English Language Skills

There are four basic skills required to learn a language:

Listening
Speaking
Reading
Writing

In listening skills, the focus is on intonation and pronunciation

Q1. Reading Skills?

1. Silent Reading
2. Loud reading
3. Close reading
4. Skimming
5. scanning

Q2. Silent Reading?

The habit of silent reading is very important as the student gets familiar with the language, understands the words and letters of the language, mostly, students are visual learners and silent reading helps them. Silent Reading does not embarrass the child. Silent Reading helps them to develop concepts.

Q3. Loud Reading?

It has more disadvantages than advantages.

- It helps to increase vocabulary
- Enhance working memory
- The advantage is that the teacher gets to know the level of familiarization of the students with the language.
- the disadvantages are that it does not engage other students at all.
- It is merely a waste of time however; it can benefit if it is timed correctly.
- It is better if loud reading is done in pairs or groups rather than one student reading

Q4. Detail notes on Close Reading?

MID TERM SHORT NOTES
EDU 516

Close reading is related to the development of writing skills. A particular text is given to them and no other choice is given to them. clear instructions for close reading are very important to students.

Problems in Close Reading

The students might come across the following problems while doing close reading.

- they could encounter difficult words, grammar
- direct method can be used.
- Some dictionary can be used, maybe in a group work to maximize time management and efficiency.
- Translation method is not a very good approach to teach a second language.

Factors in Close Reading

The three important factors in Close Reading are

1. Literal Meaning,
 2. Inferences
 3. and Contextual Meaning.
- i. For primary level, we would ask them for literal meaning in the text,
 - ii. if the level of the student is advanced then they will have to look at the inference.
 - iii. Some text written with reference to a certain context has contextual meaning hidden in it.

Q5. Skimming?

Skimming is done when we just want to get a gist of what is going on, for example, we skim through the newspaper to see the headlines or read the news lines on the TV screen. It is not done for any exam preparation or to comprehend any sort of content.

Pre-reading

We need to inculcate the skill of skimming in our students so that they know how to go through a content when they do not have enough time to read it thoroughly. It gives students a good idea what they are going to read. It is also called pre-reading. It is also done in brain storming sessions.

Q6. Scanning?

When scanning takes place, everything comes in a detailed form.

- The primary school children can be given to recognize the letters, words, the meaning of the word.
- Guidance and clear instructions are very important for scanning.
- for secondary school students it can be the use of words, meaning of it, spelling of it
- for even higher-level students they may be asked to look for the meaning of words in context, for high achievers it can be to read between the lines.
- Thus, there are levels of scanning according to the level of the students.

Q7. Predict and tell?

- ✚ This is also fun learning especially for primary school level students.
- ✚ It is very popular among students all over the world and is sometimes taken as a game by them.
- ✚ This can be done by reading a book or pictures, the pictures can be put anywhere in the class.
- ✚ The teacher can also give students a first sentence of the story to get them started.
- ✚ exercise can be given to higher level students by giving them a short paragraph that could either be beginning, middle or end of the story and ask them to predict what could have happened before or after that.
- ✚ This exercise boosts imagination, vocabulary and language skills and enhances creativity,

Q7. Story without an Ending?

- ✚ This is an exciting way to teach students reading skills;
- ✚ in this activity, the teacher gives out the story to students without its ending and then asks them to complete the story themselves,
- ✚ this can be done in groups or pairs
- ✚ In the end, the teacher can give the original ending to the students, the students then compare their endings with it.
- ✚ Another way is to give them a gap filling exercise of the ending.
- ✚ The students may use the dictionary to fill in those gaps and they may be allowed to add to those sentences.

Q8. Headings?

We all know that we can give a number of headings to one topic, whatever we want, whether to give a one word heading or two words heading or maybe a sentence. We can always have the option of giving different headings to the same story or to different stories.

- The primary school children would like to give heading to a topic with one word or two words. For example, if they are talking about the rose, they may call it a rose or a flower
- for the secondary school children and higher school children, they can do more than that. They can do two words heading or a three-word heading or maybe a sentence.

Q9. WHAT IS Personal Response?

This is the response that the teacher expects from the students to respond after the reading activity.

While doing the reading activity students need to know what the comprehensive text is.

- ✚ The pre reading, prediction and skimming help the students get an idea of what they are going to read and thus help in comprehending the text.
- ✚ As a personal response, the learner needs to know how the text is linked.
- ✚ Students should be clear how the sentences, paragraphs and thoughts in the text are linked to each other.
- ✚ The words like „and“, „but“, „next“, „finally“ etc. link the words and sentences.

Q10. Cohesion?

