

Organizational Behavior

MGT 502

FINAL TERM NO

Made by: Mun

Subscribe to my YouTube channel highlighted handouts
MC Learning House

BEST OF LUCKS

19 : Group Decision

MCQs :

1. What is social loafing?

- a) Exerting more effort in a group than when working alone
- b) Exerting less effort in a group than when working alone
- c) Exerting the same effort in a group as when working alone
- d) Exerting effort only when others are present

Answer: b) Exerting less effort in a group than when working alone

2. How can social loafing be reduced or eliminated?

- a) Increasing group size
- b) Making individuals feel their efforts are identifiable
- c) Keeping group goals ambiguous
- d) Making each individual feel their contribution is important

Answer: d) Making each individual feel their contribution is important

3. What is the attractiveness of a group determined by?

- a) Group conformity
- b) Group cohesiveness
- c) Group diversity
- d) Group dominance

Answer: b) Group cohesiveness

4. Which type of task interdependence involves no need for coordination?

- a) Pooled interdependence

- b) Sequential interdependence
- c) Reciprocal interdependence
- d) Individual interdependence

Answer: a) Pooled interdependence

5. When is it advisable to use a team in decision making?

- a) When the issue is unimportant
- b) When time is of the essence
- c) When acceptance of the decision is critical
- d) When group norms are unacceptable

Answer: c) When acceptance of the decision is critical

6. What is a disadvantage of group decision making?

- a) Increased acceptance
- b) Domination by one member
- c) Greater understanding
- d) Rapid decision-making

Answer: b) Domination by one forceful member

7. Which group problem-solving technique involves unanimous agreement to support a decision?

- a) Brainstorming
- b) Delphi Technique
- c) Consensus
- d) Nominal Group Technique

Answer: c) Consensus

8. What does the nominal group technique involve?

- a) Free-wheeling discussion
- b) Independent thinking followed by group
- c) Group members operating dependently
- d) Voting without discussion

Answer: b) Independent thinking followed by group

9. Which group problem-solving technique involves dispersed experts?

- a) Consensus
- b) Brainstorming
- c) Nominal Group Technique
- d) Delphi Technique

Answer: d) Delphi Technique

10. What is social facilitation?

- a) Exerting less effort in the presence of
- b) Effects of passive spectators on performance
- c) Enhanced performance in the presence of
- d) Isolating oneself from group effects

Answer: c) Enhanced performance in the presence of

11. How do audience effects differ from co-action effects?

- a) Audience effects are positive, while co-action effects are negative
- b) Audience effects involve known tasks, while co-action effects involve unknown tasks
- c) Audience effects involve group members performing tasks, while co-action effects involve passive spectators
- d) Audience effects and co-action effects are the same

Answer: c) Audience effects involve group effects involve passive spectators

12 What is a key advantage of electronic meeting?

- a) Limited anonymity
- b) Lack of honesty
- c) Speed and anonymity
- d) Slow decision-making

Answer: c) Speed and anonymity

13 In social loafing, what is the "sucker effect"?

- a) Workers exerting less effort in a group
- b) Members reducing efforts due to social loafing
- c) Positive outcomes for high-level performers
- d) Unwillingness to participate in a group

Answer: b) Members reducing efforts due to social loafing

14 What type of task is enhanced by brainstorming?

- a) Well-learned or repeated tasks
- b) Difficult, novel, or complex tasks
- c) Independent tasks
- d) Routine tasks

Answer: b) Difficult, novel, or complex tasks

15 How does the Delphi Technique differ from other techniques?

- a) It involves face-to-face meetings
- b) It restricts independent thinking
- c) It relies on computer technology

d) It operates independently

Answer: c) It relies on computer technology

16 What is the primary advantage of the nominal group technique?

a) It encourages conformity of opinion

b) It restricts independent thinking

c) It permits formal meetings without discussion

d) It involves face-to-face communication

Answer: c) It permits formal meetings without discussion

17 How does group cohesiveness impact group performance?

a) It is always dysfunctional

b) It leads to optimal performance

c) It has no effect on performance

d) It enhances social loafing

Answer: b) It leads to optimal performance

18 What is the nature of the relationship between group cohesiveness and group goals?

a) Irrelevant

b) Dysfunctional

c) Exclusive

d) Aligned

Answer: d) Aligned

19 What is a guideline for dealing with problem team members?

a) Encourage social considerations over task considerations

b) Ignore problem team members

- c) Remove problem team members as the
- d) Provide clear goals and training

Answer: d) Provide clear goals and training

20 When is group decision-making advantageous?

- a) When the issue is unimportant
- b) When individual risk preferences are
- c) When group norms are unacceptable
- d) When many perspectives are needed

Answer: d) When many perspectives are needed

Q & A :

1. What are the key factors that influence group

Answer: Key factors include minimizing process losses, aligning group goals with organizational goals, and group cohesiveness.

2. Name three types of groups that are important

Answer: The three types of groups are the task teams, and research and development teams.

3. What are process losses, and what typically

Answer: Process losses result from coordination problems. They are often caused by difficulties in coordinating individuals to perform at their best in a

4. Explain social loafing and provide two reasons

Answer: Social loafing is the tendency of individuals to exert less effort when working in a group than when working alone. It occurs when they won't be rewarded for high-level performance if the task is unimportant or unnecessary.

5. How can social loafing be reduced or eliminated?

Answer: Social loafing can be reduced or eliminated if the individual's contribution to the group is important and the group is small.

6. What are the three types of task interdependence?

Answer: The three types of task interdependence are sequential interdependence, and reciprocal interdependence.

7. How does group cohesiveness impact group performance?

Answer: Group cohesiveness, or the attractiveness of the group, can positively impact group performance when group members are committed to group goals, leading to an optimal level of group performance.

8. What are the four kinds of work groups that impact performance?

Answer: The four kinds of work groups are self-managing teams, research and development teams, and project teams.

9. When is it advisable to use a team in decision-making?

Answer: It is advisable to use a team in decision-making when the task is complex, a decision is needed, acceptance of the decision is critical, individual judgments are unreliable, individual resources are limited, and when there is a desire to develop team members.

10. What should organizations be cautious about in group decision-making?

Answer: Organizations should be cautious about groupthink, group polarization, and group norms that are unacceptable.

11. What is the purpose of using consensus in group decision-making?

Answer: The purpose of using consensus is to ensure that all group members support a decision.

12. Explain the brainstorming process as a group decision-making technique.

Answer: Brainstorming involves group members generating as many alternatives as possible, quickly and without criticism, and the generation of numerous ideas.

