MGMT623 Quiz 2 File by Tanveer Online Academy

A condition in which availability of each alternative with its potential payoffs and costs are associated with risks is called:	Decision making under risk
Which of the following are characteristics of traditional organizations?	All of the given options
A team leader's job is to focus on two priorities: managing the team's external boundary and;	Facilitating the team process.
Introduction of new software in the organization due to sudden changes in technology is an example of:	Non-programmed decision
After which stage of development, is there a relatively clear hierarchy of leadership within a group?	Storming stage
Which of the following are the decision making approaches?	All of the given options
Which of the following encourages flexibility and decentralizes decision making?	Organic structure
Which of the following problem solving technique is used in situations where group members are unable to meet face to face?	Delphi technique
The use of written rules and procedures to standardize operations is known as:	Formalization
Which of the following factors affect teams?	All of the given options
What is presenting opinions and gaining agreement to support a decision called?	Consensus
The anxiety or tension a person experiences in oral, written, or in both types of communication is called:	Apprehension
When the group energy is focused on the task at hand, the group has moved to which of the following stages?	Performing
You could possibly create and encourage exemplary followers in the organization by doing the following EXCPET:	NEVER Mentor followers who hope to assume larger leadership roles

You could possibly create and encourage exemplary followers in the organization by doing the following EXCEPT:	Never trust your followers
The leadership traits that influence leadership process are the following except:	Low emotional intelligence
Leaders must be:	Proactive rather than reactive
What type of leaders make their group members understand the need for change both emotionally and intellectually?	Transformational leaders
Which of the following is Not likely to be an adverse consequence of psychological empowerment?	Higher costs for selection and training of competent employees
Effective Leaders build and maintain position power and _____ to exercise downward, upward, and lateral influence.	Personal Power
Which of the following activities is NOT required as part of the employee empowerment process?	Assignment of responsibility
The decision procedure that empowers a subordinate the most is:	Joint decision-making
The means by which communication passes is called:	A medium
Which one of the following is not one of the influence tactics?	Control
Which of the following is an approach to leadership development that begins with caring for and helping others?	Servant leadership
A manager should Not delegate tasks that are:	Central to the manager's role
Which of the following is the first management function?	Planning
Which of the following power is exhibited by Mr. Ali when he demotes one of his subordinates because of her non-compliance with office rules?	Coercive power
According to the Managerial Grid, managers perform best using which of the following styles?	9.9
Fiedler considers the LPC to be a _____ that people _____.	Stable characteristic; cannot change
The emotional or feeling part of an attitude is called its _____ component.	Affective
Hersey and Blanchard propose that leader should adopt telling style if the follower is _____ to accomplish a task.	Unable but willing
Which of the following is the situational criteria identified in the Fiedler model?	Leader-member relations, task structure, and position power

A leader who performs activities such as assigning specific tasks, specifying procedures to be followed, scheduling work and clarifying expectations of team members is exhibiting which of the following dimension of leadership defined by Ohio state group?	Initiating structure
Which of the following holds TRUE as the organization increases in its size?	Increased formalization
Which of the following power is based on leaders' expertise, specialized skills, or knowledge?	Expert power
The desire to reduce cognitive dissonance is determined by:	Both of the given
Organization at the growth stage of its life cycle is known to have _____ structure.	Bureaucratic
Asma went for an interview where she was asked to fill a survey. The survey results showed that she is caring, extroverted and hardworking. These characteristics of Asma indicate her____.	Personality
Which of the following power is used for personal gain?	Personal power
According to Theory-Y, which of the following needs are assumed to be dominated in individual's behavior?	Maslow's higher-order needs
Mr. Ali is an employee of ABC company. He is a very innovative worker, always fulfills his responsibilities and can exercise self-direction very well. His behavior falls under which one of the following theories?	Theory Y
A statement about the purpose of an organization, which sets out an organization's future, is referred to as:	Mission.
What type of leaders make their group members understand the need for change both emotionally and intellectually?	Transformational leaders
Which leadership style is represented by a leader placed at 9,1 on the grid developed by Blake and Mouton?
Fiedler proposed that a leader's style was one of two types:	Concern for people and concern for production
The concept of reward in exchange of task completion is part of which theory of leadership?	Transactional leadership
Ahmed said to his subordinates, "I know that availing all your vacations is important. But if with extra effort, we get this contract that will make us envy of the industry." Ahmed is which of the following leader?	Transformational leader
According to the Myers-Briggs Type Indicator, individuals belonging to the _____ type are flexible and spontaneous.	Perceiving
Cognitive Dissonance Theory explains the connection between _____.	Attitudes and behaviour
Which of the following power is used to create motivation and to accomplish group goals?	Social power

