

MGT301 Quiz 2 2022 Solution with Reference

Effort By Rizwan Hussain Malik

Download PDF File From Our Website

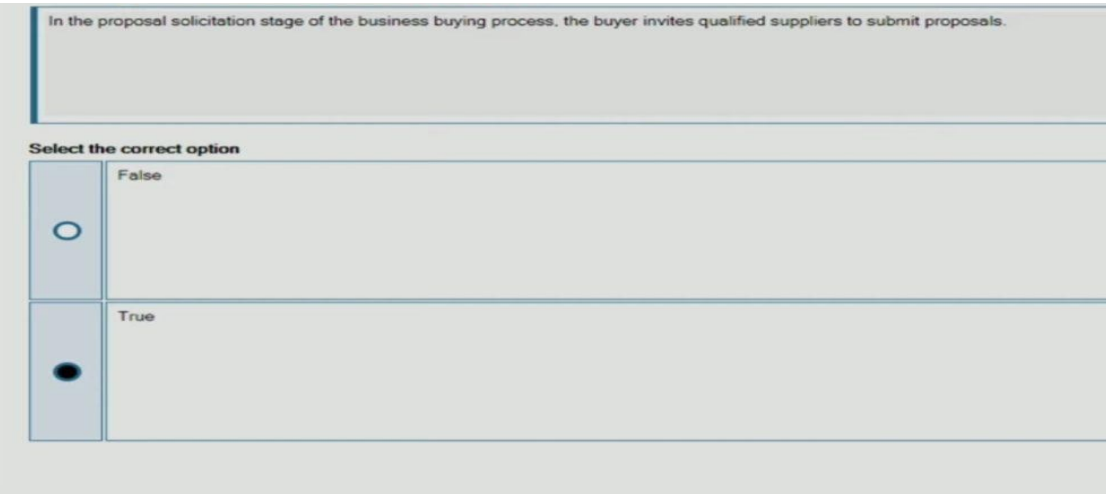

www.elegantlearning.blogspot.com

Note:

This channel is not responsible for any solved content.

malikrizwanh@gmail.com

Elegant
Learning
www.elegantlearning.blogspot.com

In the proposal solicitation stage of the business buying process, the buyer invites qualified suppliers to submit proposals.

Select the correct option

- False
- True

time the buyer will spend searching for suppliers. The suppl directories and build a good reputation in the marketplac companies in the process of searching for suppliers and make ce

e. Proposal Solicitation

In the proposal solicitation stage of the business buying pr suppliers to submit proposals. In response, some supplier salesperson. However, when the item is complex or expensi detailed written proposals or formal presentations from each po Business marketers must be skilled in researching, writing, and p buyer proposal solicitations. Proposals should be marketin documents. Presentations should inspire confidence and sho stand out from the competition.

f. Supplier Selection

The members of the buying center now review the proposals

malikrizwanh@gmail.com

Elegant
Learning
www.elegantlearning.blogspot.com

Today, most companies have moved away from mass marketing and are being choosier about the customers with whom they wish to build relationships.

Select the correct option

- (●) True
- ( ) False

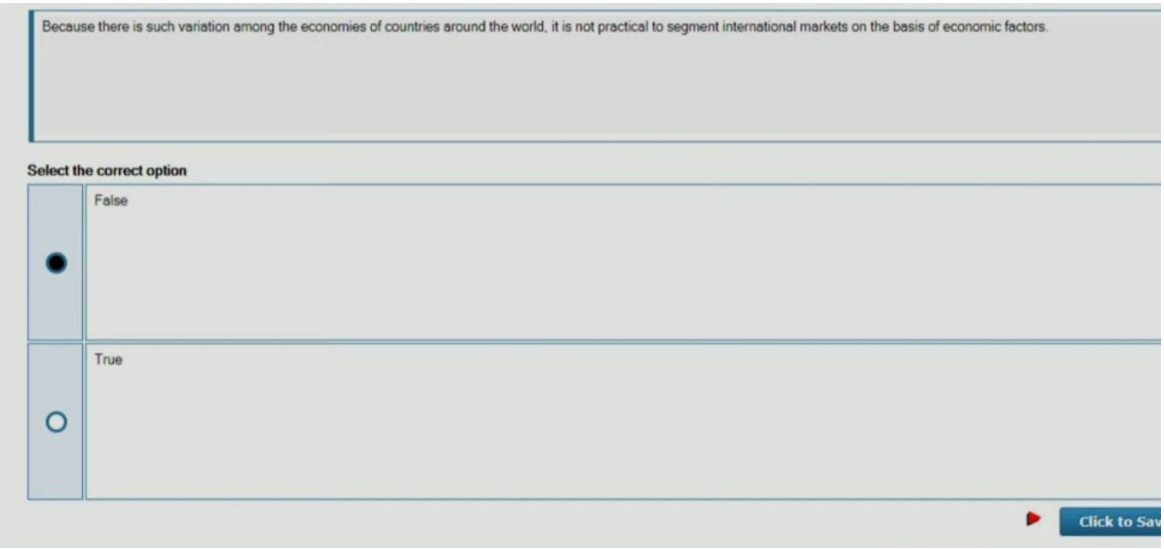

customers provide more and more credible referrals but the angry gossip of disloyal customers can devastate a firm.

3. Building Profitable Customer Relationships

Managing demand means managing customers because:

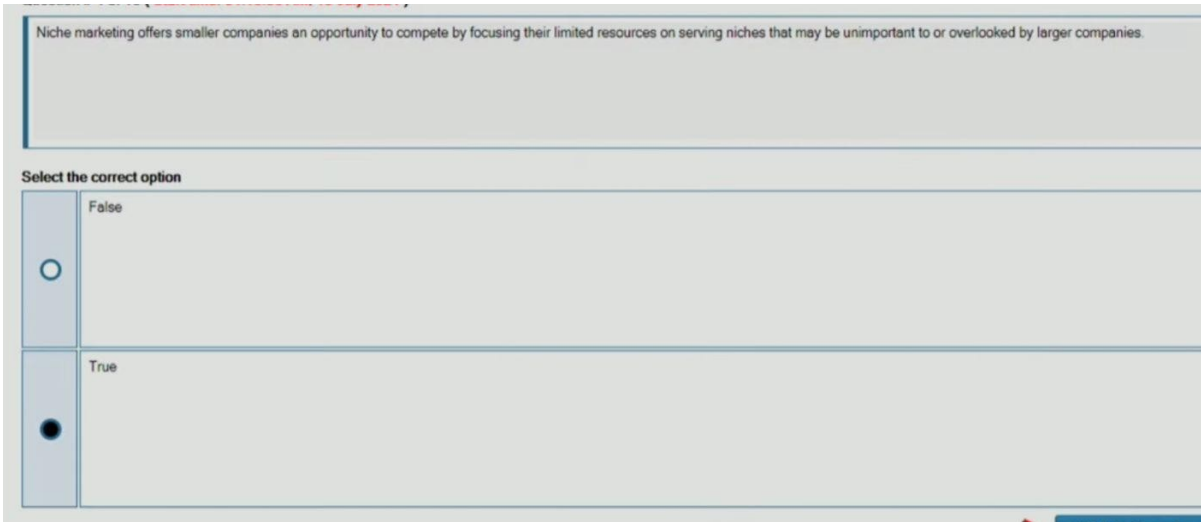

1. A demand comes from new customers and repeat customers.
2. Today, besides making efforts to attract new customers, marketers are going all out to retain and build relationships with existing customers. It costs five times as much to attract a new customer as it does to keep a current customer satisfied.
3. Because of changing demographics, a slow-growth economy, more sophisticated competitors, and overcapacity in many industries, many markets and market shares are shrinking. The key to successful customer retention is superior customer value and satisfaction.