13 What is the nominal group technique in group decision making?

Answer: The nominal group technique is a structured method for evaluating solutions. It enables everyone to contribute ideas, minimizes distortions and involves a structured voting process.

14 How does the Delphi Technique differ from the nominal group technique?

Answer: The Delphi Technique is designed for group decision making when there is no resolution on the issue. It involves distributing a topic or task, and then asking for input. Unlike the nominal group technique, there is no interaction.

15 What is the advantage of computer-assisted group decision making?

Answer: Computer-assisted group meetings, such as anonymity, honesty, and speed in decision making.

16 Explain the concept of the "sucker effect" in group decision making.

Answer: The sucker effect occurs when group members reduce their efforts because they refuse to be the "sucker" who is the only one who is not free-riding. It reflects the equity theory of motivation, where individuals compare their inputs and outcomes to those of others. Changing inputs or outcomes can reduce the sucker effect.

17 What is the main advantage of brainstorming in group decision making?

Answer: The main advantage of brainstorming is the generation of a large quantity of ideas. It is a free-flowing process where all ideas are accepted without criticism.

18 How does social facilitation influence individual performance?

Answer: Social facilitation refers to the effect of the presence of others on individual performance. It can lead to either improved or impaired performance, depending on the task. For simple or learned tasks, performance is usually improved. For complex or novel tasks, performance is usually impaired.

19 What is the key difference between audience effects and social facilitation?

Answer: Audience effects are the effects of the presence of others on individual performance. Social facilitation is the effect of the presence of others on individual performance. The key difference lies in the type of influence. Audience effects are the effects of the presence of others on individual performance. Social facilitation is the effect of the presence of others on individual performance.

20 How can organizations help workers benefit from social facilitation?

Answer: Organizations can help workers benefit from providing appropriate environments, such as complex tasks and meeting rooms or group settings, the presence of group members. This helps individuals in different contexts.

20 : Communication

MCQs :

1. What is communication?

- A) A one-way process
- B) Sharing of information to reach a common goal
- C) Controlling individual efforts
- D) Expressing feelings only

Answer: B

2. Which function of communication motivates members?

- A) Providing knowledge
- B) Controlling efforts
- C) Expressing feelings
- D) Motivating members

Answer: D

3. What is the primary role of jargon in communication?

- A) Facilitates communication within a group
- B) Hinders communication within a group
- C) Enhances communication with external groups
- D) Improves feedback

Answer: A

4. What can lead to ineffective communication?

- A) Cross-cultural understanding
- B) Good listening skills
- C) Filtering and information distortion
- D) Appropriate feedback

Answer: C

5. Which communication medium is highest in interactivity?

- A) Face-to-face communication
- B) Verbal communication electronically transmitted
- C) Personally addressed written communication
- D) Impersonal written communication

Answer: A

6. How can communication be improved in organizations?

- A) Decreasing trust
- B) Discouraging open communication
- C) Reducing feedback
- D) Establishing trust and encouraging participation

Answer: D

7. What is a disadvantage of using electronic communication in work groups?

- A) Increased task interdependence
- B) Improved feedback
- C) Enhanced understanding
- D) Decreased information overload

Answer: A

8. Which network is likely to be used in a group?

- A) Wheel
- B) Chain
- C) Circle
- D) All-channel

Answer: A

9. What is the primary component of communication?

- A) Agreement
- B) Understanding
- C) Motivation
- D) Controlling efforts

Answer: B

10. What does noise in communication refer to?

- A) Clear and complete messages
- B) Interference with the communication process
- C) Effective feedback
- D) Information distortion

Answer: B

11. Which is an example of nonverbal communication?

- A) Written memos
- B) Face-to-face oral communication
- C) Telephone communication

D) Facial expressions

Answer: D

12 What does encoding in communication involve?

A) Transmitting the message to the receiver

B) Translating the message into symbols

C) Selecting the medium for communication

D) Receiving feedback from the receiver

Answer: B

13 Which communication problem involves withholding information?

A) Poor listening

B) Filtering

C) Lack of feedback

D) Rumors

Answer: B

14 What is a guideline for selecting a communication medium?

A) Choosing a medium the sender monitors

B) Using a single medium for all messages

C) Ignoring the receiver's preference

D) Avoiding multiple media

Answer: A

15 What is a barrier to effective communication?

A) Selective perception

B) Effective listening

C) Clarifying ideas

D) Motivating the receiver

Answer: A

16 How can defensiveness affect communication?

A) Enhances communication

B) Retards effective communication

C) Improves feedback

D) Facilitates understanding

Answer: B

17 What is a suggestion for effective listening?

A) Over-talking the speaker

B) Avoiding eye contact

C) Interrupting the speaker

D) Making smooth transitions between ideas

Answer: D

18 Why is nonverbal communication difficult to understand?

A) It is easily interpreted

B) It can be concealed insincerely

C) It conveys facts effectively

D) It relies on written messages

Answer: B

19 What does filtering involve in communication?

A) Increasing information flow

- B) Withholding part of a message
- C) Providing complete messages
- D) Improving feedback

Answer: B

20 What is the role of feedback in the communication process?

- A) Beginning the process
- B) Ending the process
- C) Ignoring the receiver
- D) Creating noise

Answer: B

Q & A :

1. Why is effective communication crucial in an organization?
 - A: Effective communication enables individuals to achieve their goals and perform at a high level of organizational behavior.
2. What are the four major functions of communication in an organization?
 - A: Communication serves the functions of informing organizational members, controlling and coordinating activities, expressing feelings and emotions.
3. Explain the steps involved in the communication process.
 - A: The communication process involves encoding the message, selecting a medium, decoding the message, and providing feedback loop.
4. How does jargon affect communication within a group?
 - A: Jargon facilitates communication within the group but hinders communication outside the group.
5. List some factors that can lead to ineffective communication.
 - A: Ineffective communication can result from poor listening, lack of or inappropriate feedback, and differences in linguistic styles.
6. How can organizations improve communication?
 - A: Organizations can improve communication by promoting open communication, enhancing listening skills, using company TV for accurate information, and addressing cross-cultural differences.