Sometimes, such writings where we have argumentative type of texts or where we have discussions, we need to look at the factor of cohesion and coherence

- This is mostly done at the higher level
- This is an important part of the reading and writing
- The students should develop the skill of writing coherently as a personal response to the reading that they have done.
- This is a productive skill for their writing forms.
- In order to do good writing, it is important to do good reading.

EDU 516

Q11. Elision?

The time gap that we give while talking is called elision.

- It is actually related to speaking however, speaking skills are greatly affected by our reading skills and thus it is important to be careful about noticing elision while reading; this is especially true for literature reading as there are elision points in the dialogues.
- They may be shown as a dot, dash or sometimes empty quotation marks which show that the speaker was taking a pause.

Q12. Repetition?

Repetition is a characteristic of teachers.

- They are known by repeating the words and sentences and this is an important thing for them to do.
- It makes the students sure about something.
- We should consider that they want some assurance from us and they depend upon us.
- They think whatever we say are the right words.

Q13. Reading for Pleasure?

Reading is a habit for adults and can be developed as a skill in children.

- A book can be a companion for adults.
- For young, reading and learning is a skill while they can enjoy it as well. They can look up meanings of difficult words.
- in reading for pleasure, continuity is very important.
- Hence jumping from book to dictionary becomes a tedious exercise and not a pleasurable activity.

Q14. Library Resources?

Another way to develop reading for pleasure is to use library resources. In case a resourceful library is not available, the teachers can always make a mobile library for their classrooms. They can ask people to contribute to the classroom library and this can be an effective way to develop the habit of reading in children. It can duplicate the library atmosphere.

Q15. Poetry?

Poetry is a form of reading called recitation. It is different from text or prose. It differs in structure from a prose. To recite a poem is an art in itself.

- The rhyme of the poem is very important.
- The second thing is simile.
- There are also metaphors used in poems, to be understood mainly by secondary school students.

Q16. Pronunciation and Word Stress?Pronunciation;

- These are significant characteristics of a poem.
- During recitation the pronunciation is very important.
- The best way to improve pronunciation is by listening.
- It gives you a better response from your audience. If your pronunciation is correct more people will be able to understand you.

Word stress;

Word stress is also important because you can change the meaning of sentences. If you stress on a particular word, you can change its meaning and tone.

OBJECTIVES

- Linked text: Find an identifier where the text is being
- linked Cohesion: Why are certain sentences bonded together?
- Elision: Why are the pauses and where they are?
- Repetition: Usually done by students while silent
- reading Punctuation: Feature of both writing and reading
- Sentence formation: Narrative or argumentative
- text Idioms: Use of similes and metaphors
- Phrases: Not commonly used now
- Writing is a direct product of reading. Advantages of reading would be reinforced while writing.

Q17. Creative Writing Skills?

- Writing should encourage creativity.
- Skill of creating must be instilled in children of all social backgrounds.
- Students should be taught to note down creative ideas whenever they come to their mind.
- This habit can be developed by carrying a notebook with them.
- The more we practice creativity the more it is generated.

Grammar and Vocabulary

These are important tools for creative writing. Sometimes, students are creative in their thinking but not in writing.

- Here is where the teacher needs to help them with grammar of sentences to remove the barrier to creative writing.
- Students should not be discouraged if there are grammar mistakes.
- Vocabulary is like hunting for words.
- Teachers can display words on the walls of classroom to reduce students struggle for the right words.
- Lesser vocabulary would discourage the student to write creatively.

Q18, Spelling?

Spelling is very important for academic writing as it is usually marked for in assignments. Too many spellings mistakes make the text lose its content.

- The marking criteria should be divided for segregated areas in writing.
- If the student is able to convey the idea properly but the spellings are incorrect some marks should be given for the idea.
- The assessment criteria should be fair.

Q19. Formal Writing . IMP

Formal writing has different definitions in different regions in the world.

- ✚ Academic writing like assignments and essays is mostly considered formal.
- ✚ There is a proper format for formal writing.
- ✚ There is a beginning, title and ending with a formal greeting.
- ✚ Writing in an official context is an example of formal writing.
- ✚ Personal communication is usually informal writing.
- ✚ Formal writing should be presentable.

- Letter

When it comes to formal letters, we must address the person with title or surname. Upon ending, we should use greeting phrases like „Best Wishes“,

Salutations

These are phrases like „Dear Father“ or „Dear Friend“ etc. Sometimes we use different salutations for respectful relations. For informal writing, we can just use hi, hello. Phrases like „Good morning“ and „Good day“ can be used in both formal and informal writing

Q 20. Informal Writing. IMP.

This is an opposite of formal writing. It can be included in the course of primary school children to make them understand the difference.

- ✚ Emails are usually written informally, without a title/name. But they can be formal as well, it depends on the receiver. If he or she is in a higher position, for eg; a boss or parent we tend to use formal writing.
- ✚ The content of informal writing does not include explanation of the text.
- ✚ In this regard informal writing is similar to spoken language.

