ENG510 FINAL TERM NOTES ALL LESSONS

PROVIDED BY VUHELPERS24 TEAM

❖ COMPILED BY SIR ZAHID

ENG510 COMPLETE FINAL TERM LECTURE WISE NOTES

FOR GET MORE SOLUTION 👉 CLICK HERE

JOIN OUR WHATSAPP GROUP VU(BS-ENGLISH)

https://chat.whatsapp.com/C2LBCpGHwnj0xbZX1bhL6Y

CODE: ENG510 OBJECTIVE PART LESSON :19

1.Linguistic change refers to:

a) The process of language desertion

b) The phenomenon of language shift

c) Variation over time in a language's features

d) The abandonment of a language

2.Which of the following is an example of orthographic change?

a) The use of imperatives in instructional texts

b) The replacement of Middle English pronouns with modern ones

c) The introduction of new words into the English language

d) The shift from Middle English spelling to Modern English spelling

3.Language maintenance refers to:

a) The process of language death

b) The intentional preservation of a language in the face of competition

c) The shift from one language to another over time

d) The abandonment of a language in favor of a dominant language

4.Language shift is the process whereby:

a) A language evolves over time

b) A community of speakers adopts a different language

c) New words are introduced into a language

d) Language features change due to societal factors

5.Factors that affect language shift include:

a) Religious and educational background

b) Migration patterns

c) Government policies

d) All of the above

6.Language desertion refers to:

a) The intentional abandonment of a language

b) The process of language death

c) Language change over time

d) The preservation of a language in the face of competition

Vuhelpers24
Sir Zahid

7.Language death refers to:

a) The process of language shift

b) The intentional preservation of a language

c) The abandonment of a language in favor of a dominant language

d) The extinction of a language

8.The term "biodiversity crisis" in relation to language refers to:

a) The loss of linguistic diversity over time

b) The intentional preservation of endangered languages

c) The adoption of a dominant language by a community

d) The evolution of languages

9.The estimated number of languages spoken at present is approximately:

a) 1,000

b) 3,000

c) 6,000

d) 10,000

10.The Foundation for Endangered Languages estimates that:

a) Half of the world's languages are moribund

b) Only 10% of languages will survive by the end of this century

c) Languages die at a rate of one every two weeks

d) All of the above

Vuhelpers24
Sir Zahid

11.What is the study of the origin and history of words called?

a) Morphology

b) Syntax

c) Etymology

d) Semantics

12.Which branch of linguistics focuses on the study of meaning in language?

a) Phonetics

b) Pragmatics

c) Psycholinguistics

d) Semantics

13.Which term refers to the study of how sounds are produced, transmitted, and perceived in language?

a) Phonetics

b) Morphology

c) Syntax

d) Sociolinguistics

14.Which type of language change occurs when a word's meaning becomes more general over time?

a) Semantic narrowing

b) Semantic shift

Vuhelpers24
Sir Zahid

c) Borrowing

d) Convergence

15.What is the term used to describe the study of how languages change over time?

a) Historical linguistics

b) Psycholinguistics

c) Computational linguistics

d) Neurolinguistics

16.Which of the following is an example of a sociolinguistic factor that influences language change?

a) Climate and geography

b) Historical events

c) Cultural beliefs and practices

d) Phonological patterns

17.What is the term used to describe the process of creating new words or phrases?

a) Language shift

b) Language death

c) Language revitalization

d) Language innovation

18.Which of the following is an example of lexical change?

Vuhelpers24
Sir Zahid

a) The evolution of word meanings

b) The introduction of new sentence structures

c) The shift from one language to another

d) The adoption of loanwords from other languages

19.What is the term used to describe the study of the history and development of languages?

a) Sociolinguistics

b) Historical linguistics

c) Psycholinguistics

d) Comparative linguistics

20.Which of the following is NOT a potential consequence of language death?

a) Loss of cultural heritage

b) Disruption of intergenerational communication

c) Increased linguistic diversity

d) Weakening of community identity

21.What is the term used to describe the phenomenon where different dialects of a language become increasingly distinct from one another?

a) Dialect convergence

b) Dialect leveling

c) Dialect divergence

d) Dialect acquisition

Vuhelpers24 Sir Zahid

22.Which of the following factors can contribute to the decline of a language?

a) Political dominance of another language

b) Globalization and increased interconnectivity

c) Economic factors

d) All of the above

23.What is the term used to describe the systematic study of the sounds of language?

a) Syntax

b) Phonology

c) Morphology

d) Pragmatics

24.Which of the following statements about pidgin languages is true?

a) They are native languages of a particular region or community.

b) They typically have a small vocabulary and simplified grammar.

c) They are developed through colonization and contact between different languages.

d) They are considered stable and highly standardized languages.

25.What is the term used to describe the study of how language is used in social contexts?

a) Psycholinguistics

b) Sociolinguistics

Vuhelpers24
Sir Zahid

c) Neurolinguistics

d) Applied linguistics

CODE: ENG510 SUBJECTIVE PART LESSON :19

1.What is linguistic change?

Linguistic change is the phenomenon by which permanent alterations are made in the features and use of a language over time.

2.What are three examples of linguistic change mentioned in the text?

Orthographic change, morphological change, and semantic/syntactic change.

3.What is language maintenance?

Language maintenance refers to the continuing use of a language in the face of competition from a regionally and socially more powerful language.

4.What is language shift?

Language shift is the process whereby a community of speakers of a language shifts to speaking a completely different language over time.

5.What factors can affect language shift?

Factors such as religious and educational background, settlement patterns, ties with the homeland, extent of exogamous marriage, majority and minority language groups, and government policies concerning language and education can affect language shift.

6.What is language desertion?

Language desertion refers to the phenomenon of abandoning the use of one language in favor of another, which may ultimately result in the death of the deserted language.

7.How does language desertion relate to language alternation and hybridization?

Language alternation and hybridization can generate language desertion, as the attitude of speakers towards the mixed variety correlates with the attitude towards the language they desert.

8.How many languages are estimated to be spoken at present?

Around 6,000 languages are currently spoken, according to linguists.

9.What is the prediction for the future of languages?

It is predicted that by the end of this century, 90% of languages will become extinct.

10.How often does a language die, according to Crystal?

Crystal suggests that a language dies every two weeks.

11.What are some examples of languages becoming extinct?

Examples include the loss of Aboriginal languages in Australia, Celtic languages in the British Isles, and indigenous languages in the Americas due to genocide, natural disasters, or colonization.

12.What are the three types of language death?

The three types are ancient languages evolving into new languages, sudden death caused by various factors, and language extinction due to language shift.

13.What is an example of an ancient language that evolved into new languages?

Latin became the modern Romance language family, including French, Portuguese, and Italian.

14.What is the most common cause of language death today?

Language shift, where speakers do not pass on their language to their children, is the most common cause of language death.

15.How do speakers acquire a different language in language shift?

Speakers acquire a different language from their parents, gradually replacing the language of their ancestors.

16.What is the impact of language shift on indigenous languages in Australia?

Many indigenous languages in Australia have experienced a dramatic decline as speakers have adopted the dominant language of the new environment.

17.What is the role of number of speakers in determining language endangerment?

The number of speakers alone is not always a reliable indicator of language endangerment, as other factors such as intergenerational transmission and age distribution of speakers also play a crucial role.

18.What are some reasons for language desertion in South Asian countries?

The spread of English in South Asian countries has led to the abandonment and loss of local and regional languages.

19.What can be considered an "endangered" language according to Michael Krauss?

According to Krauss, a language needs at least 100,000 speakers to survive, but this is not a definitive criterion as other factors also come into play.

20.How does language death impact immigrant communities?

Immigrant communities may experience the loss of ancestral languages, as subsequent generations often adopt the language of the new host country, leading to language death within the community.

CODE: ENG510 OBJECTIVE PART LESSON :20

1.What is the purpose of creating pidgin languages?

a) To establish cultural identity

b) To facilitate communication between different communities

c) To enhance trade relations

d) To preserve linguistic diversity

2.Which term is used to describe a pidgin used specifically for trade purposes?

a) Basilic

b) Ecolect

c) Mesolect

d) Trade language

3.Which language is used as a trade language by multiple tribes in the Northwest Amazon area?

a) Tucano

b) English

c) French

d) Dutch

4.What is one of the requirements for a pidgin language?

a) Complex grammar

b) Extensive vocabulary

c) Simple learning process

d) Native speakers

5.What is the source of vocabulary for a pidgin language?

a) Local languages

Vuhelpers24
Sir Zahid

b) Native speakers

c) Colonial powers

d) Dominant groups

6.What is a creole language?

a) A pidgin used for trade purposes

b) A native speaker of a pidgin

c) A pidgin that has acquired native speakers

d) A simplified version of a dominant language

7.How does creolization occur?

a) Through extensive borrowing from other languages

b) By being spoken by couples who have children together

c) Through diffusion of linguistic features

d) By promoting a standard form of language

8.What is decreolization?

a) The process of turning a pidgin into a creole

b) The diffusion of syntax in creole languages

c) The expansion and stability of a creole language

d) The shift towards a prestige language from a creole

9.What term is used to describe the range of varieties between basilic and acrolectal?

Vuhelpers24 Sir Zahid

a) Post-creole continuum

b) Creolization

c) Decreolization

d) Mesolect

10.According to the family tree model, pidgins and creoles:

a) Share a common historical ancestor

b) Arise independently but develop in parallel ways

c) Diffuse syntax in a similar manner

d) Reflect biological and cognitive constraints

11.Which language is believed to be the common ancestor of European-based pidgins and creoles?

a) English

b) Portuguese

c) French

d) Dutch

12.What is the term used for varieties closest to the superstrate language in the post-creole continuum?

a) Basilic

b) Ecolect

c) Mesolect

d) Creole

Vuhelpers24
Sir Zahid

13.What term is used to describe the process of making a pidgin fully adequate for use as a primary language?

a) Creolization

b) Decolonization

c) Standardization

d) Structural repair

14.Which of the following is an example of a pidgin language?

a) English

b) French

c) Swahili

d) Chinook Jargon

15.Pidgin languages typically arise in situations where:

a) There is a strong political power.

b) Communities share a common native language.

c) There is a need for communication between groups with different native languages.

d) There is a lack of linguistic diversity.

16.Which term is used to describe the process by which a pidgin language becomes a native language?

a) Creolization

b) Standardization

c) Pidginization

Vuhelpers24 Sir Zahid

d) Decolonization

17.Creole languages are characterized by:

a) Complex grammar and extensive vocabulary.

b) Simple grammar and limited vocabulary.

c) Borrowing extensively from the superstrate language.

d) Being spoken by a small number of people.

18.The process of decreolization refers to:

a) The expansion and stabilization of a creole language.

b) The shift towards a more prestigious language from a creole.

c) The diffusion of linguistic features within a creole.

d) The development of a standard form of a creole language.

19.In the post-creole continuum, the term "basilic" refers to:

a) The variety closest to the superstrate language.

b) The variety furthest from the superstrate language.

c) The intermediate variety between basilic and acroleic.

d) The variety spoken by native speakers of the creole.

20.The family tree model suggests that pidgins and creoles:

a) Share a common historical ancestor.

b) Develop independently and diverge over time.

c) Arise through diffusion of linguistic features.

d) Reflect biological and cognitive constraints.

