12:44

vulms.vu.edu.pk/

ENG510 - Sociolinguistics (Quiz-IV) Quiz Start Tim

Question # 1 of 10 (Start time: 12:44:17 PM, 22 January 2024)

Which of the following can help people in establishing interpersonal relationship?

Select the correct option

- (●) Greetings
- ( ) Curses
- ( ) Blessings
- ( ) Sayings

personal relationship

Lesson 35

SOCIAL ASPECT OF LINGUISTIC PRACTICES ACROSS THE GLOBE

Topic- 171: Greetings and Sociolinguistics

Greetings are an exchange of cheerful expressions or good wishes between two people or a group of people. Greetings can help people in establishing interpersonal relationship. They can be used as an introductory remark to begin of a proper conversation. Greeting is an expression that may occur on the road, at work, shopping, the coffee shop, meetings, home and social functions. As greeting is one of the means of developing interpersonal relationships, it is worth studying from sociolinguistic point of view.

Greetings in Brazil

Bom dia
Good day. (R= same)
Como vai?
How are you?
Tudo bem, e voce?
All is well, and you?
Prazer em conhece-lo
Pleasure to meet you

Greetings in Lebanon

An interesting mix of both the French and Muslim/Arab cultures
Handshake while saying 'Marhaba'
Close friends exchange three kisses on the cheek, alternating cheeks in the French style

12:45

vulms.vu.edu.pk/

ENG510 - Sociolinguistics (Quiz-IV) Quiz Start

Question # 2 of 10 (Start time: 12:44:58 PM, 22 January 2024)

The sentence, 'She is very nice. Hai na'? is an example of _____.

Select the correct option

- inter-sentential switching
- register
- tag switching
- intra-sentential switching

hai na

Lesson 34

CODE SWITCHING AND CODE MIXING IN PAKISTAN

Topic- 166: Code Switching of English and Urdu in Pakistan

Code Switching is the switch or shift from one language to the other which involves longer stretches or units of language at the clause or sentence boundary. Mainly it has three types:

- tag switching
- intra sentential
- inter-sentential

Examples for tag switching: woh bohat achi hai. Isn't she?; She is very nice. Hai na?
Examples for Intra sentential switching: woh bohat intelligent hai; Khana bohat tasty hai.
Examples of Inter-sentential switching: Khana bohat acha hai but I don't feel like eating; woh bohat zaheen hai and I like intelligent people.

Poplack (1980) differentiates between code- switching and code mixing as well. As far as the switching of English and Urdu is concerned, there are some general reasons of switching. Social reasons of switching in Pakistan and their application and implications in Pakistani case need to be addressed from the perspectives of Pakistani cultural context and identity issues as well.

Topic – 167: Code Switching of Other Languages in Pakistan

To understand code switching of languages other than Urdu and English in Pakistan, we need to think about cultural practices and social reasons of switching along with linguistic reasons of switching. Use of language in various social domains and switching has issues of identity at the core.

12:45

vulms.vu.edu.pk/

ENG510 - Sociolinguistics (Quiz-IV) Quiz Sta

Question # 3 of 10 (Start time: 12:45:30 PM, 22 January 2024)

Code switching mainly has ____ types.

Select the correct option

- four
- six
- three
- five

three typ

Lesson 34

CODE SWITCHING AND CODE MIXING IN PAKISTAN

Topic- 166: Code Switching of English and Urdu in Pakistan

Code Switching is the switch or shift from one language to the other which involves longer stretches or units of language at the clause or sentence boundary. Mainly it has three types:

- tag switching
- intra sentential
- inter-sentential

Examples for tag switching: woh bohat achi hai. Isn't she?; She is very nice. Hai na?
Examples for Intra sentential switching: woh bohat intelligent hai; Khana bohat tasty hai.
Examples of Inter-sentential switching: Khana bohat acha hai but I don't feel like eating; woh bohat zaheen hai and I like intelligent people.

Poplack (1980) differentiates between code- switching and code mixing as well. As far as the switching of English and Urdu is concerned, there are some general reasons of switching. Social reasons of switching in Pakistan and their application and implications in Pakistani case need to be addressed from the perspectives of Pakistani cultural context and identity issues as well.

Topic – 167: Code Switching of Other Languages in Pakistan

To understand code switching of languages other than Urdu and English in Pakistan, we need to think about cultural practices and social reasons of switching along with linguistic reasons of switching. Use of language in various social domains and switching has issues of identity at the core.