Reflective writing

- It can be both under formal and informal writing.
- It depends on the organization and culture.
- A prospectus is a good example of formal reflective writing

Diary writing

- Diary writing is another form of reflective writing.
- It can be done while doing an action or after the action has taken place.
- It is different from reflective writing in the sense that it can be current. It can be called note writing also

- . It can be used both formally and informally but mostly it is informal.

Emails

- Emails have the advantage of replying instantly
- It is a very common means and used in offices mostly.
- It is a useful substitute for memos which were used to let the staff know about any order by the higher authority.
- It can be formal when you have to email a person who is higher in position and age or in a senior office position. An informal way can be as if it is a chain of communication just like a conversation.

Q21.Types of Text?

- i. Argumentative
- ii. Narrative
- iii. Dialogue
- iv. Exposition
- v. Discussion
- vi. Report

Q22. Narrative?

There are different types of texts in writing. Narrative writing is like telling a story. Students need to use words like “once upon a time”, “next” and “finally” etc.

- + Narrative writing usually has a sequence of events and characters to add life to the story.
- + Linking phrases are also useful for narrative writing.
- + Students are usually required to write a narrative in exams.

Q23. Argumentative

It is similar to debates, but debates are oral and argumentative is a written form of debates. It is usually an argument between two people. There is a point taken with two sides on a coin while both sides are trying to prove a point.

- + There is a sequence in the dialogues from both sides.
 - + One point is being discussed and then there is a counter argument.
 - + Both sides of the argument are to be taken into consideration.
 - + Opinion of both or more parties should be included in the dialogue writing.
- ❖ Some words which are used in spoken language can be used in argumentative writing as well for e.g.; “In my opinion”, “I think” ...”

Q24. Dialogue

This is used in all types of texts. It can be sometimes used in narrative writing. The dialogue should be written in inverted commas to clarify that these are the exact words used by the speaker.

- + Reported speech may be used without inverted commas for example; “He said that...”
- + In an argumentative text a lot of dialogues are used.
- + A statement will be using a full stop.
- + An exclamation can be ended with an exclamation mark.
- + A question should end with a question mark.
- + An elision can be shown by using a dash.
- + The state of the speaker can be mentioned in the parenthesis after the spoken words. For example; he said “....” (angrily).

EDU 516

Q25, Exposition

It is often confused with argumentative text. In exposition there need not be a contrast or divide between ideas.

- ✚ It does not have to be argued with somebody.
- ✚ It is about having a belief and pursuing that stance.
- ✚ It is not common with school students as it is an advanced level text.
- ✚ It is mostly used in commercial campaigns for example; cigarettes cause lung cancer.
- ✚ It is to show one sided opinion.

Q26. Report?

(Important question repeat 20 + time)

It is based on reported speech, when you transfer the information in your words. It does not use actual words spoken, known as direct speech.

- Reported speech is a part of grammar, known as indirect speech
- the dialogues are not part of this kind of text.
- Words like: claimed, said, addressed can be used.
- The date and time and location must be mentioned in a report where a certain event took place. The feelings should be detached, for example; I was very sad.
- Facts and figures should be used instead of personal feelings.

Q27. Discussion

It involves the mix of different types of texts. But it does have some features. It does not include confrontation of many opinions coming from opposite sides rather opinions would be agreeing with each other. Phrases like “we all agreed...” can be used.

- The information should be factual.
- Some discussions may not depend on facts.

Formal Informative Writing,(IMPORTANT FOR OBJECTIVE ALSO FOR SUBJECTIVE)*Q28. - Statement of Interest

- It provides information that has to be used at a formal place.
- It is usually used in applications for job or admissions.
- Teachers should know the structure and format of applications.
- It should give precise information about applicants.

Q29. Application Details

- This is in order to give information to the person we are applying to.
- To write about their skills and previous experiences,
- students need to be taught to write precisely yet explanatory.
- Teachers should practice writing applications in the class.

Q 30. Profile Writing

- An important part of an application is profile writing.
- It means people want to know you, a picture of what you are, how have you achieved your aims, what are your hobbies.
- Writing about your family, education, skills, hobbies, and talents is a good way to fill up your profile picture.

Q 31. Curriculum Vitae or Resume

- It is formal informative writing, as it is about providing facts based on reality.
- You have to inform the person about yourself, about facts that are always going to stay with you, like name, date of birth, nationality, religion etc.
- Layout of the CV is very important be it for higher education or job.
- It should be organized, starting with educational qualifications with the dates.
- The name of the institute must also be mentioned. Whether it was full time or part time should also be mentioned
- Divide your qualification in columns.
- It should be in chronological order.
- You should also mention extra- curricular activities; volunteer and charity work come under this.