21.Which language is believed to be the superstrate language for Hawaiian Creole English?

a) Portuguese

b) English

c) Hawaiian

d) Spanish

22.What is the term used for the process of making a creole language more similar to the superstrate language?

a) Decreolization

b) Pidginization

c) Creolization

d) Standardization

23.The range of varieties between basilic and acroleic in the post-creole continuum is called:

a) Mesolect

b) Creolization

c) Decreolization

d) Post-creole continuum

24.Which of the following is an example of a trade language used historically in Southeast Asia?

Vuhelpers24
Sir Zahid

a) Swahili

b) Arabic

c) Mandarin Chinese

d) Lingua Franca Malay

CODE: ENG510 SUBJECTIVE PART LESSON :20

1.What is a pidgin language?

Answer: A pidgin language is a variety of language that is created for practical communication purposes between people who do not share a common language. It is learned by individuals within the communities involved as a means of communication with members of other communities.

2.Are all pidgins used as trade languages?

Answer: No, not all pidgins are used exclusively as trade languages. While trade may be a common reason for communication between communities, there are other purposes for which pidgin languages are used.

3.Give an example of a trade language used in the Northwest Amazon area.

Answer: Tucano is the language of one of the tribes in the Northwest Amazon area but is also used as a trade language by all the other tribes in the region.

4.Which languages are widely used as trade languages specifically created for communication with other groups?

Answer: English and French are widely used as trade languages that have been specially created for the purpose of communicating with other groups. They are not used by any community for communication among themselves.

5.What is the main requirement for a pidgin language?

Answer: A pidgin language must be simple to learn, especially for those who benefit the least from learning it. It should have the necessary vocabulary and constructions needed for communication in the specific contexts that arise between the communities using the pidgin.

6.How is the vocabulary of a pidgin language determined?

Answer: The vocabulary of a pidgin language is generally based on the vocabulary of the dominant group. It is often taken from the language of the community that holds more power or influence in the given context.

7.In a colonial situation, what determines the vocabulary of a pidgin language?

Answer: In a colonial situation, the vocabulary of a pidgin language is based on the vocabulary of the colonial power. This is because representatives of the colonial power need to communicate with the locals for trade or administration, and the pidgin that develops is based on the vocabulary of the colonial power.

8.What is a creole language?

Answer: A creole language is a pidgin language that has acquired native speakers. It develops when a pidgin becomes the primary language used by a community, often due to the denial of access to a full language.

9.How does creolization occur?

Answer: Creolization occurs when a pidgin becomes the variety of language that children must use in situations where the use of a full language is denied to them. This happens, for example, when a pidgin is spoken by couples who have children and raise them together.

10.Give an example of a creole language.

Answer: Haitian Creole is an example of a creole language. It developed in Haiti when French was effectively denied to the masses, and the African languages brought by the slaves fell into disuse.

11.What is decreolization?

Answer: Decreolization refers to the process in which a creole language becomes closer to its superstrate language, often due to social factors such as prestige and influence from the dominant language.

12.How does the creole continuum function?

Answer: The creole continuum refers to a range of varieties that exist between the basilic (closest to the creole's original form) and the acroleic (closest to the superstrate language). Mesolectal varieties are intermediate forms along this continuum.

Sir Zahid

13.What is the family tree model?

Answer: The family tree model is a traditional approach used to explain the historical origins of pidgin and creole languages. It assumes that languages gradually diverge from a common ancestor over time.

14.Can pidgins and creoles have a common historical ancestor?

Answer: It is possible for pidgins and creoles to have a common historical ancestor, but.

15.What are some characteristics of pidgin languages?

Answer: Pidgin languages often have simplified grammar, reduced vocabulary, and a limited range of functions. They typically lack complex verb conjugation, tense distinctions, and intricate syntactic structures.

16.How do pidgin languages differ from creole languages?

Answer: Pidgin languages are typically simpler and less developed than creole languages. Pidgins are usually used as a means of basic communication between groups with different languages, while creoles have native speakers and function as complete languages with expanded vocabulary and grammar.

17.Can pidgin languages become more complex over time?

Answer: Yes, pidgin languages can evolve and become more complex over time. This process is known as expansion. As pidgins are used by successive generations and become more widely spoken, they can develop more elaborate grammar, vocabulary, and functions, eventually transitioning into creole languages.

18.Are pidgin languages considered fully developed languages?

Answer: Pidgin languages are not considered fully developed languages in the same way as traditional languages. They are simplified forms of communication that arise out of necessity when speakers of different languages need to interact. However, creole languages, which may develop from pidgins, are considered complete languages.

19.How do pidgin languages acquire new vocabulary?

Answer: Pidgin languages often borrow vocabulary from the languages spoken by the communities involved in the communication. They can also create new words through processes like blending, compounding, and semantic extension to meet the needs of the speakers.

20.Can pidgin languages be used for creative purposes like literature or poetry?

Answer: While pidgin languages are primarily used for practical communication, they can also be used for creative purposes such as literature and poetry. Some writers and poets have embraced pidgin languages to express cultural identity, convey unique linguistic flavors, and challenge linguistic norms. This creative use of pidgin can contribute to its further development and recognition.

CODE: ENG510 OBJECTIVE PART LESSON:21

1.Who are some of the founding sociolinguists mentioned in the paragraph?

A) Erving Goffman and John Gumperz

B) Erving Goffman and Susan Ervin-Tripp

C) John Gumperz and Susan Ervin-Tripp

D) Erving Goffman, John Gumperz, and Susan Ervin-Tripp

2.Which linguistic framework was contemporaneous with the shift to sociolinguistics?

A) Descriptive linguistics

B) Structural linguistics

C) Transformational-generative Grammar

D) Sapirian tradition

3.According to Hymes, what does the ethnography of communication aim to discover and explicate?

A) Grammatical competence

B) Linguistic variation

C) Communicative competence

D) Descriptive linguistics

Vuhelpers24 Sir Zahid

4.How does Hymes define a speech community?

A) A community defined by common language

B) A community defined by common cultural practices

C) A community sharing rules for speech conduct and interpretation

D) A community sharing linguistic norms

5.What does Hymes criticize Chomsky for in terms of linguistic competence?

A) Failure to account for linguistic variation

B) Failure to describe grammatically correct sentences

C) Overemphasis on sociolinguistics

D) Lack of understanding of communicative competence

6.According to Flores de Gortari, what is the fundamental force that causes interaction between man, society, culture, and civilization?

A) Progress

B) Language

C) Communication

D) Existence

7.How does David K. Berlo define communication?

A) The process of transmitting a message

B) The process of bringing others to one's point of view

C) The process of validating concepts of man, society, culture, etc.

D) The process of exchanging words through a channel

8.What are some factors that can impede human communication mentioned in the paragraph?

A) Language understanding, context understanding, obfuscation, and distraction

Vuhelpers4
Sir Zahid

B) Language understanding, context understanding, obfuscation, and noise

C) Language understanding, context understanding, distraction, and barriers

D) Language understanding, context understanding, obfuscation, and interference

9.What are the four groups of spontaneous gestures mentioned in the paragraph?

A) Pointing gestures, emotional gestures, emphatic gestures, and rhythmical gestures

B) Pointing gestures, revealing gestures, emphatic gestures, and rhythmical gestures

C) Pointing gestures, emotional gestures, symbolic gestures, and rhythmical gestures

D) Pointing gestures, revealing gestures, symbolic gestures, and rhythmical gestures

10.How does paralinguistic communication modify the meaning behind words?

A) It changes the grammatical structure.

B) It alters the phonetic pronunciation.

C) It adds emotional and contextual nuances.

D) It emphasizes syntactic patterns.

11.What is paralinguistic communication also known as?

A) Linguistic vocalics

B) Nonverbal communication

C) Verbal communication

D) Vocal modulation

12.In Saudi Arabian cultures, how is loudness perceived?

A) Aggressive and obnoxious

Vuhelpers24 Sir Zahid

B) Respectful and sincere

C) Weak and submissive

D) Authoritative and dominant

13. Which cultures have long pauses in conversations to show mutual respect and patience?

A) Japanese

B) Pakistani

C) Chinese

D) European

14.What does the term "context" refer to?

A) The preceding or following words of a specific passage

B) The set of circumstances or facts surrounding an event

C) The interpretation of language in real situations

D) The consideration of surrounding words or circumstances

15.What does the term "lexemes" refer to?

A) Words used in sign languages

B) Words used in spoken languages

C) Words used in nonverbal communication

D) Words used in paralinguistic communication

16.What does paralinguistics focus on in communication?

A) The content of the message

B) The tone and delivery of the message

C) The cultural context of the message

D) The grammatical structure of the message

Vulcpers24 Sir Zahid

17.What are some examples of paralinguistic elements?

A) Accent, pitch, volume, and fluency

B) Syntax, semantics, pragmatics, and morphology

C) Phonemes, allophones, and phonological rules

D) Verbs, nouns, adjectives, and adverbs

18.Which statement about paralinguistic communication is true?

A) It focuses solely on what is said.

B) It is unrelated to spoken language.

C) It occurs alongside and interacts with spoken language.

D) It has no influence on the meaning of words.

19.What does the term "utterances" refer to?

A) Nonverbal signals in communication

B) Written or spoken statements

C) The use of symbols for communication

D) The context surrounding a specific word or passage

20.How does the context influence the meaning of a word or passage?

A) It determines the phonetic pronunciation.

B) It adds emotional nuances to the message.

C) It alters the grammatical structure of the sentence.

D) It precedes or follows a specific word or passage.

21.What is the importance of studying nonlinguistic communication?

A) It improves language fluency.

B) It reduces frustration and improves relationships.

C) It enhances syntactic understanding.

Vuhelpers24 Sir Zahid

D) It simplifies the process of communication.

22.What are some types of nonverbal communication mentioned in the paragraph?

A) Gaze, facial expressions, and objects

B) Pictures, posture, and clothes

C) Symbols, jewelry, and proximity

D) All of the above

23.What is the term used for gestures that convey or reveal emotions?

A) Pointing gestures

B) Emphatic gestures

C) Rhythmical gestures

D) Emotional gestures

24.What is the term used for intentionally delivering an obscure or confusing message?

A) Obfuscation

B) Distraction

C) Communication impairment

D) Contextual misunderstanding

CODE: ENG510 SUBJECTIVE PART LESSON:21

1.Who are some of the founding sociolinguists mentioned in the paragraph?

Hymes, Erving Goffman, John Gumperz, and Susan Ervin-Tripp.

2.What was the generational shift in linguistics mentioned in the paragraph?

VuHelpers24 Sir Zahid

The shift from descriptive linguistics to sociolinguistics.

3.Who did Hymes criticize for their idea of linguistic competence?

Chomsky.

4.According to Hymes, what is the essence of the ethnography of communication?

The exploration and documentation of communicative competence within a speech community.

5.How did Hymes define a speech community?

A community sharing rules for the conduct and interpretation of speech and interpretation.

6.What did Hymes argue about the study of language?

It should focus on communicative competence in real situations rather than just linguistic competence.

7.What did Hymes believe communicative competence involves?

Shared knowledge of the linguistic code and socio-cultural rules, norms, and values.

8.What is the main purpose of communication according to Aristotle?

Persuasion.

