

EDU305

By niMma mAlik

Finals 2K25

IMP MCQs

1. Peer tutoring strategies is considered to lower the incidence of misbehavior in classrooms.
2. Reduce disruptions a well-planned classroom activity does in terms of exercise of preventive discipline.
3. Commitment means intolerance of those conditions which inhibit learning.
4. Conflict arise it mean if one teacher is forgoing any particular behavior and second reprimand that behavior.

OR

If one teacher forgives and the other punishes, then the child gets confused and a conflict arises.

5. When we talk about classroom discipline, we talk about Classroom management.
6. Extrinsic Motivation put up a good behavior because of fear of punishment.
7. Rules should be developed and communicated when we talk about school discipline.
8. When we talk about administration than School discipline is important.
9. Maintain same standards best explains an environment conducive to learning.
10. Face consequences should happen if any student breaks a rule in the school.

- 11. Teachers should enforce classroom rules, expectations and consequences.
- 12. For effective behavioral support system, comprehensive support system is also known as Preventive support.
- 13. Friendliness and authority should be considered in a well-disciplined school for a warm school climate
- 14. Student will be mostly affected by school activities.
- 15. Pro-social skill training includes self-awareness, values clarification, cooperation.
- 16. Positive discipline leads to effective classroom management.
- 17. To deal with disruptions Issue a direct resist should a teacher do when student behave badly in the classroom.
- 18. Intrinsic motivation is a desire to attain targets for the sake of learning.
- 19. In order to teach students self-discipline, teach them to respect themselves.
- 20. Student participation in developing and reviewing school discipline programmes is absolutely important.
- 21. if rules that you need to implement in your schools that based on better behavior That rules should be Defined and communicated.
- 22. we communicate rules in the schools by Newsletter and handbooks.
- 23. Safety term best define school wide code of conduct.
- 24. Different people should have different sets of responsibilities as far as behavior management is concerned.

25. Penalty is an undesirable consequence of inappropriate behavior.

26. If students and staff should know that if they don't meet behavioral expectations, then they will face consequences.

27. How to sit in classroom, good character, working with others nicely, all these characteristics included in Behavioral expectations.

28. Teachers and administrators should take interest in Achievements of students keeping school climate warm.

29. Extrinsic motivation is good for slow-learner.

30. When teachers are very lenient with students then disruptive behavior is encouraged.

31. Well-disciplined school tend to be those in Intolerance of conditions which inhabit learning.

32. In positive discipline, classroom rules are stated in constructive terms.

33. Which one of the following is NOT accepted as a caution with disciplining student? Select the correct option:

- A) Take the disruptions personally
- B) Consistent in enforcing a consequence
- C) Follow a professional pattern of management
- D) Be aggressive in whole time period.

34. Bringing real objects in class can generate (interest among students)

35. Piaget (1932) pointed that peer interaction as one major source of cognitive as well as social development

36. Pro-social activities include: (role-taking exercises)

- 37. In which philosophy teachers teach the classroom as a relaxed place of learning? (Laissez-fair)
- 38. Effective behavioral support needs: (commitment and administrative support and participation)
- 39. The principal plays an important leadership role in establishing school discipline both by effective (effective administration and by personal example)
- 40. Which of the following best describes a statistics behavior? (a positive attitude towards oneself)
- 41. Research evidence support the point of view that: (extrinsic rewards can eventually lead to intrinsic motivation)
- 42. What should we do to prevent problems behavior as well as responds to problem behavior? (create a comprehensive system)
- 43. Which of the following influence student's achievement? (teacher expectations)
- 44. Pro-social activities include: (self-reflection and jigsaw grouping)
- 45. Seats can be changed weekly or monthly in order to allow students to work with different classmates.
- 46. How often can observation checklists of specific behavior be included in the portfolio? (weekly or monthly)
- 47. Pro-social activities include: (group discussion, Intergroup dialogues, Self-awareness and self-regulation)
- 48. More discipline problems are the result of boredom or alienation.

49. Advantages of Large Classes are (More interaction among students, Heterogeneous Elements, Natural Professional Development, Peer Teaching)
50. When preparing worksheets, add some optional sections for more advanced students.
51. Which one of the following philosophies is very related and 'hands-off' (Laissez-fair)
52. At which management style teachers choose that which aspects of the course they wish to control, how they decide to control those aspects, and what they are willing to let go in? (moderate control)
53. Teachers should be available to students before and after class to: (build personal relationship with them)
54. Since the large class is usually heterogeneous, more proficient students can be used to help lower-level ones.
55. Teacher bullying is professional malpractice.
56. Criminal behavior is connected with personal behaviors of the students.

