

Q.1 Agents help a lot in developing an understanding

- A. BOTH
 - B. Homogenous
 - C. NONE
 - D. Heterogeneous
-

Q.2 Consist of heterogeneous actors such as buyers and sellers.

- A. physics
 - B. Math
 - C. Economics
 - D. Biology
-

Q.3 Start coding inusing patches.

- A. None
 - B. Java
 - C. C++
 - D. Net Logo
-

Q.4 If there are more than alive neighbors, the cell dies.

- A. seven
 - B. ten
 - C. five
 - D. Three
-

Q.5 Agent-based methods may be particularly valuable in thesciences.

- A. PHYSICAL
 - B. BIOLOGICAL
 - C. SOCIAL
 - D. NONE
-

Q.6 There is amapping of ABM methods to economics.

- A. Un-Natural
 - B. Natural
 - C. Straight
 - D. Circular
-

Q.7 WCSS is stands for

- A. None
 - B. World Congress on Social Simulation
 - C. World Congress on Series Simulation
 - D. World Congress on Social Society
-

Q.8 If there are 2 alive neighbors, the cell In the state it is in

- A. Change
 - B. BOTH
 - C. NONE
 - D. Remains
-

Q.9Mathematician John Horton Conway – 1970 was made popular by a columnist “Martin Gardner”.

- A. British
 - B. Chinese
 - C. German
 - D. Scottish
-

Q.10cell checks the state of itself and its eight surrounding neighbors and then sets itself to either alive or dead

- A. TWO
 - B. EACH
 - C. NO
 - D. ONE
-

Q.11 In spite of being primarily of interest to....., there has been a growing interest in the use of ABM in the social sciences

- A. COMPUTER SCIENCE
 - B. MATH
 - C. Biology
 - D. PHYSIC
-

Q.12 CSSSA is stands for

- A. Complex Systems Social Sciences Administration
 - B. Compound Systems Social Sciences Association
 - C. Complex Systems Social Sciences Association
 - D. None
-