MCM301 – Final Terms Fall 2024

Prepared By: Usama Farooq +92 318 1683 839

SHORT QUESTIONS

1) What is memo?
2) What is social invitation letter?
3) Planning to persuasive message
4) Types of Indirect letters.
5) How to prepare for Presentation?
6) Note down the benefits of the transparencies.
7) Enlist five tips for candidates for interview.
8) What is boardroom seating arrangement?
9) How to conduct a meeting?
10) How Interviewer interviews?
11) How to make a meeting good?
12) Discuss about disruptive behavior.
13) What is persuasive speech?
14) Difference between collection letter and social invitation letter.
15) How to prepare for a presentation?
16) Why are grammar and punctuation important?
17) What is direct request in writing?
18) Using of positive words on written communication is important? Discuss.
19) What will happen if you allow to raise hand and allow to ask questions during the presentation (drawbacks)?
20) Five ways of a presenter for effective response?
21) Drawback of comments during presentation?
22) Define stages of group formation.
23) "It's not what you say it's how you say". Elaborate this statement in your own words.
24) What is group meeting? And role of participants?
25) Define functional resume.
26) What are characteristics of completeness?
27) If you have collected all the information for a presentation then what would your next step to present?
28) What are the guidelines to be effective in both speaking and listening?
29) What are the elements for the effective written communication?
30) How outline helps in written communication?
31) Write non-essential parts of letter?
32) Write at least 5 guideline that restrict us to make false logics about people.
33) Explain what is congratulations letter?
34) Write qualities of letter of congratulations.
35) Elements of effective writing
36) Why grammar and punctuation is important?
37) Four steps of Group formation?
38) What are types of good-news letter?
39) What is 35mm slides in visual aids?
40) Types of persuasive letter.
41) Write three points on 'how a speaker could overcome negativity'?
42) What is social letter?
43) Write four ways for effective responses.
44) What is good letter and its types?
45) Suppose, "You are having an interview for lecturer in Virtual University of Pakistan." What do you think 5 questions will be asked?
46) What are types of seating arrangements?
47) "Congratulations, you are appointed as Lectures in VU" What type of letter it is?
48) In written communication, the use of positive wording is essential for building goodwill. Discuss.
49) While preparing for effective business writing, what steps are undertaken during planning stage? Explain.
50) What questions must be kept in mind while evaluating a business writing during ending stage?
51) The use of conditional statement is appreciated in an indirect approach for writing disappointing news letters. Discuss.
52) What information a well-written resume must convey?
53) How can seeking input from business associates assist a presenter in identifying potential questions and objections from the audience?
54) Difference b/w Direct & Indirect method.
55) What do you understand direct request letter?
56) After giving disappointed news. How you will achieve cheerful notes?
57) Explain the features and layout of the conventional theater-style seating?
58) Write the ways through which we can eliminate repetition.
59) Write ways are used to write an effective disappoint or bad news message?
60) What principles are essential when establishing an inquiry request for a person?

Usama Farooq

LONG QUESTIONS

1) What visual aid/s would you like to use while giving a presentation. State reasons for choosing one.
2) What is group meeting? Discuss participant roles of a group meeting in your own words.
3) Note down the different contexts in which reference or attention line is usually useful.
4) What are fallacies about resume?
5) Why we deemphasize negativity in indirect speech?
6) Parts of a letter?
7) While using visual aids, which factors should be determined?
8) What are factors of a good message?
9) Visual aids in oral presentation.
10) How you know about congratulations letter?
11) Describe the term 'emphasis'?
12) Which things are essential for business messages?
13) Discuss disappointing messages with examples.
14) What is Persuasive writing?
15) How to prepare for a presentation?
16) How to end a letter professionally?
17) What is group communication and role of participants?
18) Write three techniques for disappointing letters?
19) List parts of Business Letter.
20) What is the role of visual aids?
21) In what situation or circumstances would the use of handouts be useful as a visual and why?
22) Writing at a level appropriate for your reader is crucial. Explain?
23) Audience centered tone is very important in writing disappointing-news letter. Discuss the ways?
24) Discuss the advantages of memorandum or memo?
25) Write the benefits of completeness and also the elements of writing effective communication.

Answers:

SHORT QUESTIONS

1. What is a memo?

A memo (short for memorandum) is a written message used for internal communication within an organization. It is typically used to convey information, policies, or instructions to employees.

