

ENG 524

Current

Papers

July- Aug

2K26

ENG524 CURRENT PAPERS

What are the principles of the historiographical approach in CDA? OR Summarize the historiographical approach in CDA? OR What does CDA need to do from a historiographical approach?

According to the historiographical approach, CDA should:

- 1) Contextualize the past – Study the past in its social context.
- 2) Study production – Examine how historical discourse is created.
- 3) Study reception – Examine how people understand historical discourse.
- 4) Explore meanings – Analyze different meanings and interpretations of the past.
- 5) Check legitimacy and distribution – Study how historical discourse gains acceptance, value, and spreads in society.

Definition of neoliberalism? Also True/False from this Neoliberalism is a term that deals specifically with economic ideas about free markets. Neoliberalism is characterized by free market trade, deregulation of financial markets, privatization, individualization, and the shift away from state welfare provision. The neoliberal era began in the 1970s and continues to the present. It is a specific form of free market Capitalism that has largely come to dominate global economics. It was originally referred to as "globalization" and began with "Free Trade deals" in the 80s and 90s. The "anti-globalization" protests of the 90s were attempts to resist neoliberalism.

True/False from Neoliberalism?

- ✚ Neoliberal governance abandons any government intervention. False
- ✚ The metaphor of the market is integral for liberty and freedom of choice. True
- ✚ Individuals are viewed as fully responsible for shaping their own destiny in society. True

According to Flowerdew (2012) discuss historiographical approach?

According to Flowerdew (2012), the historiographical approach to Critical Discourse Analysis (CDA) studies how history is written and explained through language. It looks for hidden assumptions and ideas in historical accounts and shows that history is not simply a collection of facts but is constructed through language.

Flowerdew explains that people connect their past, present, and future to understand meaning. Historical discourses may highlight some events while ignoring others. These discourses help people build their identity and connect with groups such as family, political groups, or a nation. They appear in everyday conversations as well as in history textbooks. This approach also examines how history can be used to maintain power, hide inequality, silence victims, or remove responsibility for human rights violations. At the same time, it encourages alternative interpretations of the past to promote critical awareness and a fairer understanding of history.

True/false from the concept of CDA and text books..... Also MCOs from that

ENG524 CURRENT PAPERS

- 1) School textbooks are considered a unique resource to explore which knowledge is of most worth in a given place and time. — True
- 2) Textbooks are not intended to shape the values and knowledge of future generations. — False. Textbooks are one of the few media explicitly oriented to shaping the values, knowledge's and subjectivities of the future generation.
- 3) According to Macgilchrist, textbooks result from a complex production process involving various institutions and individuals. — True
- 4) Textbooks reflect and co-constitute what is collectively accepted as say-able in a given time and space. — True
- 5) Critical approaches to textbook discourse reconceptualize textbooks as cultural and political practices. — True
- 6) Critical approaches to textbook studies ignore the cultural politics of education and knowledge production. — False. Critical approaches foreground the cultural politics of education and of knowledge production.
- 7) Textbooks help young generations understand how the world works and which ways of living are desirable. — True
- 8) One strength of CDA of textbooks is its insistence on a research aesthetic of "smallness" and "slowness". — True
- 9) Semantic, argumentation, and lexicogrammatical patterns play no role in constructing knowledge. — False. Semantic, argumentation and lexicogrammatical patterns construct knowledge's and address readers as particular student-subjects.
- 10) Textbook discourse can be used to examine the politics of visibility and environmental issues. — True
- 11) According to Macgilchrist, textbook design can help or hinder teaching and learning processes. — True
- 12) Macgilchrist suggests that critical approaches to textbook discourse can explore racism, nationalism, immigration, and other topics. — True
- 13) Critical approaches to textbook discourse focus only on Critical Discourse Analysis and ignore SFL and social semiotics. — False. Critical approaches may focus on Systemic Functional Linguistics (SFL), social semiotics or Critical Discourse Analysis.
- 14) The findings of textbook research contribute to understanding the construction and theory of knowledge. — True

Mariana achugar views on memory and history two constructs of histrography?

- ❖ Memory is based on personal experience. (Example: "I was there.")
- ❖ History is based on facts and research. (Example: "Someone did something in the past.")
- ❖ Memory tries to remember the past as it was.
- ❖ History tries to tell the true facts about the past.
- ❖ Memory focuses on personal experiences and continuity.
- ❖ History explains changes and why they happened.

ENG524 CURRENT PAPERS

What is Discourse-Historical Method (DHM) by Ruth Wodak?

Discourse-Historical Method (DHM) (also called the Discourse-Historical Approach – DHA) is a Critical Discourse Analysis (CDA) method developed by Ruth Wodak. Discourse-Historical Method (DHM) is an approach of Critical Discourse Analysis (CDA) that studies language by looking at its historical, social, and political context. It explains that we cannot fully understand a text or speech without knowing the events and background in which it was produced. DHM also examines how language is used to create identities, express power, and spread ideologies by connecting present discourse with past events. DHM examines how language is used to create, maintain, or challenge power, discrimination, and ideology. It uses information from different sources, such as historical documents, interviews, media reports, and political texts, to explain discourse more accurately.

Cook's View on Advertising and CDA?

Cook (2008) states: “Advertising is one of the most prominent, powerful, and ubiquitous contemporary uses of language. Advertising’s creative use of language makes it a particularly rich site for language and discourse analysis”.

