(ENG516)

- What is Business Communication?: Business Communication refers to the sharing of information and ideas within an organization or with external parties such as customers, suppliers, and stakeholders. It encompasses various forms of communication like verbal, non-verbal, written, and visual. Effective business communication is crucial for success in today's globalized and competitive business environment.
- English for Specific Purposes (ESP),
- English for Academic Purposes (EAP),
- English for Occupational Purposes (EOP),
- English for Medical Purposes (EMP),
- English for Real Purposes (ERPP)
- Approach not Product: Focuses on the learning process rather than the end product.
- Business English Learner: An individual learning English for business purposes.
- Teaching Context: The environment and circumstances in which teaching and learning occur.
- Business English Teacher: A professional teaching English for business purposes.
- Language in Context: Teaching language in realistic situations and settings.
- Teaching Business English Rationale: The underlying reasons and justification for teaching Business English.
- Linguistic Competence: Mastery of language structures and conventions.
- Discourse Competence: Understanding language in use and communication strategies.
- Intercultural Competence: Ability to communicate effectively across cultures.

- Approaches to Teaching English: Various methods and philosophies for teaching English, including Communicative Language Teaching and Task-Based Learning.
- Needs: Identifying what learners require to achieve their goals.
- Target Needs: Specific objectives learners aim to accomplish.
- Current and Target Situation: Assessing the gap between current skills and desired outcomes.
- Learning Needs: Understanding necessities, lacks, and wants to address knowledge gaps.
- Uniqueness of Learning Situation: Recognizing individual differences and contexts.
- Communication Needs: Identifying language requirements for effective communication.
- Main Priorities: Focusing on essential skills and knowledge.
- Pedagogical Needs: Adapting teaching methods to meet learner needs.
- Language Styles: Adapting language to suit business contexts.
- Business Needs Aims: Aligning learning objectives with business goals.
- Setting Objectives refers to establishing clear goals for teaching and learning, including Smart Objectives that are specific, measurable, achievable, relevant, and time-bound. Teaching and Business Objectives align with Performance Objectives, outlining desired behaviors or outcomes.
- Program Outline and Trainee Briefing: Outlining the course structure and objectives for learners.
- Syllabus Design: Planning the content and organization of the course.
- Syllabus Components: Identifying what to cover and in what order, considering difficulty, familiarity, and need.
- Negotiating the Syllabus: Involving learners in setting priorities and adapting the course outline.
- Managing Logistics: Considering practical aspects like venue, duration, materials, and equipment.
- Course Materials: Using ready-made, authentic, or tailor-made materials, including course books, to support learning.

- Supplementary Materials: Additional resources used to support teaching and learning, beyond the main course materials. These can include worksheets, handouts, and multimedia resources.
- Teacher-made Supplementary Materials: Materials created by teachers to supplement the main course materials, tailored to specific learners' needs.
- Authentic Materials: Real-life materials, such as news articles, videos, and social media posts, used to teach language in context. They help learners develop skills like reading comprehension and vocabulary acquisition.
- Types and Sources of Authentic Materials: Various materials like news articles, videos, podcasts, social media posts, and infographics, sourced from the internet, publications, or real-life situations.
- Selection and Adaptation of Authentic Materials: Choosing materials relevant to learners' interests and needs, and adapting them to suit language levels and learning objectives.
- Using Authentic Materials for Developing various Skills: Authentic materials help develop skills like reading, writing, listening, speaking, vocabulary, and critical thinking.
- Using Role-Plays and Simulations: Activities that mimic real-life situations, encouraging learners to practice language skills in context, build confidence, and develop communication skills.
- Stages of Lesson Planning: A structured approach to planning lessons, including setting objectives, selecting materials, and assessing learner progress.
- Lesson Evaluation: Assessing the effectiveness of a lesson, considering learner engagement, progress, and feedback, to improve future lessons.
- Learning Styles: Individual preferences for processing information, such as visual, auditory, or kinesthetic learning.
- Classification of Learning Styles: Categorizing learners into different styles, such as visual, auditory, kinesthetic, or tactile, to tailor teaching approaches.
- The Four Learning Styles: Visual, Auditory, Reading/Writing, and Kinesthetic learning styles, each with unique characteristics.
- Learning Strategies: Techniques learners use to manage their learning, such as note-taking, summarizing, and self-assessment.
- Learning Styles and Strategies: Understanding learners' styles and teaching strategies to support their individual learning needs.

