MGMT628- Organizational Development

In under organized organizations which of the following factors is not present?

► Too little constraint or regulation for effective task performance ► Communication is fragmented
► Job responsibilities are ambiguous ► Conflicts are avoided

pg#37
Communication between management and employees is typically suppressed, conflicts are avoided, and employees are apathetic. In under organized organizations, on the other hand, there is too little constraint or regulation for effective task performance.
Leadership, structure, job design, and policy are poorly defined and fail to control task behaviors effectively.

Communication is fragmented, job responsibilities are ambiguous, and employees' energies are dissipated because they lack direction.
