Body experiences adrenal exhaustion,

Lesser stress tolerance

And becomes susceptible to disease, collapse, even death

Topic 213 Levels of stress

Stress can be both positive and negative.

It is our response to stress—how we manage stress—that makes a difference in terms of how it affects us.

EUSTRESS

Good stress resulting from pleasant events or conditions

nature: curative

- positive cognitive response to stress that is healthy
- gives positive feeling of fulfillment

MUHAMMAD IMRAN

significantly positive correlation with life satisfaction and hope

DISTRESS

Stress resulting from unpleasant events or conditions

Bad stress

If a stimulus we react to is negative, we are actually feeling "distress" though we label it as stress. e. g. death of a close friend

Acute stress

Resulting from specific events or situations that involve novelty, a threat to ego, unpredictability, and leave us with a poor sense of control

Chronic stress

It is a prolonged stress that exists for weeks, months, or even years – due to poverty, broken families

Topic 214 Potential stressors 1

Factors that cause stress are called "Stressors"

ORGANIZATIONAL LEVEL STRESSORS

Organisational Climate: A high pressure environment which places chronic work demands on employees fuels the stress response

Organisational Structure defines the levels of hierarchy, the degree of rules and regulations and where decisions are made.

Excessive rules and lack of participation in decisions are examples of structural variables that might be potential stressors

Organisational Leadership represents the managerial style of the organisation's senior executives

Some chief executive officers create a culture characterised by tension, fear and anxiety

Organisational Changes when changes occur, people have to adapt to those changes and this may cause stress

Occupational Demands some jobs are more stressful than others

- be enthusiastic and offer ideas
- arrive early and take few days off
- well-motivated workers assist in achieving obj.

Topic 170 Motivation at Work place

- managers are always looking for ways to create motivational environment facilitating workers to work at their optimal levels to accomplish company objectives
- workplace motivators include both monetary and non-monetary rewards

Monetary Rewards

- reward workers for excellent performance through money
- include increase in pay, profit sharing, bonuses, staff discounts, company shares, etc.
- these have traditionally helped maintain a positive environment for staffs (Kepner, 2001).

Non Monetary rewards

Reward works for excellent performance through opportunities

Include flexible work hours, training, vocation, pleasant work environment, car, free health care, etc.

Topic 171 The Essence of Motivation

- We are all extremely complex individuals.
- Still through the core of each one of us runs one single universal motivator
- We are all striving for one thing that is to feel good.
- yet, there are many factors that get in the way of us feeling good
- even more factors that make us feel bad
- so, we are actually trying to do two things:

① feel good

② avoid feeling bad

- this is known as "Pleasure/ Pain Principle"
- we continually aim to feel pleasure and avoid pain/ discomfort/ unpleasantness
- what we link pleasure to, and what we associate with pain, shape our whole life
- everything that we do is driven by these two deep-seated drives

Topic 172 Herzberg's Motivation Theory 1

Herzberg's Motivators and Hygiene Factors

- in the 1950s and 60s, psychologist Fredrick Herzberg researched to determine the effect of attitude on motivation
- he asked people to describe situations where they felt really good, and really bad, about their jobs
- he found that people who felt good about their jobs gave very different responses from the people who felt bad.
- these results form the basis of Herzberg's Motivation-Hygiene Theory (sometimes known as Herzberg's Two Factor Theory)

- identification of likely opportunities and/or problems, and action

Budgetary Control

- the essence: comparing budgeted figures with performance
- • If performance is below the budgeted figure, it is known as a negative variance
- • If performance exceeds budgeted figure, it is known as a positive variance

EXAMPLE

- a negative variance in expenditure matched by a positive variance in production is a sign to Monitoring Authority that cost control measures are being efficiently implemented

Topic 199 Conflict management

What is Conflict Management?

The process of limiting the negative aspects of conflict while increasing the positive aspects of conflict

- Aims to improve group outcomes, including performance in organizational setting (Rahim, 2002)

What is Conflict?

"A situation that arises when one party perceives that another party has negatively affected, or is about to negatively affect, something that the first party cares about"

- Can also originate from past rivalries and personality differences
- A disagreement in which parties involved perceive a threat to their needs, interests, concerns or interpretations.

Two main forms:

- Substantive conflict dissent over goals, resources, rewards, policies, procedures, and job assignments.
- Emotional conflict feelings of anger, distrust, dislike, fear and resentment, as well as relationship proble

Topic 200 Understanding Conflict 1

- A conflict is more than a mere disagreement - it is a situation in which people perceive a threat (physical, emotional, power, status, belief system, etc.) to their well-being.
- As such, it is a meaningful experience in people's lives, and not to be taken lightly
- As in any problem, conflicts contain substantive, procedural, and psychological dimensions to be negotiated
- In order to best understand the threat perceived by those engaged in a conflict, we need to consider all of these dimensions
- Participants' response is likely to be based on their perceptions of the situation, rather than an objective review of it
- People filter their perceptions, and reactions, through their values, culture, beliefs, information, gender, experience, and other such variables

Dysfunctional Conflict

By comparison, acts as a barrier to the performance of the group and frustrates the objectives of the org.

