

503 Final 2020

By Nimra khalid.

Q1. Teacher as a tutor

Ans: A teacher is someone who leads a formal learning session.

A tutor is informal and gives additional, special or remedial instruction.

Some time teachers also play a role as a tutor

- Read interesting materials aloud to students on the consistent basis
- Visit the School library regularly and set aside time for browsing and reading
- Explains to students, how to make a choice of what to read according to genre, level of understanding and interest.
- Tells them what he or she expect over a period.

Q2. Define Linguistic imperialism

Linguistic imperialism is occasionally defined as the transfer of a dominant language to other people. In our time, the global expansion of English has often been cited as the primary example of linguistic imperialism. The term "linguistic imperialism" originated in the 1930s as part of a critique of Basic English. and

Q3. Teacher as a good organizer.

Ans Teaching requires the organization of learning. Thus it follows that an important role of the teacher is an organizer. The task of any organizer is to enable a group and the individuals in it to function effectively together for the achievement of a common purpose. This is the role of the teacher as organizer. Organization in the classroom is essential while getting organized takes time and Practice, teachers must find a system that works for them, in order to maintain a well-run classroom. It is important for teachers to stay on top of Planning, in order to keep themselves organized and on-track with goals.

Q4 Difference B/w Presupposition and entailment

Ans. In pragmatics Presupposition is what the Speaker assumes to be the case prior to making an utterance.

In Pragmatics entailment is the relationship between two sentences.

Example of Presupposition	Example of entailment
• Person called Mary exist and she has a brother	• Mary's brother bought something
• Mary has only one brother	• Bought three animals
• and that he has a lot of money	• Bought two horses
	• Bought one horse and many.

Day:

Date: / /

Q5 Code Switching

Ans The Practice of alternating between two or more languages or varieties of language in one conversation is called Code Switching. Code Switching is a linguistic phenomenon which occurs in multilingual speech communities. In this phenomenon switching is done completely from one language to another. it is done by purpose and it is dominated by two or more languages.

Reasons:

- To fulfill needs
- To Express Solidarity
- To Exclude others.

Types:-

- Situational Code-Switching
- Metaphorical Code-Switching.

Example:

if two people in an elevator in an English-Speaking place spoke Spanish then not only would the other on that elevator who do not speak Spanish would be excluded from the conversation but also a degree of comfort and intimacy would be established between the Spanish-speakers due to the fact that not all those present in the elevator can listen to their conversation.

Q6. Functional approach factor?

Ans. The functional approach is considered to be the second paradigm of psychology. This approach focuses on the function of the mental processes involving consciousness. This approach was developed by William James in 1890.

Q7 Define Concordance?

Ans. A concordance is an alphabetical list of the principal words used in a book or body of work listing every instance of each word with its immediate context.

Concordance is a comprehensive index of the words used in a text or a corpus.

Q8. Discourse analysis in ELT

Ans. Discourse analysis is the study of language in either spoken or written form. Written discourse is considered an imperative aspect that needs to be analysed. Cohesion, coherence, clause relations and text patterns are all part of written discourse.

The role of discourse analysis in English language Teaching manifesting from a functional perspective. most of the researchers has been concerned with discourse analysis as an alternative method for understanding language cognition process.

Q9. Define function in functional notational approach

Ans. The notional-functional approach in ESL is a way of structuring a syllabus around "notions", real-life situations in which people communicate, which are further broken down into "functions" specific aims of communication.

Functional Notional approach focuses on the purposes for which language is used. It emphasizes communicative Purpose of a Speech act.

The functional Notional Approach helps learners to use real and appropriate language for communication.

Q. Narrative viewpoint

Ans. Narrative point of view is the perspective of that narrator. First person narrative point of view occurs when the narrator is telling the story. Narrative viewpoint relates to who is telling the story. Sometime this is a character in the story and sometime it is an anonymous voice in the abstract that can be presumed.

Q. Need analysis

Need analysis discovers and describe language needs by using an analysis of a linguistic practice which characterizes the target situation within a discourse community. It is the first step in viewing language learning through a broader concept of the learning process.

Need analysis in language teaching may be used for a number of different purposes

- To find out what language skills a learner needs in order to perform a particular role, such as sales manager, tour guide, or university student.
- To help determine if an existing course adequately addresses the needs of potential students.
- To identify a change of direction that people in a reference group feel is important.
- To identify a gap between what students are able to do and what they need to be able to do.

Day:

Q12 Lesson and lesson planning.

A lesson plan is a framework for a lesson.
 A lesson plan is a teacher's detailed description of the course of instruction or "learning trajectory" for a lesson. A daily lesson plan is developed by a teacher to guide class learning.
 A lesson is a unified set of activities that focuses on one teaching objective at a time.