7. What is the highest information richness medium?
- A: Face-to-face communication is the highest information richness medium.
8. What are the four types of work group communication networks?
- A: The four types are the wheel, the chain, the circle, and the all-channel network.
9. How does task interdependence influence communication network?
- A: As the level of task interdependence increases, the communication network may shift, such as using the wheel network for low interdependence and the all-channel network for reciprocal interdependence.
10. Why is the actual communication network often different from the formal organization chart?
- A: Communication networks change as communication needs change within an organization or group.
11. Define communication according to the Lasswell definition.
- A: Communication is the sharing of information between individuals or groups to reach a common understanding and the reaching of a common understanding through the sharing of information.
12. Why is common understanding crucial for effective communication?
- A: If a common understanding of a message is not achieved, the effectiveness of their efforts to achieve organizational goals is reduced.
13. According to the New York Times, what is the most important quality for business leaders?
- A: Top executives rate communication skills as the most important quality for business leaders.
14. What are the contextual factors in the communication process?
- A: Contextual factors include physical (the nature of the relationship), historical (past communication), psychological (moods and attitudes), and values and norms.
15. Who is the sender in the communication process?
- A: The sender is the individual, group, or organization that initiates and shares information with another party.
16. What is the role of noise in the communication process?
- A: Noise interferes with the communication process. It can be external (sights, sounds, stimuli), internal (biological factors), or semantic (alternate meanings).
17. How can organizations decrease noise in communication?
- A: Organizations can decrease noise by using clear, concise, and written communication, fixing broken communication systems, and using problematic e-mail systems.
18. What is filtering in communication, and why does it occur?
- A: Filtering occurs when senders withhold or distort information to avoid disasters as critical information may be lost or misinterpreted.
19. How do receivers in the communication process process information?

- A: Receivers selectively see and hear information based on their own motivations, experience, background, and expectations.
- 20 What are some guidelines for effective listening?
- A: Effective listening involves making eye contact, nodding and appropriate facial expressions, asking clarifying questions, avoiding interrupting the speaker, and making smooth transitions between roles.

21 : Communication

MC Qs :

1. What is the primary focus of Chapter 21 on communication?

- A) Organizational structure
- B) Nature of communication
- C) Human resource management
- D) Financial management

Answer: B) Nature of communication

2. According to the chapter, what are the two main components of communication?

- A) Agreement and understanding
- B) Encoding and decoding
- C) Sharing of information and reaching a common goal
- D) Verbal and nonverbal communication

Answer: C) Sharing of information and reaching a common goal

3. Why is face-to-face communication considered the most effective?

- A) It is the most technologically advanced mode of communication.
- B) It involves written communication.
- C) It allows for instant feedback and clarification.
- D) It is the fastest mode of communication.

Answer: C) It allows for instant feedback messages.

4. According to the expectancy theory of motivation, what motivates employees?

- A) Organizational goals
- B) Outcomes obtained for high performance
- C) Job responsibilities
- D) Communication protocols

Answer: B) Outcomes obtained for high performance

5. In a wheel network, how does communication flow?

- A) Sequentially from one member to the next
- B) Through every member communicating with every other member
- C) Through a central member who communicates with all other members
- D) In a circular pattern among adjacent members

Answer: C) Through a central member who communicates with all other members

6. What is the primary function of communication in organizations?

- A) Providing knowledge
- B) Expressing feelings and emotions
- C) Motivating organizational members
- D) Communicating information about resources, goals, and tasks

Answer: D) Communicating information about resources, goals, and tasks

7. According to the chapter, what does communication involve?

- A) Agreements
- B) Facts

- C) Feelings and emotions
- D) Nonverbal cues

Answer: C) Feelings and emotions

8. What does a chain network characterize?

- A) Communication flowing to and from everyone
- B) Communication occurring sequentially
- C) Communication flowing in a circular pattern
- D) All members communicating with everyone

Answer: B) Communication occurring sequentially

9. Why face-to-face communication is considered better?

- A) It is the most technologically advanced
- B) It involves written communication.
- C) It allows for instant feedback and recognition
- D) It is the fastest mode of communication

Answer: C) It allows for instant feedback and recognition of messages.

10. In a circle network, how do members communicate?

- A) Sequentially
- B) Through a central member
- C) Among adjacent members
- D) Every member communicates with everyone else

Answer: C) Among adjacent members

11. What is the primary focus of Chapter 2?

- A) Organizational structure

- B) Nature of communication
- C) Human resource management
- D) Financial management

Answer: B) Nature of communication

12 According to the chapter, what are the two

- A) Agreement and understanding
- B) Encoding and decoding
- C) Sharing of information and reaching a common
- D) Verbal and nonverbal communication

Answer: C) Sharing of information and reaching a common

13 Why face-to-face communication is considered

- A) It is the most technologically advanced.
- B) It involves written communication.
- C) It allows for instant feedback and decision making.
- D) It is the fastest mode of communication.

Answer: C) It allows for instant feedback and decision making.

14 According to the expectancy theory of motivation, what motivates employees?

- A) Organizational goals
- B) Outcomes obtained for high performance
- C) Job responsibilities
- D) Communication protocols

Answer: B) Outcomes obtained for high performance

15 In a wheel network, how does communication

- A) Sequentially from one member to the next
- B) Through every member communicating with every other member
- C) Through a central member who communicates with every other member
- D) In a circular pattern among adjacent members

Answer: C) Through a central member who communicates with every other member 16 What is the primary function of communication at the individual level in organizations?

- A) Providing knowledge
- B) Expressing feelings and emotions
- C) Motivating organizational members
- D) Communicating information about roles and responsibilities

Answer: D) Communicating information about roles and responsibilities

17 According to the chapter, what does communication

- A) Agreements
- B) Facts
- C) Feelings and emotions
- D) Nonverbal cues

Answer: C) Feelings and emotions

18 What does a chain network characterize in

- A) Communication flowing to and from the top of the organization
- B) Communication occurring sequentially from one member to the next
- C) Communication flowing in a circular pattern among all members
- D) All members communicating with every other member

Answer: B) Communication occurring sequentially

19 Why face-to-face communication is considered

A) It is the most technologically advanced.

B) It involves written communication.

C) It allows for instant feedback and decision making.

D) It is the fastest mode of communication.

Answer: C) It allows for instant feedback and decision making messages.

20 In a circle network, how do members communicate?

A) Sequentially

B) Through a central member

C) Among adjacent members

D) Every member communicates with every other member

Answer: C) Among adjacent members

Q & A :

1. How do communication networks in organizations differ from personal relationships depicted in organization charts?

- A: Communication networks in organizations differ from personal relationships as they are influenced by organizational goals and the type of information needed.

2. What is the difference in communication styles mentioned in the chapter?

- A: Men tend to give advice quickly and directly, while women tend to give advice indirectly and reluctantly. Men are less sensitive to them.