9.What are some factors that can impede human communication?

Not understanding the language, not understanding the context, obfuscation, and distraction.

10.What are some examples of nonlinguistic means of communication mentioned in the paragraph?

Talking, signing, writing, gesturing, using facial expressions, drawing pictures, proximity, assuming certain postures, etc.

11.What are conventional nonlinguistic means of communication?

Gestures that are usually stipulated beforehand and sometimes codified into rules of usage.

12.What are the four groups of spontaneous gestures mentioned in the paragraph?

Pointing gestures, gestures that convey or reveal emotions, emphatic gestures, and rhythmical gestures.

13.Is American Sign Language considered nonverbal or verbal?

American Sign Language is considered nonverbal in terms of its gestural production but verbal as it uses words.

14.Why is the study of nonlinguistic communication important?

It can reduce frustration, improve relationships, and prevent conflicts between linguistic and non-linguistic communication.

15.What does paralinguistic communication refer to?

Vuhelpers24
Sir Zahid

The study of voice and how words are said, including vocal and non-vocal signals beyond the basic verbal message.

16.What are some examples of paralinguistic cues mentioned in the paragraph?

Accent, pitch, volume, speech rate, modulation, and fluency.

17.How does loudness in communication differ between Saudi Arabian and American cultures?

Loudness connotes strength and sincerity among Arabs but is considered aggressive and obnoxious in the United States.

18.What is the role of pauses in conversations in Japanese and Pakistani cultures?

In Japanese culture, pauses are long and signify mutual respect and patience, while in Pakistani culture, pauses are short, indicating impatience and often leading to overlapping and interruption.

19.What is meant by "context"?

The parts of a written or spoken statement that precede or follow a specific word or passage, influencing its meaning or effect.

20.How is the term "context" used in everyday language?

To describe the circumstances or facts surrounding a particular event or situation.

CODE: ENG510 OBJECTIVE PART LESSON:22

1.According to Hymes, what does the ethnography of speaking analyze?

a) Language description

b) Social and cultural practices

c) Speech communities

d) Communication events

2.Which of the following is an example of a complete social event according to the paragraph?

a) Church sermon

b) Classroom lecture

c) Business meeting

d) Casual conversation

3.What does the ethnography of communication aim to investigate?

a) Linguistic forms

b) Cultural norms

c) Speech communities

d) Contexts of situations

4.According to the paragraph, what factors encode social distance in politeness?

a) Status and age

b) Power and imposition

c) Friendliness and respect

d) Face needs and solidarity

5.How do ideas of politeness vary across cultures?

a) They remain the same

b) They depend on social context

c) They differ based on power dynamics

Vuhelpers24 Sir Zahid

d) They vary between individuals

6.Which of the following is an example of a negative politeness strategy?

a) Can you please pass the rice?

b) Would you know where Oxford Street is?

c) You look sad. Can I do anything?

d) It's rather long, not short certainly.

7.What do Brown and Levinson outline as the four main types of politeness strategies?

a) Bald on-record, negative politeness, positive politeness, and off-record

b) Direct, indirect, formal, and informal

c) Assertive, aggressive, passive, and passive-aggressive

d) Blunt, polite, sarcastic, and diplomatic

8.How does Chomsky define competence in terms of sociolinguistics?

a) Knowledge of a language grammar

b) Ability to use language appropriately

c) Awareness of connotation

d) Understanding of sociocultural factors

9.What is the relationship between sociolinguistic competence and performance?

a) They are interchangeable terms

b) Performance translates into competence

c) Competence translates into performance

d) They have no relationship

10.What does sociolinguistic competence encompass?

Vulhelpers24
Sir Zahid

a) Grammar and vocabulary knowledge

b) Cultural awareness and politeness notions

c) Accent and dialect proficiency

d) Social context and speech communities

11.What does the ethnography of speaking analyze beyond language description?

a) Social and cultural practices

b) Speech communities' beliefs

c) Linguistic competence and performance

d) Communication patterns and strategies

12.Which of the following is not an external factor influencing politeness?

a) Status

b) Age

c) Power

d) Amount of imposition

13.According to the paragraph, what can insights from the ethnography of speaking be used for?

a) Enhancing communication with group members

b) Analyzing linguistic forms in isolation

c) Dividing speech communities into categories

d) Establishing universal communication rules

14.What is the main purpose of the ethnography of communication?

a) Describing linguistic structures

b) Investigating communicative habits

Vuhelpers24
Sir Zahid

c) Analyzing individual speech patterns

d) Divorcing form from function in language

15.What does sociolinguistic performance involve?

a) Sociocultural factors influencing language use

b) Language knowledge without awareness

c) The ability to use language in real-life situations

d) Analyzing grammar and connotation in isolation

16.How does politeness vary across cultures?

a) It remains constant

b) It depends on individual preferences

c) It varies based on power dynamics

d) It differs from one culture to another

17.Which of the following is an example of a positive politeness strategy?

a) Would you know where Oxford Street is?

b) It's not too much out of your way, just a couple of blocks.

c) Watch out!

d) I hope offense will not be taken.

18.According to Chomsky, what is competence in linguistics?

a) Knowledge of sociolinguistic factors

b) Awareness of cultural norms

c) Ability to communicate effectively

d) Knowledge of language grammar

19.What is the main focus of the ethnography of communication?

a) Linguistic analysis in isolation

b) Investigating cultural practices

c) Dividing speech communities into categories

d) Describing language structures

20.Which factor does not encode social distance in politeness?

a) Amount of imposition

b) Degree of friendliness

c) Need for deference

d) Power dynamics

21.How does Chomsky define performance in terms of sociolinguistics?

a) Knowledge of language grammar

b) Ability to use language appropriately

c) Awareness of connotation

d) Understanding of sociocultural factors

22.What does sociolinguistic competence encompass?

a) Grammar and vocabulary knowledge

b) Cultural awareness and politeness notions

c) Accent and dialect proficiency

d) Social context and speech communities

23.Which of the following is an example of a negative politeness strategy?

a) Can you please pass the rice?

b) Would you know where Oxford Street is?

c) You look sad. Can I do anything?

Vuhelpers24 Sir Zahid

d) It's rather long, not short certainly.

24.How does sociolinguistic performance differ from competence?

a) Performance is theoretical, while competence is practical

b) Performance is language knowledge, while competence is language use

c) Performance is awareness, while competence is application

d) Performance is actual language use, while competence is knowledge

25.What is the main goal of the ethnography of speaking?

a) Analyzing individual speech patterns

b) Describing linguistic structures

c) Investigating communicative habits

d) Divorcing form from function in language

CODE: ENG510 SUBJECTIVE PART LESSON:22

1.Who is a major figure in the ethnography of speaking?

Answer: Hymes.

2.What does the ethnography of speaking analyze?

Answer: Communication within the wider context of social and cultural practices and beliefs.

3.What are the components of a complete social event like a church sermon?

Answer: Speaker, listener, message, channel, register, and a complex set of socially recognized rules.

4.What can the ethnography of speaking provide insights into?

Answer: Communication acts and codes important to different groups, types of meanings assigned to communication events, and how group members learn these codes.

5.What is the ethnography of communication descriptive of?

Answer: Characteristics that an anthropological approach towards language must take.

6.How many factors affect politeness in social interaction?

Answer: Various factors, including external factors (status, age, power) and internal factors (amount of imposition, degree of friendliness).

7.Does the idea of politeness vary across cultures?

Answer: Yes, what is considered polite in one culture may be impolite in another.

8.Name two topics that are considered taboo in certain cultures.

Answer: Asking someone's age and asking about their pay.

9.What are the four main types of politeness strategies outlined by Brown and Levinson?

Answer: Bald on-record, negative politeness, positive politeness, and off-record (indirect).

10.Which politeness strategy is used when there is urgency or a need for efficiency?

Answer: Bald on-record.

11.What is the purpose of positive politeness?

Answer: To make the hearer feel a sense of closeness and belonging.

12.Which politeness strategy is used to interact with the hearer in a non-imposing way?

Answer: Negative politeness.

13.What does the off-record (indirect) politeness strategy rely on?

Answer: Implication.

14.How did Chomsky define linguistic competence?

Answer: A person's specifically linguistic knowledge, including knowledge about words and word combinations.

15.What is performance in sociolinguistics?

Answer: The actual use of sociolinguistic knowledge when interacting in society.

16.What factors contribute to the general picture of a given language?

Answer: Grammar, connotation, level of formality, style, and register.

17.What does sociolinguistic competence offer a platform for appreciating?

Answer: Language in its social, cultural, and linguistic dimensions.

Vulmpers24 Sir Zahid

18.What does sociolinguistic performance mean?

Answer: The ability to use linguistic knowledge in real-life social contexts.

19.How does sociolinguistic competence differ from sociolinguistic performance?

Answer: Competence is knowledge and understanding, while performance is the application of that knowledge in actual social interactions.

20.What does sociolinguistic competence encompass?

Answer: Knowledge of language grammar, factors behind it (connotation, formality, style, register), and awareness of politeness notions in the target language culture.

CODE: ENG510 OBJECTIVE PART LESSON:23

1.Who first advanced the Sapir-Whorf hypothesis?

a) Benjamin Whorf

b) Franz Boas

c) Edward Sapir

d) Noam Chomsky

2.What was Benjamin Whorf's primary area of interest in linguistics?

a) Grammar conservatism

b) Language evolution

c) Native American languages

d) Syntax and semantics

3.What is the Sapir-Whorf hypothesis also known as?

a) Linguistic imperialism

Vulhelper24 Sir Zahid

b) Linguistic relativism

c) Language rights

d) Grammar conservatism

4.Which version of the Sapir-Whorf hypothesis asserts that language determines thought?

a) The strong version

b) The weak version

c) The Chomskyan version

d) The conservative version

5.Who introduced the term "Sapir-Whorf hypothesis"?

a) Edward Sapir

b) Benjamin Whorf

c) Harry Hoijer

d) Noam Chomsky

6.What is the term for the human and civil rights concerning language choice?

a) Linguistic imperialism

b) Linguistic relativism

c) Linguistic rights

d) Grammar conservatism

7.When were linguistic rights first included as an international human right?

a) 1929

b) 1948

c) 1988

Vuhelpers24
Sir Zahid

d) 1996

8.What is the counter-offensive to linguistic imperialism?

a) Grammar conservatism

b) Linguistic relativism

c) Bilingualism and English as an International Language (EIL)

d) Language planning

9.What is the perception of English according to some in the twentieth century?

a) The killer language

b) Linguistic imperialism

c) Ethnocentricity

d) Grammar conservatism

10.What is the main focus of ethno-education in Colombia?

a) Environmental conservation

b) Economic development

c) Native culture and languages

d) Human rights advocacy

11.Which linguistic rights are protected by international law?

a) Economic and social rights

b) Language rights

c) Collective rights

d) Individual rights

12.What are the two main linguistic human rights in education?

a) Economic rights and social rights

b) Mother tongue education and official language education

Vuhelpers24
Sir Zahid

c) Ethnocentricity and educational policy

d) Grammar conservatism and linguistic relativism

13.Which term describes the relationship between language and culture?

a) Language ecology

b) Ethnocentricity

c) Linguistic imperialism

d) Grammar conservatism

14.Which linguist is associated with the theory of Universal Grammar?

a) Edward Sapir

b) Benjamin Whorf

c) Noam Chomsky

d) Ferdinand de Saussure

15.What is the term for the study of how languages change over time?

a) Phonetics

b) Sociolinguistics

c) Historical linguistics

d) Psycholinguistics

16.What is the process of combining words to create meaningful units of language called?

a) Morphology

b) Syntax

c) Semantics

d) Pragmatics

Vuhelpers24
Sir Zahid

17.What is the study of the social aspects of language, including how language varies and changes in different social groups, called?

a) Pragmatics

b) Sociolinguistics

c) Phonology

d) Psycholinguistics

Answer: b) Sociolinguistics

18.What is the term for a language variety that develops as a means of communication between speakers of different languages?

a) Creole

b) Dialect

c) Pidgin

d) Lingua franca

19.Which linguistic theory emphasizes the importance of context and situational factors in understanding meaning?

a) Structuralism

b) Pragmatics

c) Generative grammar

d) Cognitive linguistics

20.What is the study of how language is processed and represented in the brain called?

a) Neurolinguistics

b) Psycholinguistics

c) Syntax

d) Phonetics

Vuhelpers24
Sir Zahid

1.Who first advanced the Sapir-Whorf hypothesis?