Q13 Three Causes of language contact

- Increase of social interaction ✓
- Colonization ✓
- Conquest
- Spread of language of power
- Trade and Commerce ✓
- Migrants ✓
- Globalization and communication ✓

Q14 language curriculum and reforms

language curriculum and reforms is crucial to the educational development of this country.

"Curriculum reform is about changes to the content and organization of what is taught, within the constraints of social, economic and political contexts".

Types of curriculum reforms

- Additive reforms
- External reforms
- Regulatory reforms
- Structural reforms

Q15 Five factors of effective teaching

There are some factors that are involved in creating conditions for good teaching to take place. Quality teaching is achieved not only as a consequence of how well teachers teach but through creating contexts and work environments that can facilitate good teaching. Following factors are important for providing effective teaching.

- The institutions
- The teachers
- The Teaching Process
- Developing the appraisal system
- The learning process.

Q16 Monolingual Corpora

Ans. Monolingual Corpus is the most frequent type of corpus. It contains text in one language only.

Monolingual corpora is to provide large text corpora in many languages which can be used for the routine tasks of corpus linguistics, like generating word frequency list or collecting n-gram statistics.

or

Monolingual Corpus is texts in one language only. Usually tagged for parts of speech and it is used by a wide range of users for various tasks from highly practical ones e.g. checking the correct usage of a word or natural word combination, to scientific use e.g. identifying frequent patterns of new trends in language.

Yousaf

Day:

Q17. Five attitudinal factors for Second Language learners

Ans. Five attitudinal factors are as follows.

- Cultural Interest:-

L2 learners are represented important aspects of the socio-cultural attributes of L2 community. It was observed that the awareness about the cultural items of an L2 community influenced L2 attitudes of the learners. Even where direct contact with the native speaker TL is rare, cultural products, such as books, media and music provide L2 learners with the opportunity to be familiar with L2 community.

- Attitudes Towards L2 Community.

Successful L2 learning is largely driven by learners attitudes towards L2 community. It focuses not only on learners attitudes towards L2 community and its ethno-linguistic vitality but also on their desire to meet with this community and travel to the countries that belong to it.

- Integrativeness

Learners may want to integrate into the L2 culture and become similar to the L2 speakers.

- Instrumentality

It is one of the most important and widely accepted aspects of motivational research in L2 settings. A significant motivational factor in the previous Pakistani studies. Utilitarian value of the target language serves as an important incentive for the learners.

the learners.

Day:

Date: / /

• International Posture

A tendency to see oneself as connected to the international community. it concerns for international affairs. The readiness to interact with the people other than those from the local context.

Q18 define dialect

Ans a particular form of language which is peculiar to a specific region or social group. A dialect is a regional or social variety of a language distinguished by pronunciation, grammar and vocabulary.

Dialect is a very powerful and common way of characterization, which elaborates the geographic and social background of any character.

Q19. Define Contrastive analysis

Contrastive analysis is the systematic study of a pair of languages with a view to identifying their structural differences and similarities.

Historically it has been used to establish language genealogies, or Contrastive analysis dealt with the comparison of languages that are "socio-culturally linked" i.e. languages whose speech communities overlap in some way. Input to applied disciplines for example Translation studies.

Q20 Important of vocabulary

Ans. vocabulary improves all areas of communication - listening, speaking, reading and writing. vocabulary is critical to a child's success for these reasons: vocabulary growth is directly related to school achievement. The size of a child's vocabulary in kindergarten predicts the ability to learn to read. Acquiring an extensive vocabulary is one of the largest challenges in learning a second language.

Q21 Cheating effect of language learning

Ans. Student do not remember when they copy from others when they do their own work. Students are aware when cheating is allowed to occur - the teacher's credibility is diminished, honest students are disadvantaged, and they may feel compelled to cheat just to keep up. unchecked cheating can erode student's motivation to learn.

Q22 L2 motivation

Motivation is the most used concept for explaining the failure or success of a language learner. Second language (L2) refers to a language an individual learns that is not his/her mother tongue, but is of use in the area of the individual.

Day:

Date: / /

Motivation is one of the most important factors which influence language learner's success or failure in learning the language. Motivation is defined as "the choices people make as to what experiences or goals they will approach or avoid and the degree of effort they will exert in this respect."

Q23. Teacher role as a teacher

Ans. In the presentation stage, the teacher serves as the model. Later on, he or she turns into a conductor.

Teacher's roles:

- Central and active
- Model of the TL
- Monitors and controls the process of learning.

Q24. Cultural Interview

Ans. cultural fit interview questions are used to single out candidates whose values, beliefs and behaviors fit in with your company's culture. Hiring a candidate that does not fit your company's culture ~~cultural~~ is a serious problem.