3. What are some guidelines for effective communication?

- A: Guidelines for effective speaking include considering issues of time and space, appropriate vocabulary, practicing voice control, and presentation.

4. What are the key elements of active listening chapter?

5. A: Key elements of active listening include being alert, mentally prepared, emotionally independent, distinguishing among facts, inferences, and feedback.

6. Why good communication is considered critical?
 ◦ Ans we: Good communication is essential for organizations because it ensures that information is shared among individuals and groups.

7. What are the two components of communication?
 ◦ Ans we: The two components of communication are the sending of a message and the reaching of a common understanding.

8. Explain the significance of common understanding chapter.

◦ Ans we: Common understanding, not necessarily communication. If people do not receive and interpret effective communication has not occurred and coordination.

9. What functions of communication are highlighted in chapter?

◦ Ans we: The functions of communication include providing knowledge, motivating organizational members, coordinating individual efforts, and expressing feelings.

10. List three communication principles mentioned in chapter.

◦ Ans we: Three communication principles mentioned in chapter are:
 ▪ Communication has a purpose
 ▪ Communication is continuous
 ▪ Communication messages vary in complexity

11. Why is face-to-face communication considered rich in richness?

◦ Ans we: Face-to-face communication is highly effective because it allows for verbal and nonverbal cues, reducing ambiguous information.

12. According to the expectancy theory of motivation, what leads to high performance?

◦ Ans we: Managers should clarify outcome, job, and effort level, according to the expectancy theory of motivation.

13. How does communication contribute to motivation chapter?

- Answer: Communication plays a central role in clarifying outcomes for high performance, as suggested by expectancy theory and goal setting.
- 14 How does communication help in controlling groups?
 - Answer: Communication helps by conveying information, norms, exerting control, and facilitating coordination. Interdependence increases.
- 15 What role does communication play in effective workplace?
 - Answer: Communication allows individuals to share information, which is crucial for understanding and achieving organizational goals.
- 16 What are the advantages and disadvantages of communication in the chapter?
 - Answer: Oral communication's advantages include speed and flexibility, while its disadvantage is the potential for distortion.
- 17 How do communication networks in organizations affect information flow?
 - Answer: Communication networks, such as chain, wheel, and all-channel, impact information flow by influencing speed, accuracy, and group dynamics.
- 18 How does gender communication differ, and what are the implications?
 - Answer: Gender communication differences include men asking for information and being more direct, while women give advice quickly and directly and are more sensitive to nonverbal cues.
- 19 What are the criteria for evaluating communication networks: chain, wheel, and all-channel networks compared to each other?
 - Answer: Criteria include speed, accuracy, and satisfaction. Chain networks are moderate, wheel networks are fast and high, and all-channel networks have high accuracy.
- 20 What guidelines are provided for effective verbal communication?
 - Answer: Guidelines for effective speaking include using appropriate vocabulary, practicing voice modulation, and organizing presentations.
- 21 What are the guidelines for active listening?
 - Answer: Guidelines for active listening include creating a supportive environment, being alert, mentally summarizing, recognizing nonverbal cues, distinguishing among facts and opinions, offering and soliciting feedback.

22 : Leadership Theories

MC Qs :

1. What is the primary role of leadership?

- A) Achieving individual goals
- B) Providing direction toward goal attainment
- C) Implementing formal plans
- D) Establishing organizational structures

Answer: B) Providing direction toward goal attainment

2. According to John Kotter, what is the focus of leadership?

- A) Coping with change
- B) Developing a vision of the future
- C) Achieving organizational goals
- D) Coping with complexity

Answer: D) Coping with complexity

3. How is leadership defined in the chapter?

- A) Coping with complexity
- B) Achieving personal goals
- C) Influencing a group toward goal achievement
- D) Maintaining organizational consistency

Answer: C) Influencing a group toward goal achievement

4. What are two characteristics of leadership?

- A) Intelligence and energy
- B) Ambition and honesty
- C) Influence and goal achievement

D) Exerting influence and helping achieve

Answer: D) Exerting influence and helping

5. According to the chapter, what is leadership?

A) Personal traits

B) Job-relevant knowledge

C) Exerting authority

D) Helping a group achieve its goals

Answer: D) Helping a group achieve its goals

6. What is the key distinction between management and leadership in this chapter?

A) Managers innovate, leaders maintain

B) Leaders administer, managers inspire

C) Leaders innovate, managers control

D) Managers develop, leaders control

Answer: C) Leaders innovate, managers control

7. What is the primary focus of the Managerial Grid?

A) Consideration and initiating structure

B) Concern for people and concern for production

C) Employee orientation and production orientation

D) Initiating structure and employee orientation

Answer: B) Concern for people and concern for production

8. According to the Ohio State Studies, what is the most effective leadership style?

A) Assigning tasks and setting goals

B) Establishing interpersonal relationships

- C) Emphasizing the technical aspects
- D) Showing concern for employees' well-being

Answer: A) Assigning tasks and setting goals

9. What is the limitation of trait theories of leadership?

- A) Lack of universal traits predicting leadership
- B) Stable traits associated with leadership
- C) High predictability in strong situations
- D) Guarantee of success for individuals with traits

Answer: A) Lack of universal traits predicting leadership

10. What behavior involves a leader positively influencing others?

- A) Initiating structure
- B) Consideration
- C) Leader reward behavior
- D) Leader punishing behavior

Answer: C) Leader reward behavior

11. What is the central role of leadership?

- A) Monitoring results
- B) Providing direction
- C) Implementing plans
- D) Maintaining order

Answer: B) Providing direction

12. According to John Kotter, what is leadership?

- A) Coping with complexity

B) Monitoring results

C) Designing organizational structure

D) Maintaining consistency

Answer: A) Coping with complexity

13 How does Robert House describe management?

A) Coping with change

B) Implementing vision

C) Obtaining compliance

D) Handling day-to-day problems

Answer: C) Obtaining compliance

14 How is leadership defined in the text?

A) Coping with change

B) Ability to influence toward goals

C) Designing organizational structure

D) Monitoring results

Answer: B) Ability to influence toward goals

15 What is a key distinction between leaders and managers?

A) Leaders innovate, managers administer

B) Managers inspire, leaders control

C) Leaders maintain, managers develop

D) Managers originate, leaders accept the status quo

Answer: A) Leaders innovate, managers administer

16 What is the source of influence in leadership?

- A) Formal authority
- B) Informal authority
- C) Both A and B
- D) Position in the hierarchy