Edward Sapir

2.What was Edward Sapir's profession?

Anthropologist-linguist

3.Who was Benjamin Whorf's teacher?

Edward Sapir

4.What was Benjamin Whorf's primary area of interest in linguistics?

The study of native American languages

5.What is the Sapir-Whorf hypothesis?

The structure of a language determines a native speaker's perception and categorization of experience

6.What are the two versions of the Sapir-Whorf hypothesis?

The strong version and the weak version

7.Who introduced the term "Sapir-Whorf hypothesis"?

Harry Hoijer

8.What is linguistic relativism?

The belief that the structure of a language affects its speakers' world view or cognition

9.What does grammar conservatism advocate?

Adherence to strict rules and the use of correct language

10.What is linguistic imperialism?

The promotion of global inequalities and structures of dependency through the dominance of a particular language, such as English

11.Who coined the term "linguistic imperialism"?

Robert Phillipson

12.What are linguistic rights?

Human and civil rights concerning the individual and collective right to choose the language or languages for communication

13.When were linguistic rights first included as an international human right?

In the Universal Declaration of Human Rights in 1948

14.What is the Universal Declaration of Linguistic Rights?

A declaration approved by people from almost 90 states worldwide, recognizing the linguistic and cultural rights of communities

15.How does language planning impact different systems?

It interacts with other systems beyond linguistics, such as culture, environment, and politics

16.What is ethno-education?

Education for ethnic groups that takes into account their native culture, languages, traditions, and aspirations

17.What are the two main linguistic human rights in education?

Learning the standard form of an official language and learning and using one's mother tongue

18.How does international law recognize linguistic rights?

As markers of identity and dignity of individuals belonging to specific language groups

19.Are all language rights protected by international law?

No, global human rights policies rarely cover economic and social rights, including language rights

20.What is the role of English in linguistic rights discussions?

It is a topic of debate regarding the acceptance of non-native speakers and the dominance of native-speaker models.

CODE: ENG510 OBJECTIVE PART LESSON:24

1.What is slang characterized as?

a) Formal language variety

b) Polite language variety

c) Informal language variety

d) Technical language variety

2.Slang is often used among which groups of people?

a) Elderly individuals

b) Teenagers and professional groups

c) Linguists and scholars

d) Politicians and lawyers

3.Where can you find a British perspective on slang?

a) Oxford English Dictionary

b) Encyclopedia Britannica

c) Cambridge Dictionary

d) Dictionary of Slang at http://www.peevish.co.uk/slang/

4.What is the meaning of the slang term "kisser"?

a) Mouth

b) Nose

c) Eyes

d) Ears

5.What does the slang term "knocking shop" refer to?

Vuhelpers24 Sir Zahid

a) Coffee shop

b) Clothing store

c) Brothel

d) Nightclub

6.What does the slang term "kooky" mean?

a) Boring

b) Crazy

c) Stylish

d) Intelligent

7.Slang expressions may contain ordinary words with:

a) Multiple meanings

b) No meanings

c) Rude meanings

d) Foreign meanings

8.Which of the following is an example of a cliché?

a) "I second the motion."

b) "Happy Birthday!"

c) "They all lived happily ever after."

d) "Fall head over heels."

9.What is the function of clichés?

a) To contribute meaning to social interactions

b) To stimulate behavior and avoid reflection on meanings

c) To create original thought

d) To challenge conventional wisdom

Vuhelpers24 Sir Zahid

10.What is a proverb?

a) An expression that means something other than its words suggest

b) A phrase or opinion that is overused and lacks original thought

c) A short, well-known saying stating a general truth or advice

d) A non-standard word or language variety

11.Proverbs are closely associated with:

a) Mythical souls

b) Linguistic experiments

c) Cultures

d) Literary traditions

12.What is an idiom?

a) A non-standard word

b) A proverb from a specific region

c) An expression with hidden meanings

d) A short, memorable saying embodying a commonplace fact

13.Proverbs are coined by people in:

a) Isolation

b) Context

c) Formal settings

d) Religious ceremonies

14.What insights do proverbs provide about different societies?

a) Cultural traditions

b) Linguistic variations

c) Societal biases and perceptions

d) Historical events

15.What is the function of non-standard language?

a) To confuse communication

b) To limit social prestige

c) To preserve cultural heritage

d) To stimulate behavior and manage identity

16.What defines non-standard usage?

a) Conforming to usage characteristic of educated speakers

b) Conforming to regional accents

c) Not conforming to pronunciation, grammar, vocabulary, etc.

d) Lacking institutional support or sanction

17.What is non-standard English?

a) Proper usage of English grammar

b) Sub-standard usage of English

c) Non-English language variety

d) Highly formal and prestigious English

18.Which verb is often used non-standardly in English?

a) To be

b) To have

c) To do

d) To go

19.What is the non-standard usage of "we were"?

a) We was

b) We are

Vuhelpers24 Sir Zahid

c) We have

d) We had

20.Which non-standard phrase is equivalent to "If I were you"?

a) If I was you

b) If I am you

c) If I have you

d) If I had you

21.What is a common non-standard usage of "ain't"?

a) Be not

b) Have not

c) Will not

d) Do not

22.Which non-standard term means "isn't it"?

a) Innit

b) Ol'

c) Kinda

d) Lotta

23.Which language variety commonly uses the non-standard term "ma"?

a) French

b) Spanish

c) German

d) English

24.Which term is used non-standardly instead of "all right"?

a) OK

Vuhelpers24
Sir Zahid

b) Gimme

c) Lemme

d) Gotten

25.Which variety of English commonly uses the non-standard term "gotten"?

a) British English

b) American English

c) Australian English

d) Canadian English

CODE: ENG510 SUBJECTIVE PART LESSON:24

1.How can slang be characterized?

Slang can be characterized as a very informal language variety that includes new and sometimes impolite words and meanings.

2.Among which groups of people is slang often used?

Slang is often used among particular groups of people, such as teenagers or professional groups.

3.Is slang typically used in serious speech or writing?

No, slang is usually not used in serious speech or writing.

4.Where can you find a British perspective on slang?

You can consult the online Dictionary of Slang at http://www.peevish.co.uk/slang/ for a British perspective on slang.

5.Provide an example of slang word and its meaning starting with the letter "K."

Kisser: Mouth. (Origins in boxing)

Topic - 117: What Are Clichés?

6.How can a cliché be defined?

A cliché can be defined as a phrase or opinion that is overused and lacks original thought.

7.Give an example of a cliché.

"That old cliché 'a woman's place is in the home'" is an example of a cliché.

8.What happens to a phrase or expression when it becomes a cliché?

When a phrase becomes a cliché, it is overused to the extent that it loses its original meaning or novelty.

9.Are expressions commonly used in formal ceremonies considered clichés?

No, expressions commonly used in formal ceremonies are not considered clichés.

10.Provide an example of a common cliché.

"They all lived happily ever after."

Topic - 118: Local Proverbs and Idioms in Sociolinguistics

11.How would you define a proverb?

A proverb can be defined as a short, well-known saying that states a general truth or offers advice.

12.What does the New Dictionary of Cultural Literacy define proverbs as?

The New Dictionary of Cultural Literacy defines proverbs as short, pithy sayings reflecting the accumulated wisdom, prejudices, and superstitions of the human race.

13.What is an idiom?

An idiom is an expression that means something different from its literal interpretation.

14.How are proverbs and idioms determined?

Proverbs and idioms are determined by socio-geographical experiences and coined by people in specific contexts.

15.What do oral traditions of proverbs provide insights into?

Oral traditions of proverbs provide insights into how different societies think about various topics, such as women's roles.

Topic - 119: Functions of Non-standard Language

16.How can a non-standard word be defined?

A non-standard word is one that does not conform to the usual pronunciation, grammar, idiom, or word choice of educated native speakers.

17.What does non-standard language refer to?

Non-standard language refers to a language that lacks institutional support or sanction and has its own vocabulary, grammar, and syntax.

18.What is non-standard usage?

Non-standard usage refers to usage that does not conform to the linguistic norms accepted by educated native speakers.

19.Name one function of non-standard language related to communication.

Non-standard language may serve as a means of communication within specific social groups.

20.Is non-standard language generally socially prestigious?

No, non-standard language is often lacking in social prestige.

Topic - 120: Examples of Non-standard Language from English

21.What does nonstandard English refer to?

Nonstandard English refers to the use of English, especially in terms of grammar, that is considered sub-standard or not "proper" by conventional standards.

22.Provide an example of a non-standard usage of the verb "to be."

"We was robbed" is a non-standard usage instead of "we were robbed."

23.What does "ain't" often replace?

"Ain't" is frequently used as a replacement for "am not," "is not," "are not," "have not," or "has not."

24.Is the usage of "gotten" common in British English?

No, "gotten" is not used in British English but is common in American English.

25.Name a non-standard English morphological feature related to adverbs.

Deletion of the final /i/ in adverbs, as in "He's awful busy these days."

CODE: ENG510 OBJECTIVE PART LESSON:25

1.What is the term "diglossia" used to describe?

a) The study of language varieties

b) Language shift in multilingual communities

c) Sociolinguistic situations with distinct language varieties

d) The hierarchy of languages in a speech community

2.Who introduced the term "diglossia" into English-language literature?

a) Charles Ferguson

b) Joshua Fishman

c) Wardhaugh

d) Sankoff

3.According to Ferguson, what are the two distinct varieties in diglossia often referred to as?

a) Primary and secondary

b) Official and colloquial

c) High and low

d) Standard and vernacular

4.What is the main difference between the high variety and the low variety in diglossia?

a) High variety is learned as a mother tongue, while low variety is learned at school.

b) High variety is used for formal occasions, while low variety is used in everyday circumstances.

c) High variety is written, while low variety is only spoken.

d) High variety is used by lay people, while low variety is used by linguists.

