

EDU304 Quiz 3 File by Tanveer Online Academy

Teachers must keep their expectations from their students _____.	High
Counsellors and teachers must be courageous enough to take:	Risks
Teachers are in the best position to provide vocational guidance because they are fully aware of:	their students' strengths, weaknesses
Learner-centered approaches can enhance:	student motivation
Careful selection of _____ promotes sense of community.	words and tone
A teacher must be _____ to identify strengths and weaknesses of his/her students.	a keen observant
Remedial and enrichment services cater to those students who:	need more attention to cope up with regular students
In counselling, a teacher must be sensitive towards:	social-cultural aspects
Smaller number of students in a class is _____ for counselling service.	Ideal

Vocational services are designed to enhance:	career/professional development
Group counselling aims at assisting in problem solving and making:	adjustment in society
Which of the following type of activities must be used by teachers when students seem lethargic?	Energizing
An empathetic teacher responds to students' feelings:	at an appropriate level of intensity
Counsellors and teachers must be courageous enough to take:	Risks
_____ are required for counselling.	Resources
Personal and social opportunities' knowledge enables students to make better:	informed choices
It is not true to say that counselling is _____	a parent's concern
Teachers should share_____ for social-emotional domain.	Common values, vocabulary and abilities
Vocational information provides valid and useful data about:	jobs and occupations
Constructive feedback on students' work plays a significant role in:	confidence building
An effective teacher is able to identify problem _____ and control it.	Trigger

Academic targets, lesson planning, multiple assessments and many other responsibilities make it_____ for teachers to provide counselling.	Difficult
Educational information includes seminars informing about:	future path
Appraisal counselling is seen as assistance to attain:	a clear sense of identity
Teachers have a long tradition of helping students with:	personal problems
Countertransference can make a counsellor too:	cautious or over-protective
Tolerance brings about:	openness in student's attitude _____ is the key to success in counselling process.	Trust
Counselling service is provided in case of:	a pressing need
In appraisal services teachers collect, analyze and use data to help students:	understand themselves
For effective counselling service, a teacher must be:	well trained
Group counselling aims at assisting in problem solving and making:	adjustments in group
Countertransference can develop:	excessive attachment with the student _____ also includes guidance about personal appearance and health etc.	personal-social information

Counsellor/teacher must be sufficiently _____ to hear out counselee.	Tolerant
Ethical framework creates:	Transparency
Follow-up services ensure _____ services even after leaving school.	Continued _____ ensures the development of trust.	Confidentiality
Teaching and counselling both require strong:	interpersonal skills
Counselee's _____ must be respected.	Autonomy