Three kinds of stance specified by Georgalou? Explain

- 1) Epistemic Stance (Knowledge & Belief)
- 2) Attitudinal (Affective) Stance:
- 3) Stylistic Stance

Blanks based on violence against women (circumstances, wives, fiends, victim, patriarchal)

- i) Genuine“ victims were sexually “unavailable” women like wives, mothers and girls.
- ii) ‘Fiends’ were men who were involved in stranger attacks of “respectable” women while “non-fiends” were those who either attacked their spouses or women deemed “available”.
- iii) Clark observed that every permutation of blame entailed a patriarchal advantage accorded to British men. OR

Clark noted, reflected a patriarchal viewpoint whereby women were categorized in terms of possible sexual encounters with men.

- iv) Husbands who attacked their wives were humanized and depicted sympathetically as victims of circumstances.

T/F from Violence against women.....

See Topic-134: Violence against women

ENG524 CURRENT PAPERS

- 1) Feminist discourse scholarship highlights institutionally validated sexism in the discourse of violence against women. True
- 2) Clark (1992) analyzed news reports using naming and transitivity analysis. True
- 3) Clark's study found that responsibility for attacks was always placed on the perpetrators. False (Correct statement: Clark's findings revealed a pattern of blame (re)assignment in which responsibility for an attack was often transferred to the victim or another woman, while excuses were found for the perpetrators.)
- 4) Victims were categorized as "genuine" and "non-genuine" victims. True
- 5) According to Clark, wives, mothers, and girls were considered "non-genuine" victims. False (Correct statement: Wives, mothers, and girls were categorized as "genuine" victims.)
- 6) Unmarried mothers, divorcees, and blondes were categorized as "non-genuine" victims. True
- 7) Clark argued that the distinction between victims reflected a patriarchal viewpoint. True
- 8) Men who attacked their spouses were portrayed as fiends. False (Correct statement: Men who attacked their spouses were humanized and depicted sympathetically as victims of circumstances.)
- 9) Men described as "fiends" were sometimes excused because they were shown as acting out of past traumas. True
- 10) Ehrlich (2001) found that adjudication processes challenged androcentric assumptions. False (Correct statement: Ehrlich (2001) found that androcentric assumptions legitimized male violence and reproduced gender inequalities.)
- 11) During cross-examination, the complainants' credibility came under critical scrutiny. True
- 12) The complainants were blamed for resisting clearly and forcefully enough. False (Correct statement: The complainants were blamed for not resisting clearly and forcefully enough)
- 13) Probable consent was inferred from what was considered inadequate resistance. True
- 14) The adjudication processes fully acknowledged the gendered power dynamics shaping the complainants' responses. False (Correct statement: The adjudication processes failed to acknowledge the gendered power dynamics that had shaped and constrained the complainants' responses to the threat of sexual violence.)

Research on a piece of literature. Five component?

- 1) Introduction
- 2) Research gap
- 3) Analysis/Findings

ENG524 CURRENT PAPERS

- 4) Theoretical framework
- 5) Thematic discussion of findings

Definition of ideology by Althusser?

Althusser defined ideology as “representing the imaginary relationship of individuals to their real conditions of existence” which “has a material existence”. Ideology is not just an idea. It is shown in people's real life and daily actions. According to Althusser, ideology turns ordinary people into subjects by influencing how they think, behave, and see themselves in society.

Write New Directions for critical Discourse studies?

According to Thurlow (2018), Critical Discourse Studies (CDS) should use discourses that are understood by both researchers and society so that criticism can bring real change. CDS should also study new workplaces and professional fields instead of focusing only on traditional institutions. It should remain open to new ideas and methods and avoid following only one academic approach. Researchers should work more closely with professionals, such as advertisers and copywriters, to understand how they use language in real life. Advertising is an important area for future CDS because it uses language creatively and strongly influences people. Pennycook (1990) also suggested that researchers should be humble, listen to different views, and learn from others instead of believing that only their own ideas are correct.

Fill in the blanks from these words (Noun. adjective)

- 1) Labour is a noun.
- 2) In this, the Labour Party differs from the Conservative Party, whose name is an adjective also used as a noun.
- 3) The noun Conservatism refers solely to political principles, not to the party.

Deleuze view about the theory?

According to Deleuze (1997), a theory is exactly like a box of tools. It must be useful. It must function. If no one uses it, beginning with the theoretician himself (sic), then the theory is worthless or the moment is inappropriate. Deleuze argued that theory and practice are closely related. Theory should not remain limited to books or classrooms; it should be applied in real-life situations. Every theory must be tested and improved through practice.

According to Deleuze, theory helps people question dominant ideas, expose hidden power relations, and bring positive social change. Therefore, theory is a means of action rather than just a collection of concepts.

Discuss CDA in Pakistani Perspective (Part II)?

Pakistani researchers used CDA to study how language is used to spread ideology, power, and influence in different fields.

ENG524 CURRENT PAPERS

1. News Headlines

- Compared Urdu & English newspapers (2016).
- Found that different newspapers present the same news differently because of ideology and power.

2. Budget Speeches

- Compared Pakistani & Indian budget speeches.
- Found that budget speeches contain hidden meanings.

3. TV News Headlines

- Studied Pakistani news channels.
- Found that news headlines contain ideology and power, and viewers dislike exaggerated headlines.

4. Political Speech

- Analyzed Yousuf Raza Gillani's speech.
- Found that "we/our" shift responsibility, while "I" shows authority.

5. Beauty Advertisements

- Studied beauty product ads.
- Found that hyperbole, celebrities, and gender representation are used to persuade people.

Three types of characters?

- ❖ Protagonist – central character.
- ❖ Antagonist – opposes the protagonist
- ❖ Supporting characters – help develop the main plot.