2. What is a social invitation letter?

A social invitation letter is a formal or informal letter sent to invite someone to a social event, such as a wedding, party, or gathering. It includes details like the date, time, venue, and purpose of the event.

3. Planning to persuasive message

Planning a persuasive message involves identifying the audience's needs, crafting a clear and compelling message, using logical arguments, and appealing to emotions to convince the audience to take a specific action.

4. Types of Indirect letters.

Indirect letters include letters that deliver bad news, refusal letters, or letters that require a persuasive approach. They often start with a buffer, followed by an explanation, and then the main message.

5. How to prepare for a presentation?

To prepare for a presentation, research your topic, organize your content, create visual aids, practice your delivery, and anticipate questions from the audience.

6. Note down the benefits of the transparencies.

Transparencies are easy to use, cost-effective, and allow for clear visual representation of information. They are also reusable and can be easily updated.

7. Enlist five tips for candidates for an interview.

Research the company, dress appropriately, practice common interview questions, bring copies of your resume, and follow up with a thank-you note after the interview.

8. What is boardroom seating arrangement?

A boardroom seating arrangement involves a large table with chairs around it, typically used for formal meetings. It allows for face-to-face interaction and is ideal for discussions and decision-making.

9. How to conduct a meeting?

To conduct a meeting, set a clear agenda, invite relevant participants, start on time, facilitate discussion, and summarize key points and action items at the end.

10. How does an interviewer conduct an interview?

An interviewer prepares questions, creates a comfortable environment, listens actively, takes notes, and evaluates the candidate's responses to make an informed decision.

11. How to make a meeting good?

To make a meeting effective, have a clear agenda, involve all participants, keep the discussion focused, and ensure that decisions and action items are clearly documented.

12. Discuss about disruptive behavior.

Disruptive behavior in a meeting or presentation includes interrupting, being argumentative, or distracting others. It can be managed by setting ground rules, addressing the behavior directly, and maintaining control of the discussion.

13. What is persuasive speech?

A persuasive speech is designed to convince the audience to adopt a particular viewpoint or take a specific action. It uses logical arguments, emotional appeals, and credible evidence.

Usama Farooq

14. Difference between collection letter and social invitation letter.

A collection letter is a formal request for payment of a debt, while a social invitation letter is an informal or formal request to attend a social event.

15. How to prepare for a presentation?

Research your topic, organize your content, create visual aids, practice your delivery, and anticipate questions from the audience.

16. Why are grammar and punctuation important?

Grammar and punctuation are important because they ensure clarity, professionalism, and credibility in written communication. They help convey the intended message accurately.

17. What is direct request in writing?

A direct request in writing is a straightforward message where the request is stated clearly at the beginning, followed by supporting details and a polite closing.

18. Using of positive words in written communication is important? Discuss.

Using positive words in written communication is important because it creates a positive tone, builds goodwill, and encourages a favorable response from the reader.

19. What will happen if you allow to raise hand and allow to ask questions during the presentation (drawbacks)?

Allowing questions during a presentation can disrupt the flow, cause the speaker to lose focus, and lead to time management issues. It may also lead to off-topic discussions.

20. Five ways of a presenter for effective response?

Listen attentively, discern the nature of the question, affirm the person, provide a clear and concise answer, and maintain a confident and professional demeanor.

21. Drawback of comments during presentation?

Comments during a presentation can interrupt the flow, distract the audience, and cause the speaker to lose focus or time.

22. Define stages of group formation.

The stages of group formation are forming (initial meeting), storming (conflict and competition), norming (establishing roles and norms), and performing (working effectively as a team).

23. "It's not what you say it's how you say". Elaborate this statement in your own words.

This statement means that the way you deliver a message (tone, body language, and style) is often more important than the content itself in influencing how the message is received.

24. What is group meeting? And role of participants?

A group meeting is a gathering of individuals to discuss and make decisions on specific topics. Participants' roles include contributing ideas, listening actively, and collaborating to achieve the meeting's objectives.

25. Define functional resume.

A functional resume focuses on skills and experiences rather than chronological work history. It is useful for individuals with gaps in employment or those changing careers.

26. What are characteristics of completeness?

Completeness in communication means providing all necessary information, answering all questions, and ensuring the message is clear and comprehensive.