12:46

vulms.vu.edu.pk/

ENG510 - Sociolinguistics (Quiz-IV) Quiz Sta

Question # 4 of 10 (Start time: 12:45:50 PM, 22 January 2024)

The sentence, 'kitna khubsurat scene hai' is an example of ___ type of mixing.

Select the correct option

- noun phrase hybridization
- noun phrase
- noun
- verb

Click to Save

kitna

- setting
- addressee
- addresser
- social factors such as prestige attached to a particular language
- socio-historical background of a language

Examples from Pakistan that show various types of mixing:

1. Kitna khubsurat scene hai (noun)
2. In dono ko compare kuro (verb)
3. Yeh one-sided report hai (Noun Phrase)
4. Aj mai nay bara tasty kofta curry banaya hai. (Noun Phrase Hybridization)

There are linguistic reasons as well. For example, as far as the noun insertion is concerned, it is evident that many a times the speakers of Urdu opt for English nouns despite the fact that t equivalents are available. Apart from the prestige that the speakers attach to English, another re the choice of English equivalents can be the subtle differences of meaning that the Urdu equiv cannot convey, or that the speakers think Urdu equivalents cannot convey.

One reason of making insertions of nouns is the fact that nouns are content words. Unlike structural words their insertion does not have a great impact on the syntax of a sentence. Thus, the speaker

ENG510 - Sociolinguistics (Quiz-IV)

Question # 6 of 10 (Start time: 12:47:18 PM, 22 January 2024)

Which of the following is the major determining factor in the use of terms of address?

Select the correct option

- Culture
- Class
- Gender
- Age

Click to

ajor determining fac

information about the interlocutors, their relationship and their circumstances. Address terms play a crucial role in communication and maintaining social relationships between members of a society. They need to be studied in every language and culture. According to Yule (2006), address term is a word or phrase for the person in the context. According to Leech (1999), an important formulaic verbal behavior is well recognized in the sociolinguistic literature as they signal transactional, interpersonal and deictic ramifications in human relationships.

Modes and terms of address are important in any society for the purposes of identification and expression of ideas. The use of these terms depends upon the social rank, age, and the gender of the persons involved in any communicative situation" (Girish, 2005). In the past few decades, sociolinguists have shown great interest in studying address terms as they reflect the social relationships between members of a specific speech community. They are not static; and they vary according to the social contexts. Social factors such as class, education, occupation, age, gender, power, solidarity, politeness, race and ethnicity, religion influence the use of address terms. Culture is a major determining factor in the use of terms of address. Members of a speech community utilize various address terms according to their socio-cultural relationship. They can include proper names, nicknames, titles, pronouns, prefixes and other referent terms with semantic significance.

According to Koul and Madhu-Bala (1989), there is a difference between English and South-Asian languages in this regard. There is a multiplicity of ways in which South-Asian languages permit their speakers to mark out different kinds of relationships. In Pakistan certain honorific words and reference terms are used to address people in formal and informal situations. For example:

- Sir/ Madam
- Muhtram/ muhtarmah
- Jnāb
- molānā
- mūfti

A highly developed system of naming is used, for example, first names and surnames together with terms associated with professions and kinship. They are used in specific ways to imply particular kinds of social interaction and varying degrees of interrelationships (Aitsiselmi, 2004). Ranks and social

12:48

vulms.vu.edu.pk/

ENG510 - Sociolinguistics (Quiz-IV) Quiz Start Time: 12:4

Question # 7 of 10 (Start time: 12:47:51 PM, 22 January 2024)

Which of the following is an exchange of cheerful expressions or good wishes between two people or a group of people?

Select the correct option

- Curses
- Blessings
- Sayings
- Greetings ✓

Click to Save Answer & Mo

cheerful ex

SOCIAL ASPECT OF LINGUISTIC PRACTICES ACROSS THE GLOBE

Topic- 171: Greetings and Sociolinguistics

Greetings are an exchange of cheerful expressions or good wishes between two people or a group of people. Greetings can help people in establishing interpersonal relationship. They can be used as an introductory remark to begin of a proper conversation. Greeting is an expression that may occur on the road, at work, shopping, the coffee shop, meetings, home and social functions. As greeting is one of the means of developing interpersonal relationships, it is worth studying from sociolinguistic point of view.