What are the Elements of stance?

- ✚ Evaluation: Expresses opinion or judgment.
- ✚ Modality: Expresses possibility, certainty, or obligation.
- ✚ Epistemic: Expresses knowledge or belief.
- ✚ Affective: Expresses feelings or emotions.

Fill in the blanks from Terrorism?

- i) Terrorism as a socio-political construct is difficult to be defined objectively and universally.
- ii) academics and political analysts find the word "terrorism" as a calculated element of propaganda.

ENG524 CURRENT PAPERS

- iii) Largely context-based Terrorism cannot really be simplistically defined as the “systematic use of violence and intimidation to achieve some goal”
- iv) Terrorism is conceptualized as “chemical, biological and nuclear”

Four analytical tiers of the media studies?

- i) Production
- ii) Representation
- iii) Distribution
- iv) Reception

True/False.....

- 1) Feminist Critical Discourse Analysis (FCDA) has focused on investigating traditional gender ideologies without considering newer gender ideologies that have become mainstreamed. False (Correct statement: FCDA studies have also investigated “newer” gender ideologies that have become mainstreamed through popular discourses which have appropriated feminist signifiers)
- 2) The NRA campaign 'Refuse to Be a Victim' co-opted feminist slogans from the 1970s to promote its agenda. True
- 3) The NRA has been known for its feminist activism and has consistently promoted women's rights. False. (Correct Statement: The NRA is known for advocating gun rights, not for feminist activism or consistently promoting women's rights)

True false from CDA and media studies?

- 1) According to Phelan (2014), media scholars were already doing a form of Critical Discourse Analysis before CDA became an established field. True
- 2) According to Fairclough (2004), discourse was not important in the emergence of media studies in the 1970s and 1980s. False (Correct Statement: According to Fairclough (2004), the concept of discourse was important in the emergence of media studies in the 1970s and 1980s)
- 3) Media studies examine only newspapers and ignores television and radio. False (Correct Statement: Media studies examines newspapers, television, radio, and other media, along with their political, social, economic, and cultural implications)
- 4) Phelan argues that society cannot be understood independently of the role of media. True
- 5) The final section of Phelan's discussion explores ideology critique of media discourses. True
- 6) Fairclough (1995) believed that cultural studies had no influence on CDA research. False (Correct Statement: Fairclough (1995) believed that the influence of cultural studies is evident in CDA research)

ENG524 CURRENT PAPERS

- 7) CDA and cultural studies have generally existed as separate scholarly traditions. True
- 8) CDA emerged mainly through the work of historians. False (Correct Statement: CDA emerged mainly through the work of linguists working in linguistics departments)
- 9) Fairclough combined post-structuralist ideas with Marxist political economy. True
- 10) The popularity of CDA among media scholars in the 2000s was partly due to its usefulness as an analytical toolkit. True
- 11) Political economy scholars easily accepted discourse approaches without any concerns False (Correct Statement: Political economy scholars were often skeptical of discourse approaches and their terminology)
- 12) Fairclough used the concept of the dialectic to avoid the charge of discursive reductionism. True
- 13) Richardson (2007) gave Fairclough's research programme a stronger materialist identity. True
- 14) CDA only analyzes books and novels in media studies. False (Correct Statement: CDA analyzes media texts such as news reports, editorials, interviews, and other media content)
- 15) The first strand of media CDA focuses on the structural conventions of media texts and language. True
- 16) The second strand studies how identities and social belonging are represented in media. True
- 17) The third strand focuses on the sociological implications of media discourses. True
- 18) Digitization has made it possible to analyze large corpora of media texts using CDA. True
- 19) Recent CDA research ignores visual design, branding, and audio-visual communication. False (Correct Statement: Recent CDA research analyzes visual design, branding, audio-visual communication, and other multimodal forms of media discourse)
- 20) Researchers have examined identities created through internet-based media. True
- 21) CDA assumes a dialectical relationship between text and social context. True
- 22) Media sociologists argue that textual analysis alone is sufficient for studying media. False (Correct Statement: Media sociologists argue that textual analysis should be combined with contextual analysis of how media texts are produced and circulated)

How Labor Party different from Conservative Party?

The Labour Party and the Conservative Party are different in the way their names are used.

- Labour Party is usually called "Labour" and is used in the singular.

ENG524 CURRENT PAPERS

- Conservative Party is often called "the Conservatives" (plural).
- Conservatism refers to the political ideology, not to the Conservative Party itself.
- The name "Tory/Tories" is another name for the Conservative Party, but it is mostly used by opponents, not by the party members themselves.
- The passage also explains that a party's name works like a brand, helping people recognize and remember it.

True / False

- a) the discourses of neoliberalism and the accompanying interrelated ones of globalization somehow conveniently leave out the issues of which particular choices are offered, and to whom, the limits of the available choices, and just as importantly, who decides which choices are offered and/or available. True
- b) Neoliberalism is not bad for poor and working people, therefore we must oppose it. False
- c) The result of elites integrating critiques of capitalism into capitalism itself as sources of renewal. True
- d) For film, the potentially misleading or misdirecting role of (audio-) visual representations has received particularly close attention in work on documentaries. True
- e) In documentaries, there are always "truth claims" of various kinds being made – even though the precise scope of such claims may always be clear. False

True false from FCDA?.