Speaking Skills – VERY IMP.

Q32. Favorable Classroom Environment

- The environment must be natural, not artificial where people are mocking at each other and looking down upon the speaker.
- Even if students are making mistakes there must be no shame in that.
- The atmosphere should not be of shame and guilt.
- Hence the environment must be friendly and accepting errors of others as English is a second language.
- This way students will not feel hesitation to speak up.
- The teacher should encourage students to speak in English only.
- She herself should avoid the mother tongue.

Q33. - Language Games

Speaking skills are best learnt by fun. It is a natural instinct for people to speak comfortably in their own language. But in order to learn a foreign language, it is a good way to not to force people but use comedy and fun. When there is no stress on the brain, it is accepted freely.

Q34. Building Vocabulary

Vocabulary plays an important part, how can we read if we don't know what is written. It can be provided by resources.

- For primary school students, teachers can provide word banks on charts, board, slides etc.
- For higher level students, you can have a resource corner in the classroom where you can put newspapers, magazines for consulting when students are short of vocabulary.

Q 35. Pair Work

- It plays an important role in developing speaking skills.
- Students often feel shy speaking to a higher authority.
- If this activity is done in pairs, where they speak to their partners and the teacher can supervise where they lack.
- She can note down their mistakes and give them collective feedback so as not to be embarrassing the students.
- This way they would not become conscious.
- Personal feedback can be given at a later level.
- In the beginning teachers should always give collective feedback without taking names. Otherwise, it would become very demotivating for the students.

Q 36. Hesitation

Hesitation is something which results from demotivating factors. Criticism and body language can cause students lose motivation. Teachers play a major role in shaping personality of their students. The audience of the speaker is very important.

The hesitant barrier can only be removed by the teacher as he is who builds up confidence to say more.

The teacher must remove the hesitation by providing favorable classroom environment.

Q 37. Know Me

- That is a very popular activity; it can be done both in pairs and groups.
- For primary school students, they can be divided into pairs.
- They are supposed to ask each other questions.
- This way there will be a link among students.
- Students can choose to talk about their family, if they wish so.
- The teacher should be monitoring this activity and should not let one partner dominate the other.
- She can ask the other one to start a new topic.
- It should be a learner centered class as in when the speaking skills class is going on the teacher should only be a facilitator.

MID TERM SHORT NOTES
EDU 516

Q 38.

Phrases

- The teacher can provide different phrases for students to use in their conversation.
- This activity is not possible in primary school as they would not be able to understand the meaning of phrases.
- Teachers can use phrases from text or lessons students are already familiar with.
- Students can find meanings of phrases by asking their peers.
- She should not look at the faces of students to make them conscious.
- The students should be dealt with independently.
- It should be learner centered activity.

Q 39 Collocations

They are relevant to higher level students. Teachers should not be doing this activity with primary grades. Collocations are like phrases, with more than one word that goes well with another. The only difference is that collocations are words commonly used together for example; get well. Advertisements use collocations like: buy one get one.

Q40. Imperatives

- They are commonly used in speaking.
- They are often used in a classroom like “open the door” these are things to be done at the present moment.
- They are direct in nature and usually tell people to do something.

Q 41. Pragmatics

This is the practical language, the language that is being spoken. If something is being said politely, pragmatics shows that it has been said in politeness. Students need to know that word selection is important to convey their meaning well with a practical application.

Q 42, Interpretation

Interpretation of words is very important as there is no time gap between delivery and reception of speech

Q43. IT Language

The etiquette to use language online, the net language also has some manners. Students are usually speaking that language too. Casual and informal language can be used but there should be restrictions on its use. Since the words are spread to a lot of people, some words should be censored. Some words are not accepted in the society members like senior citizens or children.

-Q44, Peer Assessment

It is a good practice to make the students assess their peers. They like to listen to what the other person is saying especially if they are of the same age. They tend to focus more on what they are saying. It is like a chain building activity. The teacher should explain what she needs them to do. Students should be very honest and fair in assessing their peers. This way students will understand how an assessment is done.

Q 45. Self-Assessment

This is another practice to assess the speaking skills of the students. This is also a popular practice. Students should be trained to assess themselves; they should be taught that you are the best judge of yourself. They would not need any outside assessment.

Q 46. English Language Skills

There are four basic skills required to learn a language:

Listening
Speaking
Reading
Writing

In listening skills, the focus is on intonation and pronunciation

Q47. Listening Skills

It is a good practice if the teacher writes on the board what students need to focus on. She can define the terms on the board as well, like;

- Word stress – stress on the word to get meaning.
- Intonation – high or low pitch of spoken sentence.
- Collocation – two or more words that go well together