Greetings in Brazil

Bom dia
Good day. (R= same)
Como vai?
How are you?
Tudo bem, e voce?
All is well, and you?
Prazer em conhece-lo
Pleasure to meet you

Greetings in Lebanon

An interesting mix of both the French and Muslim/Arab cultures
Handshake while saying 'Marhaba'
Close friends exchange three kisses on the cheek, alternating cheeks in the Frenc

Greetings in Japan

Japanese men and women usually bow,
More cosmopolitan may shake hands
Often, people will bow and shake hands simultaneously.

12:48

vulms.vu.edu.pk/

ENG510 - Sociolinguistics (Quiz-IV) Quiz Start Time: 12:44 PM, 22

Question # 8 of 10 (Start time: 12:48:20 PM, 22 January 2024)

According to planning commission, Government of Pakistan, (2011), Lahore's population is currently about_____million.

Select the correct option

- 8
- 7
- 10
- 9

Click to Save Answer & Move to Ne

lahore

Lesson 33

LANGUAGE CHANGE IN PAKISTAN

Topic- 161: Impact of Urbanization on the Sociolinguistic Scene of Pakistan

If we consider Pakistan's current population, one third of it is urban. According to careful estimates, it will rise to nearly 50% by 2025. (NOREF Expert Analysis, Urbanisation in Pakistan: causes and consequences Michael Kugelman, 2013). Pakistan is urbanising at an annual rate of 3% – the fastest pace in South Asia. The United Nations Population Division estimates that, by 2025, nearly half of the country's population will live in cities. There are certain other projections as well which use density based rather than administrative definitions of urbanisation, and they conclude that it is already 50%.

Accroding to Planning Commission, Government of Pakistan, (2011), Lahore's population is currently about 7 million, and by 2025 will exceed 10 million. As far as Karachi is concerned, it has a population of 13 million today and will be 19 million. Number of Pakistani cities with populations between .5 million and a million will be 11 – whereas today it is only two. According to Burki, Shahid Javed (2011) "Pakistan is at the threshold of a major demographic transition".

Entry into cities is to escape war, insecurity and natural disasters and also to seek new livelihoods and better basic services. High-growth industries in cities offer hope for Pakistan's floundering economy. But rising urban populations pose great challenges for job markets and service providers. Adv... telecommunications in cities provide great benefits to Pakistani society. But, language issue b... more complicated. Urbanization, on the one hand, is a catalyst for modernization. On the other ... has its own challenges. Telecommunications infrastructure has hastened the growth of Pakistan's influential private media, facilitated the spread of affordable mobile technologies and accelerated Internet hook-ups.

While all of these are becoming hallmarks of Pakistani urban society; linguistic push and pull forces have also increased. Crafting an appropriate linguistic policy for this urban life will require both

12:49

vulms.vu.edu.pk/

ENG510 - Sociolinguistics (Quiz-IV) Quiz Sta

Question # 9 of 10 (Start time: 12:48:51 PM, 22 January 2024)

Heer and Ranjha from Jhang is very famous in _____folklore.

Select the correct option

- Punjabi
- Pakhtun
- Balochi
- Sindhi

heer and ran

Stories of Hani and Shah Murad Chakar,
Shahdad and Mahnaz
Lallah and Granaz
Mast and Sammo
War tales are equally stirring.

Pakhtun folklore

Songs sung with Khattak dance
The romantic tale of Adam Khan and Durkhanai features a lute-player (rabab) whose music earns her love.

Punjabi folklore

Heer and Ranjha from Jhang is very famous.
Today it is celebrated in songs, movies and theatre.

In the same way, we have Saraiki and Kashmiri folklore. It is of significance to talk about "tappay" as they are very popular. They are an oral tradition, sung by women on weddings for celebration. Tappay represent folk wisdom, cultural values, traditional rivalries, gender roles, cu traditions. Another important oral tradition is of "lori". It is a celebration of motherhood, fer sensibilities and culture.

12:50

vulms.vu.edu.pk/

ENG510 - Sociolinguistics (Quiz-IV) Quiz Start Time: 12:44

Question # 10 of 10 (Start time: 12:49:13 PM, 22 January 2024)

Language change can be defined as variation over time in language and is studied by _____.