- i) Critical Discourse Analysis (CDA) aims to raise critical awareness about discrimination, disadvantage, and dominance. True
- ii) Gender-based inequality is an important area of research in CDA. True
- iii) Feminist CDA is a political perspective that studies gender ideologies and power relations. True
- iv) The main objective of FCDA is to support traditional gender ideologies. False (Correct Statement: The main objective of FCDA is to challenge gender ideologies and promote social justice and transformation.
- v) The term "feminist" in Feminist CDA focuses on gender as the object of research. True
- vi) FCDA is based only on CDA principles and ignores feminist theories. False (Correct: FCDA is based on both CDA principles and contemporary feminist theories).
- vii) FCDA inherited its critical approach from the Frankfurt School through CDA. True
- viii) FCDA is informed by post structural, transnational, queer, postcolonial, and intersectional theories. True
- ix) These theories are associated with Third Wave Feminism. True
- x) According to Wodak (2003), individuals negotiate between multiple social identities in different contexts. True

ENG524 CURRENT PAPERS

- xi) According to FCDA, the categories of women and men are fixed and universal. False
(Correct: According to FCDA, the categories of women and men are diverse, changing, and plural)
- xii) FCDA studies how gender ideology and power relations are produced, negotiated, and challenged in texts and talk. True
- xiii) FCDA is not concerned with social justice. False (Correct: FCDA focuses on social justice and social transformation).
- xiv) FCDA examines representations of social practices, social relationships, and identities. True
- xv) FCDA investigates how gender ideologies become "common sense" in society. True

Fill in the blanks from FCDA (fluid, gender, geopolitics)

- The first principle of FCDA is the ideological character of gender.
- Contemporary theories have shown that gender-in-context is fluid and plural.
- Gender, importantly, exists in a matrix of other socially stratified identities including sexuality, race/ethnicity, class, profession, age, culture and geopolitics.

Explain Principles of Feminist Critical Discourse Analysis (FCDA)? OR Approaches of FCDA?

1) Gender as an Ideology:

Gender is not just a biological difference. It is a social and ideological system that often treats men and women unequally. Gender is also influenced by class, race, age, culture, and other social factors.

2) Power and Gender:

FCDA studies how power creates gender inequality. It explains that men often have more power in society (patriarchy), but power also works through social rules and institutions, as explained by Foucault.

3) Discourse Shapes Gender:

FCDA believes that language and discourse create and maintain gender identities. People learn and perform the roles of "men" and "women" through everyday language and social practices.

4) Critical Reflexivity:

FCDA encourages people to think critically about gender issues and challenge sexism. It supports equality by promoting inclusive language and questioning unfair gender stereotypes.

ENG524 CURRENT PAPERS

5) Analytical Activism:

FCDA is not only about studying language but also about bringing social change. It uses research and education to raise awareness and promote gender equality and social justice.

True/false concept on political discourse.....

- ❖ Political discourse can signal political distinctions through language change True
- ❖ The use of pronouns in political discourse cannot express distance or solidarity. False
(Correct statement: The use of pronouns in political discourse can express distance or solidarity.)

True / false on the concept of Research in CDA: Pakistani perspective.

See Lecture-39 to Lecture-40

- 1) The study on pro-government and independent press explores how powerful groups control media discourse. True
- 2) The findings reveal that media discourse always presents public opinion. False (True Statement: The findings reveal that the media discourse may not necessarily present public opinion)
- 3) Powerful individuals and institutions affect the production of newspaper discourse in Pakistan. True
- 4) The study on Muslim women found that films portray them as empowered and never marginalized. False (True Statement: The findings revealed that Muslim women are seen as slaves, victims, helpless, ignorant and dangerously marginalized.)
- 5) The aim of Imran Khan's speech analysis was to explore how a political leader propagates ideology through language. True
- 6) Politicians never use linguistic strategies to persuade people. False
(True Statement: Politicians employ certain linguistic strategies to persuade people to follow their hidden agendas.)
- 7) Jinnah wanted Pakistan to become a liberal, democratic, just and impartial state. True
- 8) The New York Times portrayed the APS attack more impartially than Dawn. True
- 9) Newspapers always report the same event in exactly the same way. False (True Statement: Newspapers report the same event in different ways by manipulating headlines.)
- 10) Different newspapers showed variations in ideology, power, and hegemony. True

ENG524 CURRENT PAPERS

11) Pakistani news bulletin headlines are free from ideology and power relations. False
(True Statement: Pakistani news bulletin headlines are infused with varying ideologies and power relations)

12) Hyperbole is the most frequently used rhetorical device in beauty product advertisements.
True

Discuss Bush Administration's War on Terror

After 9/11, the Bush Administration launched the War on Terror. President George W. Bush used speeches to convince people that terrorism was a serious threat. He used emotionally charged vocabulary, rhetorical strategies, and lexico-syntactical and semantico-pragmatic tools to gain public support and allies.

Bush presented the Iraq invasion as a legitimate, progressive, and definitive step in the War on Terror. He described terrorism as a "totalitarian empire" that threatened political and religious freedom.

According to Wodak and Meyer (2001), there is a dialectical relationship between discourse and social action. Bush's speeches influenced media discourse, public opinion, and government policies in the United States and other countries.

Fill in the blanks from War on Terror?