Which of the following is the characteristic of high self-monitors?	Team player
The desire to reduce cognitive dissonance is determined by:	Both of the given
Which of the following cultures is best known to have friendly relations between employees and other organizational stakeholders?	Collaboration culture
Usman was given a training to become a transformational leader. He was trained to provide a vision and inculcate confidence in his followers. Based on that training, what else should he do?	Establish a personal relationship with followers.
Which of the following is not true about charismatic leaders?	They exhibit behaviors that are consistent with their followers' behaviors
Which of the following statements rightly explains personality?	Hereditary factors have great influence in shaping a personality
Which of the following is a personality assessment test where respondents are classified as extraverted or introverted, sensing or intuitive, thinking or feeling, and judging or perceiving.	Myers-Briggs Type Indicator
Which of the following is the characteristic of low self-monitors?	Consistent
According to Warren Bennis which of the following is not a core competency of a great leader?	Intelligence
How would someone who is described as an ESTJ on the Myers-Briggs Type Indicator best be described?	As an organizer
In the behavioral studies, group members' satisfaction levels were generally ?	Higher under a democratic leader than under an autocratic one.
Which of the following is not true about charismatic leaders?	They exhibit behaviors that are consistent with their followers' behaviors
Which of the following is the process by which individuals organize and interpret their sensory impressions in order to give meaning to their environment?	Perception
According to path-goal theory, a leader's behavior is acceptable to group members to the degree that they view it as an immediate,	Source of satisfaction or as a means of future satisfaction
The two dominant contemporary theories of leadership focus predominantly on _____.	Transformational and transactional leaders
Which of the following term describes basic convictions that "a specific mode of conduct or end state of existence is personally or socially preferable to an opposite mode of conduct"?	Values
Ayesha is an effective leader as she is able to use different behaviors in different situations to motivate her followers and accomplish the tasks. Ayesha is exhibiting which leadership approach?	Contingency approach

In organizations, when there is a perceived need for change, charismatic leaders are often successful by:	Articulating a new vision.
Which of the following leadership style results in lower turnover rates, higher productivity and higher employee satisfaction?	Transformational leader
According to the Myers-Briggs Type Indicator (MBTI) classification, people belonging to which of the following types are practical and focus on details?	Sensing
All of the following are considered the required elements of charismatic leadership, Except:	The organization
Mr. Bilal is an employee of XYZ company. He does not like to carry out his work duties, postpones them as much as possible without any valid reason, and seeks to avoid any sort of responsibility. Usually, his supervisor has to force him to complete his assigned tasks. His behavior falls under which one of the following theories?	Theory X
Mr. Ali is an employee of ABC company. He has an emotional connection with his organization and therefore, it is his desire to remain in and continue working with ABC company. Which of the following forms of commitment does Mr. Ali have with ABC company?	Affective Commitment
What does the Meyers-Briggs Type Indicator classification of "E or I" stand for?	Extroverted/introverted
Which of the following best describes an employee's identification with a particular organization and its goals?	Organizational commitment
Which of the following statements about personality is correct?	Personality is an aggregate whole
Which of the following leadership approaches identifies behaviors that can differentiate a leader from a non-leader?	Behavioral
Which of the following are two dimensions of leadership behavior identified by the University of Michigan studies?	Initiating structure and consideration
According to path-goal theory which of the following leaders consult with group members to gather their suggestions and then takes these suggestions seriously when making a decision?	Participative
If a leader has more concerns about the satisfaction of his followers and wanted to earn their loyalty, he should follow which of the following leadership styles?	Consideration
People _____ can behave differently in different situations and have a strong ability to adjust their behavior to external, situational factors.	High on self-monitoring
If the follower is both unable and unwilling to accomplish a task then according to Hersey and Blanchard the leader should adopt:	Telling style.
According to Fiedler, an individual's leadership style is,	Fixed
All of the following are the major determinants of personality EXCEPT:	Values

According to Ohio State studies, the extent to which a leader's behavior is directed towards getting a job done is called _____.	Initiating structure
Leader behavior characterized as high on initiating structure leads to _____ rates of grievances, absenteeism, and turnover.	Greater
Which of the following terms refers to biological characteristics that are inherited by a person?	Heredity
Asma is talkative, open, and enjoys working in groups. Her personality type is:	Extrovert
All of the following explain attributes of trait theory EXCEPT:	It considers traits in the context of organizational/situational variables.
Which of the following is NOT the quality of a person having type" A "personality?	More relaxed
Which type of leadership focuses on rewards in exchange for motivation, productivity and effective task accomplishment?	Transactional
According to path-goal theory which of the following leaders display concern for group members' well being and create emotionally supportive environment?	Supportive

Which of the following factor(s) is/are most likely to reduce organizational motivation? All of the given options

Which of the following is not a barrier to effective communication? Silence

After which stage of development does a group form a common set of expectations of members' behavior? Storming

Which of the following approaches treats motivation as a function of use of goals and rewards by managers? Managerial approach

Which of the following is called an informal communication network? Grapevine

The anxiety or tension a person experience in oral, written, or in both types of communication is called: Apprehension

Which of the following approaches treats motivation as a function of work environment? Individual differences approach

Maslow's hierarchy of needs arranges those needs in which of the following orders? Physiological, safety, social, esteem, and self-actualization

Which of the following stage is completed when members begin thinking of themselves as part of a group? Forming

Which type of communication takes place among members of work groups at the same level? Lateral

The means by which communication passes is called: A medium

The phenomenon of manipulating information so that it will be seen more favorably by the receiver is called: Filtering information

In Maslow's hierarchy of needs, what is the term used for the drive to become what one is capable of becoming? Self-actualization

The well-known theory of motivation is Abraham Maslow's _____. Hierarchy of Needs _____ treats motivation as a characteristic of the individual. Individual differences approach

In the communication process, which one of the following steps occurs first? Encoding

Which of the following are basic approaches to motivation? All of the given options

Maslow's hierarchy has five levels of needs. Which of the following is Not one of those levels? Animal needs

Performance is a function of which of the following elements? Ability, Skills and Knowledge

Variables that influence the language a person uses include all of the following Except: Cultural background

In which of the following stage, high levels of task performance are not the group's top priority? Adjourning

Receivers in communication see and hear based on their needs, motivations, experience, background, and other personal characteristics. This phenomenon is called: Selective perception

What are the five stages of group development? Forming, storming, norming, performing, adjourning