts failed.

Athar came upon a house that was green.
Athar came upon a green house.

His horses, which were two in number, he used for the single purpose of playing polo, which he was only able to do on Mondays once in every two weeks.
He used his two horses for playing polo on Mondays every fortnight.

Four samples of summary writing:

1. Working conditions in the nineteenth century seem barbaric today: twelve-to-fourteen hour work days; seven day weeks; cramped, unsafe factories; marginal wages, and no legal protection. Yet employers seldom had problems motivating their workers: poverty and unemployment were so widespread that any job was welcome.
- Widespread poverty and unemployment made nineteenth-century workers willing to put up with terrible working conditions.
2. Compromise is a common and effective way of coping directly with conflict or frustration. We often recognize that we cannot have everything we want and that we cannot expect others to do just what we would like them to do. We then compromise, deciding on a more realistic solution or goal since an ideal solution or goal is not practical. A young person who loves animals and greatly wishes to become a veterinarian may discover he has less aptitude for biology than he had hoped and that dissecting is so distasteful to him that he could never bring himself to operate on animals. By way of compromise, he may decide to become an animal technician, a person who works as an assistant to a veterinarian.

-Compromise is a direct way of coping in which we decide on a more realistic solution or goal since an ideal solution or goal is not practical. For example, a person not good in biology may decide to be an animal technician rather than a veterinarian.

3. All family systems can be categorized into one of two types. The extended family is one in which more than two generations of the same kinship live together either in the same house or in adjacent dwellings. The extended family, which is commonly found in traditional, pre-industrial societies, can be very large: It contains 3 generations living together. In contrast, the nuclear family is one in which the family group consists only of the parents and their dependent children. The nuclear family is the usual type in virtually all modern industrialized societies.
-There are two basic types of families. The extended family, which is more than 2 generations living together, is common in pre-industrial societies. The nuclear family, made up of parents and their dependant children, is usual in industrialized societies.

4. Again, when we feel fear of the dog, we learn to avoid similar situations. Finally, emotions help regulate social interaction. Our observation of other people's emotional states determines how we respond to them. For example, if we notice that another person is experiencing fear, we may be moved to comfort and reassure him.
-Psychologist has distinguished 3 functions of emotions in our lives. Emotions can prepare us to take action, shape our future behavior, or regulate our social interaction.

Today's lesson dealt with a very important writing skill – summarizing – which you will be required to use very often in life. You were given practice in summarizing & shown samples of good summaries.

Lesson -42

Tenses and Passive Sentences

In this lesson first, we shall discuss verb tenses and the problems they pose for learners of English and next we shall examine passive tenses.
In an English sentence, the verb is the most important word. It is through the action described by the verb that the sentence comes alive. As a result, the verb is the lifeblood of the sentence.
Among other properties, verbs tell time by specifying when the action occurred. This time feature is known as tense.

1. The Base Form:
It is the form in which verbs are listed in the dictionary. It is used in the present tense for all subjects except third - person singular subjects.
- I eat kababs for lunch.
- Saima eats kababs for lunch.

2. Past Tense Form:
The past-tense form of most verbs is formed by adding -ed or -d to the basic form.
- They praised the president for his bold speech.
- I asked the students to leave the gym.

3. Present Participle:
It is the -ing form of a verb. The present participle is the form that is used with the helping verbs am, is, are, was, or were to show continuing action.
- Jo is spreading the sheet on the ground.
As I was gathering the clothes on the line, the wind blew away some of them.

4. Past Participle:
The past participle of a verb is usually the same as its past tense form. The past participle is the form that is used with the helping verbs have, has, and had and with am, is, are, was, were.
- The girl have asked the boss for a raise.
- The kitchen door was jammed tight.

Here are the main parts of the regular verbs.

Basic Form	Past Tense Form	Present Participle	Past Participle
Jump	jumped	jumping	jumped
Smile	smiled	smiling	smiled
Hope	hoped	hoping	hoped

Main Tenses:

There are six main tenses in English. They are present, past, future, present perfect, past perfect and future perfect.
The following chart shows the six basic tenses of the verb 'jump'

Tense	Example
Present	I jump
Past	I jumped
Future	I will jump
Present perfect	I have jumped
Past perfect	I had jumped
Future perfect	I will have jumped

We shall now look at these tenses in greater detail.

1. The Present Tense:

It is used to describe an action that is happening in the present or to describe a condition that exists at the present time regardless of the other verbs in the sentence. Susan works in 1. Children's toys are on the third floor. (Habitual action)
2. The neighbor's dog smells our plants. (Present action)

The Historical Present: The present tense is used to make a more vivid description of any past actions through a restatement or a summarization of the facts from a book or a report etc….
1. In his report Mr. Farook states that the president will call candidates for interview in a year's time.
2. "Revenge", says the Lord "is mine". (Bible)

The historical present is used when we write about events or happenings in a work of literature. The rationale for using the present tense is that the happenings of literature are unchangeable and therefore are permanently true.

2. The Past Tense:

It is used to describe an action or state of being that occurred some time in the past.
1. At yesterday's party, the host made a rude remark.
2. The goods were delivered late last night.

3. The Future Tense:

It is used to indicate an action which is to take place in the future or a state or condition that will exist some time in the future.
1. According to the college schedule, the examination will be held in the Basemen at 9:00. a.m.
2. If you are to succeed, you will need to set realistic goals.

You can form the future tense by placing will or shall before the verb. In the past, the use of will and shall was prescribed, but in today's language usage, will is typically used to express ordinary future tense and shall is used to express a demand or is used with laws, policies or contracts.

1. You shall have this term paper submitted on time.
2. Invigilators shall ensure that the examination rules are fully implemented.
3. If you meet the deadline, you will reap the benefits.

The Three Perfect Tenses are formed by adding the helping verb have, has, or had to the past participle of the verb. The past participle of a regular verb is simply the form that ends in -ed.

4. The Present Perfect Tense is used to describe an action that started in the past and either has been finished or is continuing at the present time.
The present perfect tense is formed when we add has or have plus the past participle.
1. Marina has worked at a number of jobs over the year.
2. After great efforts by the police, the building has been evacuated.

5. The Past Perfect Tense:

It describes an action that was completed in the past before another past action. The past perfect tense is formed when we add had plus the past participle.

1. Marina had worked in a number of TV programs before she joined the company.
2. Before I reached my office, my friend Lylla had returned my call.

6. Future Perfect Tense:

It describes an action that will be completed before sometime in the future. The future perfect tense is formed when we add shall have or will have to the past participle. By the end of the year, the contractors will have completed the new block.