Select the correct option

- Applied linguistics
- Historical linguistics ✓
- Psycholinguistics
- Computational linguistics

Click to Save Answer & Move

variation over time

creativity and judiciousness. Pakistan's urban transition can be eased by funding literacy and vocational training programmes in cities and by regularizing Pakistani private education sector.

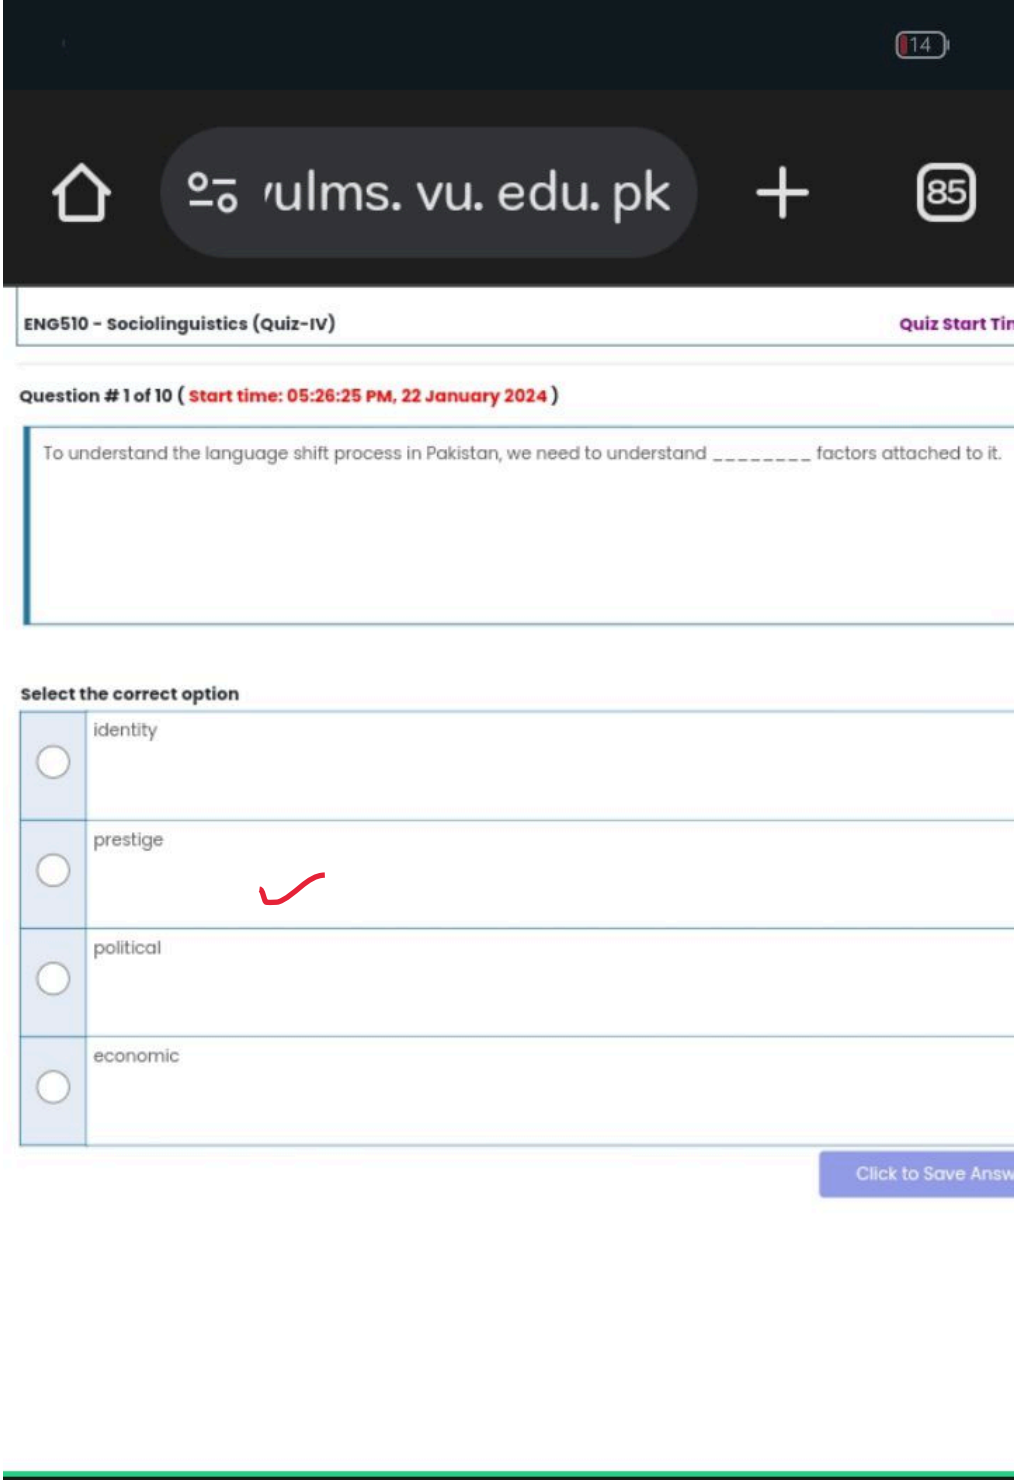

In this context, it is evident from the present linguistic set-up of Pakistan that due to urbanization, and increase in literacy more Pakistanis of new generation are speaking Urdu as a first language. However, the other dimension of the matter is that in the present times it is felt that in connection to the spread of English, Urdu may lose its relevance to masses in the face of changed cultural and economic realities.

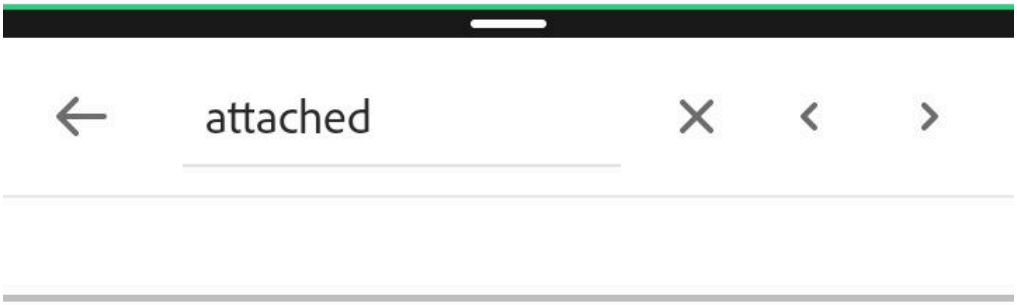

Topic – 162: Language Change and Shift in Pakistan

Language change can be defined as variation over time in a language's phonological, morphological, semantic, syntactic, and other features. It is studied by historical linguistics and evolutionary linguistics. Language changes takes place across space and social group. Language also varies across time. Generation by generation, pronunciations evolve, new words are borrowed or invented. Types of language change include lexical changes which imply the ongoing influx of new words into any language. We need to think about the recent decades and lexical changes in Pakistani socio-linguistic context. As far as English language is concerned for example, throughout its history English has not only borrowed words from other languages but has recombined and recycled them