- 1) After _____, the Bush administration became the official sponsor of the War on Terror. 9/11
- 2) Iraq invasion was presented as a progressive step in the _____. War on Terror
- 3) The discourses produced during the _____ indicated that support would only be achieved. Build up to the Iraq invasion.
- 4) After 9/11, the Bush administration became the official sponsor of the _____. War on Terror.
- 5) The films depicted the post-9/11 American _____. War on Terror
- 6) During the _____ to the Iraq invasion, support was presented as a legitimate step in the War on Terror.
- 7) In addition to the _____ of the Muslim women in the oppressive discourses. identification
- 8) Iraq invasion was portrayed as a _____ step in the War on Terror. definitive
- 9) According to Bush, terrorism denied political and _____ freedom. religious
- 10) The study analyzed _____ popular films. four
- 11) The films showed the post _____ American War on Terror. 9/11
- 12) The study highlighted the role of educated and professional Muslim women called _____ women. new

ENG524 CURRENT PAPERS

13) The repeated images reduced viewers' ability to form a _____ perspective. genuine

Fill in the blanks from Approaches of Neoliberalism.....

- 1) First approach is about the examination of how its ideology emerged (e.g. the discussion of Hayek) during the 1940s that was dismissed by mainstream economists at the time as being on the fringe, only to achieve hegemonic status in the 1970s during the worldwide economic crisis.
- 2) Second approach explores neoliberalism as a political project or even “a style of politics characterized by market-centrism, conviction politics and an authoritarian populism
- 3) Third approach that views neoliberalism through the lens of an economic framework in its specifically economic policies purportedly designed to increase competition and spread market forces both locally and globally.
- 4) Fourth approach interprets neoliberalism as “the form taken by a capitalist offensive against organized labour after the crisis of the post-war mode of growth.
- 5) Fifth approach situates neoliberalism and its specific hegemonic rise in its material practices and policies starting in the 1970s that is characterized by the “advance of globalization based on free trade, transnational production, and the free movement of financial capital”.

Fill in the Blanks from Concept research in CDA (three. I. Fairclough's hyperbole, ideologies)

- A) Hyperbole is the most used rhetorical device.
- B) “I” was used to show assertion and authority and also in order to digress the discussion from the topic.
- C) Compared three different Pakistani news channels.
- D) Three dimensional model of the analysis of text.
- E) The advertisements were collected from 3 Dawn English magazines and 3 Mag English magazines over a period of three months.
- F) The three-dimensional Fairclough model of the analysis of the text.
- G) A critical approach has been used to analyze this speech and some features of critical discourse model presented by Norman Fairclough were selected to look closely into the text.

ENG524 CURRENT PAPERS

- H) The analysis of newspaper text has been done by adopting Fairclough & Wodak model (1997) and Van Dijk model.
- D) This research has explicated the ideological constructions through Fairclough's framework for critical discourse analysis (CDA).
- J) To find out the impact of headlines in construction and propagation of ideologies.
- K) The analysis of the news headlines reveal that Pakistani news headlines are infused with varying ideologies and power relations.

According to Lin (2014), what are the three areas where CDS is applied in Applied Linguistics?

According to Lin (2014), CDS can be deployed in three areas of Applied Linguistics:

- ✚ Studies of textbooks and school curricula
- ✚ School leadership and student identities
- ✚ Public-media discourse

True / false related to subjectivity and positioning.

See Topic-106

- i) Subjectivity and positioning go hand in hand. True
- ii) The act of positioning never involves speaker's subjectivity. False (Correct statement: The act of positioning regularly invokes a dimension of speaker's subjectivity.)
- iii) The personal pronoun "I" points directly to the speaking subject. True
- iv) Affective verbs include like, don't like, love, and hate. True
- v) The sentence "I like this song" does not specify the object of stance. False (Correct statement: The sentence "I like this song" directly specifies the object of stance)
- vi) The stance object in "I like this song" is "this song." True
- vii) The example "I like this song" illustrates the coexistence of subjective and objective elements within a unified stance. True
- viii) To express subjectivity, only the speaking subject is required; no stance object is needed. False (Correct statement: To articulate this kind of subjectivity, an orientation to a specific object of the speaking subject's stance is required, together with a particular intentional relation.)
- ix) Intentional relations include desiring, loving, hating, liking, and not liking. True

ENG524 CURRENT PAPERS

x) Jamie likes the song, while Sam does not like those. True

Framework for Analysis of Media Discourse (Carvalho, 2008)?

- 1) Textual analysis: Layout and structural organization Objects and Actors Language, grammar and rhetoric Discursive strategies Ideological standpoints
- 2) Contextual analysis: Comparative-synchronic analysis Historical-diachronic analysis

True / false based on the concept of Framework for the analysis of Media text

See Lecture-35

- 1) CDA has contributed significantly to the analysis of journalistic discourse. True
- 2) The time plane in discourse analysis has been thoroughly researched. False (Correct statement: The time plane in discourse analysis remains under-researched.)
- 3) Discursive strategies of social actors are one of the under-researched aspects. True
- 4) Journalistic discourse is independent of language. False (Correct statement: Language is central to journalism, and understanding how it is used in the construction of meaning is a natural concern among media scholars)
- 5) Fowler (1991) examined linguistic aspects of news language. True
- 6) CDA only studies texts and ignores institutional and sociocultural contexts. False (Correct statement: CDA has set itself the goal of looking beyond texts and taking into account institutional and sociocultural contexts)
- 7) Fairclough (1995) proposed systematic analyses of journalistic discourse. True
- 8) Developing a research programme covering the entire life of a news text has already been fully accomplished. False (Correct statement: Developing a research programme that encompasses all the moments in the “life” of a particular news text is a key but unaccomplished goal of the CDA research community)
- 9) Journalism intersects with all fields of society. True
- 10) CDA aims to look beyond texts by considering institutional and sociocultural contexts. True

True/ False.....

