

EDU602

Final-Term (Solved)

ABSTRACT

This comprehensive collection of notes is accurately crafted to empower students to excel academically, ensuring they achieve a minimum of 80% marks in their examinations. The content is organized with clarity and precision, focusing on key concepts, critical analyses, and practical applications tailored to the syllabus. These notes serve as a reliable resource for both thorough preparation and last-minute revision. Designed to inspire confidence and mastery, this guide is an essential tool for students striving for academic excellence.

Maha Malik
Educational Leadership and Management

EDU602_Educational Leadership and Management
Final-Term (Solved)

1. Organizational communication:

Information flow in an organization structured by direction and process to achieve goals.

2. Stress:

A psychological/physiological imbalance caused by the gap between demands and personal capacity.

3. Change:

Alteration in form, structure, or function to improve effectiveness in response to internal or external forces.

4. Visual communication:

Sharing information through signs, symbols, charts, videos, etc.

5. Orientation of action in a team:

Coordinating roles and responsibilities toward team goals through shared decision-making.

6. Maslow's needs (five stages):

i. Physiological
ii. Safety
iii. Love/Belonging
iv. Esteem
v. Self-Actualization

7. Role of staffing in educational administration:

Ensures recruitment, training, and placement of qualified personnel to enhance institutional performance.

8. Barriers in communication:

Language, psychological, physiological, physical, attitudinal, and systematic issues that hinder clear communication.

9. Forms of conflict:

Maha Malik's Compilation

Open, latent, false, and no conflict; also categorized as functional/dysfunctional.

10. Job enlargement:

Adding more tasks of the same level to a job to reduce monotony.

11. Communication styles:

Autocratic, democratic, laissez-faire, transactional, servant, etc..

12. Types of conflict:

Interpersonal, intrapersonal, intragroup, intergroup.

13. Wheel communication structure:

A centralized network with restricted member communication; efficient for simple tasks.

14. Five stages of team development (Tuckman):

Forming, Storming, Norming, Performing, Adjourning.

15. Organizational culture:

Shared values and beliefs forming behavioral norms in an organization.

16. Forms of communication:

Verbal, non-verbal, written, visual.

17. Coordinating:

Harmonizing activities, roles, and schedules to achieve organizational goals.

18. Extrinsic and intrinsic rewards:

- Extrinsic: External (salary, promotion)
- Intrinsic: Internal (job satisfaction, personal growth)

19. Supervisor responsibilities:

Ensuring work quality and employee development.

20. Domain of supervisor:

Instructional, administrative, and professional development oversight.

21. Function of school administration:

Planning, organizing, staffing, directing, controlling educational activities.

22. Hans Selye's model of stress:

Alarm → Resistance → Exhaustion phases.

23. Components of communication:

Context, sender, message, encoding, channel, receiver, decoding, feedback, noise.

24. PowerPoint use in organization:

For presenting structured, visual, and interactive content to support communication and training.

25. Intrapersonal vs. Interpersonal conflict:

- Intrapersonal: Within self
- Interpersonal: Between individuals

26. Job enrichment:

Adding responsibilities and authority to enhance job depth.

27. Conflict:

Perceived threat to interests; can be emotional or substantive.

28. Group:

People working together with shared goals, either formally or informally.

29. Importance of supervision:

Maintains quality, guides employee development, and ensures alignment with goals.

30. Quality:

Conformance to requirements; meeting user expectations.

31. Workgroups vs. Teams:

Workgroups focus on individual contributions; teams focus on collective outcomes.

32. Organizational change:

Transition in strategies, processes, or culture to adapt to internal or external challenges.

33. Written communication (example):

Email for reporting work progress.

34. Economy:

System of production, distribution, and consumption of goods/services.

35. Maslow's physiological need:

Basic needs like food, water, shelter.

36. Need for decisions:

To solve problems, choose best alternatives, and drive progress.

37. Conflict management techniques:

Forcing, collaborating, compromising, avoiding, accommodating.