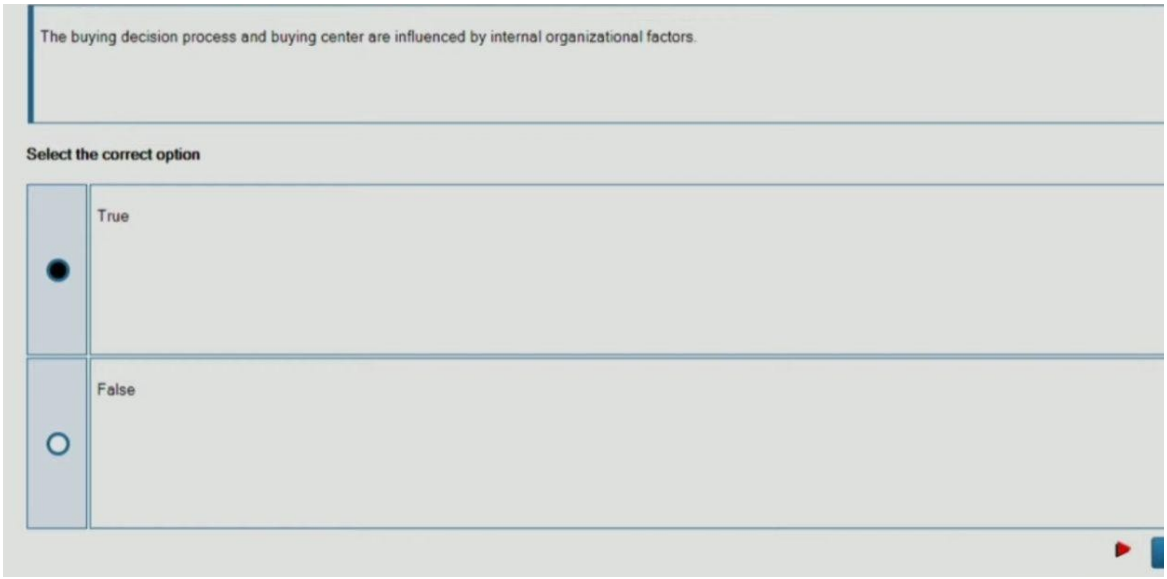

malikrizwanh@gmail.com

There are many exceptions to the geographic segmentation assumption that consumers in nations close to one another will have many common behaviors and traits.	True
Because there is such variation among the economies of countries around the world, it is not practical to segment international markets on the basis of economic factors.	False
Karyn Caudill, marketing director for a major hospital in Houston, Texas, sees the growing number of ethnic groups and subcultures in her area. She has discovered that for market segments to be useful they must be measurable, accessible, substantial, differentiable, and actionable.	True

Elegant
Learning
www.elegantlearning.blogspot.com

malikrizwanh@gmail.com

Elegant
Learning
www.elegantlearning.blogspot.com

Within the organization, buying activity consists of two major parts: the buying center, made up of all the people involved in the buying decision, and the buying decision process. The model shows that the buying center and the buying decision process are influenced by internal organizational, interpersonal, and individual factors as well as by external environmental factors.

b. Major Types of Buying Situations

There are three major types of buying situations. At one extreme is the straight rebuy, which is a fairly routine decision. At the other extreme is the new task, which may call for thorough research. In the middle is the modified rebuy, which requires some research.

In a straight rebuy the buyer reorders something without any modifications. It is usually handled on a routine basis by the purchasing department. Based on past buying satisfaction, the buyer simply chooses from the various suppliers on its list. "In" suppliers try to maintain product and

Karachi Gifts divides its markets into units of nations, regions, and cities. Bombay uses geographic segmentation.

Select the correct option

- (●) False
- ( ) True

malikrizwanh@gmail.com

7. Karachi Gifts divides its markets into units of nations, regions, and cities. Bombay uses geographic segmentation.

- True
- False ✓

8. Unsought products are products and services that the customer usually buys frequently, immediately, and with a minimum of comparison and buying effort.

- True
- False ✓

9. One important quality for a brand name is that it should translate easily into foreign languages.

- True
- False ✓

10. We define service as anything that can be offered to a market for attention, acquisition, use, or consumption and that might satisfy a want or need.

- True
- False ✓

11. A break-even chart shows the total cost and total revenue expected at various sales volume levels.

Yusra always feels super excited after purchasing trendy clothes from Sapphire Store is an example of a new task buying situation.

Select the correct option

- (●) True
- ( ) False

In the general needs description of the buying process, the buyer describes the characteristics and quantity of the needed item.

Select the correct option

- (●) True
- ( ) False

Elegant
Learning
www.elegantlearning.blogspot.com

b. General Need Description

Having recognized a need, the buyer next prepares a general need description that describes the characteristics and quantity of the needed item. For standard items, this process presents few problems. For complex items, however, the buyer may have to work with others—engineers, users, consultants—to define the item. The team may want to rank the importance of reliability, durability, price, and other attributes desired in the item. In this phase, the alert business marketer can help the buyers define their needs and provide information about the value of different product characteristics.

c. Product Specification

The buying organization next develops the item's technical product specifications, often with the

The business marketer normally deals with far fewer but far larger buyers than the consumer marketer does.