+ Racism and anti-racism in educational practices can be studied under the light of CDA. True

ENG524 CURRENT PAPERS

- ✚ For example, the analysis of an inter-racial alliance between teacher education students contributes to a broadened view of CDA. True
- ✚ According to Rogers (2018), most CDA work in education has focused on top-down forces associated with oppression and injustice. False (Correct statement: According to Rogers (2018), the majority of CDA work in education has focused on the bottom-up forces of teachers and learners making room for transformational practices)

Give general categories by Savage et al. OR five general categories which are then subdivided into dimensions? OR Five Categories of the Model of Class?

- 1) Economic resources
- 2) Sociocultural resources
- 3) Behavior
- 4) Life conditions
- 5) Spatial conditions

Fill in the blanks on the concept of Research in CDA & Educational discourse. (De constructively, production, everywhere, class, social)

- A) Foucault (1980) pointed out that power is everywhere.
- B) Luke (1995) emphasized on the potential of CDA to operate both de constructively and constructively.
- C) It needs to be considered as a productive network
- D) Power runs through the whole social body”.
- E) Ayers (2005) conducted a research on a community college in USA and claimed that the college is a site for reproducing class inequalities.

Minority language in political discourse?

Minority language is the language spoken by a smaller group of people within a country. In political discourse, language is often used to represent or ignore minority groups. Political leaders and governments may use language to include or exclude minorities, influence public opinion, and shape national identity. Critical Discourse Analysis (CDA) studies how political language can create power differences, discrimination, and inequality against minority language speakers. Sometimes minority languages are ignored in official policies, education, and media, while the majority language is given more importance.

T/F from Intro to the CDS & Social theory-2.....

- 1) CL emphasized the need for „unveiling“ and „demystification“ Language use they regarded as dehumanizing“ (Fowler and Kress 1979: 196) True

ENG524 CURRENT PAPERS

- 2) Althusser (2001: 109–115) defined ideology as “representing the imaginary relationship of individuals to their real conditions of existence” which “has a material existence” True
- 3) Macgilchrist(2016)focuses on the construction of their fissures and dislocations instead of their social orders and stability . False (True Statement: Macgilchrist (2016)focuses on the construction of social orders and stability instead of their fissures and dislocations.)
- 4) Ideology was “a systematic body of ideas, organized from a particular point of view” and manifest in linguistic choices (Kress and Hodge 1979: 6). True
- 5) Baker (2014) adopts a Foucauldian notion of discourse. True

T/F

- ❖ The traditional unidirectional, one-to-many interface of mass media is replaced with a many - to- many dynamic of discursive practice in social media (True)
- ❖ Social media allows communications that is both interpersonal and mass communication, either simultaneously or separately (True)
- ❖ Web 2.0 is defined as the second stage of the internet characterized by static web pages and no user- generated content (False) (True statement: Web 2.0 is the second stage of development of the Internet, characterized by the change from static web pages to dynamic or user-generated content and the growth of social media.)

Fill in the blanks on the concept of CDA & Media studies. (Leads, sociology, discourse)

- 1) van Dijk’s orientation to social psychology leads him towards cognition instead of sociology.
- 2) The second strand foregrounds questions about which discourse are privileged in media.
- 3) A third strand in media discourse analysis focuses on the sociological implications of media discourses.
- 4) Researchers explicate the semantic and grammatical properties of different media genres and the ideological function of particular text types such as headlines and leads.
- 5) Critical Discourse Analysis has usually been deployed to analyze discrete media texts and the intertextual relationship between thematically linked media content.
- 6) Researchers in the first strand explicit the ideological functions of text types such as headlines and leads.

Types of discourse?

ENG524 CURRENT PAPERS

- ✚ Political Discourse
- ✚ Media Discourse
- ✚ Multimodal Discourse
- ✚ Historical Discourse (Discourse-Historical Approach)
- ✚ Journalistic Media Discourse

True false from SM-CDS

- 1) According to KhosraviNik (2014), Computer Mediated Communication (CMC) was initially ignored by mass media scholars. True
- 2) Linguists showed interest in analyzing Computer Mediated Communication (CMC). True
- 3) Many CMC studies adopted methods of Conversation Analysis and Interactional Sociolinguistics. True
- 4) SM-CDS focuses on technology rather than discourse. False (Correct: SM-CDS focuses on discourse, not technology)
- 5) According to Jones (2015), discursive practice includes concrete and situated actions performed with mediational means. True
- 6) Barton and Lee (2013) argued that researchers should only study online texts and ignore users' lives. False (Correct: Barton and Lee (2013) argued that researchers should study both online texts and users' lives and belief)
- 7) Recent CMC research emphasizes society over technology. True
- 8) According to KhosraviNik (2014), SM-CDS is a socially committed, problem-oriented, textually based critical analysis of discourse. True
- 9) SM-CDS deals with technology as its central object of analysis. False (Correct: SM-CDS deals with discourse as its central object of analysis).
- 10) SM-CDS studies how discourse shapes social and political spheres. True
- 11) SM-CDS assumes a complete separation between online and offline worlds. False (Correct: SM-CDS believes there are intertextual and interdiscursive relations between online and offline world)
- 12) Discourses stretch across media industries and communication practices. True
- 13) According to Krzyżanowski (2011), interviews and focus groups can be used in SM-CDS when appropriate. True
- 14) Audience methods cannot be used in SM-CDS. False (Correct: Audience methods can enrich SM-CDS and help in social contextualization).
- 15) Multimodal Analysis can analyze tagging, likes, sharing, hyperlinks, and annotations. True
- 16) KhosraviNik (2014) used the term "bottom-up language" for social media manipulation of audiences. True
- 17) "One-way flow of mass media" means information moves directly from media to the audience. True

ENG524 CURRENT PAPERS

- 18) According to KhosraviNik (2009), meanings reside only within language. False (Correct: Meanings reside within society and social context, not only language)
- 19) Identity, nationalism, racism, and right-wing populism are current popular topics in CDS. True
- 20) Right-wing populism is no longer relevant in Social Media CDS. False (Correct: Right-wing populism is still a relevant topic in Social Media CDS)

Fill in the blanks.....