Subjective

Three ways of explaining rules and consequences to staff, students and parents?

1) Written Rules and Parent Signature

- ❖ At the start of the year, send a written list of rules and consequences to parents.
- ❖ Ask parents and students to sign it.
- ❖ This helps everyone understand and agree to the rules.

2) Make Rules with Students and Use Contracts

- Make rules together with students so they feel responsible.
- If a student breaks a rule, show the contract they signed.
- This keeps rules fair and clear.

3) Explain and Display Rules at the Start

- Tell the rules clearly at the beginning of the school year.
- Display the rules in the classroom so students see them every day.
- Repeat the rules often to help students remember.

Role of Dictogloss in classroom?

- ✚ Dictate the information using a dictogloss, a replacement for writing notes on chalkboard.
- ✚ Students listen twice to a passage read at normal speed, taking notes during the second reading.
- ✚ They then work with a partner to try to reconstruct the text. Student's personal communication improves through this method. Students try to write down notes after listen from teacher with collaboration of their group students.
- ✚ When a pair thinks they have the information, they write the passage on the board and the class works together to make it as close to the original as possible.
- ✚ The teacher makes the final connections and the students correct their work.
- ✚ All students as well as the teachers, they are involved in constructing knowledge.

✚ This is a useful technique with limited resources in the classroom. Dictogloss is a technique that you can use in the classroom to solve the reading writing problems and other problems in the classroom.

Explain some of the code of conduct?

It is important for a student and teacher that he/she should follow school code of conduct. There are some of the codes of conduct:

- 1) Safety: Safety means that our presence does not harm anyone. Everyone becomes safe and confident by my presence. Usually, seniors' student may keep in their minds who are bullies, having violent behaviors and dominate juniors' students that they cannot harm anyone. Everyone in the school need safety and security in the school.
- 2) Respect: Everyone should be respectful in the school because a classroom is different from a domestic environment. Student need to follow a proper code of conduct while enter the premises of school and same rules applied to teachers and other administrative staff of the schools. All of us need to follow a proper code of conduct in term of showing respect or providing security.
- 3) Honesty: One has to be very sincere in what to say and have to speak the truth. The honesty is a very good trait to have and one must display honesty by being a teacher or student.
- 4) Responsibility: One should have or bear responsibility for your actions. If teacher is a responsible person than students will also be responsible. So, student need to demonstrate their responsibility and teacher will also demonstrate their responsibility as well. If a head demonstrates a responsible behavior than teachers and coordinators will demonstrate.
- 5) Courtesy: Be courteous in all around, one has to be courteous and see to it that with one action, behavior and words the other people do not get hurt. This school wide code of conduct should be school wide and practice by all stakeholders to bring better behavior in front line.

How can teacher involve parents in classroom learning?

- ✚ Ask parents to help with homework at home.
- ✚ Encourage them to attend school meetings to stay updated.
- ✚ Tell them to check the child's diary or planner regularly.
- ✚ Invite them to join classroom activities when possible.
- ✚ Encouraging parents to provide input on classroom strategies.

Differentiate between direct and indirect bullying?

Basically, there are two types of bullying:

1) Direct Bullying: is used when verbal and physical aggression is used to harm a student and that can go in danger zone soon.

It includes hitting, kicking, or punching, pushing, threatening etc.

2) Indirect bullying: It is less visible and harder to detect. It includes:

- ❖ Threats victims: One that is acted on and usually adversely affected by a force or threats.
- ❖ Insults others. To treat with indignity or offensively that is disrespectful that may be intentionally or accidentally.
- ❖ Name calling (abusive words). Socially offensive use of languages, which may also be called name calling or abusive words.

How does teacher enthusiasm motivate and improve students' achievement?

Teacher enthusiasm plays a very important role in motivating students and improving their academic achievement. When a teacher teaches with energy, excitement, and interest, students naturally become more involved in the lesson. Enthusiastic teachers make even boring topics interesting, which helps students stay focused and enjoy learning. Their positive attitude spreads in the classroom, creating a friendly and active learning environment. As a result, students feel encouraged, participate more, and try harder to do well. This overall positivity directly improves their understanding and academic performance.