Select the correct option

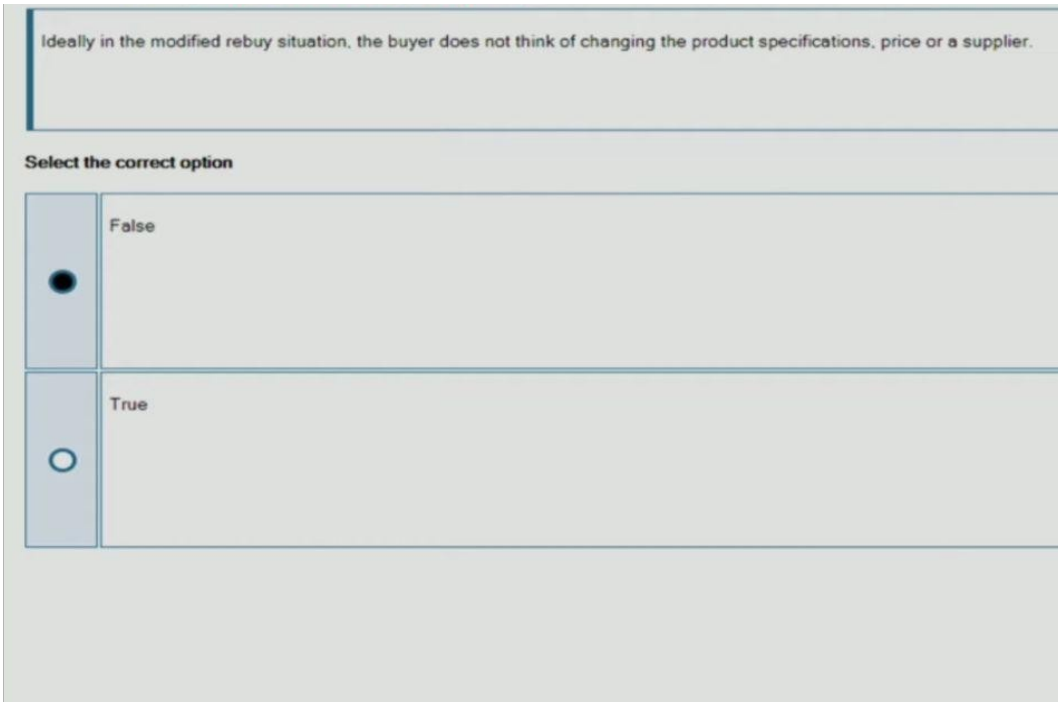

- (●) True
- ( ) False

1. Market structure and demand.

Business markets typically deal with far fewer but far larger buyers. They are more geographically concentrated. Business markets have derived demand (business demand that ultimately comes from or derives from the demand for consumer goods). Many business markets have inelastic demand; that is, total demand for many business products is not affected much by price changes, especially in the short run. A drop in the price of leather will not cause shoe manufacturers to buy much more leather unless it results in lower shoe prices that, in turn, will increase consumer demand for shoes. Finally, business markets have more fluctuating demand. The demand for many business goods and services tends to change more—and more quickly—than the demand for consumer goods and services does. A small percentage increase in consumer demand can cause large increases in business demand. Sometimes a rise of only 10 percent in consumer demand can cause as much as a

malikrizwanh@gmail.com

Elegant
Learning
www.elegantlearning.blogspot.com

In the middle is the modified rebuy, which requires some research.
In a straight rebuy the buyer reorders something without any modifications. It is usually handled on a routine basis by the purchasing department. Based on past buying satisfaction, the buyer simply chooses from the various suppliers on its list. "In" suppliers try to maintain product and service quality.
In a modified rebuy, the buyer wants to modify product specifications, prices, terms, or suppliers. The modified rebuy usually involves more decision participants than the straight rebuy. The in suppliers may become nervous and feel pressured to put their best foot forward to protect an account. Out suppliers may see the modified rebuy situation as an opportunity to make a better offer and gain new business.
A company buying a product or service for the first time faces a new-task situation. In such cases, the greater the cost or risk, the larger the number of decision participants and the greater their efforts to collect information will be. The new-task situation is the marketer's greatest opportunity and challenge. The marketer not only tries to reach as many key buying influences as possible but also provides help and information.
The buyer makes the fewest decisions in the straight rebuy and the most in the new-task decision

malikrizwanh@gmail.com

A company buying a product or service for the first time faces a new task situation.

Select the correct option

- (●) True
- ( ) False

Gender segmentation has long been used in clothing, cosmetics, toiletries, and magazines.

Select the correct option

- ( ) False
- (●) True

Elegant
Learning
www.elegantlearning.blogspot.com

II. Gender segmentation calls for dividing a market into different groups based on sex. This segmentation form has long been used for clothing, cosmetics, toiletries, and magazines. New opportunities in this area are emerging such as automobiles, deodorants, and financial services. There is an increased emphasis on marketing and advertising to women. Specialized Web sites are becoming very popular with this group.

© Copyright Virtual University of Pakistan

Research and planning for loyalty status as a segmentation approach is generally not useful or practical for most firms.