- Teaching of Strategies: Explicitly teaching learners various strategies to improve their language learning and overall academic performance.
- Giving Feedback: Providing learners with constructive information about their performance, progress, and areas for improvement, to support their learning and development.
- The Evaluators: Teachers, trainers, or assessors who provide feedback to learners, aiming to improve their language skills and overall performance.
- Trainee Evaluation: Assessing learners' progress, strengths, and weaknesses, to identify areas for improvement and adjust teaching approaches.
- Evaluating the Course: Assessing the effectiveness of a course, including materials, methods, and outcomes, to refine and improve future courses.
- Guidelines for giving Feedback: Principles for providing constructive feedback, such as being specific, objective, and actionable, to support learner growth.
- The Timing of giving Feedback: Providing feedback at appropriate times, such as during or after tasks, to maximize its impact and effectiveness.
- One to one or group training: Adapting teaching approaches to suit individual or group learning needs, considering factors like learning styles and pace.
- Dealing with Individuals: Recognizing and addressing the unique needs, strengths, and challenges of each learner, to create a supportive learning environment.
- Teaching or Training: Distinct approaches, with teaching focusing on knowledge transmission and training emphasizing skill development and practice.
- The Classroom as Bridge: Creating a learning environment that connects learners' past experiences, present learning, and future goals, facilitating meaningful connections and applications.
- Training Styles: Adapting teaching approaches to suit different learning styles, such as visual, auditory, or kinesthetic, to engage and support learners.
- Sharing Control: Empowering learners to take ownership of their learning, making choices and decisions, and developing autonomy and self-directed learning skills.
- Clarity: Presenting information clearly, concisely, and accurately, to facilitate understanding and minimize confusion.

- Conciseness: Using brief and focused language, avoiding unnecessary details, to convey essential information and maintain learner engagement.
- Accuracy: Using correct language forms, grammar, and vocabulary to convey meaning effectively.
- Ethics: Adhering to moral principles and guidelines in language teaching and communication, promoting respect and inclusivity.
- Organization: Structuring language learning materials and activities in a logical and coherent way, facilitating learner comprehension and progress.
- Avoiding Biased Language: Using language that is neutral and respectful, avoiding expressions that stereotype or discriminate against individuals or groups.
- Speaking skills: Developing the ability to communicate effectively in spoken language, including pronunciation, fluency, and clarity.
- Listening skills: Improving the ability to comprehend and interpret spoken language, including understanding main ideas and specific details.
- Reading skills: Developing the ability to read and comprehend written texts, including understanding vocabulary, syntax, and discourse structures.
- Writing skills: Improving the ability to write clear, coherent, and effective texts, including using appropriate vocabulary, grammar, and punctuation.
- Vocabulary: Building a robust vocabulary to enhance language comprehension and expression, including learning new words, phrases, and idioms.
- Socializing: Developing language skills for social interactions, including greetings, introductions, and small talk.
- Story-telling/Meet the guest: Using narratives and conversations to practice language skills, build confidence, and develop fluency.
- Small talk, in pairs, small groups: Practicing informal conversations in various settings, developing communication skills and building relationships.
- Telephoning: Developing language skills for phone conversations, including using standard phrases, survival strategies, and structuring conversations effectively.
- Structure of Telephone Conversations: Understanding the typical stages of phone calls, including greetings, introductions, and closures.
- Speaking on the Phone: Developing skills for effective phone communication, including using appropriate language, tone, and pace.

- Presentations: Developing skills for delivering clear, organized, and engaging presentations, including structuring content and using appropriate language.
- Structure: Openings: Beginning presentations effectively, grabbing the audience's attention, and setting the tone.
- Structure: Main Body, Conclusion: Organizing and delivering the main content, summarizing key points, and concluding presentations convincingly.
- Language for Presentations: Using appropriate vocabulary, grammar, and discourse structures to engage and persuade the audience.
- Preparing for Presentations: Planning and rehearsing presentations to ensure confidence, clarity, and effectiveness.
- Practice of Presentations: Rehearsing and refining presentation skills, receiving feedback, and improving delivery.

Follow the Applied Linguistics Mentor channel on WhatsApp for all the basic help:

https://whatsapp.com/channel/0029VaazKAVBfxoDMH4l9U0u

Maha Malik

https://whatsapp.com/channel/0029VaLvft01XquQQ7sIB12s

For Mids Files

https://drive.google.com/drive/folders/1m6HPIs6iAPIL6v3xf85y4fylxg6dwqne?usp=drive_link