How can a teacher teach some core values to students in the classroom?

A teacher plays a powerful role in shaping the character of students by teaching them core values in the classroom. One of the most effective ways to do this is through role modeling. When a teacher shows values like honesty, respect, responsibility, kindness, and fairness in their everyday behavior, students naturally observe and learn from it. For example, when a teacher listens politely, admits mistakes, treats all students equally, and helps those in need, students begin to reflect the same values in their own actions. Apart from behavior, teachers can also teach values through stories, classroom discussions, group projects, and cooperative learning tasks. Stories with strong moral lessons help students understand the difference between right and wrong. Classroom discussions give them a chance to express opinions and think about ethical situations. Group activities teach students how to cooperate, share, respect others' ideas, and take responsibility. In this way, by combining personal behavior and teaching methods, teachers help students grow into respectful, responsible, and caring individuals.

What are core values?

Core values are:

- + To tell students about self-management.
- + Social awareness.
- + Relationship management.
- + Responsible decision making is very important. It is a positive behavior.
- + Self-awareness.

What core values or behaviors do we aim to develop in students?

In these core values we involve students in these behaviors:

- ❖ Self-directed learner.
- ❖ Active contributor.
- ❖ Concerned citizen.
- ❖ Confident persons.

Difference between intrinsic and extrinsic motivation?

Intrinsic motivation is the desire to do something because it is enjoyable or interesting. The motivation comes from within the student, not from outside rewards. It is a very important factor in the academic and behavioral development of the students. Teacher is a biggest source to motivate students intrinsically. A student learns because he or she wants to learn it intrinsically.

Example: A student solves math problems because they find them fun and challenging.

Extrinsic motivation occurs when a student is motivated by external factors like rewards or punishment. It is based on the desire to get something or avoid something. Extrinsic motivation will prove helpful for those who cannot achieve the goal after a lot of struggles. Extrinsic motivation is good for slow-learner because they enhance their abilities and complete the given task on time.

Example: A student studies to get a good grade or to avoid being scolded.

How can u as a teacher motivate student in learning?

As a teacher, I can motivate my students by creating a supportive and positive classroom environment where they feel respected, safe, and encouraged. I will show enthusiasm while teaching to make lessons interesting and engaging. I will also use different teaching methods, such as group activities, discussions, and real-life examples, to keep students involved. I will give positive feedback, praise their efforts, and celebrate small achievements to build their confidence. I will try to connect lessons to their interests and future goals, so they see value in what they are learning. Most importantly, I will always show that I believe in their potential and support them in every step of their learning journey.

What is penalty give four examples that is used in class?

Penalty is an undesirable consequence of inappropriate behavior. In any classroom, when students behave badly with students, destroy the property of the classroom or their behavior impacts class fellow in a negative sense, there is need to give penalty. Penalties should 'fit-the-crime' corresponds to the behavior. Penalty neither too harsh nor trivial. When penalty come in, a student faces the penalty. Students must already know about all ways of penalty. Not students but all stakeholders.

1) Missing Recess or Break Time

- ❖ Student is not allowed to go for break or playtime.

2) Extra Written Work

- ❖ Student has to write lines or do an extra assignment as a consequence.

3) Verbal Warning or Scolding

- ❖ Teacher gives a serious warning or expresses disapproval.

4) After-School Detention

- ❖ Student stays back after school for a short time.

5) Temporary Removal from Class

- ❖ Student is asked to sit outside or visit another teacher's room briefly.

Develop systematic procedures for behavioral record keeping?

1) Make checklists:

Teacher does not get any record which has something to do with human behaviors. When we take about that we are preparing individual for society, we work on cognitive domain as well as behavioral domain. Make checklists of the desired behavior and mark students against that checklist.

2) Attentive listener:

For example, we want from students that they would be attentive listener. If they are attentive listeners, they will attend your lecture attentively.

3) Good team player:

It is important for student to be a good team player. When student work in group; he or she will be playing a good role as a team player.

4) Follower of classroom rules:

A student must be a good follower of classroom rules. Its mean that when a teacher develop classroom rules, it is compulsory for the students to obey them.