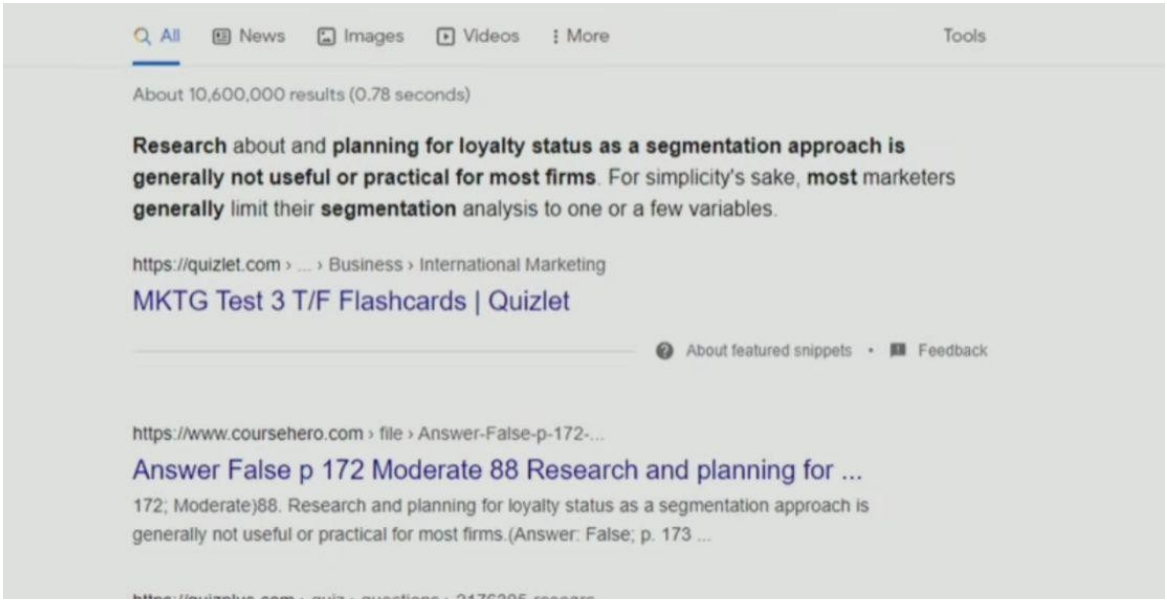

Select the correct option

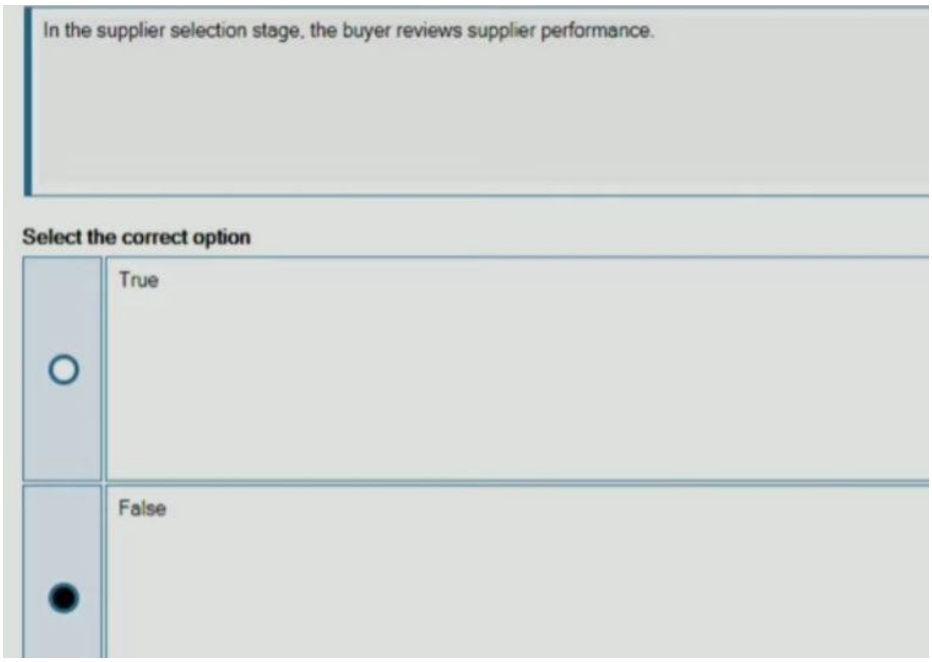

- (●) True
- ( ) False

malikrizwanh@gmail.com

Elegant
Learning

www.elegantlearning.blogspot.com

malikrizwanh@gmail.com

Elegant
Learning
www.elegantlearning.blogspot.com

g. Order-Routine Specification

The buyer now prepares an order-routine specification. It includes the final order with the chosen supplier or suppliers and lists items such as technical specifications, quantity needed, expected time of delivery, return policies, and warranties. In the case of maintenance, repair, and operating items.

h. Performance Review

In this stage, the buyer reviews supplier performance. The buyer may contact users and ask them to rate their satisfaction. The performance review may lead the buyer to continue, modify, or drop

© Copyright Virtual University of Pakistan

There are less participants involved in modified rebuy as compared to straight rebuy.

Select the correct option

- ○ True
- ● False

malikrizwanh@gmail.com

Elegant
Learning
www.elegantlearning.blogspot.com

Most businesses that manufacture products for the consumer market also sell directly to consumers.

Select the correct option

- (●) True
- ( ) False

We define a service as anything that can be offered to a market for attention, acquisition, use, or consumption and that might satisfy a want or need.

Select the correct option

- ( ) True
- (●) False

A product is anything that can be offered to a market for attention, acquisition, use, or consumption and that might satisfy a want or need. It includes physical objects, services, persons, places, organizations, and ideas.' Pure' Services are distinguished from 'physical' products on the basis of intangibility, inseparability, variability and perish ability. Services are a form of product that consist of activities, benefits, or satisfactions offered for sale that are essentially intangible and do not result in the ownership of anything.

malikrizwanh@gmail.com

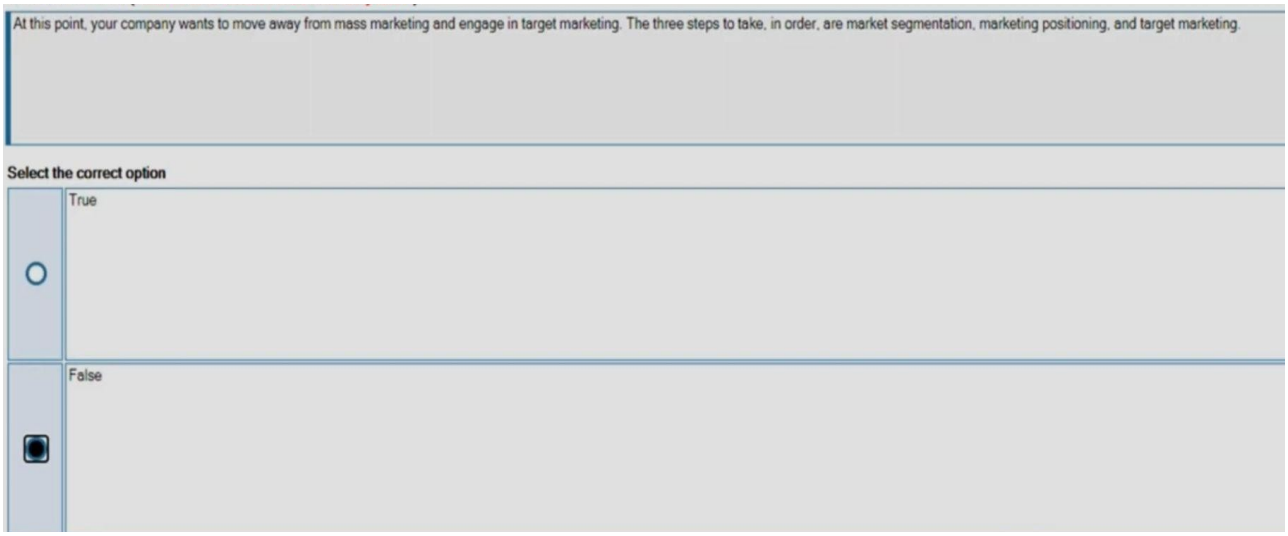

Because there is such variation among the economies of countries around the world, it is not practical to segment international markets on the basis of economic factors.

Select the correct option

- ○ True
- ● False

t or f: 91) Because there is such variation among the economies of countries around the world, it is not practical to segment international markets on the basis of economic factors.	false	★ 🔊
t or f: 92) For market segments to be useful they must be measurable, accessible, substantial, differentiable, and actionable.	true	★ 🔊

www.elegantlearning.blogspot.com

Answer: TRUE

102) Your company wants to move away from mass marketing and engage in customer-driven marketing. The four steps to take, in order, are market segmentation, marketing positioning, differentiation, and targeting.
Answer: FALSE

malikrizwanh@gmail.com

In evaluating different market segments, a firm must look at three factors: segment size and growth, segment structural attractiveness, and company objectives and resources.

Select the correct option

- [x] True
- [ ] False

Each firm should be able to find a single way to segment each market.

