ENG519 Final's Objective

1) Which of the following syllabuses offers a specific realization of communicative language teaching? Task-based syllabuses.

2) Which of the following approaches has strong links with experiential learning, humanistic psychology, and task-based language teaching? Learner-centeredness.

3) Which of the following syllabuses deals with the content of language teaching as a collection of specific abilities? "Skill-based syllabus".

4) Which of the following approaches focuses on curriculum development instead of human development? Subject-centered Design.

5) Which of the following approaches offers teachers an opportunity to revitalize their education and training programs? Competency-based approaches.

7) Which of the following models asserts that everything influences everything else in the curriculum? Kerr's Model.

8) Which of the following syllabuses is organized around the content rather than around a linguistic syllabus? Content-based instruction.

9) Mastery Decisions is another tool to make informed judgment about the evaluation of the program.

10) Who wrote the article "Mastery Decisions in Program Evaluation' (Thom Hudson).

11) The materials represent plans for teaching but they do not represent the process of _____itself. Teaching.

12) The choice of a reading passage involves two kinds of content – the topic of the passage and the language items which occur in the passage.

13) In the opinion of Dubin and Olshtain (1986), which area is central to the concept of a communicative curriculum? A) Cognitively based language learning B) Humanistic approach in education C) Sociolinguistics D) All the given options

14) Which of the following approaches deals with the format and presentation part of the curriculum design process at first? Focused opportunistic

15) A single course book does not meet the diverse needs of the learners in the class.

16) In which of the following design, curriculum development starts with the selection of teaching activities, techniques and methods? Central.

17) Which of the following should be readily available for the learners before starting the course? Course book.

18) In which of the following models of curriculum design, one phase must be completed before the next phase can begin? Waterfall.

19) An evaluation can focus on the process of learning and teaching and it can focus on the product or result of learning and teaching.

20) In which of the following approaches the potential for mismatch is great because different people performing different curricular functions? The specialist approach.

21) Which of the following design begins with classroom processes and methodology? Central design.

22) Systematic documentation for evaluation purposes both during implementation and at the beginning and end of a program or project's life.

23) Backward design starts from a specification of learning outcomes and decisions on methodology and syllabus are developed from the learning outcomes.

24) Forward design starts with syllabus planning, moves to methodology, and is followed by assessment of learning outcomes.

ENG519 Final's Objective

25) Which of the following can offer pedagogical purpose to meet in language classroom? Materials.

26) A course evaluation looks for strengths and weaknesses, but it is naturally the weaknesses that cause concern.

27) An evaluation form designed for course book evaluation should be reliable, _____ and practical. Valid.

28) Which of the following analysis has revealed the importance of units beyond the level of vocabulary? Corpus analysis.

29) Which of the following takes most responsibility for content, sequencing and goals in curriculum design? Curriculum designer.

30) Carrying out an evaluation is like carrying out research.

31) The tools of needs analysis and the tools of evaluation are somewhat similar to each other. The purposes

32) The syllabus or learning input is an outcome of _____and learning. Teaching.

33) Which of the following is a source of information and support for teachers? Preplanned material.

34) In which of the following models of curriculum design, evaluation is distinguished from assessment? Graves.

35) development-oriented evaluation is designed to improve the quality of a program as it is being implemented.

36) The audiolingual method, the audio-visual method and the structural situational method have already been cited as examples of forward design methods.

37) it is important to select and develop instruments in order to reshape the evaluation process.

38) In language teaching, input refers to the linguistic content of a course.

39) A curriculum design that misses important parts and does not deal with parts in a principled way is Poor / weak.

ENG519 Final's Objective

41) significance that is ensured by setting certain criteria containing a set of standards.

42) Materials obviously reflect the writers' views of language and learning, and teachers.

43) Which of the following models allows a concentrated focus on one aspect with possible high-quality improvements in a course? Focused opportunistic.

44) In language classroom maximum time should spent on focusing and using second language.