1. Mr. Saeed will have been employed by the printing firm for 25 years in December.
2. Our secretary shall have entered all data for your report by Saturday.

The Three Progressive Tenses: As their name suggests, these tenses express actions still in progress at a particular time. They are made by adding a form of the helping verb -be to the -ing form of the verb.

1. Present Progressive Tense:
It expresses an action taking place at this moment or that will occur sometime in the future.
1. Marina is working at the office today.
2. I am going to the bookstore.

2. Past Progressive Tense:
It expresses an action that was in progress at a certain time in the past.
1. Marina was working yesterday.

© Copyright Virtual University of Pakistan

2. I was practicing my speech last night.

3. Future Progressive Tense:
It expresses an action that will be in progressive at a certain time in the future.
1. Marina will be working tomorrow.
2. The visitors will be pacing in the reception hall.

Unnecessary shift in tense:
3. In my dream, a snake slithered along the side of my bed and slips quickly onto my pillow. (Inconsistent tense)

Practice 1.

Spot the wrong tense word.
1. When my sister saw flames and smoke coming from her room, she reacted quickly. She picks up her handbag and some pictures of her family. Then she rushed out into the open.

2. Pink flowers blossom on this peach tree every spring. Then tiny green buds appeared. Finally, the peaches grow into sweet red fruit.

Practice 2:

Spot the tense shifts.
In his oversized T-shirt, the little boy looked even smaller than he was. His skinny arms stretch out of the flopping sleeves that reach down to his wrists. He needed a haircut; he has to push his hair out of his eyes to see. His eyes fail to meet those of the people passing by as he asked them, 'Can you give me five rupees"?

Practice 3.

Spot the verb in each sentence that is not in the same tense as the others.
1. Hafeez rang the doorbell and wanted for several minutes. Finally, when no one answers, he turned away disappointed.
2. As the campers drove away, they look back and saw their dog running after them.
3. He came home early because he wasn't feeling well then he discovers his wife had the door key.
4. Our children love going to the school library because they can take out any book they wanted, even if they can't read it yet.

Review:
Fill in the blanks where required with the correct word.
1. There are six basic tenses in English (T/F).
2. They are present, past, ____, present perfect, ___ ___ and future perfect.
3. The past tense is formed with regular verbs by adding ____ or ___ to the basic form of the verb.
4. The _____tense is formed by adding the word will before the basic form of the verb.

5. The _____tenses are formed by adding a form of the helping verb have, has or had to the past participle of the verb.
6. The ___ ____ tense describes an action that was completed in the past before another past action.
7. The present progressive tense is formed by adding the correct form of the helping verb be to the) -s, -ing or –ed?) ____form of the verb.

Active and Passive Voices

1. Use active voice to emphasize the performer of an action.
2. Use passive voice to de-emphasize the performer of the action and in this way emphasizing the object of the action.

Structure of Active Voice Sentences

Subject	Verb	Direct Object	Complement
The estate management	will prosecute	trespassers
Passengers	may purchase	tickets	at any airline office
Students	use	computers	in the laboratory
You	should take	the medicine	once daily

Subject	Verb	Direct Object	Complement
1. The estate management	will prosecute	trespassers
2. Passengers	may purchase	tickets	at any airline office
3. Students	use	computers	in the laboratory
4. You	should take	the medicine	once

Structure of Passive Voice Sentences

Subject	Verb	Complement
1.Trespassers	will be prosecuted
2.Tickets	may be purchased	at any airline office
3.Computers	are used	in the laboratory

4.The medicine should be taken once daily

Formation of Passive Sentences
A passive sentence is composed of the following parts. Subject + some tense of BE + Past Participle + Agent.
1. The object of an active sentence becomes the subject of the passive sentence.
2. The tense is formed by -BE
3. The subject of the active sentence becomes the agent of the passive sentence.
4. The agent may sometimes be omitted.

Verb Tenses in Passive Sentences

PRESENT TENSES

Simple Present:
Jewels are bought by ladies.

Present Continuous:
Jewels are being bought by ladies

Present Perfect:
Ladies have been advised to declare their jewelry in their wealth tax forms.

Present Modals:
Steps must be taken to educate the public about filling in tax returns.

PAST TENSES

Simple Past:
Maps of the rebel's hide-out were shown to the press.

Past continuous:
Until recently hand crafted jewelry was not being designed locally.

Past Perfect:
Pakistani carpets had always been designed by local artists.

Perfect Modals:
The textile industry might not have been required by the government to pay taxes.

FUTURE TENSES

'will' - Teaching assistants will be used to assist teachers in evaluating students' examination scripts.
'going to' - Factories are going to be built in the new export promoting zone.

Future Perfect
- By 2010 the new canal system will have been put into regular use.

The Agent in Passive Sentences:
A passive sentence can be written with or without the agent.

With the Agent:
The agent in the passive sentence answers the question by whom or by what the action is performed.
1. The agent is named if it is important or necessary to complete the meaning or understanding of the sentence. e.g.
- The accident was caused by a cyclist.- Noise in our neighborhood is produced by trains.

Without the Agent:
The agent in a passive sentence is not named under certain conditions.
1. When the identity of the agent is understood and does not have to be mentioned. e.g.
- The president has been re-elected for another year (by the council)
- Shina is spoken in many parts of northern areas of Pakistan (by people)

2. When the identity of the agent is unimportant. e.g
-Pakistan television newscasts are translated into both English and Arabic. (by someone)

3. When the identity of the agent is unknown:
-An error has been made in the computer input data (by someone)

USES OF PASSIVE

1. When you want to give your writing an objective and impersonal tone. It is often used in scientific, business writing and newspaper reports.
2. When you want to focus attention on the receiver of an action. e.g
If you are writing a paper about a discovery, the use of passive will focus on the discovery. But if you were to write with active verbs, the reader might think your paper is about the person who made the discovery and not the discovery itself.

Lesson -43

Word Order

In many of the lessons on writing and, even in those on reading, we looked at how ideas are organized and put together or connected within and between sentences. In today's lesson we shall look at the way certain words like adverbs, which cause problems to learners of English, are placed in the sentence. We are going to look at ways words are positioned or ordered in an English sentence and give you some practice in their use. The words are:

(1) Verb + object - place and time
(2) the position of : also, always, probably, am, is, are…
(3) Still, yet, anymore, any longer, no longer
(4) Although, yet, even though, in spite of, despite
(5) Even
(6) As (time) as (reason)
(7) Use of like and as

1. Verb & Object

A) In English the verb and its object, usually go together. Other words are not put between them. e.g

	V	O
I	like	animals	very much.

I like very much animals.

