

PAK302

Glossary

Aryans

Aryans were the warriors and fighters and they came from the Central Asian States, entered in the Sub-Continent through the Northern region and settled in the Sub-Continent.

Balkan Wars

The Balkan Wars consisted of two military conflicts that took place in the Balkan Peninsula in South-Eastern Europe in 1912 and 1913. Four Balkan states defeated the Ottoman Empire in the first war; one of the four, Bulgaria, suffered defeat in the second war. The Ottoman Empire lost the bulk of its territory in Europe. Austria-Hungary, although not a combatant, became relatively weaker as a much-enlarged Serbia pushed for union of the South Slavic peoples. The war set the stage for the Balkan crises from 1914 and thus served as a "prelude to the First World War".

Bureaucracy

Bureaucracy is an administrative system that is defined by a strict code of conduct, a hierarchical structure, and the use of standard operating procedures. Each tier of power in a bureaucratic system is accountable to the tier above it for a certain set of duties and responsibilities.

Constitution

Constitution is a set of basic principles and framework for governance and exercise of political power and legal authority. It clarifies the scope of power, relationship among various institutions within the government and society.

Charisma

Charisma is a rare personal quality attributed to leaders who arouse fervent popular devotion and enthusiasm or personal magnetism or charm. Charismatic leader is a leader who possesses these traits and with the help of these qualities he inspires the masses to follow him and his vision. This kind of leadership can bring revolutionary changes.

Federal Consolidated Fund

The Federal Consolidated Fund refers to the aggregate amount of funds received by the federal government, encompassing all sources of revenue, various types of loans acquired by the government, and payments received for loan repayment. This collective sum is sometimes referred to as the federal consolidated funds.

Dynasty

A dynasty is a sequence of rulers from the same family.

Dyarchy

Dyarchy, also spelled diarchy, system of double government introduced by the Government of India Act (1919) for the provinces of British India. It marked the first introduction of the democratic principle into the executive branch of the British administration of India. The principle of dyarchy was a division of the executive branch of each provincial government into authoritarian and popularly responsible sections. The first was composed of executive councilors, appointed, as before, by the crown. The second was composed of ministers who were chosen by the governor from the elected members of the provincial legislature. These latter ministers were Indians.

EBDO

EBDO is Elective Bodies Disqualification Order.

ECO

Economic Cooperation Organization (ECO) was established in 1985 by Iran, Turkey and Pakistan. It succeeded Regional Cooperation for Development (RCD), which was founded in 1964 to promote cooperation among the three Member States. In 1992, the Organization welcomed in its fold seven new Members, including Azerbaijan, Turkmenistan, Uzbekistan, Tajikistan, Kyrgyzstan, Kazakhstan and Afghanistan. The Headquarter of ECO is located in Tehran.

Grant of Diwani

The Grant of Diwani is a treaty between the Nawab of Oudh, Shah Alam II and East India Company. This is the agreement about the Tax Collection (Diwani right) on the behalf of Emperor from the Eastern Provinces Bengal-Bihar-Orissa.

Democracy

Democracy is the most powerful form of government and it is the fundamental and distinctive character of modern age. It has also been regarded as the most favorable and decisive form of government which requires active participation of the people in the decision-making process, because without public collaboration, democracy could not flourish properly. According to Abraham Lincoln, “Democracy is a form of government for the people, by the people and through the people”.

Ideology

Ideology is a cluster of ideas, beliefs and principles which has become deeply incorporated in the social consciousness of a group over time.

Interim

Interim is something that is intended to be used until something permanent is done or established. As like, the interim government is that government which take the responsibilities of any country on the temporary basis until a permanent government is established after the elections.

Joint Electorate

A joint electorate is one where the entire voting population of a country or region is part of a single electorate, and the entire electorate votes for the candidates who contest in the elections.

Legislature

Legislature is an officially selected group of people assigned with the responsibility to make laws for a state or a nation. Afterward these laws become the part of the constitution.

Legislative Council

Legislative Council was a permanent house for legislation at that time and was chosen from both houses that held different sessions for legislation on state issues. It was functioning as a legislative body such as National Assembly of Pakistan is working as a legislative body now days.

LFO

The Legal Framework Order refers to presidential decrees issued during military rule in Pakistan in 1970 and 2002 over the organization of elections: Legal Framework Order, 1970, issued by Gen. Yahya Khan to lay out the rules governing the Pakistani general elections of 1970. The Legal Framework Order, 2002 was issued by Pakistani President Pervez Musharraf in August 2002. It provided for the general elections of 2002 and the revival of the 1973 Constitution of Pakistan, and added numerous amendments to the Constitution.