©Copyright Virtual University of Pakistan

- setting
- addressee
- addresser
- social factors such as prestige attached to a particular language
- socio-historical background of a language

Examples from Pakistan that show various types of mixing:

5:27

ENG510 - Sociolinguistics (Quiz-IV)

Question # 2 of 10 (Start time: 05:27:04 PM, 22 January 2024)

Which of the following is a resultant process of frequent code mixing?

Select the correct option

- ○ Language desertion
- ○ Language change
- ○ Language death
- ○ Language hybridization ✓

resultant pro

and Romaine (1995), 'hybridization' is used in a variety of ways such as to refer to mixing at a very lo level that is within the word, phrase or sentence. For example:

aj mai nay bara tasty kofta curry banaya hai.

(Noun Phrase Hybridization)

Language hybridization is a resultant process of frequent code mixing. When two or mor languages are frequently mixed resultantly a new hybridized variety of language takes birth. This ne variety to some extent shares the qualities of both the languages. But it has its own independent gramma and vocabulary that may not match any of the mixed languages. According to Backus (2000): "Th frequent use of intrasentential code switching refers to a "bilingual lect" or what Alvarez-Caccam mentions as an "alloy" (833)". "The speakers over all use a single mixed 'lect', where the users probabl do not think that they are switching between two languages; rather they take it as one single language' Language hybridization can lead to the process of language desertion.

5:28

ENG510 - Sociolinguistics (Quiz-IV)

Question # 3 of 10 (Start time: 05:27:40 PM, 22 January 2024)

There are ____ types of descent involved in kinship.