1. Did you see Fahd yesterday?
2. Shazia often plays tennis.

3. Do you clean the house every fortnight?
Do you clean every fortnight the house?

4. Everybody enjoyed the picnic very much.
Everybody enjoyed very much the picnic.

5. The guide spoke French fluently
The guide spoke fluently French

6. I not only lost all my money, I also lost my jewelry.
I not only lost all my money, I lost also my jewelry.

7. At the end of the road you'll see a petrol pump on your left.
At the end of the road you'll see on your left a petrol pump.

B) Place and Time

(1) In English the place (where?) is mentioned before the time (when? How often? How long?) e.g

1. Huma walks to work every morning.
   Huma walks every morning to work.

2. Their family has been in the United States since last year.
3. He arrived at the railway station early.

4. I'm going to Sibi on Monday.
   I'm going on Monday to Sibi.

5. Why weren't you at the party last night?

Practice 1:

Decide whether the word order is right (R) or wrong (W)

1. Tony walks every morning to work. ___
2. Maha speaks very well French. ___
3. After eating quickly my breakfast, I went out. ___
4. I think I'll go early to bed. ___
5. Did you do interesting things at work today? ___
6. At the top of the page please write your name. ___

(2) Adverbs with The Verb:

(a) There are some adverbs such as 'always', 'also', 'probably' that are generally put with the verb in the middle of a sentence. This happens when the verb is a one word. (Such as goes, fall) e.g.

- Huma always goes to work by bus.
- She was feeling very tired. She was also hungry.
- Your bike has probably been stolen.

'Always', 'often', 'also', go before 'have to'

- The students always have to wait a long time for the professor. But they go after the verbs 'am, is, was, were
- I was feeling very tired. I was also hungry.

(b) Sometimes when a verb is composed of two or more words such as can remember, doesn't drive, has / have been eaten; the adverb is put after the first part of the verb.

	V^1	ADV	V^2
He	can	never	remember my name
I	don't	usually	smoke
	Are you	definitely	resigning?
Your bike	has	probably	been stolen

© Copyright Virtual University of Pakistan

In negative sentences probably goes before the negative. So we have:

- He probably won't see you. OR
- I will probably not see you.

Practice 2:

Decide whether the underlined words are in the correct order. Use W for wrong and R for right.

1. I washed the clothes and also cooked dinner. ____
2. Those tourists over there probably are French. ____
3. My mother gets hardly ever angry. ____
4. I usually take a bath when I get home from work. ____
5. I usually am very tired when I get home form work. _____
6. I will probably not see you. _____
7. He won't probably meet you. _____

(3) The position of still, yet, anymore, any longer, no longer in a sentence
Still is used to say that a situation or action is continuing. Still usually is used in the middle of the sentence with the verb. e.g.
- It's 11:00 p.m. and Sara is still working.
- Are you still living in the same locality or have you moved?
-Do you still want to go to the post office, or have you changed your mind?

Yet is used to ask if something has happened or when we say that something has not happened.
Yet is used mainly in questions and negative sentences.
Yet is usually found at the end of the sentence. e.g.
- Have you finished packing that suitcase yet?
- It's 11 o'clock and the typist hasn't arrived yet.
-We're hungry. Is dinner ready yet?

Yet is often used with the present perfect (Have you finished washing that dress yet?).
Compare still and yet in the following sentences.
- My brother lost his job last year and he is still unemployed.
- My brother lost his job a year ago and hasn't found another job yet.
- Is it still raining?
- Has it stopped raining yet?

Still is possible in negative sentences.

-She said she would be here half an hour ago, and she still has*n't* come.

'She still hasn't come' shows a stronger feeling of impatience as can be seen from the following sentences:
- She hasn't called me yet (but I expect she will soon)
-She still hasn't called me (she should have called before now) not … anymore, not… any longer and no… longer are used to say that a situation has changed. Anymore, and any longer come at the end of the sentence

- Miss Mir doesn't work here anymore / any longer.
- They were great friends once, but they aren't friends any more / any longer.

No longer comes in the middle of the sentence.
- They are no longer friends.
- He no longer lives with her.

But 'no more' cannot be used in this way. You can have:
- He is no longer our employee. But not  He is no more our employee.

Practice 3:

Change the following sentences using still and not …. anymore.

1. Tony used to have long hair and a beard. (still / long hair but..).
(Tony still has long hair, but he doesn't have a beard anymore.)
2. Teddy used to play tennis and football. (still / tennis but).
(Teddy still plays tennis but he doesn't play football anymore.)
3. Mother was in hospital and she was in critical condition. (still / hospital but...)
- Mother is still in hospital but she isn't in critical condition anymore.
4. I used to like Kathy and Karen (still / Kathy but…)
- I still like Kathy but not Karen anymore.
5. He was a good batsman, and he was the best in the team. (still / good batsman but)
- He is still a good batsman but isn't the best in the team anymore.
6. I was feeling depressed and homesick. (still / depressed but….)
- I am still feeling depressed but not homesick anymore.

(4) The position of although / though / even though / in spite of / despite.
(A) After although we use a subject + verb.
- Although he is fat, he seems quite healthy.
- Although it rained a lot, we enjoyed our holidays.
-He didn't get the job, although he had all the necessary qualifications.

A noun, a pronoun or -ing is used after in spite of / despite.
- In spite of (the rain), we enjoyed our holidays.
- She is not tired, in spite of (working) all day.
- Despite (what) she said, I still think her work is worthless.

© Copyright Virtual University of Pakistan

Note:'In spite' takes 'of ' but 'despite' doesn't
(a) *In spite of the fact that he had resigned, he completed his assignment.
(b) Despite the fact that he smokes 5 cigarette packets a day, he seems healthy.

Compare although and in spite of / despite.

- Although it was raining since morning, all the school kids arrived on time.
- In spite of the traffic jam, the guest arrived on time.
- I couldn't sleep, although I was tired.
- I couldn't eat, despite being hungry.

(B) Sometimes though is used instead of although. This happens more often in spoken English with though coming at the end of a sentence.

- The dress isn't very nice, I like the color though.
-I meet her everyday. I've never spoken to her though.
Even though* is a more emphatic form of although.
- Even though I don't really like her, I must say she is honest.

Practice 4:

(A). Complete these sentences by using although and a phrase from the box.

It was quite chilly
She had been rude to them.
I had never seen my aunt.
He holds an important office
He had promised to be on time`

1. Although _____he is not paid well.
2. Although _____, I recognized her from a photograph.
3. She didn't wear a shawl, although _____
4. They decided to invite her to the function, although _____.
5. They were late, although _____.

Practice 4:

(B). Complete the following sentences with 'although' or 'in spite of'.