Select the correct option

- [ ] True
- [x] False

Elegant
Learning
www.elegantlearning.blogspot.com

D. Segmenting Consumer Markets

There is no single way to segment a market. A marketer has to try different segmentation variables, alone and in combination, to find the best way to view the market structure. The major variables that might be used in segmenting are major geographic, demographic, psychographics, and behavioral variables.

a) Geographic Segmentation

Geographic segmentation calls for dividing the market into different geographical units such as nations, regions, states, counties, cities, or neighborhoods. A company may decide to operate in one or a few geographical areas, or to operate in all areas but pay attention to geographical differences in needs and wants. It is common to localize products, advertising, promotions, and sales efforts to fit the needs of geographical areas (regions, cities, and even neighborhoods).

b) Demographic Segmentation

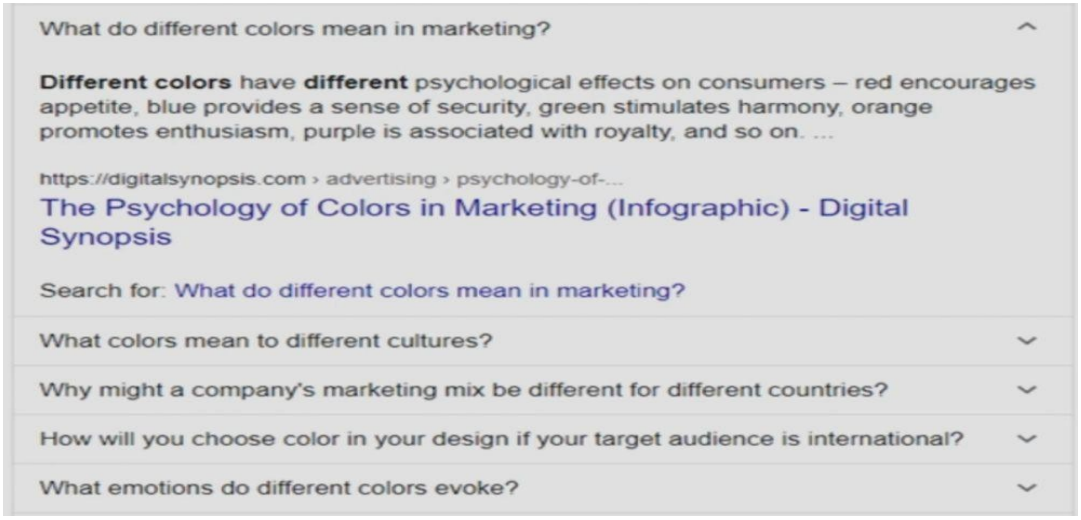

Demographic segmentation divides the market into groups based on variables such as age, gender, family size, family life cycle, income, occupation, education, religion, race, and nationality. Demographic factors are the most popular bases for segmenting customer groups. One reason is

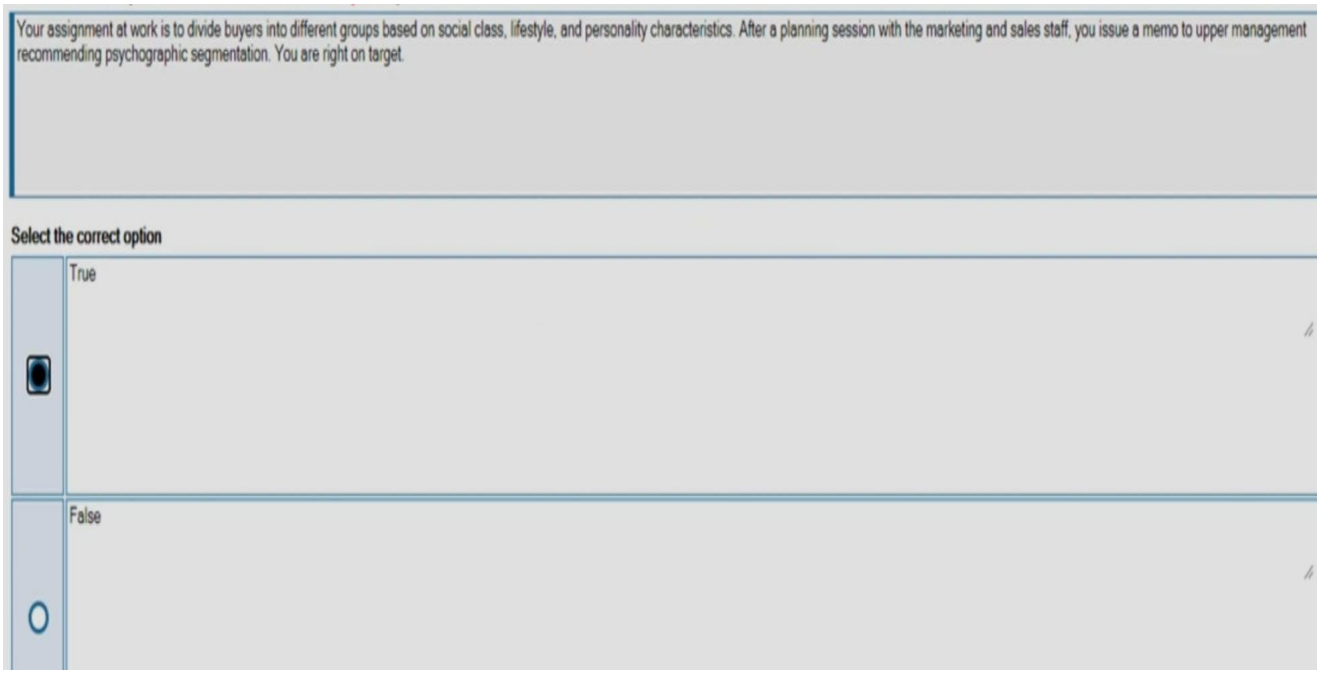

In international product and service marketing, it is important to know what different colors mean to different countries.

Select the correct option

- ○ True
- ◉ False

malikrizwanh@gmail.com

What do different colors mean in marketing?
Different colors have different psychological effects on consumers – red encourages appetite, blue provides a sense of security, green stimulates harmony, orange promotes enthusiasm, purple is associated with royalty, and so on. ... https://digitalsynopsis.com › advertising › psychology-of-...
The Psychology of Colors in Marketing (Infographic) - Digital Synopsis
Search for: What do different colors mean in marketing?
What colors mean to different cultures?
Why might a company's marketing mix be different for different countries?
How will you choose color in your design if your target audience is international?
What emotions do different colors evoke?

Your assignment at work is to divide buyers into different groups based on social class, lifestyle, and personality characteristics. After a planning session with the marketing and sales staff, you issue a memo to upper management recommending psychographic segmentation. You are right on target.
Select the correct option
True
False

T/F Your assignment at work is to divide buyers into different groups based on social class, lifestyle, and personality characteristics. After a planning session with the marketing and sales staff, you issue a memo to upper management recommending psychographic segmentation. You are right on target.	TRUE
T/F User status segmentation	FALSE

When a company introduces a new brand name in the same product category, it is called line extension.

Select the correct option

◉	True
○	False

Elegant
Learning
www.elegantlearning.blogspot.com

1). Introduce line extensions. Existing brand names are extended to new forms, sizes, and flavors of an existing product category. A company might introduce line extensions as a low-cost, low-risk way of introducing new products in order to:

a). Meet consumer desires for variety.
b). Meet excess manufacturing capacity.
c). simply command more shelf space.

Risks include:

a). An overextended brand might lose its specific meaning.
b). Can cause consumer frustration or confusion.