Select the correct option

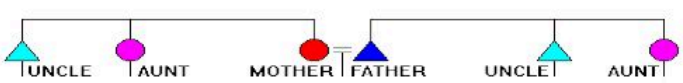

- four
- two ✓
- six
- three descent in meanings of kinship terms reflect the relationships among kin and kin in each particular society. They invoke social meanings associated with them. Various kinship terms are used in the various social environments. Kinship terms may be differentiated by various features like:

sex (father, mother or son, daughter)
generation (mother and daughter)
collateral kinship distance (uncle and aunt)

The sociolinguistic study of the kinship terms is required to understand the social meanings associated with them. There are two types of descent involved in kinship. Patrilineal are the relations that come from the father's blood line. Matrilineal are the relations that come from the mother's blood line. Kinship refers to the culturally defined relationships between individuals who are commonly thought of as having family ties. All societies use kinship as a basis for forming social groups and for classifying people. In many societies, kinship is the most important social organizing principle along with gender and age.

5:29
ENG510 - Sociolinguistics (Quiz-IV)
Quiz Start Tim
Question # 4 of 10 (Start time: 05:28:12 PM, 22 January 2024)
As far as folklore in Pakistan is concerned, there is a lot of oral literature available in the ____languages of Pakista
Select the correct option
non native foreign regional official
Click to Save Answe

of oral literature
and movements indicating the sincerity of grief.
Oral traditions are threatened when elders die and when livelihoods are disrupted. Oral literature is also increasingly endangered by globalization. Rapid socio-economic change exerts ever more complex pressures on smaller communities, often challenging traditional knowledge practices.
Topic – 185: Sociolinguistics and Oral Literature in Pakistan
There are various famous forms of oral literature in Pakistan which include folklore, tappa, lori, qisa, geet etc. As far as folklore in Pakistan is concerned, there is a lot of oral literature available in the regional languages of Pakistan. Here are some details:
Sindh folklore
Manifestations of traditional Watayo Faqir tales
Legend of Moriro
Epic tale of Dodo Chanesar
The love story of Sassui and Punhu, is known and sung in every Sindhi settlement.
Stories of Umar Marui and Suhuni Mehar

ENG510 - Sociolinguistics (Quiz-IV) Quiz

Question # 5 of 10 (Start time: 05:29:08 PM, 22 January 2024)

Which of the following can help people in establishing interpersonal relationship?

Select the correct option

- Sayings
- Blessings
- Greetings
- Curses

Click to Sa

interpersonal relatio

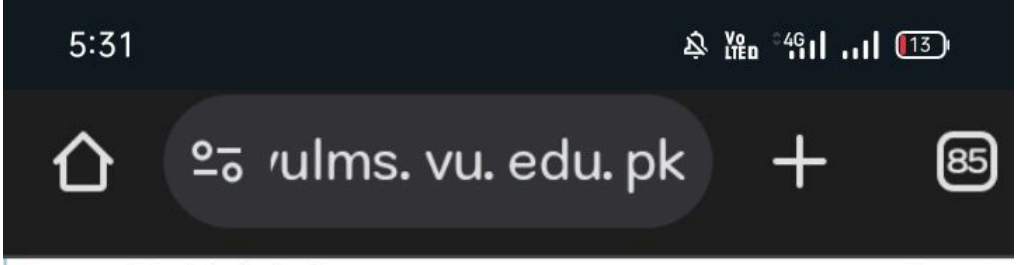

SOCIAL ASPECT OF LINGUISTIC PRACTICES ACROSS THE GLOBE

Topic- 171: Greetings and Sociolinguistics

Greetings are an exchange of cheerful expressions or good wishes between two people or a group of people. Greetings can help people in establishing interpersonal relationship. They can be used as an introductory remark to begin of a proper conversation. Greeting is an expression that may occur on the road, at work, shopping, the coffee shop, meetings, home and social functions. As greeting is one of the means of developing interpersonal relationships, it is worth studying from sociolinguistic point of view.

Greetings in Brazil

Bom dia
Good day. (R= same)
Como vai?
How are you?