1. _____ all my careful plans, a lot of things went wrong.
2. _____we had planned everything very carefully, many things went wrong.
3. I love music, _____ I can't sing.
4. _____ being very tired, we worked till midnight.
5. All the air conditioners were working, but _____ this the room was pretty warm.

Practice 4:

(C). Using the words in the brackets make sentences with though at the end.

1. He's very nice. (Don't like / wife).
- He is very nice. _____.
2. Its very warm. (windy).
- Its very warm. _____.
3. We didn't like the pudding (ate).
- We didn't like the pudding. _____.

(5) Use of 'EVEN'
(A) Even is used to say that something is unusual or surprising .e.g.
- Her driving is not very good; e*ven* I could drive better.
- She always wears a shawl even in summer.

(B) Very often 'even' is used with the verb in the middle of a sentence.

- She always wears a watch. She even wears it in bed.
- He is very rich. He even has his own private plane.

Here are some examples with *not even:
- She has just climbed the ten flights of stairs and she is not even out of breath.
- They are a very unfriendly lot. They did not even say 'hi'.
- Nobody lent him money; not even his best friend.

(C) 'Even' is often used with the 'comparative form'.
- It was very cold yesterday, but today it's even colder.
- I got up at 5:00 but mother got up even earlier.
- I was surprised to get a call from her. I was even more surprised when she appeared at my door the next day.

(D) 'Even' is used with 'if ', 'when' and 'though'.
- I'll probably see you tomorrow. But *even if I don't, we're sure to see each other before the end of the week.
- She is never loud *even when she is angry.
- She has bought a pressure cooker, *even though she can't cook.

Practice 5:
Complete these sentence with even + a comparative
1. I bought a cheap umbrella, but the one Julie bought was ___ ____.
2. This house is two hundred years old, but the mosque next to it is ___ ____.
3. The restaurant is always crowded, but today its ____ _____ _____.

6. Use of As (Time) and As (Reason)
A) As (time) can be used to refer to two things happening together or over the same period of time:
- We watched her as she opened the parcel.

© Copyright Virtual University of Pakistan

- As we walked along the street we looked in the shop windows.
- Turn off the fan as you go out, please.

'As' is used especially for two short actions, happening at the same time.

-Hamid arrived as I left (he arrived & I left at the same).
Just as (= exactly at that moment) is also very commonly used.
- Hamid arrived just as I left.
- Just as I sat down, the phone rang.

As is also used when two changes happen over the same period of time
- As the day wore on, the weather got worse.
- I began to enjoy the work as I got used to it

B) As (time): You can use as to show one thing happening during another i.e. in the middle of doing something else. When 'as' is used in this way, both actions are usually quite short.

- The old woman slipped as she was getting off the bus.
- I burned my hands as I was taking the cake out of the oven.

The use of just as is also very common.
- Just as I was going out, the telephone rang.
- I had to leave just as the conversation was getting interesting.

Note: Do not use as if one action follows another. e.g.
- As I got home, I took a bath (wrong)
- When I got home I took a bath.

C) As (reason): meaning 'because'
- As I was feeling tired, I went to bed early. (Meaning because I was tired….)
- As they live near us, we meet quite often.
- As tomorrow is a national holiday, all the shops will be closed.

Practice 6:

Rewrite the following sentences showing one thing happens during another.

1. Saeed was climbing out of the window. He fell.
   Saeed fell _____
2. I was driving along the road. A cat ran in front of the car.
   A cat _____
3. She was getting out of the car. She dropped her keys.
   She _____

7. Use of Like and AS

A) Like means similar to/the same as for example:
- What a beautiful scene! Its' like a picture. (not as a picture)
- What does Saima do? She is a teacher like me. (not as me)

Like is a preposition, so it is followed by

(a) a noun: like a picture, like your job
(b) a pronoun: *like me, *like this
(c) – ing : *like walking, *like crying

- "What's that sound?" 'Sounds like crying'.

B) As is used before a subject + verb.
- Don't move anything. Leave everything as it is.

Compare like and as in the following sentences:

- You should've done it like this. (like & ProN)
- You should've done it as I showed you. (as + subj + v)

Note: You say as usual not like usual.
- You're late as usual.
  You're late like usual.

C) As + S + V can have other meanings.
- Do as you are told (Do what you are told)
- They did as they promised. (They did what they promised.)

You can also say as you know / as we expected / as I said.
- As you know it's my birthday today.
- She failed her driving test, as we expected.

We use as + N to say something really is / was especially when we talk about someone's job or how we use something.
- A few weeks ago he was working as a bus conductor.
- Asad has just found a job as a clerk.
- We don't have a car, so we use the garage as a store room.

We use like when we compare things.
- She is beautiful like a princess.
  (She really isn't a princess.)
- Everyone is sick in the college hostel. It is like a hospital. (It isn't really a hospital)

Practice 7:

3. You don't have to change. You can go out __ you are.
4. Arifa has been working _ a waitress for the last few weeks.

In today's lesson we looked at the order in which certain words occur. The words we looked at often pose problems for learners of English in their writing. I hope today's lesson clarified the use of these words.

Lesson -44

Articles and Their Use:

Now a days grammarians divide English words into two categories - major and minor. In the major category are words like nouns, verbs, adjectives and adverbs. These are sometimes called CONTENT words because they carry the main meaning in communication, e.g. they're the words that you would send in a telegram "Arriving PK 421 Sunday" "Send money broke"
In the minor category are determiners, pronouns, prepositions and conjunctions.

Minor words express or signal subtle shades of meaning, obvious information, or redundant grammatical information i.e. words that perform no particular function. Minor class words occur more frequently than members of the major classes. There are around 50 of these words and they are very common. All of these fifty words are function words; they make up about 60% of words that are used in speech and about 45% of those that are used in writing.

These minor words are like bricks that cement together the content words. For this reason minor words are also known as structure words.

(1) Determiners are a class of minor words. A determiner is a word which precedes or comes before nouns and adjectives e.g.
- The cat sat on my bag. (art, poss)
- I don't want any tea. (indef deter)
- Have you some yogurt? (indef deter)

Major / Content words – Noun, Verb, Adjective, Adverb
Minor / Function words – Determiners, Pronouns, Prepositions, Conjunctions

Determiners come before nouns & adjectives
- The cat sat on my bag. (art, poss)
- I don't want any tea. (indef deter)
- Have you some yogurt? (indef deter)

There are 5 main types of determiners.

(i) Articles: a, an, the
(ii) Demonstratives: this, that, these, those
(iii) Possessives: my, you, his, her, its, our, them
(iv) Quantifiers: some, any, all, enough, no, both, each, ever, few, much, more, most, fewer, less, either, neither
(v) Wh-determiners: what (ever) which (ever) whoever, whose
This party will be the /di/ social event of the week.