45) Stenhouse (1975) stressed the importance of "illuminative evaluation".

46) Which of the following models of curriculum design does not include principles, monitoring and assessment, and evaluation? Murdoch's.

47) An important question in an evaluation is who will be involved in the evaluation.

48) In which of the following design, there is no need for clearly defined outcomes or objectives? Central Design.

49) Tailoring the evaluation process is not an easy task. It requires certain principles that an evaluator should know.

50) Before implementing the curriculum, teachers need to be clear about such theoretical concepts.

51) There are three dimensions of a language program evaluation.

52) Summative evaluation is concerned with determining the effectiveness of a program, its efficiency, and to some extent with its acceptability.

53) Which of the following is a deliberate attempt to bring about certain kinds of interaction in the classroom? Teaching materials.

54) Students' mastery is judged on various levels; one of them is communicative competence.

55) The learners are critical element in the entire process of curriculum implementation.

56) Designing a balance between units is not straightforward.

57) The idea of a negotiated syllabus raises questions about the role of the teacher and the role of the commercially produced text book.

ENG519 Final's Objective

58) The success or the failure of the program can be measured through students' achievement.

59) Which of the following reduces the power of the pupil over what, when and how he receives his knowledge? Strong Frame.

60) A distinction is made between formative evaluation and summative evaluation. The basis of the distinction lies in the purpose of evaluation.

61) Hidden curriculum operates not only in classroom but also in various school domains such as in school assemblies.

62) the hidden curriculum can cause mismatches in the process of teaching and learning.

63) evaluation is a "systematic gathering of information for the purpose of making decisions.

64) Cognitive factors involve learning and teaching and the gaining of knowledge, and the application of that knowledge after the course has ended.

65) Summative evaluation is concerned with determining the effectiveness of a program, its efficiency, and to some extent with its acceptability.

66) Thom Hudson (2007) in his article "Mastery Decisions in Program Evaluation" talks about the practical implications of the mastery decisions.

67) Program evaluation is like an internal audit in which you can see the weaknesses and strengths of a program.

68) In order to decide if a course is effective, criteria for effectiveness need to be identified.

69) The staff holds regular meetings to discuss the progress of the course in the formative assessment.

70) The Results of an Evaluation involves ethical issues, particularly those of confidentiality and consideration for the feelings of others.

71) The broadest kind of evaluation looks at all aspects of curriculum design to see if the course is the best possible course to implement.

72) A very important factor in evaluating a language program is that it can be assessed through students' performance

ENG519 Final's Objective

73) The results of an evaluation may also be threatening to the individuals concerned, especially if weaknesses are revealed.

74) Evaluation is a key element in any educational endeavor, especially within the curriculum development.

75) Program evaluation process can be tailored, molded or shaped according to the contextual needs of a language program.

76) the change must be in a medium "zone of innovation" (Stoller, 1994) rather than at the extremes of too little or too much.

77) Power–coercive, where change is achieved through authority, rules and top-down pressure.

78) An effective way of doing this is to involve the users of the course as closely as possible in its design and development.

79) Change occurs most easily if people are dissatisfied with the present situation.

80) It is important for implementers to have a stake in the innovations they are expected to implement.

81) Material designers need to ensure that the exercises are presented in a manner that shows coherent connection between various lessons.

82) Curriculum Design Approach in which one aspect of curriculum design process is done thoroughly (Opportunistic Approach).

83) The model in which new learning has a relationship with old learning (Spiral Model)

84) In the current scenario, English is the language of international communication, higher learning and better career options.

85) Most monitoring is informal and does not involve testing.

86) This approach places the learner at the center of the pedagogic process learner centered design.

87) Placement assessment is used to decide what level of the course a learner should enter, what class the learner should join, and whether the learner should join the course at all.

ENG519 Final's Objective

88) In-service courses involve teacher development after initial teacher training and after the teachers have had some teaching experience.