5.What does diglossia reinforce according to Wardhaugh?

a) Linguistic diversity

b) Social distinctions

c) Language change

d) Multilingualism

6.According to Joshua Fishman, how many language varieties can be used within a diglossic community?

a) Only two

b) More than two

c) Exactly three

d) It depends on the region

7.Which example is given in the paragraph for diglossia in the Arabicspeaking community?

a) Greece

b) Germany

Vuhelpers24 Sir Zahid

c) Haiti

d) China

8.In which situations is the high variety (H variety) typically used?

a) Everyday life, home, family

b) Higher education, business, newspapers

c) Street, marketplace, friends

d) Sermons, formal lectures, writing

9.Which language is the official language of Germany?

a) Turkish

b) Russian

c) Polish

d) German

10.How does diglossia affect language shift?

a) It accelerates language shift.

b) It has no impact on language shift.

c) It maintains linguistic stability.

d) It is often a factor in language shift.

11.What is another term for language shift?

a) Diglossia

b) Linguistic diversity

c) Language change

d) Bilingualism

12.Which example is given in the paragraph for diglossia in China?

a) Germany

Vuhelpers24 Sir Zahid

b) Greece

c) Turkey

d) China

13.How does the majority population language affect minority languages?

a) It strengthens and preserves them.

b) It has no impact on them.

c) It puts pressures and affects them negatively.

d) It leads to language convergence.

14.What happens during language change or language shift?

a) The number of speakers of a language increases.

b) There is an increasing use of minority languages.

c) The majority language becomes extinct.

d) There is a decreasing use of a language.

15.What is the term used to describe the reduction in the number of speakers of a language?

a) Diglossia

b) Linguistic repertoires

c) Language proficiency

d) Language shift

Answer: d) Language shift

16.What is the primary use of the high variety (H variety)?

a) Everyday life, home, family

b) Higher education, business, newspapers

c) Street, marketplace, friends

Vuhelpers24 Sir Zahid

d) Sermons, formal lectures, writing

17.Which community has social status differences due to diglossia?

a) German-speaking community

b) Turkish-speaking community

c) Chinese-speaking community

d) Arabicspeaking community

18.What does the term "diglossia" refer to according to Joshua Fishman?

a) Two language varieties in use within a speech community

b) Functional distribution of language varieties in a speech community

c) The presence of multiple dialects in a speech community

d) The hierarchy of languages in a multilingual community

19.Which language variety is learned at school in diglossia?

a) High variety

b) Low variety

c) Standard variety

d) Vernacular variety

20.What is the primary use of the low variety (L variety)?

a) Everyday life, home, family

b) Higher education, business, newspapers

c) Street, marketplace, friends

d) Sermons, formal lectures, writing

21.What does the term "diglossia" reinforce according to Wardhaugh?

a) Social mobility

b) Cultural diversity

Vuhelpers24
Sir Zahid

c) Social distinctions

d) Linguistic universals

22.Which variety is considered a corrupted form of the high variety?

a) High variety

b) Low variety

c) Standard variety

d) Vernacular variety

23.What is the primary purpose of the high variety (H variety)?

a) Maintaining traditional relationships

b) Asserting social position

c) Establishing power structures

d) Normal conversation

24.How is diglossia defined by Charles Ferguson?

a) A language situation with multiple dialects

b) The coexistence of separate languages in a speech community

c) The use of a highly codified superposed variety

d) A situation with two distinct language varieties in the same community

25.What is the primary use of the low variety (L variety)?

a) Higher education, business, newspapers

b) Everyday life, home, family

c) Sermons, formal lectures, writing

d) Street, marketplace, friends

1.Question: Who introduced the term "diglossia" into the English-language literature on sociolinguistics?

Answer: Charles Ferguson (1959).

2.Question: Which societies exhibit the situation of diglossia?

Answer: Places like Greece, the Arabic-speaking world in general, German-speaking Switzerland, and the island of Haiti.

3.Question: What are the two distinct varieties in a diglossic situation usually called?

Answer: They are typically called 'high' and 'low', or 'standard' and 'vernacular'.

4.Question: According to Ferguson's definition, what is diglossia?

Answer: Diglossia is a relatively stable language situation where there are two distinct varieties, with one used on formal and public occasions and the other used by everybody under normal circumstances.

5.Question: What are the main uses of the 'high' variety (H variety)?

Answer: The 'high' variety is used in higher education, business, newspapers, media broadcasts, sermons, formal lectures, and writing.

6.Question: What are the main uses of the 'low' variety (L variety)?

Answer: The 'low' variety is used in everyday life, at home, with family, on the street, in the marketplace, and with friends.

Vthelpers24 Sir Zahid

7.Question: According to Ferguson, who learns the 'low' variety as their mother tongue?

Answer: The 'low' variety is typically learned as the mother tongue by speakers.

8.Question: Do speakers of the 'high' variety explicitly know the grammar of the 'high' variety?

Answer: Yes, speakers of the 'high' variety explicitly know the grammar of the 'high' variety.

9.Question: Do speakers of the 'high' variety know the grammar of the 'low' variety?

Answer: No, speakers of the 'high' variety do not know the grammar of the 'low' variety, but they may speak the 'low' variety in informal situations.

10.Question: How does diglossia reinforce social distinctions?

Answer: Diglossia is used to assert social position and maintain traditional relationships and the existing power structure, particularly keeping those at the lower end of the social hierarchy in their place.

11.Question: Who presented a modification of Ferguson's original concept of diglossia?

Answer: Joshua Fishman.

12.Question: What expansion did Joshua Fishman propose for the concept of diglossia?

Answer: Fishman proposed that a diglossic speech community can be characterized by the use of more than two language varieties and that diglossia refers to all kinds of language varieties showing functional distribution in a speech community.

13.Question: Can diglossia refer to situations beyond the use of two language varieties?

Answer: Yes, diglossia can describe a number of sociolinguistic situations, including stylistic differences within one language or the use of separate dialects to separate languages.

14.Question: Can you give examples of diglossia?

Answer: Examples include Standard German alongside Low German and Mandarin as the official, literary standard in China, with local varieties of Chinese used in everyday communication.

15.Question: How is diglossia related to language shift?

Answer: Diglossia has often been noted as a factor in language shift, especially in speech communities where a minority language is in a diglossic relationship with a majority language.

16.Question: Can you provide an example of language shift related to diglossia?

Answer: In Germany, the official language is German, but people from different ethnic backgrounds or countries use their mother tongue in their social community, such as Turkish, Polish, or Russian.

17.Question: What is the general direction of language change in the context of diglossia?

Answer: Language change or "language shift" tends to be downwards, with a reduction in the number of speakers, decreasing language proficiency, and decreasing use of the language in different domains.

18.Question: How does the majority population language affect minority languages in diglossic situations?

Answer: The majority population language puts pressures on and affects the minority languages, often leading to language shift or decrease in use.

19.Question: What term is used to describe the reduction in the number of speakers and decreasing use of a language?

Answer: It is referred to as "language shift" or "language change."

20.Question: Can you give an example of language change due to external pressure?

Answer: English pressures Pennsylvania German of the Amish society, leading to a decrease in the use and proficiency of the language.

CODE: ENG510 OBJECTIVE PART LESSON:26

1.What forms the trio of Language, Media, and Society?

a) Language, Television, and Myth

b) Language, Internet, and Culture

c) Language, Media, and Social Boundaries

d) Language, Social Media, and Propaganda

2.According to Peter Trudgill, what is a key process of language change?

a) Broadcasting

b) Diffusion

c) Advertising

d) Translation

3.How does diffusion take place in language change?

a) Through linguistic accommodation

b) Through technological advancements

c) Through media exposure

d) Through language ideologies

4.What is the role of television in systemic language change, according to the traditional view?

a) Direct influence on language structure

b) Indirect influence through attitudes towards linguistic varieties

c) Limited impact on language change

d) None of the above

5.In relation to language change, what does Muhr (2003) attribute as a key factor in Austrian German?

a) Exposure to print media

b) Exposure to German television

c) Exposure to social media

d) Exposure to radio broadcasts

6.What is the "power of media" and "power of social media" related to?

a) Language choices

b) Technological advancements

c) Political influence

d) Globalization

Vuhelpers24
Sir Zahid

7.Which of the following is not considered a form of electronic media?

a) Television

b) Radio

c) Internet

d) Print newspapers

8.What does media linguistics study?

a) Language ideologies

b) Media's impact on society

c) How language is used in the media

d) Minority language studies

9.What distinguishes electronic media from static media?

a) Electronic media uses electricity

b) Electronic media has a wider audience

c) Electronic media is more cost-effective

d) Electronic media includes print publications

10.Which of the following statements is true about print media's impact on language choices?

a) Print media has no influence on language

b) Print media affects genre-specific features of language

c) Print media only influences dialect speakers of English

d) Print media primarily impacts spoken language

11.How does social media influence language?

a) It limits language to 100 characters

b) It increases the use of slang and abbreviations

Vuhelpers24 Sir Zahid

c) It encourages communication in foreign languages

d) It pervades all aspects of language use

12.What does "Media Linguistics" primarily focus on?

a) Digital media usage

b) Sociolinguistic interactions

c) Medium-specific processing of signs

d) Language ideology research

13.What is the significance of the media in today's world?

a) It controls all aspects of language

b) It has an unprecedented impact on society

c) It promotes linguistic diversity

d) It reduces language variation

14.Which of the following is not an example of electronic media?

a) Television

b) Radio

c) Print newspapers

d) Smartphones

15.What is the primary advantage of print media over electronic media?

a) Tangibility

b) Cost-effectiveness

c) Wider audience reach

d) Immediate accessibility

16.What role does television play in language change, according to Trudgill?

a) Directly influencing grammar and vocabulary

Vuhelpers24
Sir Zahid

b) Indirectly influencing attitudes towards language varieties

c) Promoting the adoption of linguistic innovations

d) Increasing awareness of language changes

17.How does media affect language change, according to Brandt (1984)?

a) It quantifiably and qualitatively influences language use

b) It has limited influence on language change

c) It doesn't have any impact on language

d) It is difficult to determine the extent of its influence

18.What is the traditional view regarding the influence of television on language change?

a) Television has no impact on language change

b) Television directly shapes language structure

c) Television indirectly affects language through attitudes

d) Television promotes the adoption of linguistic innovations

19.How does social media contribute to communication?

a) It provides one-way communication only

b) It offers a two-way channel of communication

c) It limits communication to a specific group

d) It reduces the need for verbal communication

20.Which of the following media tools is considered part of the print media?

a) Television

b) Internet

c) Newspapers

d) Smartphones

21.What is the primary focus of media linguistics?

a) Analyzing language ideologies in the media

b) Investigating language variation in the media

c) Exploring the role of language in media production

d) Studying how language is used in media contexts

22.How does print media differ from electronic media in terms of readers' attention?

a) Print media offers fewer distractions for readers

b) Electronic media provides longer articles for reading

c) Print media attracts a larger readership than electronic media

d) Electronic media allows for multitasking while reading

23.What distinguishes electronic media from static media?

a) Electronic media requires electricity to function

b) Electronic media provides tangible experiences

c) Electronic media has limited audience reach

d) Electronic media is more cost-effective

24.How does media influence ideology?

a) It reinforces existing ideologies

b) It challenges and changes ideologies

c) It has no impact on ideology

d) It creates new ideologies

25.What is the impact of media on community language?

a) Media shapes and influences community language

b) Media has no influence on community language

c) Community language overrides media influence

d) Media and community language are distinct entities

CODE: ENG510 SUBJECTIVE PART LESSON:26

1.How do language, media, and society influence each other?