Answer: C) Both A and B

17 Why is non-sanctioned leadership important?

- A) It follows the formal structure
- B) It is less important than formal influence
- C) It arises outside the formal structure
- D) It aligns with the status quo

Answer: C) It arises outside the formal structure

18 What is a characteristic of leadership?

- A) Controlling work actions
- B) Encouraging conformity
- C) Influencing attitudes and behavior
- D) Administering tasks

Answer: C) Influencing attitudes and behavior

19 What is the benefit of understanding leadership?

- A) Maintaining the status quo
- B) Training leaders to improve
- C) Emphasizing formal influence
- D) Ignoring organizational goals

Answer: B) Training leaders to improve

20 What is formal leadership based on?

- A) Trust and respect
- B) Authority of a formal position
- C) Informal influence
- D) Personal characteristics

Answer: B) Authority of a formal position

21 What does informal leadership lack?

- A) Trust and respect
- B) Formal authority
- C) Task-oriented behaviors
- D) Informal influence

Answer: B) Formal authority

22 What is the capacity of a leader to influence?

- A) Motivation
- B) Power
- C) Leadership style
- D) Initiative

Answer: B) Power

23 What is a behavior associated with consideration?

- A) Assigning tasks
- B) Emphasizing deadlines
- C) Showing concern for well-being
- D) Setting goals

Answer: C) Showing concern for well-being 24 Which is a dimension identified by the Michigan studies?

- A) Employee-orientation
- B) Job-centered behavior
- C) Production-orientation
- D) All of the above

Answer: D) All of the above
25 What behavior assures that work is completed on time?

- A) Initiating structure
- B) Employee-oriented behavior
- C) Consideration
- D) Job-centered behavior

Answer: A) Initiating structure
26 What does the Managerial Grid focus on?

- A) Consideration and initiating structure
- B) Employee-oriented and job-centered behavior
- C) Concern for people and concern for production
- D) Initiating structure and job satisfaction

Answer: C) Concern for people and concern for production
27 What is a limitation of the trait approach?

- A) Traits guarantee success
- B) Traits are universal in all situations
- C) Traits are associated with effectiveness

D) Traits do not explain why or how effective

Answer: D) Traits do not explain why

28 What does leader reward behavior involve?

A) Negatively reinforcing undesirable behavior

B) Positively reinforcing desirable behavior

C) Ignoring performance

D) Punishing subordinates

Answer: B) Positively reinforcing desirable

29 What is a potential unintended side effect

A) Increased productivity

B) Resentment

C) Improved morale

D) Trust and respect

Answer: B) Resentment

30 What is the assumption of the behavioral approach

A) Leadership is inborn

B) Leadership can be trained

C) Leadership is based on personal characteristics

D) Leadership is trait-dependent

Answer: B) Leadership can be trained

Q & A :

1: Why is leadership important in understanding

A: Leadership is important in understanding goals and moving towards goal attainment, which significantly impacts the organization's success.

2: What were the limitations of the original search for universal leadership?

A: The original search for universal leadership traits that would be universally predictive of effective leadership was limited. Several intelligence were identified, but they were not consistently predictive across different cultures and contexts.

3: What is the key distinction between management and leadership according to Kotter?

A: John Kotter distinguishes between management and leadership about coping with complexity, bringing order and consistency to change, establishing a vision, aligning resources, and motivating people.

4: How is leadership defined in the context of organizational behavior?

A: Leadership is defined as "the ability to influence others to achieve organizational goals." This influence can arise from formal position or personal characteristics, and it can be sanctioned or non-sanctioned.

5: Why is non-sanctioned leadership important in organizations?

A: Non-sanctioned leadership, which arises from personal characteristics, is often as important as formal influence. It plays a crucial role in achieving organizational goals, especially in times of crisis or change.

6: What are the potential benefits of understanding leadership?

A: Understanding leadership helps organizations to better train individuals in leadership roles for improved performance and the organization as a whole. It also helps in identifying and developing potential leaders within the organization.

7: What does the term "followership" refer to in the context of leadership?

A: "Followership" refers to the process of being influenced by a leader in a work environment. It involves individuals in an organization who are influenced by a leader, and it is a critical component of effective leadership.

8: How can followers make a bigger contribution to the organization?

A: Followers can make a bigger contribution by identifying problems, becoming better at "influencing" the work environment, and actively participating in the work environment. This involves taking initiative and being proactive in solving problems and improving the organization's performance.

9: What are the two characteristics that researchers agree on?

A: Researchers agree that leadership involves helping a group or organization achieve its goals through leadership.

10: What is leader effectiveness, and why is it important?

A: Leader effectiveness is the extent to which a leader achieves organizational goals. It is important because effective leaders lead to successful organizations.

11: What are the major limitations of trait theories of leadership?

A: The major limitations of trait theories of leadership are that they cannot predict leadership in all situations, they cannot distinguish between effective and ineffective leaders, and they are based on outdated research.

12: What did researchers focus on in trait theories of leadership?

A: Trait theories of leadership focused on identifying the personal characteristics that distinguish leaders from followers and effective leaders from ineffective leaders.

13: How do behavioral theories of leadership differ from trait theories?

A: Behavioral theories of leadership focus on the actions and behaviors of leaders, while trait theories focus on the personal characteristics of leaders.

14: What are the key dimensions identified by behavioral studies on leadership?

A: The Ohio State researchers identified two key dimensions: task structure, which refers to defining roles and building trust and good relationships with followers, and employee participation, which refers to involving followers in decision-making.

15: What are the two dimensions of leadership identified by Michigan researchers?

A: The University of Michigan researchers identified two dimensions: relationship behavior, emphasizing interpersonal relationships, and task aspects of the job.

16: What is the Managerial Grid, and how does it relate to leadership?

A: The Managerial Grid categorizes leaders for production. It uses a grid with nine positions and styles.

17: What are some of the potential consequences of high initiating structure behavior?

A: High initiating structure behavior is associated with high absenteeism, and turnover, as well as lower productivity.

18: What is leader reward behavior, and how does it affect followers?

A: Leader reward behavior involves positively reinforcing followers which can motivate and encourage them to continue to perform.

19: Why is the trait approach to leadership limited?

A: The trait approach to leadership is limited because the traits are not universal, and it does not provide a clear path to leadership.

20: How do behavioral theories of leadership differ from trait theories of leadership development compared to trait theories?

A: Behavioral theories of leadership suggest that leadership is learned through behavior and behavioral patterns. This perspective focuses on the behaviors of effective leaders.