38. Systematic and attitudinal barriers:

- Systematic: Poor systems or unclear roles
- Attitudinal: Personality clashes, resistance to change

39. Line communication:

Communication through a specific channel within a group; moderately effective.

40. Forming stage:

Team members act formally, set ground rules, and begin to know each other.

41. Example of visual communication:

Graph in a financial report.

42. Motivation:

Driving force behind behavior toward goals; can be intrinsic or extrinsic.

43. Informal group:

Formed voluntarily by members for social interests, not organizational goals.

44. Attitude:

A mental state involving beliefs, feelings, and behavioral intentions toward something.

45. Coordinating in organization:

Integrating efforts and resources to meet common objectives.

46. Two supervisor responsibilities:

Monitoring staff performance; providing feedback and support.

47. Functional conflict:

Enhances performance, encourages creativity, meets psychological needs, strengthens relationships, and promotes motivation.

48. Model of communication:

- Linear model (one-way)
- Interactive model (two-way, feedback delayed)
- Transactional model (simultaneous sender-receiver roles).

49. Difference between supervisor and manager:

- Supervisor: Focused on present tasks, guides mission workers.
- Manager: Focused on planning, resource management, and future operations.

50. Administration vs. management:

- Administration: Sets objectives and policies.
- Management: Implements those policies and manages employees.

51. Conflict and its types: A situation where parties perceive a threat. Types:

- Substantive and Emotional
- Interpersonal, Intrapersonal, Intragroup, Intergroup.

52. Types of communication:

Verbal, non-verbal, written, and visual.

53. External communication:

Between the organization and outsiders (e.g., clients, suppliers, government).

54. Storming stage characteristics:

Members assert individuality, resist control, show conflict and hostility.

55. Control process in gourmet services:

involves setting standards, measuring performance, and corrective actions.

56. Objectives of educational administration:

- Execute plans
- Supervise and advise
- Stimulate efficiency
- Explore and lead.

57. Role of school administration:

Leadership, curriculum development, supervision, community relations, and plant management.

58. Role of international organizations in standardization:

ISO sets quality standards to support TQM in educational organizations.

59. Change framework:

Plan → Do → Study → Act (PDSA Cycle).

60. Theory of change:

Focuses on intended outcomes, identifying resources, actions, and assumptions in implementing change (not detailed in the file).

61. Types of reward:

- Monetary: Salary, bonuses
- Non-monetary: Recognition, growth opportunities

62. Functions of management:

Planning, organizing, staffing, directing, controlling, decision-making.

63. Finance management:
Efficient management of funds to support organizational goals; includes resource acquisition, budgeting, and decision-making.

64. Motivation at workplace:

Drives employee performance; includes recognition, achievement, and job satisfaction.

65. Essence of motivation: Energizing, directing, and sustaining effort to achieve goals.

66. Herzberg's theory:

- Motivators: Achievement, recognition
- Hygiene factors: Salary, policies (prevent dissatisfaction)

67. Understanding conflict:

Natural in organizations, can be functional or dysfunctional, managed for growth.

68. Source of conflict (Daniel Katz):

1. Economic
2. Value
3. Power.

69. Total Quality Management (TQM):

A practical approach to ensure excellence in educational administration.

70. Absolutes of quality:

Meeting user needs, reducing errors, continuous improvement (implied in TQM discussion).

71. Usual and organizational communication:

- Usual communication: Everyday interpersonal interaction
- Organizational communication: Structured, purposeful information flow to coordinate and achieve institutional goals.

72. Formal vs. informal communication:

- Formal: Structured, professional
- Informal: Casual, among peers.

EDU602_Educational Leadership and Management
Final-Term (Solved)

73. Higher-level needs in Maslow's hierarchy:

- Esteem
- Self-actualization

74. Importance of educational administration:

Coordinates all school functions to ensure effective teaching and learning.

75. Linear model:

One-way communication without feedback.