The reason why we are going to look at articles is that Pakistani learners of English make the most mistakes in the use of articles. They insert articles where they are not required and do not use them where they are required.

© Copyright Virtual University of Pakistan

In today's lesson we shall only examine articles, a subclass of determiners in detail. There are 2 articles in English, the definite 'the' and the indefinite, a / an. Articles are easily recognized and indicate that a noun follows, but sometimes nouns require no articles. While articles have a single function: they modify or the head noun in a noun phrase, their meaning is quite complex.

1. Forms Of The Articles:

Pronunciation: The spelling of the indefinite article 'a' and the pronunciation of both the definite and indefinite articles depend on the initial sound of the word that follows. Articles are normally not stressed, but may be stressed for the sake of emphasis.

The unstressed definite article is always written 'the' and is pronounced / / before consonants and / i/ before vowels. The indefinite article 'a' is pronounced / / before consonants and -/ n/- before vowels. e.g.

the girl, the pilot, the bridge the aunt, the egg, the octopus

a girl, a pilot, a bridge an apple, an octopus, an egg.

The stressed definite article / i/ is used to show excellence or superiority in some way e.g. - Is she the / i / Mrs. Butt?
- No. she's a Mrs. Butt, but not the famous one.
- This party will be the /di/ social event of the week.

2. Article Usage:

The general rules are:

(a). The definite article 'the' can be used with all kinds of nouns except most proper nouns.
sing. count nouns: the dog / child / train plural count nouns: the dogs / children / trains Sing. mass nouns: the silver / water

(b) The indefinite article 'a/ an' can normally only be used with singular count nouns: e.g. a ball / child / exams plural count nouns: (some) balls/children/ exams singular mass nouns: (some) silver/milk/ knowledge
For other nouns the zero article i.e. no article at all is used for indefinite meaning.

Look at the following table which summarizes the above rules.

	Definite meaning	Indefinite meaning
sing. count noun	the train	a train
pl. count noun	the trains	(some) trains

mass noun the silver (some) silver

3. Use of The Definite Article:

When we use the definite article 'the', it indicates that a hearer or reader can identify the thing referred to, or know what is being talked about. e.g.
I saw the film (reader/hearer knows which one)
But this is not the case when we use the indefinite article 'a' / 'an' e.g.
I saw a film (reader / hearer doesn't know which one).
If we want to express indefinite meaning of amount, etc., we use the indefinite article a (n) with sing. count nouns or plural count nouns. e.g.
- Would you like a soda?
- Do you like chocolate?
(zero indef. article with mass noun 'chocolate'

1. sing. count nouns: nouns showing 'one':
a girl, the chair,
2. plural count nouns:
nouns showing 'more than one': two girls, five chairs
3. mass nouns :
advertising, music, butter, evidence, etc.

There are 4 conditions in which definite meaning arises. We use the definite article for: (1) Referring – Back Use: When identity has been established by an earlier mention e.g.
- *Saba bought a TV and a video recorder, but she returned the video recorder (*second mention).

(2) Forward-Pointing Use: When identity is established by the post modification that follows the noun: e.g.
- Saba returned the view-recorder she bought yesterday.

(3) The Unique Use of 'The': When the object or group of objects or things is the only one that exists or has existed such as: the moon, the earth, the South Pole, the equator, the Moghals, the human race. This unique use of 'the' also occurs when the thing being referred to is understood to be unique in the context. e.g. the kitchen, the town-hall, the President, etc.

(4) Institutional Use of 'The': When reference is made to something that is shared by the community such as: the radio, the telephone, the papers e.g.
- What's in the paper(s) today?
Sometimes 'the' may be omitted in the institutional use.

The definite article 'the' has a Generic or Typical use when it refers to what is general or typical for a whole class of things. This use of 'the' is found with count. Nouns. e.g.
i) 'The' peacock is a beautiful bird.
Here 'the' indicates the class of birds, not one individual member of the class.
ii) Peacocks are beautiful birds. (General use of the plural indefinite form)
iii) A peacock is a beautiful bird.

© Copyright Virtual University of Pakistan

(generic use of the indefinite singular).

You will have noticed that sentence 1 expresses the same meaning as sentences 2 & 3. Now this means that when we are dealing with a whole class of things the difference between definite and indefinite, singular and plural are apt to lose their significance.
We can say the peacock (generic) refers to the species as a whole, while a peacock (generic) refers to any member of the species. We can say:
The peacock is in danger of becoming extinct
But not:
A peacock is in danger of becoming extinct.

Let us look at the use of the definite article with nouns. The following table illustrates the ways of expressing generic meaning.

Count Nouns	Mass Nouns
the peacock
a peacock	water
peacocks

5. Specific vs. Generic Meaning:
Another way of explaining the use of the definite article is to look at it from the specific vs. generic meaning. The following examples illustrate the use of the definite article with generic or typical meaning.
a) I like milk, Belgian glass, Burmese wood..
(concrete mass noun; no definite article)
b) I like music, Punjabi mystical poetry, contemporary art.
(abstract mass noun; def. article not used)
c) I like dogs, horses, oriental languages.
(definite article not used with plural nouns)

But see how the following nouns take the definite article.

Specific use	Generic use
a) Pass the butter please.	Butter is imported now a day.
b)The acting was poor but the music was super.	I simply love acting and music.
c) Before you visit Japan, you ought to learn the language.	Linguistics is the study of language.

Notice that in English, mass nouns and plural nouns are treated as generic and they do not take the definite article. When these nouns (mass & plural) are modified by an – of phrase the definite article is normally used, especially with abstract mass nouns.

The following table will make this clear.

1. Japanese history	the history of Japan
2. Pakistani society	the society of Pakistan
3. Early Moghal	the architecture of early Moghal period
4. Child behavior	the behavior of children

We find that with concrete mass nouns and plural nouns 'the' can be omitted as in -eighteenth century furniture (the) furniture of eighteenth century
-tropical birds (the) birds of the tropics

6. Adjectives & Group Nouns:
'The' is also used with adjectives to show:
i) a class of people: - the poor, the rich, the disabled, the wealthy, the handicapped
ii) to denote an abstract quality: the sublime, the ridiculous, the absurd.

'The' is also used with adjectives showing nationality especially those ending in 'ch' or 'sh' e.g.
-the Dutch, the English, the French, the Spanish
'The' is also used with group nouns like:
-the aristocracy, the public, the administration, the government which can be used with either a singular or a plural verb e.g.
- The audience is/are enjoying the music.
- The police never decide/decides in a hurry.