27. If you have collected all the information for a presentation then what would your next step to present?

The next step is to organize the information into a logical structure, create visual aids, and practice the delivery to ensure clarity and confidence.

28. What are the guidelines to be effective in both speaking and listening?

Guidelines include being clear and concise, maintaining eye contact, listening actively, and adapting your message to the audience's needs.

29. What are the elements for the effective written communication?

Elements include clarity, conciseness, coherence, correctness, and completeness.

30. How outline helps in written communication?

An outline helps organize thoughts, structure the content logically, and ensure that all key points are covered in a coherent manner.

31. Write non-essential parts of a letter.

Non-essential parts of a letter include the reference line, attention line, and postscript (P.S.).

32. Write at least 5 guidelines that restrict us to make false logics about people.

Avoid stereotypes, consider individual differences, seek evidence, avoid assumptions, and be open to changing your perspective.

33. Explain what is a congratulations letter?

A congratulations letter is a formal or informal message sent to someone to acknowledge and celebrate their achievement or success.

34. Write qualities of a letter of congratulations.

Qualities include sincerity, specificity, positivity, and a personal touch.

35. Elements of effective writing.

Clarity, coherence, conciseness, correctness, and completeness.

36. Why grammar and punctuation is important?

Grammar and punctuation ensure clarity, professionalism, and credibility in written communication.

37. Four steps of Group formation?

Forming, storming, norming, and performing.

38. What are types of good-news letter?

Types include congratulatory letters, acceptance letters, and appreciation letters.

39. What is 35mm slides in visual aids?

35mm slides are photographic slides used in presentations to display images or text on a projector.

Usama Farooq

40. Types of persuasive letter.

Types include sales letters, fundraising letters, and recommendation letters.

41. Write three points on 'how a speaker could overcome negativity'.

Focus on positive aspects, use constructive language, and address concerns with empathy.

42. What is a social letter?

A social letter is a personal letter written to maintain social relationships, such as thank-you notes, invitations, or congratulatory messages.

43. Write four ways for effective responses.

Listen attentively, discern the intent, affirm the person, and provide a clear and concise answer.

44. What is a good letter and its types?

A good letter is clear, concise, and well-structured. Types include formal letters, informal letters, business letters, and social letters.

45. Suppose, "You are having an interview for lecturer in Virtual University of Pakistan." What do you think 5 questions will be asked?

Questions may include your teaching philosophy, experience with online education, subject expertise, research interests, and how you handle student challenges.

46. What are types of seating arrangements?

Types include theater-style, boardroom, U-shaped, and classroom-style seating.

47. "Congratulations, you are appointed as Lecturer in VU" What type of letter it is?

It is a congratulatory letter.

48. In written communication, the use of positive wording is essential for building goodwill. Discuss.

Positive wording creates a favorable impression, encourages cooperation, and fosters a positive relationship with the reader.

49. While preparing for effective business writing, what steps are undertaken during planning stage? Explain.

Steps include identifying the purpose, analyzing the audience, gathering information, and organizing the content.

50. What questions must be kept in mind while evaluating a business writing during ending stage?

Questions include whether the message is clear, if all necessary information is included, and if the tone is appropriate.

51. The use of conditional statement is appreciated in an indirect approach for writing disappointing news letters. Discuss.

Conditional statements soften the impact of bad news by presenting it as a possibility rather than a certainty, making it easier for the recipient to accept.

52. What information a well-written resume must convey?

A well-written resume must convey your skills, experiences, education, and achievements relevant to the job you are applying for.

53. How can seeking input from business associates assist a presenter in identifying potential questions and objections from the audience?

Business associates can provide insights based on their experience, helping the presenter anticipate and prepare for questions or objections that may arise.

54. Difference b/w Direct & Indirect method.

The direct method states the main point upfront, while the indirect method starts with a buffer or background information before delivering the main message.

55. What do you understand by direct request letter?

A direct request letter is a straightforward message where the request is stated clearly at the beginning, followed by supporting details and a polite closing.

56. After giving disappointed news, how you will achieve cheerful notes?

End on a positive note by offering alternatives, expressing hope for future opportunities, or showing appreciation for the recipient's understanding.

57. Explain the features and layout of the conventional theater-style seating.

Theater-style seating involves rows of chairs facing a stage or podium, with a central aisle for access. It is ideal for large audiences and formal presentations.