89) Effective teaching materials foster learners' autonomy

90) Technique analysis and the detailed investigation of particular techniques are largely neglected research areas.

91) As pointed in Osuna and Meskill's (1998) study, students feel more engaged when the purpose of their tasks simulate real-world tasks.

92) Workshops can focus on planning; this involves fitting activities together, so that principles of selection and sequencing are effectively applied.

93) Achievement assessment measures both the achievement of learners during a course and the effectiveness of the course.

94) Talking texts can enhance the listening proficiency of a listener.

95) the process model is to enable the individual to progress towards self-fulfillment.

96) The main focus is on curriculum development (not human development) is called Subject-centered Design.

97) Central design approaches do not require teachers to plan detailed learning outcomes to conduct needs analysis or to follow a prescribed syllabus.

98) "Skill-based syllabus", the content of the language teaching is a collection of specific abilities.

99) there are clearly specified objectives, the success of the learners and of the program can easily and accurately be evaluated.

100) The philosophy of learner-centeredness has strong links with experiential learning, humanistic psychology and task-based language teaching.

101) situational syllabus assumes that language is related to the situational contexts in which it occurs.

102) There is no place for individually-determined learning outcomes in Backward Design.

103) Backward design starts with a careful statement of the desired results or outcomes.

ENG519 Final's Objective

104) A functional-notional syllabus is based on learning to recognize and express the communicative functions of language and the concepts and ideas it expresses.

105) Learner-centered approach places the learner at the center of the pedagogic process.

106) Lexical and Cultural Syllabus rests is that students must be able to understand and use lexical phrases.

107) The central focus of the curriculum in this model is the content of what is to be learned by, or transmitted to the learner. (Content Model)

108) The negotiation also develops learners' awareness of the goals of language-learning activities and how these goals can be achieved.

109) The structural syllabus is based on a theory of language that assumes that the grammatical or structural aspects of language form are the most basic or useful.

110) Content-based instruction refers to an approach in which teaching is organized around the content rather than around a linguistic syllabus.

111) Competency-based Instruction (CpBI)

112) Needs Analysis is often seen to depend upon a systematic analysis of the learners' communicative needs.

113) The writing-last solution, in which a unit normally ends with the writing task for the students.

114) Students' performance is the reality of the language classroom procedures.

115) Holistic Rubric is good for evaluating _____ performance on task. Overall

116) Plan the type of change so that it is not too great and not too small (Stoller, 1994)

117) Defining the end results is a good way of checking if change is really needed or wanted.

118) Illuminative Evaluation seeks to provide a deeper understanding of the processes of teaching and learning that occur in the program.

119) The word 'test' tends to evoke fear in most students.

ENG519 Final's Objective

120) The purpose of the monitoring and assessment part of curriculum design.

121) Assessment is a major source of information for the evaluation of a course and thus its gradual improvement.

122) There is need to adjust teaching strategy according to the students' desire.

123) Targets and deadlines help some people to get themselves in gear, but for others they can be stressful and de-motivating.

124) A Project is especially appealing to younger learners on short summer courses.

125) The way you handle the test depends on the importance you attach to it and your main objective.

126) A proficiency test assesses a student's ability to perform a particular task or tasks that she'll have to accomplish in the future.

127) You can make the test visual by using pictures of different situations.

128) Monitoring looks at activities as they occur and is essentially process oriented.

129) Diagnostic assessment is thus a very important part of needs analysis, both before a course begins and during the course.

130) A test of language proficiency draws items for the test not from the course that the learners are studying, but from the language itself independent of any course.

131) A valid test measures what it is supposed to measure.

132) monitoring does not assess the learners but is directed towards the tasks that they do.

133) Diagnostic assessment is used to find the gaps and weaknesses in learners' knowledge so that something can be done about them.

134) A reliable test gives results that are not greatly upset by conditions that the test is not intended to measure.

135) Forward design is based on the assumption that input, process, and output are related in a linear fashion.