2). Introduce brand extensions. Existing brand names are extended to new or modified product categories. Advantages include:

a). Helps a company enter new product categories more easily.
b). Aids in new product recognition.
c). Saves on high advertising cost.

3). Introduce multibrands. New brand names are introduced in the same product category. Advantages include:

One important quality for a brand name is that it should translate easily into foreign languages.

Select the correct option

- (●) True
- ( ) False

malikrizwanh@gmail.com

Elegant
Learning
www.elegantlearning.blogspot.com

iii. Selecting The Brands Name:

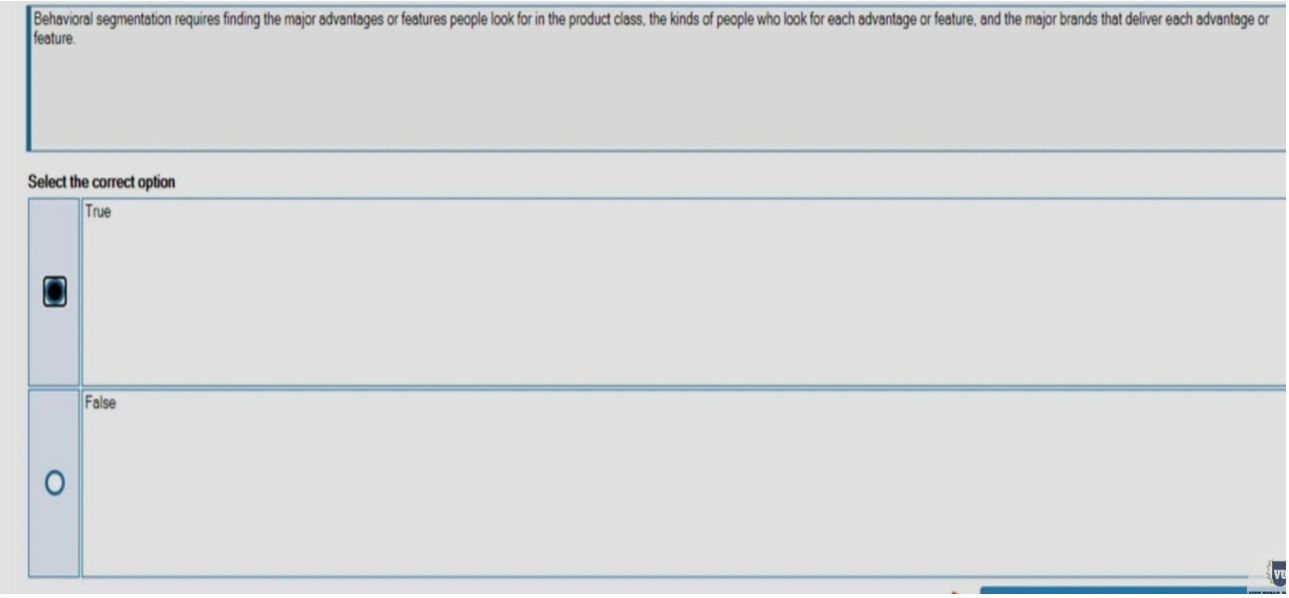

Selecting a brand name is an important step. The brand name should be carefully chosen since a good name can add greatly to a product's success. Desirable qualities of a good brand name include:

1). It should suggest something about the product's benefits and qualities.
2). It should be easy to pronounce, recognize, and remember.
3). It should be distinctive.
4). It should translate easily into foreign languages.
5). It should be capable of registration and legal protection. Once chosen, the brand name must be protected.

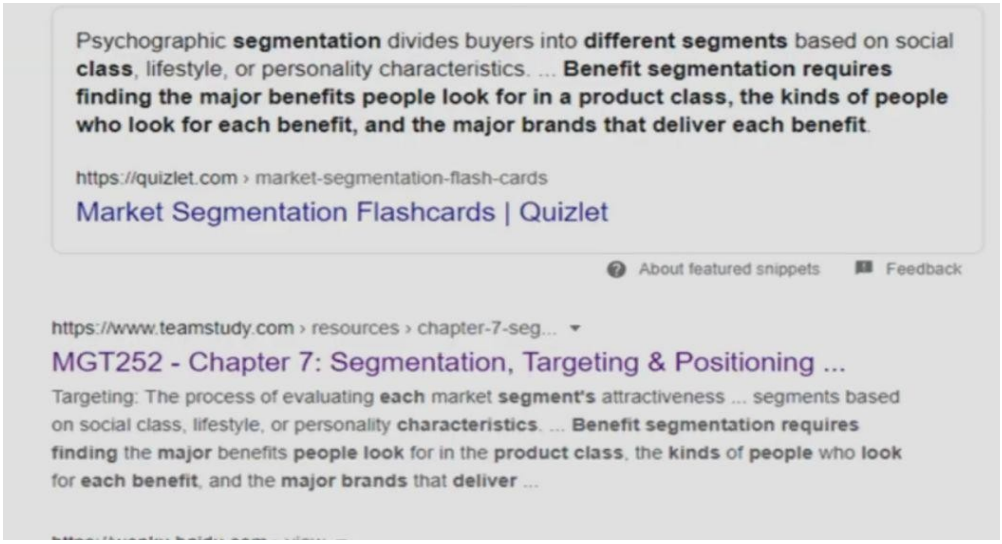

iv. Sponsorship options for Branding:

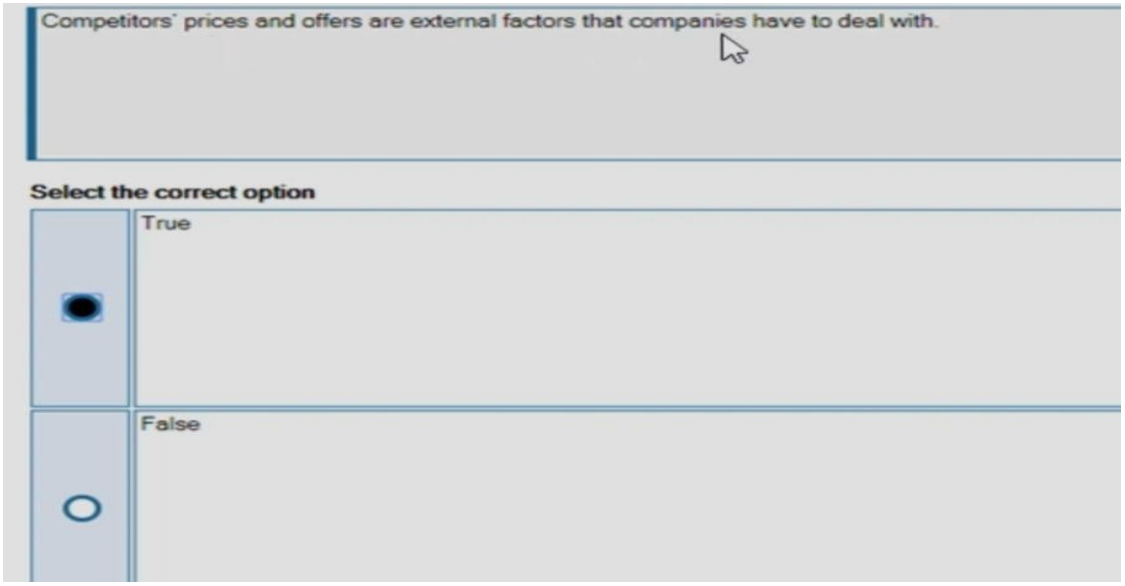

A manufacturer has four sponsorship options:

1). A manufacturer's brand (or national brand) is a brand created and owned by the producer of a product or service (Examples include IBM and Kellogg).
2). A private brand (or middleman, distributor, or store brand) is a brand created and owned by a reseller of a product or service.
3). A licensed brand (a company sells it's output under another brand name).

malikrizwanh@gmail.com

Psychographic segmentation divides buyers into different segments based on social class, lifestyle, or personality characteristics. ... Benefit segmentation requires finding the major benefits people look for in a product class, the kinds of people who look for each benefit, and the major brands that deliver each benefit.
https://quizlet.com › market-segmentation-flash-cards
Market Segmentation Flashcards | Quizlet
About featured snippets Feedback
https://www.teamstudy.com › resources › chapter-7-seg...
MGT252 - Chapter 7: Segmentation, Targeting & Positioning ...
Targeting: The process of evaluating each market segment's attractiveness ... segments based on social class, lifestyle, or personality characteristics. ... Benefit segmentation requires finding the major benefits people look for in the product class, the kinds of people who look for each benefit, and the major brands that deliver ...

Competitors' prices and offers are external factors that companies have to deal with.
Select the correct option
True
False

Shopping products are less frequently purchased consumer products and services that customers compare carefully on suitability, quality, price, and style.

Select the correct option

- (●) True
- ( ) False

Value-based pricing is the reverse of cost-based pricing.

Select the correct option

- (●) True
- ( ) False

Environmental elements are categorized as external factors that affect pricing decisions.

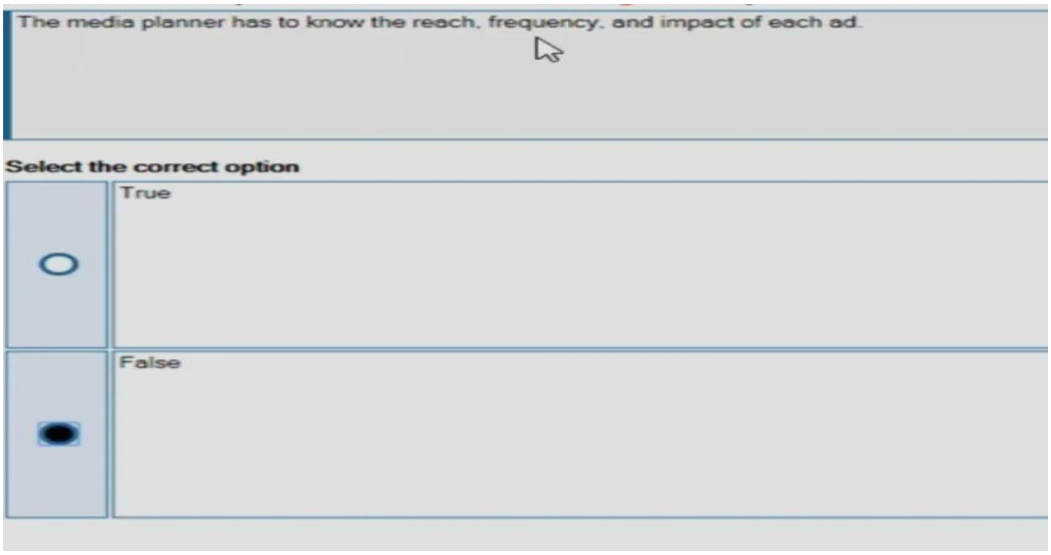

Select the correct option

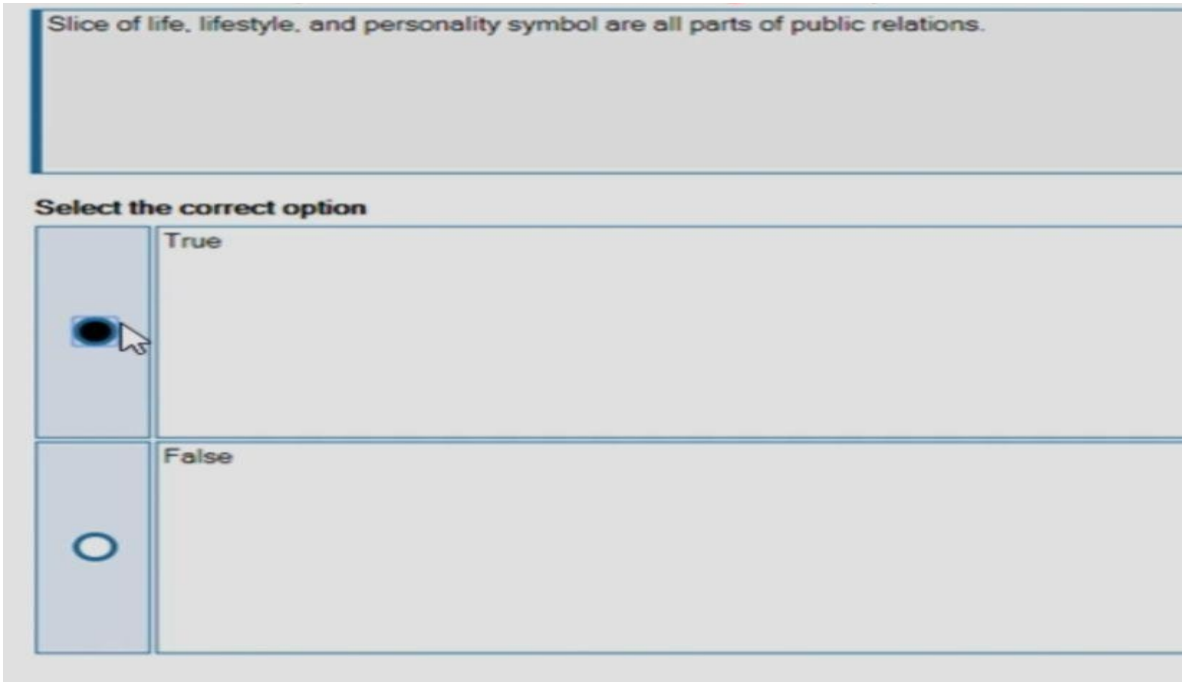

- (●) True
- ( ) False

Environmental elements are categorized as external factors that affect pricing decisions.