5) Take care of class property:

It is expected from students that they will take care of classroom property, materials etc.

3 steps of reward plan?

A reward plan has three steps:

- 1) First, a teacher decides on one or more specific goals for a student. So, when you are talking about reward system you need to be focus on specific goals on which students will get reward. Design your rewards in such a way that students must struggle to attain them.
- 2) The teacher spells out the goals concretely either on a chart or in conversation.
- 3) In discussing the reward plan, the teacher offers a modest reward for success in meeting goals. Teacher must communicate to the students through wall papers or in any written form so that these rewards will be clear for students. Keep your reward system very simple so that everybody should try to get these rewards.

What is a Teacher Training Program?

A teacher training program is a planned set of activities designed to improve a teacher's knowledge, skills, and professional behavior. It helps teachers become more effective in classroom management, lesson planning, student motivation, and behavior control. It improves classroom management techniques. It builds teachers' confidence and leadership. It helps teachers handle different student behaviors. It promotes effective teaching methods.

Behavior of teacher and students in well-disciplined school?

Teacher Behavior:

- ✚ Shows respect and fairness to all students
- ✚ Uses positive reinforcement rather than harsh punishment

- ✚ Teaches and models core values (honesty, punctuality, empathy)
- ✚ Maintains clear classroom rules and routines
- ✚ Handles conflicts calmly and consistently
- ✚ Communicates openly with students and parents

Student Behavior:

- Follows school and classroom rules consistently
- Shows respect to teachers, peers, and school property
- Participates actively in learning activities
- Demonstrates responsibility and self-control
- Listens when others speak and avoids interrupting
- Helps create a positive and safe environment

Social-Emotional Driven?

A social-emotional driven classroom is one where the teacher focuses on students' emotional well-being, social behavior, and interpersonal relationships, along with academics. It means using teaching methods and behavior strategies that build empathy, cooperation, self-control, and positive relationships.

Example Activities:

- ✓ Group work and peer support
- ✓ Storytelling with moral lessons
- ✓ Encouraging students to help each other

How it is important to avoid nice teacher syndrome?

Do not fall into the trap that imprisons many beginning teachers. Teachers appeared to be extremely accommodating and friendly in the classroom then students think that whatever they do, teachers could smile always, and he or she cannot speak anything. Classroom discipline cannot be maintained easily if this nice teacher syndrome develops in classroom so teacher need to be strict in their behavior and he/she should become strict there too so that students will become well disciplined. - Teachers want their students to like them and thus give them unnecessary allowance. If there are some bad behaviors happening from students, teachers should stop students to doing so. Also do not give unnecessary allowances to students because if teacher give them, students become disruptive in classroom behaviors. - Sometimes disruptive behavior is encouraged and sometimes becomes difficult to handle so should avoid nice teacher syndrome. Teacher should be authoritative in the classroom. A teacher should be friendly and caring, but also firm and fair. Avoiding "Nice Teacher Syndrome" helps students stay disciplined, focused, and responsible.

Effective features of bullying prevention program?

Changing the culture and climate of the school. It is important to aware students about bully as it is a crime and extreme manifestation of a behavior and should not happen at all in the school premises neither in the classroom nor in the playground. This is only happened when we changed the culture and climate of the school. Elaborate what are good behaviors and what are bad behaviors that are totally unacceptable and students should know that schools are bully free zone. If bully happen in school, then there will be a strict consequence taken against that action. All stakeholders, students, parents, teachers and other should aware about these consequences.

Developing a comprehensive strategy that targets bullies, victims, bystanders, families and communities. At the start of an academic year, there is a need to analyze some strategies for bully and others involve in it like parents, onlooker, and passive fellow so for this a comprehensive plan/strategy must developed to handle bullies. It is the first priority of a school to avoid bully develop positive strategies and communicated with all stakeholders so that they abide by all those rules and regulations.

Classroom level interventions means that teachers are very trained and they know about what are bully and how to stop these bullies in the classroom for its teacher training is very important to know that bullying is a crime. Students should also aware of how bully can be controlled in the classroom.

What are some ways to develop pro-social behavior in students? or how can pro-social skills be promoted in the classroom?