76. Analysis techniques for stress control:

Generally includes time management, counseling, and feedback systems.

77. Importance of budgeting:

Ensures efficient use of resources, forecasts future needs, helps decision-making.

78. Manager vs. supervisor:

Managers focus on planning; supervisors on execution and coordination.

79. Resistance in relation to change:

Employee skepticism due to poor past experience or lack of skills.

80. Transactional communication:

Sender and receiver interact simultaneously in a dynamic exchange.

81. Legitimate power (example):

A principal assigning duties to teachers based on formal position.

82. Budget benefits:

1. Planning tool
2. Controls spending
3. Forecasts financial outcomes.

83. Why is change necessary?

To remain relevant, improve systems, and meet new educational demands.

Maha Malik's Compilation

84. Organizational control:

Monitoring activities to ensure achievement of goals, through standards and corrective measures.

85. Monetary vs. non-monetary rewards:

- Monetary: Direct financial compensation
- Non-monetary: Recognition, promotions

86. Three reasons for having a budget:

1. Plan activities
2. Control finances
3. Guide decision-making

87. Unfreezing stage of change:

Preparing the organization for change by breaking old habits and mindsets.

88. Three responses to change:

1. Acceptance
2. Resistance
3. Indifference

89. Stages of group development (Tuckman):

1. Forming
2. Storming
3. Norming
4. Performing
5. Adjourning.

90. Types of change:

- Developmental
- Transitional
- Transformational

91. Levels in Maslow's hierarchy:

1. Physiological
2. Safety
3. Love/Belonging
4. Esteem
5. Self-Actualization

92. Open and latent conflict:

- Open: Visible, antagonistic behavior
- Latent: Hidden differences, not openly expressed.

93. Educational administration:
Systematic arrangement and use of human and material resources under defined policies to achieve educational goals.

94. Personal power of a leader:
Includes expert power (based on knowledge/skills) and referent power (based on trust/respect). More effective in creating job satisfaction and commitment.

95. Reasons for having a budget:

1. Goal setting
2. Effective evaluation
3. Compels planning
4. Promotes communication and unity
5. Restricts unnecessary expenditure.

96. Supervision:
A professional relationship for evaluating, supporting, and improving skills of the supervisee over time. Includes formative, normative, and restorative domains.

97. Communication:
A process of sharing information to achieve common understanding and influence outcomes.

98. Group:
A collection of individuals working interdependently with a shared goal; effectiveness depends on output, processes, and member well-being.

99. Team:
A type of group with high coordination, shared responsibility, and interdependent work focused on common objectives.

100. Stages of team development:

1. Forming
2. Storming
3. Norming
4. Performing
5. Adjourning.

101. Forming, storming, norming, performing, adjourning:

- Forming: Orientation
- Storming: Conflict and resistance
- Norming: Acceptance and cohesion
- Performing: Productive collaboration
- Adjourning: Evaluation and disbanding.

102. Conflicts:
Disagreements from opposing interests; may be interpersonal, intrapersonal, intergroup, etc. Includes functional and dysfunctional types.

103. Education administration:
Same as 93; focuses on planning, execution, and supervision within educational institutions.

104. ISO (International Organization for Standardization):
Develops international quality standards; assists in implementing Total Quality Management (TQM) through monitoring and documentation.

105. Budgeting:
A process to plan, allocate, and control financial resources; helps achieve organizational goals effectively.

106. Steps to change management:
Plan → Do → Study → Act (PDSA cycle) to implement and refine change.

107. People-oriented tasks in a team:
Building relationships, encouraging participation, resolving conflicts, and maintaining morale.

108. Communication style:
Can be formal, informal, assertive, passive, or aggressive depending on tone, structure, and context.

109. Define communication:
Sharing of ideas and experiences to achieve understanding and influence; essential for coordination and goal achievement.

B.Ed. (1.5 Years) BS English Files

Maha Malik's Compilation