7. Some Common Nouns Without Article:
The following is a list of groups of common nouns without the article, which occur mainly in idiomatic expressions. These are given under column I. Under Column II are examples where the article is used:

Lesson -45

Language Forms and Functions

Knowing a language means being able to communicate one's ideas and opinions to others. A foreign learner of a language may know the linguistic rules of the language he is learning - in your case, English - but unless he or she learns to demonstrate or use this knowledge appropriately, the learner would not be considered fully competent in the language that he / she is learning. In today's lesson - which is the last lesson of this course - you shall learn about language forms & how they are used to perform functions.

What is a language function? A language function, to put it very simply, is something you want to do with language. The primary function of language is to give factual information and convey essential commands, feelings and emotions. Have you ever asked yourself the question what are people trying to do when they speak? The aims of speaking involve not only broad functions such as conveying information, expressing emotion, keeping in touch socially, and so on…, but also more specific purposes for which language can be used, such as

Utterance	Purpose
- Where the suitcase?	- to get information
- Open the window	- make someone do something.
- I'll pay you next week	- make a promise.

How many language functions there are, we do not know exactly. But we do know that there are some language functions that are regularly required for the purposes of normal everyday communication.

The following are some very common language functions.
1. Requesting information: to ask, question, request, inquire.
2. Giving information : to announce, describe, explain, instruct, to summarize...
3. Establishing contact / interpersonal relations: to greet, to welcome, to introduce, take leave, bid farewell, interrupt…
4. Responding to others' behavior / actions / statements: to apologize, deny, disagree, often, thank, etc...
5. Expressing emotions / inclinations: fear, happiness, shock, surprise, dislike, etc…
6. Influencing others' behavior / actions: to allow, blame, discourage, order, warn.
7. Judging / evaluating: to complain, compare, criticize, disapprove, praise, etc…

To be competent in a language, the learner should know how its speakers use the language in ways which cannot be predicted from linguistic rules alone. It means that the learner must be aware of the various devices / structures / forms used by native speakers and writers to knit their speech and writing into a comprehensible whole. This is done by using appropriate forms of the language.

If somebody expresses an opinion and you want to disagree with it, the first thought that will come into your mind is 'Disagree!'

The next thing you will do is to decide the language forms or structures that you will use to show your disagreement. i.e. you will decide what grammatical structures, what vocabulary items, what intonation patterns are to be used. There are a variety of forms to choose and use. A great deal depends on the situation and the person you are speaking to. For instance, if the other person is a good friend, you might say, 'Shut up! It's not true."

But if it was your boss or somebody of a higher rank or status than you, you might say. 'Excuse me, sir / madam; you may not be quite right there.'
So when you speak who you are speaking to, will influence the language you will use.
Look at the following example:
A part of a conversation is provided. You have to see what function is being performed by the language used by the speaker (i.e. the underlined words).

Saba: I think Junaid Jamshed is an awful singer.
Naila: Do you? I think he's marvelous.

When Naila says "I think he's marvelous," what language function is being carried out? Is she agreeing with Saba? Is she criticizing Junaid Jamshed? Or is she admiring him?
Because Naila's answer is 'I think he's marvelous' it means that she admires the singer. So we can say she is admiring him. If she was criticizing him she would not have used these words of admiration.

Now you shall have some practice, first in identifying or describing functions and second in identifying statements which illustrate the function required.

I. Identifying Functions:

Parts of conversation / sentences are provided. Choose from the four alternatives given the one which best describes the functions of the underlined part of the conversation.

The wolverine, a medium sized mammal weighing no more than 50 lbs., has earned its reputation for ferocity with its documented ability to kill prey many times its size. The reason why wolverines have so many conflicts with other animals (including wolves, cougars, and even bears) is probably because of the wolverine's preferred hunting style. Rather than chasing down or tricking its prey like most hunters, the wolverine prefers to take its meals directly from other hunters. So while a polar bear or a lone wolf might be enjoying a hard earned carcass, a hungry wolverine may try to take his lunch. This keeps the wolverine in plenty of fights.

Good luck, pray for me

22. How many kinds of irony are usually known?

Irony is found in everyday conversation as well as in writing. Irony is a figure of speech in which words are used in such a way that their intended meaning is different from the actual meaning of the words. It usually takes two forms situational and verbal.

- Situational irony occurs when the discrepancy lies in the situation itself. You expect something but something else happens. Or a situation calls for an expected response but something unexpected happens instead e.g. there is a house on fire and you expect the fire fighter to aim a water hose / pipe at the fire, but instead he aims a petrol pipe / hose. That would be very ironical.

- Verbal irony occurs when there is discrepancy between what is said and what is meant e.g. usually the exact opposite, or a near opposite of what is meant: an eager cricket player looks out of the window and sees that it is raining. "Oh, great!" he says, m earning exactly the opposite. Another example to illustrate this: After seeing a terrible performance by an actor in a movie someone might say "Now that's an actor who is sure to win the Best Actor Award for this year!" – Both examples illustrate verbal irony.

23. Define bad construction in a sentence with example.

Ans: A sentence using negative construction expresses bad news or the writer's dissatisfaction or unhappiness. "That is not a bad thing." This sentence uses negative construction to say something positive.
"I am not satisfied." This sentence uses negative construction, and fits within the criteria of the question.

24. Join the sentences/sentence fragments given below using cause and effect Conjunctions. Like:

30. What is meant by Brainstorming and clustering?

Ans: Brainstorming is a technique used to inspire creative thinking and develop ideas. In composition: brainstorming means to write down ideas freely. Brainstorming helps you explore connections between ideas. Clustering is a type of pre-writing that allows a writer to explore many ideas as soon as they occur to them.

31. Write three sentences of Indefinite articles.

Ans: Indefinite articles are a and an.

32. Write down types of articles?

Articles

What Are Articles?

Articles are words that define a noun as specific or unspecific. Consider the following examples:

Example After the long day, the cup of tea tasted particularly good.

By using the article the, we've shown that it was one specific day that was long and one specific cup of tea that tasted good.

Example After a long day, a cup of tea tastes particularly good.

By using the article a, we've created a general statement, implying that any cup of tea would taste good after any long day.

The Definite Article

The definite article is the word the. It limits the meaning of a noun to one particular thing. For example, your friend might ask, "Are you going to the party this weekend?" The definite article tells you that your friend is referring to a specific party that both of you know about. The definite article can be used with singular, plural, or uncountable nouns. Below are some examples of the definite article the used in context:

Example	Please give me the hammer.
Example	Please give me the red hammer; the blue one is too small.
Example	Please give me the nail.
Example	Please give me the large nail; it's the only one strong enough to hold this painting.
Example	Please give me the hammer and the nail.