- + A common feature of both elite and everyday racism seems to be the increasingly covert ways in which it is reproduced
- + Direct attention from skin color as a relevant marker of difference racism tends to be associated with individual prejudice, ignorance, and backwardness that result in direct manifestations of stereotypical beliefs about certain groups.
- + Indirect racism still draws on interest-serving legitimizations of what is normal, natural or better in a particular context.

True/ False

- A) In 1970 the original source-centered approach in CL did not account for the role of reception or agency. True
- B) Althusser's notion of ideology as discussed in the context of CL suggests ideology is about false representation of reality. False. (Correct Statement: Althusser's notion of ideology goes beyond classic notions of ideology as a false representation of 'reality', instead focusing on how ideology represents the imaginary relationship of individuals to their real conditions of existence.
- C) "Retributive justice and revenge were considered legitimate enough reasons to take any kind of definitive action after 9/11. False. (Correct Statement: Retributive justice and revenge did not prove legitimate enough reasons to take any kind of definitive action)
- D) "Bush administered terrorism with weapons of mass destruction, suggesting they are part of the same category of threat. True
- E) "The language used by Bush, including references to 'this country' and 'never before', aimed to downplay the threat. False. (Correct Statement: The language used by Bush aimed to exaggerate the threat and persuade audiences of the need for immediate action)

Approaches of neoliberalism? OR 5 components by Jessop

Jessop (2013) has outlined five approaches examining neoliberalism:

1) Historical Approach:

ENG524 CURRENT PAPERS

This approach is about the examination of how its ideology emerged. It studies how neoliberalism started and became popular. It began in the 1940s, but became dominant in the 1970s during the global economic crisis.

2) Political Approach:

This approach sees neoliberalism as a political system that focuses on free markets and uses politics to support market-based ideas.

3) Economic Approach:

This approach views neoliberalism as an economic policy that encourages competition, free markets, and global trade.

4) Capitalist Approach:

This approach says neoliberalism supports capitalism and powerful business groups. It increased the power of companies and investors, especially over workers.

5) Globalization Approach:

This approach explains that neoliberalism grew through globalization. It promotes free trade, international business, and the free movement of money across countries.

Define political discourse analysis?

Political discourse analysis is a field of discourse analysis which focuses on discourse in political forums (such as debates, speeches, and hearings) as the phenomenon of interest. Political discourse is a formal discussion where people share ideas and choose the best solution to solve a social problem. Political Discourse Analysis is the analysis of political language to understand how politicians use language to influence people and achieve political goals.

Example: Imran Khan's Election Speech (2013) — analyzed to show how a political leader uses language to propagate ideology and persuade people.

Write a note on contested past and CDA?

Contested past means that different people or groups have different views about the same historical event. Critical Discourse Analysis (CDA) studies how language constructs and presents these views. It explains that historical meanings are created through words, images, and different types of discourse. These meanings can change over time because different communities interpret history differently. CDA also studies the language features used in history texts to understand how meanings are formed. It shows how language shapes identities and national discourses. According to Flowerdew (2012), discourse analysis plays an important role in writing and understanding history. Thus, CDA helps us read historical events critically and understand different perspectives.

True / false related to CDA and discourses about terrorism.

See Lecture-27

ENG524 CURRENT PAPERS

- i. The fusion of politics and media has increased academic interest in political discourse. True
- ii. Terrorism can be defined objectively and universally. False (True Statement: Terrorism is difficult to be defined objectively and universally)
- iii. The discourse of terrorism is often linked with religion and identity. True
- iv. People can engage in war without the mediating force of discourse. False (True Statement: People cannot engage in war and violence without the mediating force of discourse).
- v. CDA focuses on language as social practice. True
- vi. CDA is interested only in investigating linguistic units. False (True Statement: CDA is not interested in investigating a linguistic unit per se but in studying social phenomena requiring a multidisciplinary and multi-methodical approach.)
- vii. The discursive construction of terrorism can be a powerful tool of propaganda. True
- viii. Bush's speeches remained the same throughout the War on Terror. False (True Statement: Bush's speeches reveal three specific time periods: pre-war, build-up to war, and post-war.)
- ix. After 9/11, terrorism was portrayed as evil and barbarism. True
- x. Only one methodological approach is enough to analyze discourses of terrorism. False (True Statement: A single methodological approach may not be enough to analyze such historically and ideologically textured discourses.)

True/false from class talk

ENG524 CURRENT PAPERS

- a) Class talk promotes a culture of poverty ideology. True
- b) Classtalk focuses on structural conditions and the real causes of poverty. False (Correct: Classtalk ignores structural conditions and causes of poverty)
- c) Classtalk positions individuals according to vague and superficial folk theories. True
- d) Classtalk explains why social classes exist in detail. False (Correct: Classtalk focuses on the surface-level appearance of class, not how or why it exists.)
- e) According to Turgeon et al. (2014), welfare recipients are discussed through classtalk. True
- f) Classtalk examines the deeper causes of class differences. False (Correct: Classtalk does not examine the deeper causes; it emphasizes surface-level views)

If you do research. 5 components you'll write about. Enlist name no explanation

- 1) Introduction
- 2) Objectives
- 3) Methodology (Research Design)
- 4) Findings / Results
- 5) Conclusion

What are the four elements of Sicurella's eclectic framework?