- 1) Taking turns. Students should listen to others and wait for their turn and raise their hand before speak. It is pro social behavior and teachers need to control that every student should listen to each other.
- 2) Working with partner. It is also a pro social skill. And this helps always.
- 3) Following directions.
- 4) Working in a group or with others.
- 5) Displaying appropriate behavior towards peers and adults.
- 6) Increasing positive relationships
- 7) Demonstrating positive verbal and nonverbal relationships
- 8) Showing interest and caring
- 9) Settling conflicts without fighting

If one is a pro social human being, then it will become easier to handle conflicts. And by using all those skills you may minimize violence. And may be try not to come forward any violent act because students already learners all such positive social skills then aggression and violence cannot be happened. Because students now learned already how to sit in the classroom and learn how to behave with other fellows how to spend time with each other.

What is Bullying?

Bullying is a repeated aggressive behavior intended to hurt another person, physically or emotionally. It involves an imbalance of power where the victim feels helpless. Bullying can include hitting, teasing, name-calling, spreading rumors, or excluding someone from a group. It makes the victim feel unsafe, scared, or embarrassed, and it can badly affect their learning and self-confidence.

What is Self-Perception?

Self-perception means how a student sees and understands themselves — their abilities, behavior, personality, and value. It includes how confident they feel, how they judge their strengths and weaknesses, and how they think others see them.

For example, if a student thinks, “I am good at math’s,” they will take interest in math’s class, answer questions, and feel confident doing homework. But if a student believes, “I’m bad at math’s, I always fail,” they may avoid trying, stay silent, and stop caring about the subject. This shows how self-perception influences motivation and academic success.

How to Implement a Bullying Prevention Program?

To implement a bullying prevention program, the school must involve teachers, students, parents, and administrators. First, the school should set clear rules and policies against bullying, so everyone knows what behavior is not allowed. Teachers and staff should be trained to identify bullying and respond quickly and fairly. Students must be encouraged to report bullying without fear of punishment. Parents should be informed and involved in solving bullying-related problems. Also, the school should provide counseling to both the victims and the bullies, helping them improve their behavior. When all parts of the school community work together, bullying can be reduced and a safe, respectful environment can be created.

What is Social Effectiveness?

Social effectiveness means the ability to interact positively and successfully with others in a school setting. It includes skills like communication, empathy, active listening, cooperation, and conflict resolution.

Example: A student who listens to classmates, works well in group activities, and avoids arguments shows social effectiveness.

Explain Stages of Frustration and Responses?

1) Stage: Anxiety:

Student sighs or uses other nonverbal cues.

Teacher response:

Teacher can respond by active listening and nonjudgmental talk. Teacher should listen to students and do not blame to students directly in it. Teachers do not try to become judgmental. First listen to the students very carefully.

2) Stage: Stress:

Student exhibit minor behavior problems. Stress is form of frustration and student may do their work wrong and sometimes they may harm other students.

Teacher response:

Teacher can use proximity control, boost student interest, or provide assistance with assignments. Student he/she may feel confidence to show their feelings. Teacher may provide proper assistance to students as he/she has full authoritative personality in the school or classroom.

3) Stage: Defensiveness:

Student argues and complaints.

Teacher Response:

Teacher can remind student of rules, use conflict resolution, and encourage student to ask for help.

4) Stage: Physical Aggression:

Student has lost control and may hit, bite, kick, or throw objects.

Teacher Response:

Teacher can escort the student from class, get help, restrain student if necessary, and protect the safety of the other children. Teacher should not lose his/her own emotion in front of students and that is very important.

5) Stage: Tension Reduction:

Student releases tension through crying or verbal venting, or student may become sullen and withdrawn.

Teacher response:

Teacher can decide whether to use supportive or punishment techniques. Here it is not required only one punishment it is important to think that how tension reduction takes place. By using different behavior pattern teacher may provide knowledge to students to understand situations.

Explain Sources of Frustration Among Aggressive Students?

Sources of frustration can be:

- 1) Failure. Students who became failure in their exams they become frustrated and show their frustration through aggression. Teacher should check that whether those students will show their frustration in an aggressive mode because of their academic failure.
- 2) Lack of maintenance of social relationships. Failure is not only academic related, sometimes most of the students will not able to maintain good personal social relation. Maybe he/she is shy or introvert and due to this reason, there is a lack of maintenance of social relationship. And failure of that can lead to frustration.
- 3) Boredom. There may be boredom in class or in home environment which can lead to aggression. Students will not feel motivated sometimes because of the way of teacher teaching method or teacher behavior. When the students do not feel motivated boredom sets them. Boredom should be avoided to the maximum in the classroom because boredom can certain negative behavior and aggression can be one of them.
- 4) Lack of positive reinforcement. Teacher must provide positive reinforcement to students otherwise students show their aggressive behavior sometimes.
- 5) Irrelevant curriculum. Sometime school curriculum show less relation with the life of students and he/she cannot relate with him/her self-due to which he/she become frustrate and involve in violent acts.