Answer: Language, media, and society form a trio where each aspect has an impact on the others.

2.According to Peter Trudgill, what is a key process of language change?

Answer: Peter Trudgill argues that diffusion, or the spreading of linguistic innovations across regions, is a key process of language change.

3.How does television fit into the traditional model of language change through diffusion?

Answer: Television fits awkwardly with the traditional model of language change through diffusion as it may act as a source for new language elements but has a less direct influence on systemic language change.

4.What role does German television play in current language changes in Austrian German?

Answer: According to Muhr (2003), exposure to German television is considered a key factor in ongoing lexical and grammatical changes in Austrian German.

5.What is the impact of social media on language choices?

Answer: Social media has become a strong influence on language choices and provides a two-way channel of communication.

Vuhelpers24 Sir Zahid

6.What does "media" refer to in general?

Answer: In general, "media" refers to tools of mass communication such as television, internet, cinema, newspapers, radio, magazines, direct mail, fax, and the telephone.

7.What role does social media play in our culture?

Answer: Social media has become a huge part of our culture and language can be found everywhere in it.

8.What is one of the most contested issues in contemporary sociolinguistics regarding media?

Answer: The role of media in processes of linguistic change is one of the most contested issues in contemporary sociolinguistics.

9.How does print media differ from other forms of media?

Answer: Print media offers tangibility, with readers being able to feel the paper and have a physical connection to the content.

10.What distinguishes readers of print media in terms of attention and distractions?

Answer: Readers of print media maintain their capacity to read longer articles as they have fewer distractions and can fully focus on the content.

11.What is the readership of print media like?

Answer: Print media has a large readership, reaching the masses, although there are literacy and connectivity issues to consider.

12.How does print media impact language choices?

Answer: Print media has a strong impact on language choices, especially concerning the genre-specific features of language.

13.What is electronic media?

Answer: Electronic media refers to media that utilizes electronics or electromechanical devices for audience access, in contrast to static media like print media.

14.Name two examples of traditional media.

Answer: Radio and television are considered traditional forms of media.

15.What role does media play in ideology and propaganda?

Answer: Media plays a significant role in shaping ideology and can also be used for propaganda purposes.

16.What is the field of study that focuses on the use of language in the media?

Answer: Media linguistics is a field of study that examines how language is used in various forms of media.

17.How has media linguistics evolved with the emergence of digital media?

Answer: Media linguistics has evolved in various ways with the advent of digital media, incorporating research on variation, interactional sociolinguistics, language ideology, and minority language studies.

18.What is the specific focus of media linguistics?

Answer: The specific focus of media linguistics is on the medium-specific processing of signs and their semiotic materialities.

19.What are some examples of electronic media types?

Answer: Television, radio, the internet, smartphones, electronic display advertising, and audio/video tape are all examples of electronic media types.

20.How has the significance of media in today's world been described?

Answer: The significance of media in today's world is described as unprecedented, with its spread leading to the emergence of fields like media linguistics and influencing various aspects of society.

CODE: ENG510 OBJECTIVE PART LESSON:27

1.What is social media?

a) Websites and applications for social networking and content sharing.

b) A medium in transition, competing with old media.

c) Cultural objects that use digital computer technology for distribution.

d) All of the above.

2.The challenges in defining social media arise due to:

a) Multiple mediums involved.

b) Lack of user-generated content.

c) Absence of interactive features.

d) Limited accessibility to web-based technologies.

3.Which of the following is NOT a characteristic of social media?

a) User-generated content.

b) In-Platform messaging and Instagram stories.

c) Interactivity and usability.

d) Technological variables such as synchronous messaging.

4.How do social media differ from traditional media?

a) Social media has lower reach and frequency.

b) Traditional media is more interactive and immediate.

c) Social media uses digital computer technology for distribution.

d) Traditional media lacks user-generated content.

5.Social media outlets operate under which transmission system?

a) Monologic transmission.

b) Dialogic transmission.

c) One-to-many transmission.

d) Synchronous transmission.

6.Which of the following is an example of emerging social media trends?

a) Use of augmented-reality filters.

b) Traditional media advertising strategies.

c) Decreased engagement with brands on social media.

d) Limited use of chatbots for customer service.

7.What does sociolinguistics study?

a) How social media impacts language use.

b) The relationship between society and language.

c) The distribution of language across different countries.

d) The role of computers in language development.

Vuhelpers24 Sir Zahid

8.According to Susan Herring, what are some of the variables that determine computer-mediated discourse analysis?

a) Demographics and linguistic code.

b) Typography and word choice.

c) Technological and situational variables.

d) Interaction and social function.

9.How are social networks defined?

a) Based on social class and job prestige.

b) By analyzing linguistic features.

c) Through interactions between individuals.

d) By geographical locations and hobbies.

10.What is the significance of dense networks in sociolinguistics?

a) They facilitate transmission of linguistic changes.

b) They result in linguistic innovations.

c) They represent social classes more effectively.

d) They promote globalization of languages.

11.In Pakistan, what is a significant consideration when analyzing social media practices?

a) Social and linguistic diversity.

b) Global social media practices.

c) Social networks of celebrities.

d) The number of languages used.

12.Gitelman and Pingree (2003) define social media as:

a) Cultural objects that use digital computer technology for distribution.

Vulhelper24 Sir Zahid

b) Websites and applications for social networking and content sharing.

c) Temporal approaches based on "media in transition".

d) Computer-mediated technologies for social interactions.

13.What is the lifeblood of social media?

a) User-generated content.

b) Technological variables.

c) Social media organizations.

d) Traditional media outlets.

14.Which of the following is an example of a social media platform?

a) Television broadcasting.

b) YouTube.

c) Print newspapers.

d) Radio broadcasting.

15.What is the main difference between dense and loose social networks?

a) The number of members in the network.

b) The level of overlap in people's interactions.

c) The geographical locations of the network members.

d) The communication technologies used in the network.

16.What are some of the variables analyzed in computer-mediated discourse analysis?

a) Typography and word choice.

b) Interaction and social function.

c) Technological and situational variables.

d) Meaning and humor.

Vuhelpers24
Sir Zahid

17.What percentage of Instagram users already follow a brand on the network?

a) 80%

b) 50%

c) 30%

d) 100%

18.What is the role of chatbots in social media?

a) To generate user-generated content.

b) To respond to customer service questions.

c) To facilitate in-platform messaging.

d) To create customizable filters.

19.Which of the following is NOT an example of an emerging social media trend?

a) Customizable chatbots.

b) In-Platform messaging and Instagram stories.

c) Augmented-reality face filters.

d) Traditional print advertising.

20.What does sociolinguistics analyze?

a) The social nature of human beings.

b) The impact of social media on language.

c) The spread of innovations through social networks.

d) The communication practices in new media.

21.What is the main focus of Lievrouw and Livingstone (2002) regarding new media?

Vuhelpers24 Sir Zahid

a) The message and communication practices.

b) The social context and technological medium.

c) The collaboration and digitization of media.

d) The role of telecommunication in new media.

22.What does Jannis Androutsopoulos suggest in the special issue of the Journal of sociolinguistics?

a) Challenging assumptions about new media language.

b) Shifting the emphasis from linguistic features.

c) Focusing on ethnographically grounded approaches.

d) All of the above.

23.How does social media affect communication between businesses and individuals?

a) It introduces substantial and pervasive changes.

b) It reduces the quality and reach of communication.

c) It restricts communication to specific communities.

d) It increases the frequency of communication.

24.Which of the following is NOT a social media outlet?

a) Facebook.

b) Snapchat.

c) YouTube.

d) Television broadcasting.

25.What is the role of social media organizations in social media?

a) They create and maintain user profiles.

b) They facilitate the development of online social networks.

Vuhelpers24 Sir Zahid

c) They provide interactive web-based applications.

d) They generate user-generated content.

CODE: ENG510 SUBJECTIVE PART LESSON:27

Q1: How can social media be defined?

A: Social media can be defined as websites and applications that enable users to create and share content or participate in social networking.

Q2: What is the temporal approach to defining social media?

A: The temporal approach defines social media as a medium in transition, contrasting and competing with old media.

Q3: What are some features that help identify social media?

A: Some features of social media include being interactive Web 2.0 applications, user-generated content, and service-specific profiles created and maintained by the social media organization.

Vuhelpers24 Sir Zahid

Q4: How do users access social media services?

A: Users can access social media services through web-based technologies on desktop computers and laptops or by downloading services that offer social media functionality on mobile devices.

Q5: How do social media platforms differ from traditional media?

A: Social media platforms differ from traditional media in terms of quality, reach, frequency, interactivity, usability, immediacy, and permanence.

Q6: What is the transmission system of social media outlets?

A: Social media outlets operate in a dialogic transmission system with many sources to many receivers, unlike traditional media's monologic transmission model.

Q7: Name some popular social media websites.

A: Instagram, Pinterest, Twitter, Viber, WeChat, Weibo, WhatsApp, Wikia, Snapchat, Facebook, and YouTube are some popular social media websites.

Q8: What is one emerging social media trend related to customer engagement?

A: Higher engagement rates between brands and customers through social media platforms.

Q9: How can organizations handle incoming social messages effectively?

A: Organizations can utilize chatbots to respond to similar customer service questions and provide timely support.

Q10: Which social media platforms have gained popularity through features like in-platform messaging and stories?

A: Instagram and Snapchat have gained popularity with their in-platform messaging and stories features.

Q11: What is the significance of augmented reality and face filters in emerging social media trends?

A: Face filters and augmented reality have become increasingly popular features in social media platforms.

Q12: What is sociolinguistics?

A: Sociolinguistics is the study of how language serves and is shaped by the social nature of human beings.

Q13: How are sociolinguistics and new media related?

A: The changing definitions of sociolinguistics align with the development of new media and its impact on language and society.

Q14: What are some technological variables that influence computer-mediated discourse analysis?

A: Technological variables include synchronicity, size of message buffer, anonymous messaging, persistence of transcript, channels of communication, etc.

Q15: What are some situational variables in sociolinguistics related to new media?

A: Situational variables include participation structure, demographics, setting, purpose, topic, tone, norms of participation, and linguistic code.

Q16: What are some linguistic variables analyzed in sociolinguistics of new media?

A: Linguistic variables include typography, spelling, word choice, sentence structure, meaning, interaction, and social function.

Q17: What suggestions were made to advance the study of new media language in sociolinguistics?

A: The suggestions include challenging assumptions about the distinctiveness of new media language, moving beyond simplistic characterizations, shifting focus from medium-related to user-related approaches, etc.

Q18: How are social networks defined?

A: Social networks are defined by the relationships individuals have with others, linking many individuals through social and geographical space.

Q19: Why is it important for sociolinguists to understand the patterns of associations within social networks?

A: Understanding the patterns of associations helps explain how linguistic change spreads efficiently within certain groups and cohorts.

Q20: How can social networks be identified?

A: Social networks can be identified by observing interactions within a community or by allowing individuals to define their own social networks.

CODE: ENG510 OBJECTIVE PART LESSON:28

1.What is the impact of social media on spellings?

a) It is causing spellings to become extinct.

b) It is making people more concerned about their spelling abilities.

c) It is encouraging people to use correct spellings.

d) It has no effect on spelling practices.