- i) Myths of origins and ancestry
- ii) Teleological dimension (intrinsic purpose/mission)
- iii) Fantasy of pure, original, homogenous people
- iv) "Myth memories" of "golden ages" and heroes

Explain Racism?

Racism:

Racism is unfair treatment or discrimination against people because of their race, ethnicity, or skin color. Race as a category of analysis, and racism as a dominant ideology.

Forms of racism:

1) Elite Racism:

Elite racism is racism shown by powerful people or institutions, such as politicians, media, or government, through their decisions, policies, or public statements.

2) Everyday Racism:

Everyday racism is racism that happens in daily life, such as in schools, workplaces, neighborhoods, or ordinary conversations.

3) Overt Racism:

ENG524 CURRENT PAPERS

Overt racism is open and obvious racism. People clearly express racist words or actions. For Example: Using racial insults or refusing to serve someone because of their race.

4) Covert Racism:

Covert racism is hidden or indirect racism. It is not openly expressed but appears through subtle behavior, unfair treatment, or discrimination.

T/F from Introduction to reality television?

See Topic-168

- i) Reality TV is the most exorbitantly "noticed" form of programming in television history. True
- ii) Reality TV is generally praised by media commentators for its high moral values. False
(Correct statement: Reality TV has faced massive criticism from media commentators who associate it with humiliation and bullying and who see it as morally degrading.)
- iii) Reality TV has attracted huge audiences despite criticism. True
- iv) Reality TV usually involves ordinary people who appear to be themselves rather than following a script. True
- v) Reality shows only focus on political and historical events. False (Correct statement: Reality shows are generally structured around mundane matters or domestic life.)
- vi) Reality TV often exposes private and intimate aspects of participants' lives. True
- vii) A key feature of reality TV is its capacity to provoke emotions. True
- viii) According to Sayer (2005), emotions should not be viewed as evaluative judgments. False (Correct statement: Emotions should be viewed as evaluative judgments.)
- ix) Emotions can create and preserve distinctions between groups of people. True
- x) Reality TV can legitimate or de-legitimate social practices and their participants. True
- xi) MCDA ignores talk, music, graphics, camera work, and editing during analysis. False
(Correct statement: This approach focuses on how all the involved semiotic resources (talk, music, audio effects, graphics, camera work, editing, etc.) are combined to portray participants and their actions.)
- xii) Lischinsky presented an approach for critically examining reality TV and how it can provoke feelings. True
- xiii) MCDA stands for Multimodal Critical Discourse Analysis. True

ENG524 CURRENT PAPERS

xiv) MCDA views actions and artefacts used in communication as semiotic resources. True

xv) Reality TV can reproduce ideologies. True

Nationalism T/F.....

i) Modern nationalism originated in Europe after the French Revolution. True

ii) According to Gellner, nationalism is a political principle that the political and national unit should be congruent. True

iii) According to Anderson, members of a nation personally know all other members. False (Correct Statement: Members of even the smallest nation will never know most of their fellow members)

iv) According to Gellner, nationalism may involve linguistic standardization. True

v) Anderson defined the nation as an "imagined political community. True

vi) Wodak agreed that Anderson's concept completely explains modern multicultural nation-states. False (Correct Statement: Wodak criticized Anderson's concept, saying it does not fit today's multicultural and heterogeneous nation-states)

vii) According to Wodak, national identities are dynamic, fluid, and fragmented. True

viii) Identity can be renegotiated according to socio-political and situational contexts. True

ix) The growth of transnational communities strengthens territorial control over differences. False (Correct Statement: The growth of transnational communities undermines territorial control over differences)

x) Transnationalism refers to social, cultural, economic, and political ties beyond the nation-state. True

xi) According to Castells (2007), increasing mobility challenges the traditional idea of belonging to only one nation-state. True

xii) Globalization has removed the need for borders and walls. False (Correct Statement: Despite globalization, more borders and walls are being constructed to protect nation-states)

xiii) Globalization extends communities into remote virtual communities. Trues

xiv) Modern nationalism originated in Africa after World War II. False (Correct Statement: Modern nationalism originated in Europe after the French Revolution)

xv) Post-nationalism promotes transcending the nation-state. True

xvi) National identities are fixed and cannot change. False (Correct Statement: National identities are dynamic, fluid, fragmented, and can be renegotiated)

Fill in the blanks from CDA and Political discourse

1) Language and politics are intimately linked at a fundamental level

ENG524 CURRENT PAPERS

- 2) Aristotle defined humans as _____. political animals (politikon zoon)
- 3) According to Aristotle, only humans have the power of _____. speech
- 4) All animals possess _____, which communicates pleasure and pain. voice
- 5) Human speech serves to indicate what is _____ and _____. useful; harmful
- 6) Speech also indicates what is _____ and _____. just; unjust
- 7) Shared perceptions of _____ define political associations. values
- 8) The human capacity for speech is _____ based. genetically
- 9) Political activity cannot exist without the use of _____. language
- 10) Doing politics is predominantly constituted in _____. language
- 11) Political Discourse Analysis focuses on discourse in political _____. forums
- 12) Political forums include debates, speeches, and _____. hearings
- 13) Political discourse is the formal exchange of reasoned _____. views

Always remember me in your precious prayers and Best of luck!