ENG510 - Sociolinguistics (Quiz-IV) Quiz Start Time

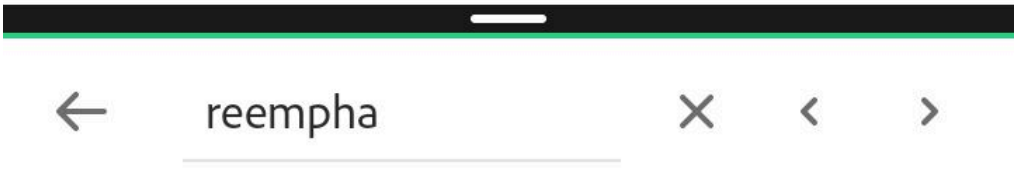

Question # 7 of 10 (Start time: 05:30:40 PM, 22 January 2024)

Reemphasizing their idea, to ensure that they have conveyed to the listener exactly what they wanted to convey. Th
_____

Select the correct option

- Divergence
- Discrepancy
- Dissimilarity
- Repetition ✓

Click to Save Answe

Topic – 178: Repetition of Codes and Sociolinguistic Scene of Pakistan

Societies where speakers have more than one language available, speakers use different conversational strategies to serve specific linguistic functions. Repetitions in the process of code mixing are one of the strategies used by speakers to achieve certain linguistic goals. Functions of repetition include to reemphasize their idea, to ensure that they have conveyed to the listener exactly what they wanted to convey, to facilitate understanding on listener's part, to convey certain socio-cultural connotations attached to the linguistic choice of the repeated item etc. A variety of ways are used by Pakistani speakers to create repetitions in the process of code mixing of Urdu/ English. For example, a word used in one language is immediately repeated for instance: nisbatan comparatively, or north shūmāl. Sometimes a connector/ conjunction is inserted between the linguistic item and its repetition in the other language: peace aur aman, aman yā peace etc. Other examples are:

is war maen is jung maen
aur itni powerful ūnki āwāz honi chāhiay itni tāqatwar ūnki āwāz honi chāhiay'

5:32

Open Dismiss

Question # 6 of 10 (Start time: 05:31:21 PM, 22 January 2024)

In the Pakistani context, women use more _____which show the social positioning of women in our society.

Select the correct option

- turn takings
- tag questions
- pauses
- registers

Click to Save An

use more

Hall and Deborah Cameron. Robin Lakoff identified a "women's register", that is used to maintain women's (inferior) role in society. She argued that women tend to use linguistic forms that reflect and reinforce a subordinate role. Examples in this regard include minimal responses, 'mm' and 'yeah' etc. Another example is of the use of questions. For instance, for men a question is a genuine request for information and for women it can often be a rhetorical means of engaging the other's conversational contribution or of acquiring attention. There can also be examples of turn-taking. Women's desire for turn-taking gives rise to complex forms of interaction in relation to the more regimented form of turn-taking commonly exhibited by men. Another example can be of 'tag questions'. In Pakistani context women use more tag questions which shows the social positioning of women in our society.

Topic – 182: Proverbs in Pakistan and Sociolinguistic Perspective

Proverbs are short, pithy sayings that reflect the accumulated wisdom, prejudices, and superstitions of the human race (The New Dictionary of Cultural Literacy, 2002). It is not the ideas rather a particular phrasing that belongs to the culture and language of a particular nation. Otherwise, they are often common and shared. Proverbs are oral tradition and folk wisdom. They pass down through time

5:33

ENG510 - Sociolinguistics (Quiz-IV)

Question # 9 of 10 (Start time: 05:32:17 PM, 22 January 2024)

In Urdu language, pāni- shāni is _____ phenomenon.

Select the correct option

- ○ Discrepancy
- ○ Dissimilarity
- ○ Divergence
- ○ Reduplication ✓

reduplication

Sociolinguistics-ENG510 VU

Topic – 177: Reduplication and Sociolinguistic Scene of Pakistan

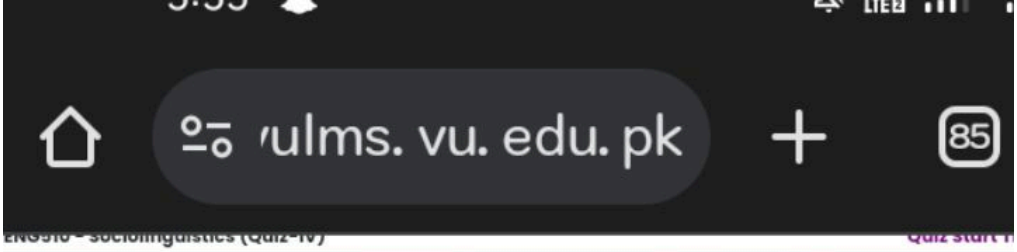

Reduplication is quite common in Urdu and the local languages of Pakistan. Here are some examples in Urdu:

- pāni- shāni
- chāy- shay
- kām- shām

Examples in Punjabi:

- gul- shul
- kum- shum
- Khayāl- shayāl

There is some ambiguity related to the term. For example, look at the use of the noun phrase Hi-fi

Question # 1 of 10 (Start time: 05:35:44 PM, 22 January 2024)

In the Pakistani context, women use more _____which show the social positioning of women in our society.