23: Leadership Application

MC Qs :

1. What is leadership?

- A. Formal authority
- B. Exercising influence
- C. Position power
- D. Task-oriented style

Answer: B. Exercising influence

2. What is the main difference between formal and informal leadership?

- A. Formal leaders lack authority
- B. Informal leaders have job responsibility
- C. Formal leaders have special skills
- D. Informal leaders lack formal authority

Answer: D. Informal leaders lack formal authority

3. According to the trait approach, which of the following is a trait?

- A. Intelligence
- B. Dominance
- C. Laziness
- D. Self-confidence

Answer: C. Laziness

4. Consideration in leadership involves:

- A. Trust, respect, and value in relationships
- B. Initiating structure
- C. Reward and punishment
- D. Directive behavior

Answer: A. Trust, respect, and value in relationships

5. According to Fiedler's contingency theory, which of the following is a situational characteristic?

- A. Leader intelligence
- B. Situational characteristics
- C. Formal authority
- D. Informal authority

Answer: B. Situational characteristics

6. In the path-goal theory, what do effective leaders do?

- A. Set challenging goals
- B. Punish low performance
- C. Remove obstacles
- D. Use directive behavior

Answer: C. Remove obstacles

7. According to the Vroom and Yetton model, which factor in decision making depends on:

- A. Leader's preference
- B. Decision aspects, subordinates, and the situation
- C. Subordinates' willingness
- D. Leader's authority

Answer: B. Decision aspects, subordinates, and the situation

8. What does Leader-Member Exchange theory focus on?

- A. Leader effectiveness
- B. Leader-follower relationships
- C. Formal authority
- D. Task-oriented leaders

Answer: B. Leader-follower relationships

9. What is a leadership substitute?

- A. Something that supports a formal leader
- B. Something that acts in place of a formal leader
- C. A formal leader's assistant
- D. A formal leader's replacement

Answer: B. Something that acts in place of a leader.

10 What is a leadership neutralizer?

- A. Enhances leader influence
- B. Prevents leader influence
- C. Supports leader efforts
- D. Acts as a leader's substitute

Answer: B. Prevents leader influence

11 What is a key trait of charismatic leaders?

- A. Introversion
- B. Self-confidence
- C. Shyness
- D. Laziness

Answer: B. Self-confidence

12 According to Bass' theory, what do transformational leaders do?

- A. Maintain the status quo
- B. Change followers to fit the environment
- C. Focus on personal gain
- D. Avoid vision communication

Answer: B. Change followers to fit the environment

13 What is a dimension of trust in leadership?

- A. Authoritarianism
- B. Consistency
- C. Dominance

D. Laziness

Answer: B. Consistency

14 What does transformational leadership focus on?

A. Personal gain

B. Task significance and high performance

C. Reward exchange

D. Punishment for low performance

Answer: B. Task significance and high performance

15 What is the main characteristic of transactional leadership?

A. Motivating by exchanging rewards

B. Setting challenging goals

C. Developing a vision

D. Changing the organization

Answer: A. Motivating by exchanging rewards

16 According to Leader-Member Exchange theory, which type of relationship is most effective?

A. Low-quality relationships

B. High-quality relationships

C. Formal leaders

D. Task-oriented leaders

Answer: B. High-quality relationships

17 Which theory proposes that leader effectiveness is determined by situational characteristics?

A. Vroom and Yetton model

B. Fiedler's contingency theory

C. Path - goal theory

D. Leader - Member Exchange theory

Answer: B. Fiedler's contingency theory

18 What is a type of trust based on fear or coercion?

A. Knowledge-based trust

B. Identification-based trust

C. Deterrence-based trust

D. Consistency-based trust

Answer: C. Deterrence-based trust

19 What does path-goal theory emphasize?

A. Leader characteristics

B. Subordinate perceptions and motivation

C. Environmental factors only

D. Personal characteristics of the employee

Answer: B. Subordinate perceptions and motivation

20 What is a characteristic of Visionary Leadership?

A. Fear of change

B. Lack of communication ability

C. Linking followers' needs and goals

D. Avoidance of crises

Answer: C. Linking followers' needs and goals

Q & A :

1. What is the main focus of leadership in an organization?

- Answer: The main focus of leadership is organization as a whole achieve their goals.
- 2. How is formal leadership different from informal leadership?
 - Answer: Formal leaders have formal authority while informal leaders lack formal authority. They lack special skills or talents.
- 3. According to the trait approach to leadership, what are the traits of good leaders?
 - Answer: Good leaders tend to possess traits such as confidence, honesty, maturity, and low self-monitoring.
- 4. What are the two main categories of leadership styles?
 - Answer: The two main categories of leadership styles are initiating structure and individual consideration.
- 5. In Fiedler's contingency theory, what are the situational characteristics?
 - Answer: Leader effectiveness in Fiedler's theory is determined by three situational characteristics: leader-member relations, task structure, and position power.
- 6. When are relationship-oriented leaders most effective?
 - Answer: Relationship-oriented leaders are most effective in situations with high leader-member relations and low task structure.
- 7. What is the core idea of the path-goal theory?
 - Answer: The core idea of the path-goal theory is that leaders should guide their followers by providing them with the right path to goal achievement.
- 8. What does the Vroom and Yetton model specify?
 - Answer: The Vroom and Yetton model specifies a decision-making process that should involve their subordinates in decision-making. It considers task characteristics, subordinate characteristics, and needed input for decision-making.
- 9. What is the central concept of Leader-Member Exchange (LMX) theory?
 - Answer: Leader-Member Exchange theory focuses on the development of different kinds of relationships between leaders and their subordinates, which affects group and out-group dynamics.
- 10. What are leadership substitutes and how do they work?
 - Answer: Leadership substitutes are factors that make leadership unnecessary in certain situations. They include task characteristics, subordinate characteristics, and situational characteristics.
- 11. What is a leadership neutralizer, and how does it work?
 - Answer: A leadership neutralizer is a factor that reduces or negates the influence of leadership. It can be a task characteristic, subordinate characteristic, or situational characteristic.
- 12. What do transformational leaders aim to do?
 - Answer: Transformational leaders aim to inspire and motivate their followers by emphasizing the importance of their jobs, personal growth, and the good of the organization.
- 13. What is the primary focus of transactional leadership?
 - Answer: Transactional leadership focuses on the exchange between leaders and followers, using rewards and reprimanding instances of low performance.
- 14. How can a leader's mood at work influence their subordinates?
 - Answer: Preliminary research suggests that a leader's mood at work can influence their subordinates' mood and performance.

15 Do women and men differ in their leadership style?
○ Answer: Women and men do not appear to differ in their leadership style. Both are considered to be more participative as leaders.