The Indefinite Article

The indefinite article takes two forms. It's the word a when it precedes a word that begins with a consonant. It's the word an when it precedes a word that begins with a vowel. The indefinite article indicates that a noun refers to a general idea rather than a particular thing. For example, you might ask your friend, "Should I bring a gift to the party?" Your friend will understand that you are not asking about a specific type of gift or a specific item. "I am going to bring an apple pie," your friend tells you. Again, the indefinite article indicates that she is not talking about a specific apple pie. Your friend probably doesn't even have any pie yet. The indefinite article only appears with singular nouns. Consider the following examples of indefinite articles used in context:

Example	Please hand me a book; any book will do.
Example	Please hand me an autobiography; any autobiography will do.

33. Describe "content" word?

Ans: Content is defined as what is inside or included in something. An example of content is the words inside a book.

34. What are 5 Characteristic of Academic essay?

Ans: Characteristics of Academic Essays:

1. General concepts to particular and vice versa.
2. Gather combine description with analysis.
3. Relate ideas from printed source.
4. Consider various aspects of a problem.

35. Underline the Clichés words.

Ans: Cliches are over-use of words or phrase over phrase again.

36.Define Effective Sentences: Unity, Coherence, And Emphasis?

- By unity we mean that every part of a sentence/composition must contribute to one main unifying thought.
- By coherence we mean that the various parts of a sentence/composition must follow one another in an order which makes their relationship clear.
- By emphasis we mean that the most important parts of a sentence/composition must be so placed that attention is directed toward them rather than toward less important parts.

37. What are the five elements of a well-written paragraph?

I. A topic sentence
II. Supporting sentences
III. A concluding sentence
IV. Unity
V. Coherence

38. Prepare Parts of Speech?

Ans: https://youtu.be/7_QP2q8LvI0

39. Main Idea of Paragraph? (Most Important Topic)

40. Topic Sentence, Topic Paragraph, Supporting Details, etc…

Question No: 30 (Marks: 5)

Read the following passage carefully and summarize it avoiding repetition:

There is a fourth dimension to any garden that may often be overlooked. This is the dimension of fragrance, and although its appreciation is not new, it seems to have been cast aside to make room for texture, form and color. Fragrance is subjective, and opinions of it diverse, but it is unquestionable that the garden planted with scented flowers offers the added bonus of fragrance in addition to form and colour. It has been said that smell is the sense that is most memorable and that none of the other senses is more subtle in its suggestions or more reminiscent of a certain time. The purpose of a flower's fragrance is thought to be very attractive for nectar-feeding insects.

Question No: 13 (Marks: 3)

How many kinds of irony are usually known? Define.

There are two kinds of irony are usually known:

1...Situational irony occurs when the discrepancy lies in the situation itself. You expect something but something else happens. Or a situation calls for an expected response but something unexpected happens instead e.g. there is a house on fire and you expect the fire fighter to aim a water hose / pipe at the fire, but instead he aims a petrol pipe / hose. That would be very Ironical.

2...Verbal irony occurs when there is discrepancy between what is said and what is meant. e.g. Usually the exact opposite, or a near opposite, is what is meant: an eager cricket player looks out of the window and sees that it is raining.
"Oh, great!" he says, meaning exactly the opposite. Another example to illustrate this: After seeing a terrible performance by an actor in a movie someone might say "Now that's an actor who is sure to win the Best Actor Award for this year!" – Both e.gs. Illustrate verbal irony.

Question No: 29 (Marks: 5)

Express your views on the given topic in paragraph form. It should comprise of 100-130 words.

The Pen is Mightier than the Sword.

Question No: 30 (Marks: 5)

Read the following passage carefully and summarize it avoiding repetition:

There is a fourth dimension to any garden that may often be overlooked. This is the dimension of fragrance, and although its appreciation is not new, it seems to have been cast aside to make room for texture, form and color. Fragrance is subjective, and opinions of it diverse, but it is unquestionable that the garden planted with scented flowers offers the added bonus of fragrance in addition to form and colour. It has been said that smell is the sense that is most memorable and that none of the other senses is more subtle in its suggestions or more reminiscent of a certain time. The purpose of a flower's fragrance is thought to be very attractive for nectar-feeding insects.

ENG101 – SHORT DEFINITIONS QUESTION AND ANSWER

1) Define choppy sentence

Choppy sentences are too short sentences which come together. Words are repeated. They are tedious and hard to understand. e.g.

Choppy: Vegetables taste good. Vegetables are easy to prepare. Vegetables are good for health.
Revised: Vegetables taste good and are easy to prepare, and they are good for health.

2) Purpose statement

The purpose statement is a statement that evolves the overall direction or focus for the study. Purpose statements are developed for both quantitative and qualitative studies.

A purpose statement is a declarative statement that summarizes a research project's main goal or goals.

A purpose statement provides some guidance in establishing a research question and serves as an introduction to the resultant paper or dissertation chapter.

3) Define visual aids and bibliography

Visual Aid: An instructional device (such as a chart, map, or model) that appeal chiefly to vision; especially, an educational motion picture or filmstrip.

Charts, pictures or images that help to make a point or enhance a presentation.

Bibliography: A bibliography is a list of works (such as books and articles) written on a particular subject or by a particular author.

Adjective: bibliographic.

A bibliography may appear at the end of a book, report, online presentation, or research paper.

4) Punctuation sentence

Punctuation is the name of the marks used in writing. They are very essential signs to understand a sentence in correct way. They represent the expression and feeling in a sentence. Punctuation is used to bring clarity and meaning to writing.

5) Define modifier

A modifier is a word, phrase, or clause which functions as an adjective or an adverb to describe a word or make its meaning more specific.

Modifier is, quite simply, any word or group of words that modifies (describes or elaborates upon) another element in a sentence.

Modifiers can either be adjectives, which modify nouns (or sometimes pronouns), or adverbs, which modify pretty much everything else (usually verbs, adjectives, and other adverbs).

6) Vague language definition

Vague language is defined as words or phrases “which deliberately refer to people and things in a non-specific, imprecise, rough way”.

Vague language is confined to the lexical level as they regard vague language as imprecise words or phrases.

7) Comma splice

Comma splice is two or more independent clauses joined solely by a comma.

A comma splice occurs when you use a comma to join two complete sentences without placing an appropriate joining word between them.

The comma just isn’t strong enough to do the job of making one grammatical sentence out of two.

