MIDTERM PAPER

SUBJECTIVE PART (Handouts only)

1. Throughout the 1970s, the ESP in language teaching drew on two approaches. Name them

Answer: Throughout the 1970s, the ESP approach in language teaching drew on register analysis and discourse analysis to determine the linguistic characteristics of different disciplines such as medicine, engineering, or science. Register analysis studies the language of such fields as journalism, medicine, or law for distinctive patterns of occurrence of vocabulary, verb forms, noun phrases, and tense usage.

2. Two major effects of language-focused learning.

Answer: Reviews of research on language-focused learning (Ellis, 1990; Spada, 1997) show that some language-focused learning in a language course has the following effects:

- It can speed up learning.
- It can help learners overcome barriers to their language development.
- It can have a positive effect on meaning-focused learning.

In general, courses containing appropriate amounts and types of language focused learning achieve better results than courses which do not include such learning.

3. Which Methods/ tools are recommended to achieve reliable need analysis?

Answer: Needs analysis is a kind of assessment and thus can be evaluated by considering its reliability, validity and practicality. Reliable needs analysis involves using well-thought-out, standardized tools that are applied systematically.

4. According to 4 strands of curriculum ' label them'

a. The opportunity to learn from listening and speaking. Krashen (1981) would call it learning from comprehensible input. The conditions which are needed for such learning are a low density of unknown items in the language input, a focus on the meaning of the message, and a large quantity of input.

Answer (Meaning-focused input)

b. It should involve the learners in conversation and also in monologue. The conversation can have a largely social focus and can also be used for conveying important information. That is, there should be practice in both interactional and transactional language use.

Answer (Meaning-focused speaking)