16 What does the Path-Goal Theory emphasize?
○ Answer: The Path-Goal Theory emphasizes the type of behavior they engage in (individualized consideration, achievement-oriented) to match the nature of the work being done.

17 What is a leadership void in the context of leadership?
○ Answer: A leadership void occurs when the leader is having little or no effect on the group.

18 What are the key traits of a charismatic leader?
○ Answer: Key traits of a charismatic leader are vision, strong conviction in that vision, and extraordinary behavior.

19 What is the primary focus of transformational leadership?
○ Answer: Transformational leaders focus on the development of task significance and high performance for the organization's benefit.

20 What are the dimensions of trust in leadership?
○ Answer: The dimensions of trust in leadership are consistency, loyalty, and openness.

24: Power and Politics

MC Qs :

1. What is power in an organizational context?

- A. The ability to control physical resources.
- B. The ability to influence others' behavior.
- C. The ability to delegate tasks effectively.
- D. The ability to make important decisions.

Answer: B

2. Which of the following is NOT a characteristic of power?

- A. It is a function of dependency.
- B. It is always used when it exists.

- C. It is related to the alternatives at
D. It is a capacity or potential.

Answer: B

3. Coercive power is based on:

- A. Rewarding positive behavior.
B. Developing expertise.
C. Threats or physical sanctions.
D. Charismatic appeal.

Answer: C

4. Which type of power is based on an individual's attractiveness?

- A. Legitimate power
B. Reward power
C. Expert power
D. Referent power

Answer: D

5. Legitimate power is derived from:

- A. Charismatic appeal.
B. An individual's position in the formal organization.
C. Control over valuable resources.
D. Expertise and knowledge.

Answer: B

6. Expert power is primarily based on:

- A. The ability to reward or punish others.

- B. Position in the organizational hierarchy
- C. Special skills, knowledge, or experience
- D. Charismatic appeal.

Answer: C

7. What is one of the key consequences of having authority?

- A. Decreased job satisfaction
- B. Increased dependence on others
- C. Ability to influence organizational decisions
- D. Reduced salary increases

Answer: C

8. What term describes activities that are not part of the formal organization but influence the distribution of power in the organization?

- A. Job description
- B. Power dynamics
- C. Political behavior
- D. Leadership activities

Answer: C

9. In an organization, politics is most likely to exist when:

- A. Shared values and goals among all members
- B. Limited resources and different interpretations of goals
- C. Complete transparency in decision-making
- D. A lack of ambiguity in interpreting facts

Answer: B

10 How does information relate to power in organizations?

- A. Control over information flow is based on power.
- B. Coping with organizational uncertainty is the primary function of information.
- C. Those who control information flow have the most power.
- D. Information is unrelated to power in organizations.

Answer: C

11 What should managers do to manage political conflict in organizations?

- A. Limit communication to minimize ambiguity.
- B. Encourage competition among work groups.
- C. Maintain a closed communication network.
- D. Maintain open communication and provide feedback.

Answer: D

12 Which principle of power suggests that power is relative?

- A. Power is perceived.
- B. Power bases must be coordinated.
- C. Power is a double-edged sword.
- D. Power is relative.

Answer: D

13 What is the key factor that creates dependence in organizations?

- A. Resource scarcity
- B. Expertise
- C. Position in the hierarchy
- D. Charisma

Answer: A

14 What type of power is based on an individual's attractiveness?

- A. Legitimate power
- B. Reward power
- C. Expert power
- D. Referent power

Answer: D

15 What is the primary characteristic of coercive power?

- A. It is based on expert knowledge.
- B. It relies on rewarding positive behavior.
- C. It involves threats or physical sanctions.
- D. It is derived from one's position.

Answer: C

16 What does legitimate power stem from in an organization?

- A. Expertise and knowledge
- B. Charismatic appeal
- C. Position in the formal hierarchy
- D. Control over valuable resources

Answer: C

17 How does expertise create a power base in an organization?

- A. By offering rewards and incentives to others
- B. By having a charismatic personality
- C. Through special skills, knowledge, or experience

D. By holding a high position in the hierarchy

Answer: C

18 What is one of the key consequences of having a high position in the hierarchy?

A. Decreased job satisfaction

B. Increased dependence on others

C. Ability to influence organizational decisions

D. Reduced salary increases

Answer: C

19 In an organization, politics is most likely to exist when:

A. Shared values and goals among all members

B. Limited resources and different interests

C. Complete transparency in decision-making

D. A lack of ambiguity in interpreting facts

Answer: B

20 What should managers do to manage political behavior?

A. Limit communication to minimize ambiguity

B. Encourage competition among work groups

C. Maintain a closed communication network

D. Maintain open communication and provide feedback

Answer: D

21 What is power in an organizational context?

A. The ability to control information

B. Influence over decision-making

C. Leadership style

D. Expertise in a specific field

Answer: B

22 According to the General Dependency Postulate, what is the relationship between dependency and power?

A. The greater the dependency, the lower the power

B. There is no relationship between dependency and power

C. The greater the dependency, the greater the power

D. Dependency and power are unrelated

Answer: C

23 Which power base is derived from an individual's personal characteristics?

A. Coercive Power

B. Reward Power

C. Expert Power

D. Legitimate Power

Answer: C

24 What is the key difference between reward power and coercive power?

A. Reward power relies on fear, while coercive power relies on positive reinforcement

B. Coercive power focuses on positive reinforcement, while reward power focuses on punishment

C. Both are essentially the same.

D. Reward power involves giving, while coercive power involves taking

Answer: D

25 What is an example of legitimate power?

A. The ability to distribute rewards.

B. Control over information flow.

C. Influence derived from expertise.

D. Power based on one's formal position.

Answer: D

26 What does charismatic power stem from?

A. Coercion and fear

B. Structural position

C. Personal qualities and interpersonal skills

D. Expertise and knowledge

Answer: C

27 Which power source is described as "influence based on special skill, or knowledge"?

A. Expert Power

B. Coercive Power

C. Reward Power

D. Legitimate Power

Answer: A

28 What is the principle that suggests "Power is relative"?

A. Power is perceived.

B. Power is relative.

C. Power bases must be coordinated.

D. Power is used and abused.

Answer: D

29 In the context of leadership and power, which of the following is true?

- A. Goal compatibility
- B. Direction of influence
- C. Use of reward power
- D. Political astuteness

Answer: A

30 What is the General Dependency Postulate?

- A. The greater B's dependency on A, the greater A's power over B.
- B. Dependency and power are unrelated.
- C. Power is absolute and not dependent on dependency.
- D. Power decreases with increasing dependency.