136) Designer is responsible for the layout, type, style, graphics, and the overall format of the materials.

ENG519 Final's Objective

137) Which of the following is the final stage in the curriculum development process? Classroom implementation.

138) Materials contribute to learners' affective and _____development. Cognitive.

139) Which of the following has changed the direction from language teaching to language learning? Cognitivism.

140) Negotiation of _____ has direct effects on goals. assessment and evaluation

141) It is important that teachers use task-based language teaching techniques.

142) Which of the following eras paved the way for audiolingualism and cognitivism? Method.

143) Which of the following syllabuses focuses on how syllabus is made instead what should be in it? Negotiated Syllabus.

144) Which of the following plays a vital role in terms of evaluating language learning tasks? Teachers.

145) Materials may; however, serve as a vehicle for several different types of content.

146) The procedure of negotiated _____ is not straight forward. Syllabus

147) Which of the following syllabuses does not start from the first day of class? Negotiated Syllabus.

148) Which of the following needs to adjust according to the needs, situations and hidden agendas? Teaching.

149) Language Syllabus encompassing both structural and functional aspects of the language.

150) Which of the following term refers to posing question to the students to assess what they have learned? Uptake.

151) Before 1970, language teaching was method driven.

152) Which of the following is a threat to the successful implementation of the official curriculum? Hidden curriculum.

153) Material actually demonstrates learner's needs.

154) In which of the following syllabuses some aspects are negotiated while others are left under the control of the teacher? Negotiated Syllabus.

155) Which of the following involves at the implementation stage of materials? Teachers.

156) The organization of the materials contributes towards forming the students.

157) FLT (Foreign Language Teaching).

158) A task was defined as an activity which required learners to arrive at an outcome from the given information through the process of thought.

159) Material designer ensures a coherent connection between lessons and excercises.

160) The main focus of material design is the outcome.

161) Definition of the hidden curriculum can be everything carried out by the teacher and the learner that is not planned or required by the official curriculum in a language classroom.

162) The term 'input' refers to the exposure of the language given to the students in the classroom through various sources, either written or spoken.

163) 'New or unusual' the material is, depends very much on each individual's own experience.

164) Teachers convey "socially-approved knowledge" unconsciously or without intending it.

165) Who is at the center of writing-last and storyline solution approach? Learners.

166) An evaluation can focus on the process of learning and teaching and it can focus on the product or result of learning and teaching.

167) learning as a process of observable changes in behavior which could be measured.

168) Which of the following revolves around learners' individual needs, experiences, self-reflection and critical thinking? Learner-Centeredness.

169) Along with formative/summative and short term/long term, a third distinction is process/product (Long, 1984).

170) Curricular innovation is a complex phenomenon.

171) As teacher cognition is not static, changing beliefs is possible.

ENG519 Final's Objective

172) teacher cognition – are "the hidden side of teaching"

173) The language should be realistic and authentic.

174) Most of the features in Kerr's model resemble those in Wheeler's and Tyler's models.

175) A valid test measures what it is supposed to measure.

176) Syllabuses offer a specific realization of communicative language teaching and differs from the previously proposed syllabuses task-based.

177) Material designers need to ensure that the exercises are presented in a manner that shows coherent connection between various lessons.

178) Curriculum designers and teachers can draw on a bank of existing materials from which they select the most appropriate material for the course. (TRUE)

179) Targets and deadlines help some people to get themselves in gear, but for others they can be stressful and de-motivating.

180) Mastery Decisions is another tool to make informed judgment about the evaluation of the programs.

181) Evaluation is a controlled experiment which means it is done in a very systematic and well-designed way.

182) Most evaluations involve a written report, or in some cases two written reports – one for the person or group commissioning the evaluation, and one for wider circulation.

183) Tailoring the evaluation process is not an easy task. It requires certain principles that an evaluator should know.

Your prayers mean more to me than words can say