- Conflicts may lead to work sabotage, morale problems, and consequent loss of productivity
- In a conflict situation people may promote their self-interests at the cost of others in the organization
- Intense conflicts over a prolonged period affect individuals emotionally and physically and give rise to psychosomatic disorders
- Conflicts affect individual and organizational performance; resolving conflicts consumes a considerable amount of managerial time and energy which could be spent more productively in the absence of conflicts

Differentiate functional from dysfunctional conflict

- Task conflict relates to the content and goals of the work – functional Relationship conflict focuses on interpersonal relationship-dysfunctional
- Process conflict relates to how the work gets done - functional

opic 207 Types of Conflict

Interpersonal conflict refers to a conflict between two individuals.

- Varied personalities may result in incompatible choices and opinions.
- A natural occurrence, can eventually help in personal growth or developing relations with others.

Intrapersonal conflict

Occurs within an individual - the experience takes place in the person's mind

- Psychological, involves individual's thoughts, values, principles and emotions.
- Inability to read inner struggles can make it quite difficult to handle

Intragroup conflict

Happens among individuals within a team

- Cause: incompatibilities and misunderstandings among these entities
- Within a team, can be helpful in coming up with decisions which will eventually allow them to reach their objectives as a team

Intergroup conflict

When misunderstanding arises among different teams within an org.

- Due to the varied sets of goals and interests of these different groups
- Or a rivalry in resources
- Or the boundaries set by a group to others which establishes their own identity as a team

Topic 208 Sources of Conflict

Daniel Katz (1965), identified three sources

1. Economic conflict involves competing motives to attain scarce resources
   - each party wants to get the most that it can
   - behavior and emotions of each party is directed toward maximizing its gain
2. Value conflict involves incompatibility in ideologies - the preferences, principles and practices that people believe in
3. Power conflict when each party wishes to maintain or maximize the amount of influence that it exerts in the relationship

   Most conflicts are not of a pure type, but involve a mixture of sources; e.g. :

   Union-management conflict typically involves economic competition, but may also take the form of a power struggle and often involves different political values

Topic 209 Conflict Management Techniques 1

Forcing also known as competing.

- An individual firmly pursues own concerns despite the resistance of the other person
- May involve pushing one viewpoint at the expense of another or maintaining firm resistance to another in the problem situation they may not have the necessary information or knowledge to help make decision.

Placing too little emphasis on the information you receive from others

Members of team are most closely involved in a problem situation and have the most pertinent info in relation to the problem--- solution: involve team members in the decision making process.

Ignoring your intuition

On many occasions we are actually aware at a subconscious level of the correct course of action. Unfortunately, we often tend to ignore our intuition. Intuition is useful in non-standard situations and in expedient decision making.

Topic 247 Total Quality Management

What is quality?

"Meeting and exceeding the implied and stated needs of the customer"

Who is a customer?

(Also called client) is the recipient of a good, service, product, or idea, obtained from a seller, or supplier for monetary or other consideration of value

- external customer: the end user
- internal customer: other divisions of the company that receive the processed product

Customer satisfaction?

A measure of how products and services supplied by a company meet or surpass customer expectations

What is TQM?

- The integration of all functions and processes within an organization in order to achieve continuous improvement of the quality of goods and services
- A preventive culture to get things done right the first time

Total

- Made up of the whole

Quality

- Degree of excellence a product/ service provides

Management

- Act, art or manner of planning, controlling, and directing

TQM is the art of managing the whole (org) to achieve excellence

Topic 248 Absolutes of Quality

Philip Crosby - Quality is Free (1979)

- Quality is defined as conformance to requirements, not "goodness"
- The system for achieving quality is prevention, not appraisal

Philip Crosby - Quality is Free (1979)

- The performance standard is zero defects, not "that's close enough"
- The measurement of quality is the price of non-conformance, not indexes

The Framework of TQM

- Everyone in the organization must be committed to quality
- Relationships are changed within the organization
- Departments become customers of and suppliers to other departments – internal customers

7:01 20% mont 1 of 1

- Can often be worrisome – it may not match our personal and professional goals, and there is a chance that we may not be successful

Topic 223 Kotter's Model of Change

John Kotter (1996) has outlined an eight-step model for effective change efforts

- Steps 1–4 help unfreeze the status quo
- Steps 5–6 introduce new practices, and
- Steps 7–8 ground the changes in a new culture to ensure sustainability