58. Write the ways through which we can eliminate repetition.

Ways include using synonyms, varying sentence structure, and ensuring each point is made only once.

59. Write ways are used to write an effective disappoint or bad news message?

Start with a buffer, provide a clear explanation, deliver the bad news tactfully, and end on a positive or hopeful note.

60. What principles are essential when establishing an inquiry request for a person?

Principles include clarity, politeness, specificity, and providing context for the inquiry.

LONG QUESTIONS

1. What visual aid/s would you like to use while giving a presentation. State reasons for choosing one.

I would use PowerPoint slides because they are versatile, easy to update, and allow for the integration of text, images, and videos to enhance understanding.

2. What is a group meeting? Discuss participant roles of a group meeting in your own words.

A group meeting is a gathering of individuals to discuss and make decisions on specific topics. Participants' roles include contributing ideas, listening actively, and collaborating to achieve the meeting's objectives.

3. Note down the different contexts in which reference or attention line is usually useful.

Reference or attention lines are useful in formal business letters to direct the letter to a specific person or department, especially in large organizations.

4. What are fallacies about resume?

Fallacies include the belief that a longer resume is better, that only job titles matter, and that gaps in employment are always negative.

Usama Farooq

5. Why we deemphasize negativity in indirect speech?
We deemphasize negativity to soften the impact of bad news, maintain a positive relationship with the recipient, and encourage a more favorable response.
6. Parts of a letter?
Parts include the heading, date, inside address, salutation, body, closing, and signature.
7. While using visual aids, which factors should be determined?
Factors include the audience's needs, the type of information being presented, the setting, and the technology available.
8. What are factors of a good message?
Factors include clarity, conciseness, coherence, correctness, and completeness.
9. Visual aids in oral presentation.
Visual aids enhance understanding, maintain audience interest, and reinforce key points. Examples include slides, charts, and videos.
10. How you know about congratulations letter?
A congratulations letter is a formal or informal message sent to someone to acknowledge and celebrate their achievement or success.
11. Describe the term 'emphasis'.
Emphasis in communication refers to the stress placed on certain words or ideas to make them stand out and be more memorable.
12. Which things are essential for business messages?
Essential elements include clarity, conciseness, professionalism, and a clear call to action.
13. Discuss disappointing messages with examples.
Disappointing messages convey bad news, such as rejection letters or project cancellations. They should be delivered tactfully, with empathy and a positive closing.
14. What is Persuasive writing?
Persuasive writing aims to convince the reader to adopt a particular viewpoint or take a specific action through logical arguments and emotional appeals.
15. How to prepare for a presentation?
Research your topic, organize your content, create visual aids, practice your delivery, and anticipate questions from the audience.
16. How to end a letter professionally?
End with a polite closing, such as "Sincerely," followed by your name and signature. Include a call to action if necessary.
17. What is group communication and role of participants?
Group communication involves the exchange of ideas among group members. Participants' roles include contributing ideas, listening actively, and collaborating to achieve the group's objectives.
18. Write three techniques for disappointing letters.
Start with a buffer, provide a clear explanation, and end on a positive or hopeful note.
19. List parts of Business Letter.
Parts include the heading, date, inside address, salutation, body, closing, and signature.
20. What is the role of visual aids?
Visual aids enhance understanding, maintain audience interest, and reinforce key points in a presentation.
21. In what situation or circumstances would the use of handouts be useful as a visual and why?
Handouts are useful when detailed information needs to be referenced later, such as in training sessions or workshops, as they provide a tangible resource for the audience.
22. Writing at a level appropriate for your reader is crucial. Explain?
Writing at the reader's level ensures that the message is understood, avoids confusion, and maintains the reader's interest.
23. Audience-centered tone is very important in writing disappointing-news letter. Discuss the ways?
An audience-centered tone shows empathy, respects the reader's feelings, and softens the impact of bad news, making it easier for the reader to accept.
24. Discuss the advantages of memorandum or memo.
Memos are quick, cost-effective, and efficient for internal communication. They provide a written record and can be easily distributed to multiple recipients.
25. Write the benefits of completeness and also the elements of writing effective communication.
Completeness ensures that all necessary information is provided, reducing the need for follow-up questions. Elements of effective communication include clarity, coherence, conciseness, correctness, and completeness.

دعاؤں میں یاد رکھئے۔

Usama Farooq