Question No: 27 (Marks: 5)

Write a note on minutes of formal meetings.

Ans:

Minutes of meetings that follow parliamentary procedure are somewhat different in form from the informal minutes illustrated here. Formal minutes do not include discussions. Only motions, resolutions, committee assignments and reports, and other specific accomplishments are included. Topical headings are used for easy reference and how the recorder has briefly summarized a speaker's remarks. Note, too, that motions should be worded specifically followed by the name of the person who made the motion and the name of the seconded.

Resolutions to express sympathy, appreciation, congratulations, and the like are often passed at formal meetings.

The paragraphs giving the reasons for the resolution are introduced by the word WHEREAS (followed by a comma) and that the paragraphs stating the action to be taken are introduced by the word RESOLVED (also followed by a comma).

Question No: 28 (Marks: 5)

What are the advantages of 'electronic media' in the new business world and how does it help in effective communication?

Ans:

Advantage of electronic Media

Communicating is a key requirement for any successful business and everyone trying to develop a striving career. But communication is not as simple as speaking a few words. In business, you need to consider carefully how to communicate to your target audience.

electronic media such as email into this category. The key advantage of written communication is that you have a written record of what was communicated, when and to whom. It does not leave any doubt about what was agreed and therefore forms the basis of organizational communication.

Electronic media (or storage devices) are of different types based on technique used for storing information. e.g. Flash memory based, Optical Storage (DVD, CD) or more traditional magnetic storage devices (floppy discs/storage tapes/hard disks)

There is many ways of electronic communication but email offers speed, low cost, increased access to other employees, portability, and convenience (not just overcoming time-zone problems but carrying a message to many receivers in one time). It's best for communicating brief, noncomplex information that is time sensitive, but its effectiveness depends on user skill. Because the turnaround time can be quite fast, email tends to be more conversational than traditional paper-based media.

Question No: 29 (Marks: 5)

In
extemporaneous method of oral presentation how does the presenter conduct his presentation? Ans:

Presentation

This action of communication in which one speaker is doing most of the sending and a number of listeners are doing most of the receiving is known as oral presentation

Extemporaneous of oral presentation

In this method the delivery is very carefully planned and practiced and speaker, makes a presentation with the help of an outline, note cards, or visual aid. It is very popular and effective method of delivering a speech. In this way the speaker can glance at his notes, keep eye contact and speak in a natural, conversational tone.

Reading In this method the whole presentation is read aloud. It helps a speaker when the presentation has technical or complex topic. If you choose to read your speech, practice enough so that you can still have eye contact with your audience, otherwise, your speech may become boring.

For reading, some speakers use a page style similar to a TV script, leaving a left margin of about one-third of the page. In that wide margin are pronunciation aids or suggestions as to where to look in an audience.

Question No: 30 (Marks: 5)

Answer:

Extemporaneous

This method of delivery is very carefully planned and practiced. In it, the speaker, makes a presentation with the help of an outline, note cards, or visual aid. It is very popular and effective method of delivering a speech. In this way the speaker can glance at his notes, keep eye contact and speak in a natural, conversational tone. Reading In this method the whole presentation is read aloud. It helps a speaker when the presentation has technical or complex topic. If you choose to read your speech, practice enough so that you can still have eye contact with your audience, otherwise, your speech may become boring. For reading, some speakers use a page style similar to a TV script, leaving a left margin of about one-third of the page. In that wide margin are pronunciation aids or suggestions as to where to look in an audience.

Advantage of electronic Media

Communicating is a key requirement for any successful business and everyone trying to develop a thriving career. But communication is not as simple as speaking a few words. In business, you need to consider carefully how to communicate to your target audience.

Electronic media such as email into this category. The key advantage of written communication is that you have a written record of what was communicated, when and to whom. It does not leave any doubt about what was agreed and therefore forms the basis of organizational communication.

Electronic media (or storage devices) are of different types based on technique used for storing information. e.g. Flash memory based, Optical Storage (DVD, CD) or more traditional magnetic storage devices (floppy discs/storage tapes/hard disks)

There are many ways of electronic communication but email offers speed, low cost, increased access to other employees, portability, and convenience (not just overcoming time-zone problems but carrying a message to many receivers in one time). It's best for communicating brief, noncomplex information that is time sensitive, but its effectiveness depends on user skill. Because the turnaround time can be quite fast, email tends to be more conversational than traditional paper-based media.

Question No: 29 (Marks: 5)

_____ In extemporaneous method of oral presentation how does the presenter conduct his presentation?

Ans:

Presentation

This action of communication in which one speaker is doing most of the sending and a number of listeners are doing most of the receiving is known as oral presentation

Extemporaneous of oral presentation

In this method the delivery is very carefully planned and practiced and speaker, makes a presentation with the help of an outline, note cards, or visual aid. It is very popular and effective method of delivering a speech. In this way the speaker can glance at his notes, keep eye contact and speak in a natural, conversational tone.

Reading In this method the whole presentation is read aloud. It helps a speaker when the presentation has technical or complex topic. If you choose to read your speech, practice enough so that you can still have eye contact with your audience, otherwise, your speech may become boring.

For reading, some speakers use a page style similar to a TV script, leaving a left margin of about one-third of the page. In that wide margin are pronunciation aids or suggestions as to where to look in an audience.

In extemporaneous method of oral presentation how does the presenter conduct his presentation?

Answer:

Extemporaneous

This method of delivery is very carefully planned and practiced. In it, the speaker, makes a presentation with the help of an outline, note cards, or visual aid. It is very popular and effective method of delivering a speech. In this way the speaker can glance at his notes, keep eye contact and speak in a natural, conversational tone. Reading In this method the whole presentation is read aloud. It helps a speaker when the presentation has technical or complex topic. If you choose to read your speech, practice enough so that you can still have eye contact with your audience, otherwise, your speech may become boring. For reading, some speakers use a page style similar to a TV script, leaving a left margin of about one-third of the page. In that wide margin are pronunciation aids or suggestions as to where to look in an audience.
