Individual cultural variables include:

- ▶ Chronemics, proxemics
- ▶ Space zone, oral communication
- ▶ Adopters and duplicators
- ▶ Verbal and written communication

Individual Cultural Variables

Time
Space
Food
Accepted Dress
Manners
Decision Making

Time (Chronemics)

Persons in Latin America and the Middle East treat time more casually than do Americans, prefer promptness. Germans are time-precise. In Latin America – and in Buddhist cultures – you may wait an hour; just reflecting a different concept of time; arriving late is a social accepted custom.

Space (Proxemics)

How close may strangers stand to you?
How do you react in Saudi Arabia when someone's breath intentionally brushes you in conversation?
How do you like being literally pushed into a train in Tokyo?
How would you react hanging onto the outside of a bus in Pakistan?
How do you react to the cold stare of a German as your eyes invade the privacy of his or her yard?
Some cultures consider those who stand close to you as intrusive, rude, pushy, overbearing.
Concepts of office space differ

Five Planning Steps

Before writing a message, the following steps are necessary for effective communication.

1. Define the purpose of the message.
2. Analyze your audience – readers or listeners.
3. Choose the ideas to include.
4. Collect all the facts to back up these ideas.
5. Outline – organize – your message.

Message

CommunicatorAudience

As “sender” Noise as “receiver”

This model represents which theory of communication?

- ▶ Social environment theory
- ▶ General theory
- ▶ Rhetorical theory
- ▶ Electronic theory

Electronic Theory

• The message is transmitted as a signal (marks on paper or sound waves) through a channel, where it may be distorted by noise (such as smudged typing or acoustical problems). As a last step, the receiver (listener or reader) decodes the message.

ENG301 - Business Communication - Q.No. 7 (M - 1)

It means that a message is specific, definite and vivid. If a message lacks these qualities, it will be vague and general. For this purpose, denotative words will be used instead of connotative words.

Match this statement with one of the following principles of communication:

- ▶ Clarity
- ▶ Conciseness www.vuzs.info
- ▶ Consideration
- ▶ Concreteness

Concreteness

• Concreteness means that a message is specific, definite and vivid. If a message lacks these qualities, it will be vague and general. To achieve concreteness, denotative words will be used instead of connotative words. By using concrete facts and figures, you can make your reader know exactly what is required or desired. Concrete messages are more richly textured. They avoid vagueness.