Select the correct option

- (●) True
- ( ) False

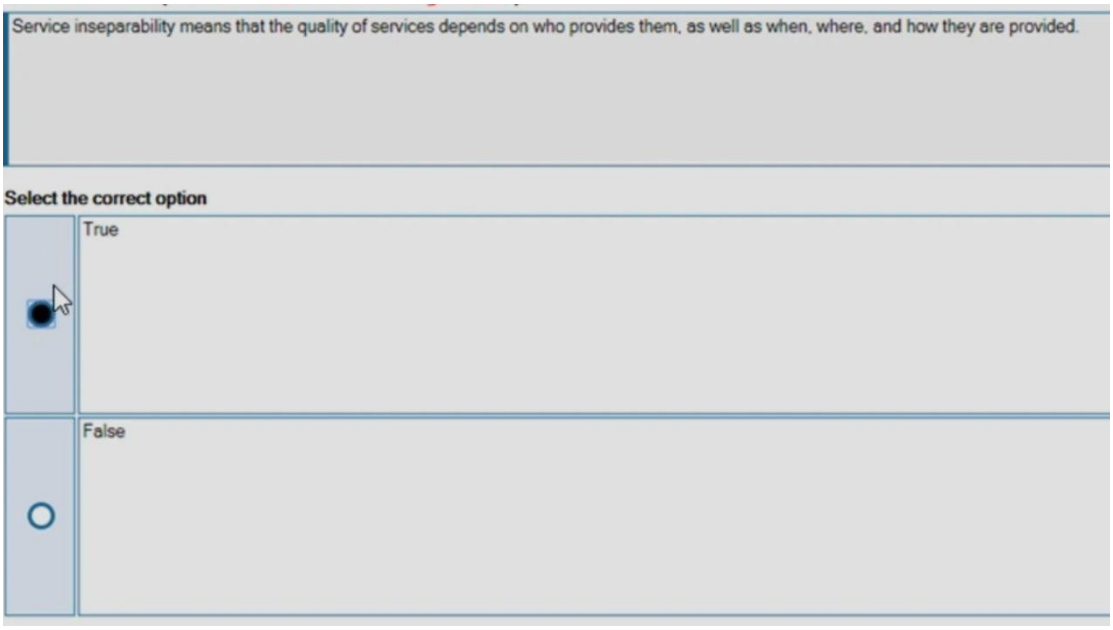

The media planner has to know the reach, frequency, and impact of each ad.
Select the correct option
True
False

Slice of life, lifestyle, and personality symbol are all parts of public relations.
Select the correct option
True
False

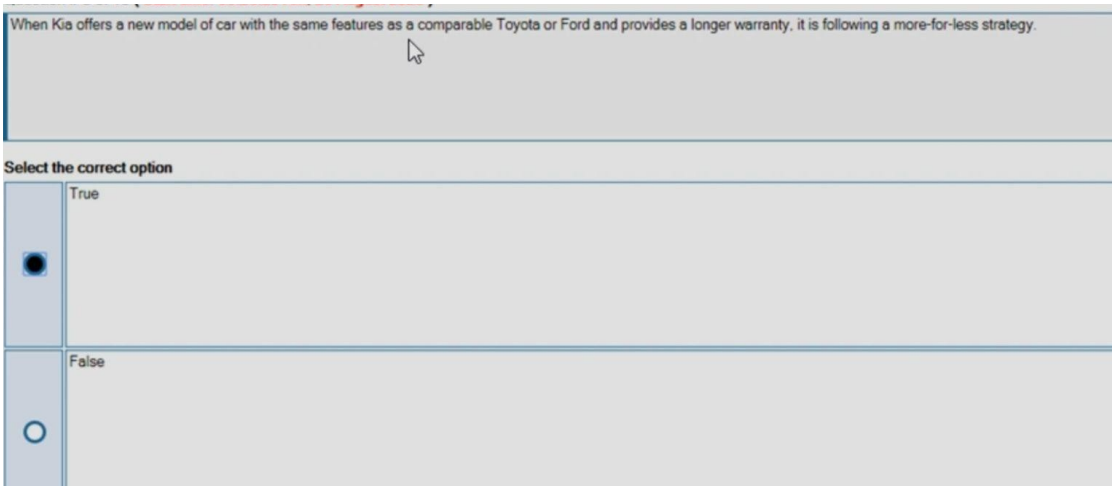

Service inseparability means that the quality of services depends on who provides them, as well as when, where, and how they are provided.

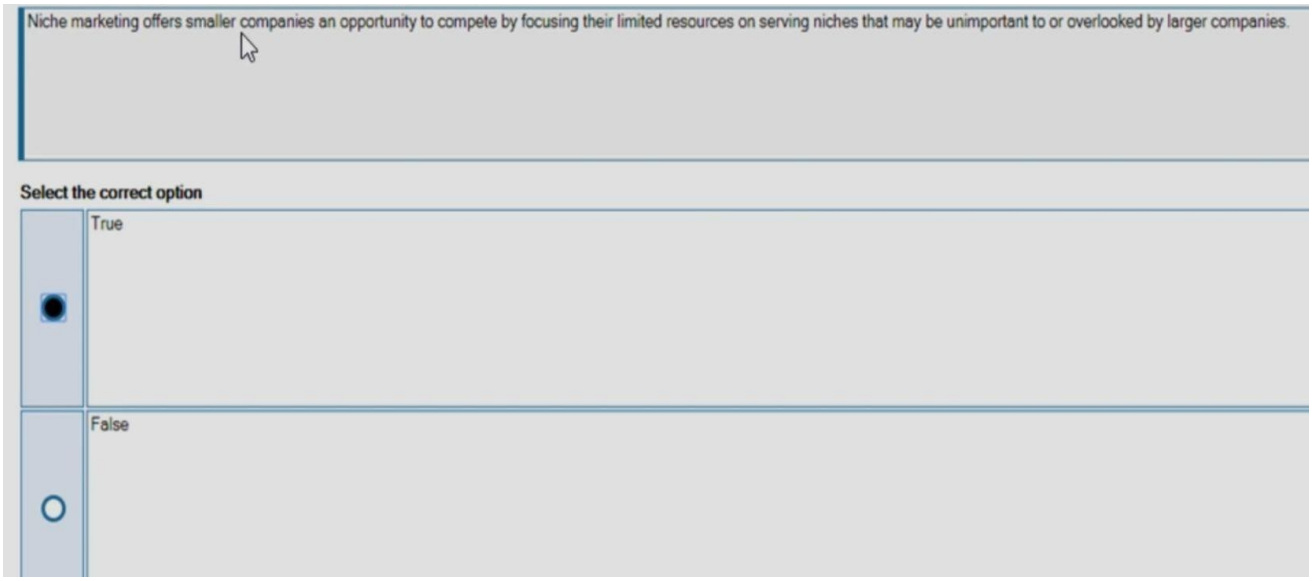

Select the correct option

- (●) True
- ( ) False

www.elegantlearning.blogspot.com

MGT301 Quiz 2 2022 Solution with Reference

Effort By Rizwan Hussain Malik

Download PDF File From Our Website

www.elegantlearning.blogspot.com

Note:

This channel is not responsible for any solved content.

malikrizwanh@gmail.com

Remember In Prayers

malikrizwanh@gmail.com