Moplahs

Moplahs were the descendants of the Arab Muslims settled in the Sub-Continent even before the arrival of Muhammad Bin Qassim.

One Unit

There were different provinces in the West Pakistan due to which the issue of representation in the Constituent Assembly was very complicated at that time. In October 30, 1955 all the units of West Pakistan were united. One Unit was made to handle the issue of representation. Both parts of the country had become two units and could be addressed easily and equally.

Parliament

Parliament is one of the branches of Government. In Pakistan it is a federal and supreme legislative body. It is a bicameral consists of two houses National Assembly and Senate.

Pan-Islamism

Pan-Islamism or Muslim universalism is a political philosophy, a type of religious nationalism and unification in which language, culture; ethnicity, geographical proximity and economic interest etc. are treated as primary factors. It likely tends to take its followers back into past where Muslims were strong, united, uncorrupted and followed Shariah law.

Revivalist Movement

Revivalist means to restore anything or to improve condition or the position if you are asking in the background of Pakistan studies it was a Movement which was started by the Muslims in 18th Century. It was launched for the political and spiritual regeneration of the Hind Pak Muslims. Aligarh Movement for the revival of the Muslims of Subcontinent. Towards the end of the 19th century a series of Hindu revivalist movements started, although they were targeting the British but in reality the target shifted from the British to the Muslim and in the last decade of the 19th century you see a lot of anti-Muslim riots and lot of anti-Muslim propaganda which created a sense of insecurity amongst the Muslims who felt that a partnership, a cooperative interaction and environment of working together would not be created.

Swaraj

The “Swaraj” means self-rule. Gandhi started the Swaraj movement; the idea of this movement was to tell the British that they should quit from Sub-continent and power should be given in the hands of Sub-continent people. But Hindus were in majority in the Sub-continent. So, it meant power should be given in the hands of Hindus. This was the reason that Quid-i-Azam showed his disagreement with Gandhi.

Schedules

Schedules are lists in the Constitution that categorize and tabulate the bureaucratic activity and policy of the government.

Two Nation Theory

Two Nation Theory means that "there were two major nations (Muslims and Hindus) in the British India, Both the nations were different and distinct from each other with regard to their culture and civilization, language and literature, art and architecture, names and nomenclature, sense of values and proportions, legal laws and moral codes, customs and calendars, history and tradition. In short, they had their own distinct outlook on life and of life, so they would have their separate homelands".

Oligarchy

Oligarchy is a form of government where most or all political power effectively rests with a small segment of society (typically the most powerful, whether by wealth, family, military strength, ruthlessness, or political influence).

Autocracy

An autocracy is a form of government where the political power is held by a single individual.

Constituency

One of the official areas of a country that elects someone to represent it in a parliament or legislature.

Dominion

A dominion is an area of land that is controlled by a ruler.

Colonization

Colonization is the process of settling among and establishing control over the indigenous people of an area or country. The British Raj was the period of British rule on the Indian subcontinent between 1858 and 1947, for around 89 years of British occupation. The system of governance was instituted in 1858 when the rule of the East India Company was transferred to the Crown in the person of Queen Victoria.

Communal Riots

Communal riots are a form of violence that is perpetrated across ethnic or communal lines, the violent parties feel solidarity for their respective groups, and victims are chosen based upon group membership. The term includes conflicts, riots and other forms of violence between communities of different religious faith or ethnic origins.

Representative Government

A government is run by the elected representatives of the people. The elected representatives, in fact, carry out the wishes of the electors which are reflected in the various legislative and executive actions of the government.

Self-Government

Self-government is a system in which the citizens of a country (or smaller political unit, such as a state) rule themselves and control their own affairs. Self-governments are free from external government control or outside political authority.

Insurgency

An insurgency is a violent, armed rebellion against authority when those taking part in the rebellion are not recognized as belligerents (lawful combatants).

Arya-Dharam

Arya- religion or faith of Aryans

Empire

Empire refers to a major political unit having a territory of great extent or a number of territories or peoples under a single sovereign authority.

Transactional Leadership

Transactional leadership, also known as managerial leadership, focuses on the role of supervision, organization, and group performance. Leaders who implement this style focus on specific tasks and use rewards and punishments to motivate followers. In Sub-continent history, Mulla M. Ali Johar had the transformational leadership qualities.