

ENG301

- Inquiries and General Requests: Asking questions or making requests for information, often in a formal or business context.
- Letter Writing (Placing Orders): Writing a letter to request the purchase of goods or services.
- Letter Writing (Claim Letter): A letter written to make a complaint or request compensation for a problem (like a faulty product).
- Letter Writing (Adjustment Letter): A letter written in response to a claim letter to resolve the issue, offering compensation or a solution.
- Collection Letter: A letter sent to remind someone to pay a debt or outstanding payment.
- Sales Letter: A letter written to promote or sell a product or service.
- Memorandum and Circular: A short, formal note used to communicate information within a company (memo), or a message sent to a large group (circular).
- Minutes of the Meeting: A written record of what was discussed and decided during a meeting.
- Business Reports: Documents providing detailed information about a business's activities, performance, or financial situation.
- Business Reports (Letter Reports): Business reports written in the format of a letter to communicate formal information.
- Business Reports (Formal Reports): Detailed business reports that are structured, often used for official or business purposes.
- Market Reports: Reports analyzing market conditions, trends, and consumer behavior.
- Job Search and Employment: The process of looking for work and the steps involved in finding and applying for jobs.
- Resume Writing: Writing a summary of your skills, qualifications, and experience to apply for a job.

- Resume and Application Letter: A combination of a resume (detailing experience) and an application letter (explaining why you are a good fit for the job).
- Job Inquiry Letter and Interview: A letter asking about job opportunities, followed by an interview for potential hiring.
- Process of Preparing for the Interview: The steps to take in order to be ready for a job interview, such as researching the company and practicing answers.
- Oral Presentation: Giving a speech or presentation in front of an audience, explaining a topic or idea verbally.
- Oral Presentation (repeated): Same as above, focusing on speaking clearly and engagingly in a presentation.
- Language Practice and Negotiation Skill: Practicing language skills and learning how to communicate effectively to reach agreements.
- Negotiation and Listening: The ability to communicate and compromise in discussions, and the skill of actively listening to others during negotiations.
- Thesis Writing and Presentation: Writing a detailed academic paper (thesis) and presenting it to others, usually in an educational setting.
- Research Methodology: The methods and techniques used to collect, analyze, and present information for research purposes.