2.Which of the following social media platforms is known for its 140-character limit per tweet?

a) Facebook

b) Instagram

c) Twitter

d) WhatsApp

3.What kind of writing is becoming a social norm due to social media habits?

a) Formal writing

b) Shorthand English

c) Academic writing

d) Long-form essays

4.What is the reason behind the emergence of new meanings for old words on social media?

a) Lack of vocabulary

b) Influence of foreign languages

c) Changes in communication styles

d) Evolution of the English language

5.What are "emoticons" and what is their purpose?

a) Small corresponding images that replace text on social media

b) Abbreviations used for texting

c) New words created for online communication

d) Written symbols expressing mood or facial expressions

6.When did the digital forms of emoticons first appear on the Internet?

a) 1986

b) 1982

c) 1990

d) 2000

7.What is the significance of using Japanese-style emoticons?

a) They are more expressive than Western-style emoticons.

b) They can be understood without tilting one's head to the left.

c) They originated in ASCII NET in 1986.

d) They are popular only in Japan.

8.How has social media influenced the English language?

a) By making English more complex and difficult to understand.

b) By introducing new vocabulary and meanings for existing words.

c) By promoting traditional grammar and syntax.

d) By discouraging the use of abbreviations and acronyms.

9.What is the purpose of using "antique" text speak in social media?

a) To preserve traditional language forms.

b) To express complex emotions.

c) To create a sense of nostalgia.

d) To quickly convey messages in abbreviated form.

10.How does social media impact the speed of new word adoption in the English language?

a) It slows down the process of word adoption.

b) It has no impact on word adoption speed.

c) It accelerates the process of word adoption.

d) It makes new words less relevant.

11.What linguistic choices are frequently used on social media in Pakistan?

a) Use of Roman English

b) Use of formal language only

c) Avoidance of abbreviations and acronyms

d) Frequent use of traditional script only

Vuhelpers24 Sir Zahid

12.Which social media practice is common in Pakistan, involving the use of two or more languages in the same conversation?

a) Code switching

b) Acronyms

c) Code mixing

d) Abbreviations

13.Which social media platform is known for its disappearing photo and video feature?

a) Facebook

b) Instagram

c) Snapchat

d) LinkedIn

14.What term is used to describe the act of using someone else's content on social media without giving proper credit?

a) Reposting

b) Sharing

c) Plagiarism

d) Tagging

15.Which of the following social media platforms is primarily focused on professional networking?

a) Twitter

b) TikTok

c) Pinterest

d) LinkedIn

Vubelpers24 Sir Zahid

16.What is the term used to describe a person who has a large following on social media and influences their followers' opinions and behaviors?

a) Influencer

b) User

c) Subscriber

d) Follower

17.Which social media platform is known for its character-limited captions and hashtags?

a) Twitter

b) Facebook

c) YouTube

d) WhatsApp

18.What does the term "viral" mean in the context of social media?

a) Sharing content with close friends only

b) Rapidly spreading content across various platforms

c) Posting content without any captions or descriptions

d) Liking or reacting to someone's post

19.Which social media platform is primarily focused on visual content, such as photos and videos?

a) Facebook

b) LinkedIn

c) YouTube

d) Instagram

20.What is the term used to describe a post or comment that receives a large number of dislikes or negative reactions?

a) Troll

b) Viral

c) Hate speech

d) Backlash

21.Which social media platform allows users to save and organize images and links to create virtual pinboards?

a) Snapchat

b) Twitter

c) Pinterest

d) TikTok

22.What is the term used to describe the practice of using social media platforms to promote a product or service?

a) Advertising

b) Marketing

c) Influencing

d) Networking

CODE: ENG510 SUBJECTIVE PART LESSON:28

Question1: What are some examples of social media platforms mentioned in the paragraph?

Answer: Twitter, Facebook, Instagram, WhatsApp, Websites, and SMS.

Question2: How has social media affected the way people spell?

Answer: With autocorrect, Twitter, and text lingo, people are becoming more unconcerned with their spelling ability, impacting spelling.

Vuhelpers24 Sir Zahid

Question3: Why do people use shorthand English on social media?

Answer: People use shorthand English to fit their thoughts within the character limits of platforms like Twitter.

Question4: What is the impact of social media on grammar and spellings?

Answer: Social media is leading to the decline of traditional grammar and spelling rules.

Question5: What is the significance of emoticons in communication on social media?

Answer: Emoticons serve as non-linguistic features that convey emotions and facial expressions in text-based communication.

Question6: When did emoticons become popular in digital form?

Answer: Emoticons started gaining popularity on the Internet in the late 1990s with the rise of SMS and online forums.

Question7: What do the emoticons "LOL," "TGIF," "ROFL," and "BRB" stand for?

Answer: LOL = laughing out loud, TGIF = Thank God it's Friday, ROFL = Rolling on the Floor with Laughter, BRB = Be Right Back.

Question8: How do Japanese-style emoticons differ from Western-style emoticons?

Answer: Japanese-style emoticons can be understood without tilting one's head to the left and use characters like (_) to represent emotions.

Vulhelpers24
Sir Zahid

Question9: What is the impact of social media on the English language in a global context?

Answer: Social media influences English as a lingua franca, introducing new vocabulary and re-purposing existing words.

Question10: How has social media contributed to the evolution of the English language?

Answer: Social media has accelerated the development of the English language, introducing new words and abbreviations.

Question11: What are some examples of vocabulary re-purposed for social media?

Answer: Examples include "wall," "tablet," "troll," "streaming," and "catfish."

Question12: How do social media writing practices differ in Pakistan?

Answer: Social media writing practices in Pakistan involve the use of Roman English, abbreviations, acronyms, and code-switching.

Question13: Why is the English language significant in the socio-cultural context of Pakistan?

Answer: English has a higher status in Pakistan's socio-cultural context, and linguistic choices reflect prestige issues.

Question14: What is the role of social media in accelerating the adoption of new words in English?

Answer: Social media increases the speed at which new words are adopted and created, challenging dictionary publishers.

Question15: How do social media practices of writing reflect youth aspirations in Pakistan?

Answer: Social media practices of writing in Pakistan often reflect the linguistic choices and aspirations of the youth.

Question16: How do emoticons help in conveying emotions on social media?

Answer: Emoticons represent facial expressions and emotions, enhancing communication in text-based conversations.

Question17: How has social media changed the meanings of certain words?

Answer: Social media has appropriated existing vocabulary, giving new meanings to words like "wall" and "streaming."

Question:18 Why do people use abbreviations and acronyms on social media?

Answer: Abbreviations and acronyms help people fit their messages within the character limits of social media platforms.

CODE: ENG510 OBJECTIVE PART LESSON:29

1.According to research, how do speakers of English often categorize varieties of English?

a) Diverse and inclusive

b) Traditional and modern

c) Good and bad

d) Formal and informal

2.What are language attitudes and folk beliefs related to?

a) Different languages around the world

b) Dialects within a language

c) Cultural traditions and customs

d) Varieties of English and their speakers

3.According to John Humphry, what kind of speech sounds does he dislike?

a) Glottal stops and London accent

b) Speech impediments and added words

c) Public school-educated politicians and snobs

d) Varieties of English and their speakers

4.What do people's reactions to language varieties reveal?

a) Their perception of the speakers of those varieties

b) Their knowledge of linguistic theories

c) Their ability to learn multiple languages

d) Their preferences for specific dialects

5.What are some grammatical features that have been considered "wrong" in the history of English?

a) Multiple negation and redundant words

b) Subject-verb agreement and past tense forms

c) Verb conjugation and word order

d) Articles and prepositions

6.What is one criterion for being considered a native speaker of a language?

a) Acquiring the language from parents

b) Being born in a specific country

c) Speaking the language fluently

d) Turning to native speakers for guidance

7.In India, what happens to the views of native speakers regarding English usage?

a) They become more influential worldwide.

b) They become less relevant due to local norms.

c) They become more diverse and inclusive.

d) They become more rigid and conservative.

8.What does being a native speaker of English provide?

a) A sense of identity and community

b) Access to better educational opportunities

c) Higher social status and privileges

d) Opportunities to travel internationally

9.What is the concept of a standard language critical in?

a) Sociolinguistics and language acquisition

b) Language ideology and language attitudes

c) Language variation and language change

d) Language policy and language planning

10.Which functions does the standard language of a community typically serve?

a) Broadcast, print media, education, and government

b) Business, tourism, entertainment, and science

c) Literature, music, arts, and fashion

d) Daily conversations, social media, advertising, and technology

11.What are some examples of grammatical forms that vary in Standard English?

Vulcapers24 Sir Zahid

a) Present perfect and past perfect tenses

b) Passive voice and reported speech

c) Indirect questions and conditional clauses

d) Multiple negation and verb agreement

12.What is the paradox associated with English as a global language?

a) The more English is used globally, the more standardized it becomes.

b) The more English is used globally, the more fragmented it becomes.

c) The more English is used globally, the more diverse its dialects become.

d) The more English is used globally, the more standardized its pronunciation becomes.

13.Why do the United States and some European countries promote their languages internationally?

a) To assert linguistic hegemony and control

b) To preserve cultural heritage and identity

c) To facilitate communication and understanding

d) To increase economic opportunities and trade

14.What was the outcome of a study on Nordic medical doctors reading in English or in a translation?

a) They understood more when reading in their mother tongue.

b) They understood more when reading in English.

c) Their reading comprehension was similar in both languages.

d) They found reading in English more challenging.

15.How is the English speech community defined in the paragraph?

a) People who speak English fluently

b) People who share common linguistic knowledge

Vuhelpers24 Sir Zahid

c) People who are native speakers of English

d) People who use English as their second language

16.What makes it challenging to define the English speech community?

a) The diversity of languages spoken by its members

b) The lack of common linguistic knowledge among speakers

c) The influence of external factors beyond language proficiency

d) The varying criteria used to identify community members

17.What is the main issue discussed in the paragraph?

a) The importance of virtual networks in language communities

b) The complexity of defining a speech community based on language

c) The impact of social networks on language variation

d) The influence of ideological forces on language usage

18.According to the passage, what does language represent?

a) Power and control over others

b) Cultural heritage and identity

c) Personal preferences and choices

d) Effective communication and understanding

19.What paradigm shift is mentioned in the paragraph?

a) A shift towards a unified European language

b) A shift from loan words invasion to language preservation

c) A shift from English dominance to multilingualism

d) A shift from linguistic concerns to broader structural and ideological issues

20.What is the effect of English linguistic hegemony on local languages?

a) Local languages experience domain loss and decreased usage.

Sir Zahid

b) Local languages become more diverse and inclusive.

c) Local languages adopt English as their primary form.

d) Local languages undergo standardization and formalization.

21.What are some examples of countries investing in multilingualism?

a) Norway and Finland

b) Denmark and Sweden

c) India and Singapore

d) France and Germany

22.What is one characteristic of strong and weak networks mentioned in the paragraph?

a) Their impact on language preservation

b) Their influence on language ideologies

c) Their association with virtual communities

d) Their role in defining speech communities

23.According to the passage, what can be problematic when defining "English" on purely linguistic grounds?

a) The diversity of dialects and accents within English

b) The influence of cultural and social factors on language use

c) The varying levels of language proficiency among speakers

d) The lack of consensus on the boundaries of the English language

24.How does the passage suggest we define a speech community?

a) Based on shared linguistic knowledge and common interests

b) Based on geographical location and cultural practices

c) Based on language proficiency and fluency

d) Based on individual preferences and choices

Question 1: How do speakers categorize varieties of English according to research?