Answer: A

31 What does political behavior in organizations include?

- A. Activities required as part of one's job.
- B. Conflict resolution strategies.
- C. Activities that influence the distribution of resources.
- D. Legitimate decision-making processes.

Answer: C

32 What is the primary factor that creates dependency?

- A. Control over information flow
- B. Importance and scarcity
- C. Position in the formal hierarchy
- D. Leadership style

Answer: B

33 Which power base is based on the right to punish?

- A. Reward Power
- B. Coercive Power
- C. Legitimate Power
- D. Expert Power

Answer: C

34 What is the relationship between information control and power?

- A. No relationship
- B. Information control decreases power
- C. Information control increases power
- D. Information control is a form of coercion

Answer: C

35 How can organizations cope with uncertainty?

- A. Avoid information sharing
- B. Centralized structures
- C. Limit participation in decision-making
- D. Increase role ambiguity

Answer: B

Q & A:

1. Why is power considered crucial for getting things done?

- o A: Power is essential as it provides the authority and resources for facilitating the accomplishment of tasks.

2. In the context of power, what is the significance of understanding what your boss needs?

- o A: Developing knowledge or skills that enable you to anticipate and meet the needs of your boss, making others dependent on your expertise.

3. How does the concept of power create a conflict?
○ A: The continual battle in organizations to maximize dependence on them while minimizing it.
4. According to the lesson, why might people exhibit difficult behavior in organizations?
○ A: Individuals in positions of power whose performance expectations exceed their own.
5. Differentiate between expert and coercive power.
○ A: Expert power is derived from personal knowledge, while coercive power is based on organizational authority.
6. How does the effective use of expert power affect performance and satisfaction?
○ A: Effective use of expert power leads to higher performance, commitment, and satisfaction, especially if the manager is perceived positively by those they admire or respect.
7. What is the key message for managers regarding power?
○ A: The key message for managers is to use power to enhance performance and influence.
8. How does the power of a boss impact job satisfaction?
○ A: The power of a boss can positively impact job satisfaction if used discretionarily and the ability to delegate, making the job more pleasant.
9. In what ways does the effective manager use power in organizations?
○ A: The effective manager accepts the power of the position, assesses behavior in a political framework, and formulates political strategies for achieving organizational goals.
10. Explain the General Dependency Postulate.
○ A: The General Dependency Postulate states that the greater the power A has over B, the more B will do something desirable to others.
11. How does legitimacy differentiate legitimate and illegitimate power?
○ A: Legitimate power in formal groups is based on the acceptance of authority by group members, while illegitimate power is based on coercion and reward powers.
12. Define charismatic power and its connection to leadership.
○ A: Charismatic power is an extension of an individual's personality and interpersonal skills, often leading to high performance and personal qualities.
13. Elaborate on the consequences of power, particularly in the workplace.
○ A: Managers with power benefit by obtaining resources for their department, influencing organizational decisions, and achieving their goals.
14. Contrast the goals associated with leadership and power.

- A: Leadership focuses on goal achievement, power relies on dependence and does not.
- 15 Explain the significance of the direction of influence.
- A: Leadership emphasizes downward influence, while power encompasses a broader area, including lateral and upward influence.
- 16 What is the General Dependency Postulate, and power?
- A: The General Dependency Postulate states that the greater the dependency of a subordinate on a leader, the greater the power the leader has over the subordinate. It also states that the greater the dependency on alternative sources of power, the less the dependency on the leader.
- 17 How does scarcity contribute to the creation of power?
- A: Scarcity, where a resource is perceived as being in short supply by individuals or groups controlling scarce resources, contributes to the creation of power.
- 18 Define political behavior in organizations and its role in conflict.
- A: Political behavior in organizations is the use of power to influence the distribution of advantages and disadvantages among individuals or groups with limited resources and conflicting interests.
- 19 How does information control contribute to power play in this context?
- A: Control over information flow, based on the ability to influence, particularly in centralized organizations, contributes to power play.
- 20 List some strategies for managing political behavior in organizations.
- A: Strategies include maintaining open communication, setting clear expectations, using participative management, managing resources effectively, and creating a positive organizational climate.

25: Power and Politics

MC Qs:

1. What is power in the organizational context?
 - A. The ability to control others physically
 - B. The ability to influence others' behavior
 - C. The possession of scarce resources
 - D. The authority to make decisions unilaterally

Answer: B

2. What are activities in which managers coordinate individual and group goals called?

- A. Strategies
- B. Tactics
- C. Operations
- D. Maneuvers

Answer: B

3. Which of the following is an example of formal power?

- A. Expert power
- B. Referent power
- C. Charismatic power
- D. Legitimate power

Answer: D

4. What does the Power Corruption Cycle describe?

- A. The cyclical nature of political corruption
- B. Employee reactions to power
- C. The consequences of unchecked power
- D. The evolution of organizational politics

Answer: C

5. What are the three main sources of conflict in organizations?

- A. Competition, power, and scarcity
- B. Differentiation, task relationships, and communication
- C. Cooperation, politics, and resource allocation

D. Personality clashes, goals, and communication

Answer: B

6. According to Pondy's model of conflict, which is the most common manifestation of conflict?

A. Latent conflict

B. Perceived conflict

C. Felt conflict

D. Manifest conflict

Answer: D

7. What is the role of a strong CEO in managing organizational politics?

A. Actively engage in political tactics

B. Promote individual power struggles

C. Keep powerful people and groups in check

D. Encourage illegitimate political behavior

Answer: C

8. Which contingency variable influences the level of conflict?

A. Employee perception

B. Organizational culture

C. Managerial personality

D. Relative power

Answer: C

9. What does Impression Management (IM) involve?

A. Controlling information flow

- B. Manipulating others' perceptions of the organization
- C. Forming coalitions and alliances
- D. Managing conflict at the organizational level

Answer: B

10 Which individual factor contributes to an individual's ability to adapt to various situations?

- A. Need for power
- B. Internal locus of control
- C. Level of self-monitoring
- D. Perceived alternatives

Answer: C

11 What does a political strategy in an organization refer to?

- A. Decision-making processes
- B. Combinations and sequences of political actions
- C. Individual power sources
- D. Types of organizational politics

Answer: B

12 Which organizational factor contributes to low employee performance expectations?

- A. Low trust
- B. Scarcity of resources
- C. Unclear evaluation systems
- D. Democratic decision making

Answer: C