- 6) Overexposure to punishment. Students become frustrate and reactive through overexposure to punishment which leads to aggressive acts. Teacher should keep in mind that when and how you will give punishment to your students.
- 7) Feelings of powerlessness. This source of frustration can lead to aggression. May be teacher is authoritarian or because of their dictatorial presence there is a feeling of powerlessness and that can lead to frustration which can further lead to aggression.

Parent-Teacher partnership role?

The parent-teacher partnership means that both parents and teachers work together to support the student's learning, behavior, and development. When teachers communicate regularly with parents about academic progress, classroom rules, and behavior, it helps parents stay informed and involved. Parents, in turn, can support the teacher by helping children with homework, encouraging discipline at home, and attending parent-teacher meetings. This cooperation creates a consistent support system for the child both at school and at home, which leads to better academic performance, improved behavior, and emotional confidence.

Example: When a teacher regularly shares a student's progress with parents, and the parents help the child with homework at home — this is a strong parent-teacher partnership.

Effects of Teacher Bullying on Students?

Bullying is an unacceptable behavior and that behavior need to be check by counselor.

When a teacher bullies' students—through harsh language, public humiliation, favoritism, or constant criticism—it creates a negative and fearful classroom environment. Students may feel embarrassed, anxious, or scared, which lowers their self-confidence and harms their ability to learn. Some students may become silent and withdrawn, while others may develop anger or aggressive behavior. Teacher bullying damages the student-teacher relationship, and students begin to lose interest and motivation in studies. In the long term, it can affect their academic performance, emotional well-being, and social development.

Being a teacher how can maintain discipline in the classroom?

As a teacher, I can maintain discipline in the classroom by first setting clear rules and expectations from the very beginning of the school year. I will make sure students understand what behavior is acceptable and what is not. I will apply rules fairly and consistently to all students. I will also use positive reinforcement by praising good behavior and giving small rewards. Instead of shouting, I will use a calm and firm tone to manage misbehavior. I will also build strong relationships with students based on respect and trust, so they feel valued and listened to. By creating an environment where students feel safe, respected, and guided, discipline can be maintained naturally and effectively.

Social competence by school teacher and administrator?

Social competence refers to the ability to interact effectively and respectfully with others. For a school teacher, this means communicating kindly with students, showing empathy, listening actively, resolving conflicts calmly, and creating a positive classroom environment. For a school administrator, social competence involves leading staff with fairness, maintaining good relationships with teachers, students, and parents, and promoting a supportive and respectful school culture. When both teachers and administrators demonstrate social competence, it helps reduce conflicts, improve teamwork, and create a safe, inclusive, and motivating atmosphere for learning.

How can you avoid violence in the classroom give strategies?

To avoid violence in the classroom, a teacher should first create:

1) Practice for a Crisis

- Train students and teachers through drills.
- Make them aware of violent behaviors and how to respond.

2) Train All Staff

- Use role-playing and clear procedures.

- Teach staff how to respond calmly and uniformly to aggression.

3) Dress Appropriately

- Avoid sharp jewelry and unsafe clothing.
- Be mentally alert and physically prepared.

4) Remove Valuable or Dangerous Items

- Keep harmful objects (e.g. sharp-edged furniture, heavy items) out of reach.
- Monitor student use of stationery and classroom setup.

5) Build Trust with Students

- Be kind, empathetic, and polite.
- Listen to student problems and understand the causes of their behavior.

6) Stay Calm and in Control

- Act with authority, not aggression.
- Refer to administration if needed, but first manage the situation professionally.

7) Set Rules and Consequences

- Clearly define and communicate behavior expectations.
- Apply consistent consequences for breaking rules.

8) Maintain a Therapeutic Attitude

- Understand emotional needs of students.
- Give extra support to emotionally fragile students with care and patience.