8) Parts of proposals

Following are the Parts of Proposals,

Title Page
Abstract
Table of Contents
Introduction
Background
Description of Proposed Research
Description of Relevant Institutional Resources
List of References Personnel
Budget

9) Feasibility reports and its criteria

A feasibility report is a testimony that attempts to create some sort of action.
Feasibility reports are created to persuade / help the decision makers to choose between available options.
A feasibility study is a way to evaluate the practicality and desirability of a project.

Important Features of a Basic Feasibility Report

Introduction, Criteria / Constraints, Method, Overview of Alternative Options, Evaluation, Conclusions and Recommendations

Criteria

What to consider in your feasibility study/report.
Will your plan or course of action really do what is desired?
What will it take to implement your course of action?
Cost of implementation.
Is your idea/product desirable?
Method
Revision Checklist

10) Sentence fragments

A sentence fragment is a group of words that resembles a sentence. It will start with a capital letter and have ending punctuation; however, it is neither an independent clause nor a complete idea.

11) Unity of paragraph

Paragraph unity is the most important characteristic of a good paragraph.

It defines that all sentences in a paragraph should speak about one single idea or one main subject.

That is, the topic sentence, the supporting details, and the concluding sentence should focus on only one idea.

Further, paragraphs should also be coherent.

12) Preposition

A preposition is a part of speech that shows the relation of a noun or pronoun to another word.

13) Organization method of essay

An organized essay is clear, focused, logical and effective. There are four types of Organization method of essay:

Exploratory
Compare-and-Contrast Expository
Descriptive

14) Transition words

Transition words give coherence to your paragraph.
Transition words are words that help connect or link ideas, phrases, sentences, or paragraphs.
These words help the reader smoothly through ideas by creating a bridge between them.

15) Types of Run on sentences

A run-on sentence is a sentence that is made up of two complete thoughts that have no clear break between them.

There are two kinds of run-on sentences:

(i) Fused sentences

Two or more sentences that run together with no marks of punctuation between them are said to be fused.

A fused sentence occurs when two independent clauses are connected without any punctuation.

(ii) Comma splice sentences

A comma splice occurs when two independent clauses are joined with a comma

16) Phrase definition

A group of words that do not use a subject or a predicate to communicate a thought and is used as part of a clause.

A phrase is used as a mode of expression and is always incomplete on its own.

17) How to develop writing skills

To improve your writing skills, focus on using strong words that are clear, precise, and descriptive.

Then, cut out extra words and phrases that clutter your sentences and confuse the reader.

When telling a story, use your words to show the reader what you're trying to convey, instead of explaining things in excessive detail.

18) Name 5 countries where English is used as 1st language

USA
UK Australia
New Zealand
Bahamas
Barbados
Dominica
Jamaica

19) What is the aim of the French Academy?

The purpose of the French Academy was to maintain standards of literary taste and to establish the literary language.

20) Comma splice error

Comma splice is an error that is commonly made in the process of writing, where two independent clauses are joined by the use of a comma, without the use of any conjunction or another type of punctuation such as a semicolon or a period (full stop).

21) Preposition

thus	because	because of	consequently since	result	therefore	accordingly
as a result	so	if…then

22) Paragraph

A distinct portion of written or printed matter dealing with a particular idea, usually beginning with an indentation on a new line.

23) Run On Sentence
Contrary to popular belief, a run-on sentence is not a sentence that simply goes on too long. A run-on sentence is a sentence where two different ideas are in a sentence, but there is no punctuation or conjunction to separate them.

The following is an example of a run-on sentence:

I went to the store I bought some milk.

Notice that there are two different clauses in this sentence: "I went to the store" and "I bought some milk." We need to add something between these two clauses to make clearer where one ends and the other begins.

In this sentence, we have two options for correcting the run-on:

1. I went to the store. I bought some milk
2. I went to the store, and I bought some milk

We can choose to separate these two clauses into two separate sentences, or we can add a comma and a conjunction (in this case, "and").

24) Fragment sentence
A sentence fragment occurs when a sentence is missing one of the key parts necessary for it to be a complete sentence. Typically, a fragment lacks a subject-verb relationship. For example,

During the night

Notice that this clause locates something in time/space, but doesn't tell us what is happening.

25) Define transition signals and make two sentences or phrases as example of transition signals
Transition signals are connecting words or phrases that strengthen the internal cohesion of your writing. Transition signals act like bridges between parts of your writing. They link your sentences and paragraphs together smoothly so that they flow and there are no abrupt jumps or breaks between ideas.

26) Explain base form of verb with examples
The "base form" of a verb is the same as the infinitive form (e.g., to do, to see, to excel, to pass, to test, etc.)

27) Role of "coherence" in effective sentence
If something has coherence, its parts are well-connected and all heading in the same direction. Without coherence, a discussion may not make sense or may be difficult for the audience to follow. It’s an extremely important quality of formal writing.

28) Birds eye view
A general view

29) Pedestrian view
A physical view

Write down the emphasis Essay Topic of three basic factors?

In this discussion of art history, we give special emphasis to three basic factors.

First, the background: the religious, social, and economic conditions that make art possible in any period.

Second, the foreground: the work of art itself, its style and its variation form other styles.

www.vuanswer.com

Third, the contribution of the individual artist reveals his inspirations and the extent of his gift.

Write down the essay of two wrong ways?

There are two wrong ideas we must guard against.

First, art history is not a development from primitive beginnings in the past to final perfection in our own period. Styles change but artistic quality is more constant.

Second, often one style of art is the characteristic expression of one period. It is useless to attempt any evaluation between styles that have little in common.

Short Notes Lecture (23-45)

Question: What is the difference between the abbreviation i.e., and e.g.

Answer: The abbreviation i.e. (i.e., that is) is often confused with other abbreviations (e.g., e.g.). The i.e. generally is used to introduce matter that is explanatory as opposed to being the name of an example or list of examples. If you can say for example as a substitute for the abbreviation, you want to use e.g., not i.e. Do not italicize or underline these abbreviations.

Question: What is the difference between abbreviations and acronyms.

Answer: There is a difference between acronyms and abbreviations. An acronym is usually formed by taking the first initials of a phrase or compounded-word and using those initials to form a word that stands for something. Thus NATO, which we pronounce NATOH, is an acronym for North Atlantic Treaty Organization, and LASER (which we pronounce "lazer"), is an acronym for Light Amplification by Stimulated Emission of Radiation. FBI, then, is not really an acronym for the Federal Bureau of Investigation; it is an abbreviation. AIDS is an acronym; HIV is an abbreviation. URL is an abbreviation for Uniform Resource Locator (World Wide Web address), but many people pronounce it as "Earl," making it a true acronym, and others insist on pronouncing it as three separate letters, "U * R * L," thus making it an abbreviation.