Answer: Speakers categorize varieties of English as either 'good' or 'bad' based on research.

Question 2: According to John Humphry, what are some language features he dislikes and why?

Answer: John Humphry dislikes glottal stops and people saying 'fink' unless they have a speech impediment because he associates them with specific speakers or functions.

Question 3: What is the significance of language attitudes and folk beliefs regarding varieties of language?

Answer: Language attitudes and folk beliefs not only relate to varieties of language but also reflect perceptions of the speakers of those varieties.

Question 4: What is the concept of correctness in relation to language?

Answer: The concept of correctness involves speakers reporting certain ways of saying something as being wrong, often based on grammatical features or perceived errors.

Question 5: How do multiple negation and the use of redundant words relate to the notion of correctness in language?

Answer: Multiple negation and the use of redundant words are examples of features that have been considered wrong in the past but may have been common in earlier stages of the language or are currently undergoing change.

Question 6: What is the common-sense view of being a native speaker of a language?

Answer: The common-sense view is that a native speaker is someone who is born into a community of other speakers of the language and acquires it from their parents.

Question 7: How do non-native speakers' usage of English in India challenge the relevance of native speakers' views?

Answer: Non-native speakers in India use English for various purposes, making the views of native speakers less relevant as more local norms of usage emerge.

Question 8: How does being a native speaker of English contribute to a sense of identity?

Answer: Being a native speaker of English provides a sense of community and a distinct identity compared to individuals who are native speakers of other languages.

Vuhelper24
Sir Zahid

Question 9: What is the role of a standard language in sociolinguistics?

Answer: A standard language serves specific functions in areas such as broadcasting, print media, education, and government, and it is crucial in sociolinguistics.

Question 10: How do different communities perceive what counts as Standard English?

Answer: Different communities generally agree on what constitutes Standard English, although there may be variations and different standards within different regions or countries.

Question 11: What are some examples of grammatical variations in spoken and written Standard English?

Answer: Examples of grammatical variations include the use of "I haven't" or "I've not" and "I dreamt" or "I dreamed" in spoken and written Standard English.

Question 12: How does Standard English vary in terms of formality?

Answer: Speakers may use different linguistic forms and patterns to mark a more careful style in formal, written Standard English, which may include a greater incidence of Latinate vocabulary.

Vuhelpers24
Sir Zahid

Question 13: Why do the British, French, and EU states promote their languages internationally?

Answer: The promotion of languages by these countries is influenced by wider structural and ideological forces, and it is linked to the perceived power and influence associated with linguistic hegemony.

Question 14: How does English as a global language contribute to its fragmentation?

Answer: The more English is used as a common global language, the more it becomes fragmented, with different communities developing their own standards and variations of English.

Question 15: What risks do local languages face in relation to the increasing use of English?

Answer: The increasing use of English in scholarship, technology, higher education, business, and media poses strong risks of domain loss in local languages, particularly in Nordic countries.

Question 16: How can the English speech community be defined, and what makes it problematic?

Answer: Defining the English speech community solely based on people who speak English is problematic because it is difficult to agree on what constitutes 'knowledge of English' and what criteria should be considered.

Vuhelpers24
Sir Zahid

Question 17: What factors other than language can be involved in defining a speech community?

Answer: Factors such as clothing, conduct, and other aspects beyond language may be considered when defining a speech community, similar to how criteria other than farming may be used to define a farming community.

Question 18: What are virtual networks, and how do they relate to the English speech community?

Answer: Virtual networks refer to online communities or connections, and when considering the English speech community, the existence of these networks adds complexity to the definition and understanding of the community.

Question 19: How do social networks and strong/weak networks relate to the concept of a speech community?

Answer: Social networks, including both strong and weak connections between individuals, contribute to the formation and dynamics of a speech community.

Question 20: Why is defining the English speech community not a simple task?

Answer: Defining the English speech community is not simple because it involves considerations beyond linguistic knowledge, and there are complexities in agreeing on what constitutes 'English' in the first place.

1.What is the national language of Pakistan?

a) Punjabi

b) Urdu

c) Sindhi

d) Balochi

Answer: b) Urdu

2.Which language is written in a modified version of the Persian script in Pakistan?

a) Punjabi

b) Urdu

c) Sindhi

d) Balochi

3.Which language emphasizes words of Persian and Arabic origin in its literary form?

a) Punjabi

b) Urdu

c) Sindhi

d) Balochi

4.Which region in Pakistan has the greatest concentration of Urdu speakers?

a) Punjab

b) Balochistan

c) Sindh

Vuhelpers24
Sir Zahid

d) Khyber Pakhtunkhwa

5.What is the preferred language for formal situations in Pakistan?

a) Punjabi

b) Urdu

c) Sindhi

d) Balochi

6.Which language holds the second position in the hierarchy of languages in Pakistan?

a) Punjabi

b) Urdu

c) Sindhi

d) Balochi

7.What percentage of Pakistanis speak Urdu as their first language?

a) Majority

b) Few percent

c) Half of the population

d) Over 80%

8.Which language is spoken by more than 7 million Muhajirs in Pakistan?

a) Punjabi

b) Urdu

c) Sindhi

d) Balochi

9.Which provinces in Pakistan have demands for cultural autonomy?

a) Punjab and Sindh

Vulcipers24 Sir Zahid

b) Balochistan and Khyber Pakhtunkhwa

c) Sindh and Balochistan

d) Punjab and Khyber Pakhtunkhwa

10.Which language has the highest percentage of speakers in Pakistan?

a) Punjabi

b) Urdu

c) Sindhi

d) Balochi

11.Which language is more akin to Persian due to geographical affinity to Iran?

a) Punjabi

b) Urdu

c) Sindhi

d) Balochi

12.Which language is spoken in rural Sindh, while Urdu is spoken in urban Sindh?

a) Punjabi

b) Urdu

c) Sindhi

d) Balochi

13.Which language is the dominant language in the North-West Frontier Province (N.W.F.P)?

a) Punjabi

b) Urdu

c) Sindhi

Vuhelpers24
Sir Zahid

d) Pashto

14.Which province in Pakistan has multiple languages, including Baluchi and Pashto?

a) Punjab

b) Sindh

c) Khyber Pakhtunkhwa

d) Balochistan

15.Which issue is NOT mentioned as an aspect of identity in the paragraph?

a) Cultural

b) Political

c) Linguistic

d) Religious

16.In the sociolinguistic context of Pakistan, what determines power?

a) Ideological power

b) Linguistic power

c) Economic power

d) All of the above

17.Language and power exertion in Pakistan do not take place in a vacuum. What other factor is mentioned?

a) Education

b) Religion

c) Social status

d) Media

18.Which language is mentioned as being dominated linguistically and culturally by Urdu and English speaking communities?

Vulhelpers24
Sir Zahid

a) Punjabi

b) Urdu

c) Sindhi

d) Balochi

19.Which language is preferred against all regional and local languages for use in formal situations?

a) Punjabi

b) Urdu

c) Sindhi

d) Balochi

20.Which province has a significant population speaking Sindhi?

a) Punjab

b) Sindh

c) Balochistan

d) Khyber Pakhtunkhwa

21.What percentage of the population in Pakistan speaks Baluchi as their first language?

a) 5.1%

b) 13.1%

c) 26.6%

d) 48%

22.Which province in Pakistan has linguistic and cultural boundaries that are soft between Punjabi and Urdu?

a) Punjab

b) Sindh

Vuhelpers24
Sir Zahid

c) Balochistan

d) Khyber Pakhtunkhwa

23.What is the primary language spoken in the Hazara district?

a) Hindko

b) Urdu

c) Pashto

d) Punjabi

24.Which province in Pakistan has issues of Sindhi and Baluchi nationalism linked to the languages?

a) Punjab

b) Sindh

c) Balochistan

d) Khyber Pakhtunkhwa

25.What is the relationship between language and power in the Pakistani sociolinguistic context?

a) Language determines power

b) Power determines language

c) They have no relationship

d) They both influence each other

CODE: ENG510 SUBJECTIVE PART LESSON:30

1.What is the national language of Pakistan?

Urdu.

Vuhelpers24
Sir Zahid

2.Is Urdu the first language of the majority of Pakistanis?

No, only a few percent of Pakistanis speak Urdu as their first language.

3.In which script is Urdu written?

Urdu is written in a modified version of the Persian script, from right to left.

4.What languages influence the literary form of Urdu?

Persian and Arabic.

5.Which regions of Pakistan have the greatest concentration of Urdu speakers?

Punjab and Karachi.

6.Which language comes after English in the hierarchy of languages in Pakistan?

Urdu.

7.In what situations is Urdu preferred over regional and local languages?

All formal situations.

8.Despite its status as the national language, do the majority of Pakistanis speak Urdu as their first language?

No, only a few percent of Pakistanis speak Urdu as their first language.

9.Has there been a demand for cultural autonomy in other provinces regarding language?

Vuhelpers24
Sir Zahid

Yes.

10.Is there tension between Urdu and local languages in Pakistan?

Yes.

11.What is the status of English in Pakistan?

English is an international language and is used as a foreign or second language.

12.How many regional languages are spoken in Pakistan?

No less than 24.

13.Which language is more akin to Persian in the Balochi region?

Balochi.

14.Which ethnic group constitutes the majority of Punjabi speakers in Pakistan?

Punjabis.

15.What percentage of Pakistan's population speaks Punjabi as a first language?

About 48%.

16.Which language is spoken in rural Sindh, while Urdu is spoken in urban Sindh?

Sindhi.

17.Which language is the majority language in N.W.F.P. (Khyber Pakhtunkhwa)?

Pashto.

18.What languages are spoken in Balochistan?

Baluchi, Pashto, Brohi, Sraiki, and Punjabi.

19.What are some of the issues related to linguistic unity in Pakistan?

Cultural, political, linguistic, and ethnic/racial issues.

20.How does language relate to power in the sociolinguistic context of Pakistan?

Language is a determining factor of power, and it interacts with ideological, linguistic, economic, and media power.

Working on the Next Lessons

Don't Copy Paste on any other platform

LMS Handling Service : 03342743020

Remember me in your prayers

JOIN YOUR SEMESTER GROUP OF BS ENGLISH
BS ENGLISHT 1ST SEMESTER Group👉 (JOIN NOW)
BS ENGLISHT 2ND SEMESTER Group👉 (JOIN NOW)
BS ENGLISHT 3RD SEMESTER Group👉 (JOIN NOW)
BS ENGLISHT 4TH SEMESTER Group👉 (JOIN NOW)

BS ENGLISHT 5TH SEMESTER Group👉 (JOIN NOW)
BS ENGLISHT 6TH SEMESTER Group👉 (JOIN NOW)
BS ENGLISHT 7TH SEMESTER Group👉 (JOIN NOW)
BS ENGLISHT 8ST SEMESTER Group👉 (JOIN NOW)
BS ENGLISHT ALL SEMESTER Group👉 (JOIN NOW)

Vuhelpers24
Sir Zahid