Select the correct option

- turn takings
- registers
- pauses
- tag questions

Click to Save Ans

ENG510 - Sociolinguistics (Quiz-IV)

Question # 2 of 10 (Start time: 05:36:22 PM, 22 January 2024)

Syntactic changes do not take place very _____.

Select the correct option

- often
- slowly
- regularly
- rapidly ✓

ulms. vu. edu. pk

ENG510 - Sociolinguistics (Quiz-IV)

Question # 4 of 10 (Start time: 05:38:19 PM, 22 January 2024)

In the Pakistani language, folklore, tappa, lori, qisa, geet etc. are the forms of _____.

Select the correct option

- quotes
- registers
- oral literature ✓
- proverbs

ENG510 - Sociolinguistics (Quiz-IV)

Question # 10 of 10 (Start time: 05:33:07 PM, 22 January 2024)

General practices of _____ in Pakistan are also reflected in names and tittles.

Select the correct option

- code mixing
- tag switching
- code switching
- tag mixing

general practic

word.

Topic – 179: Names and Titles and Sociolinguistic Scene of Pakistan

General practices of code mixing in Pakistan are also reflected in names and tittles. Names or titles of institutions or organizations are either created in English or in a hybridized language. Apart from using names or titles purely from English language, hybridized names and titles are also very common, and are generally considered more trendy and attractive. It is noteworthy that this trend is also reflected in the political sphere in Pakistan.

Some examples of names of political parties:

Awāmi National Party
Muslim League Qāf
Muslim League Nūn
People's Party Shayrpāo

Some examples of names of offices include:

Pakistan National Shipping Corporation

5:40 S

Question # 5 of 10 (Start time: 05:39:08 PM, 22 January 2024)

Urbanization is a _____ for modernization.

Select the correct option

- catalyst
- preventer
- hindrance
- foundation

catalyst

rather than administrative definitions of urbanisation, and they conclude that it is already 50%.

Accroding to Planning Commission, Government of Pakistan, (2011), Lahore's population is currently about 7 million, and by 2025 will exceed 10 million. As far as Karachi is concerned, it has a population of 13 million today and will be 19 million. Number of Pakistani cities with populations between .5 million and a million will be 11 – whereas today it is only two. According to Burki, Shahid Javed (2011) "Pakistan is at the threshold of a major demographic transition".

Entry into cities is to escape war, insecurity and natural disasters and also to seek new livelihoods and better basic services. High-growth industries in cities offer hope for Pakistan's floundering economy. But rising urban populations pose great challenges for job markets and service providers. Advanced telecommunications in cities provide great benefits to Pakistani society. But, language issue becomes more complicated. Urbanization, on the one hand, is a catalyst for modernization. On the other hand, it has its own challenges. Telecommunications infrastructure has hastened the growth of Pakistan's influential private media, facilitated the spread of affordable mobile technologies and accelerated Internet hook-ups.

While all of these are becoming hallmarks of Pakistani urban society; linguistic push and pull forces have also increased. Crafting an appropriate linguistic policy for this urban life will require both creativity and judiciousness. Pakistan's urban transition can be eased by funding literacy and vocational training programmes in cities and by regularizing Pakistani private education sector.

In this context, it is evident from the present linguistic set-up of Pakistan that due to urbar and increase in literacy more Pakistanis of new generation are speaking Urdu as a first la However, the other dimension of the matter is that in the present times it is felt that in connection to the spread of English, Urdu may lose its relevance to masses in the face of changed cultural and economic realities.

Topic – 162: Language Change and Shift in Pakistan

lms.vu.edu.pk

ENG510 - Sociolinguistics (Quiz-IV)

Question # 6 of 10 (Start time: 05:39:48 PM, 22 January 2024)

Language change can be defined as variation over time in language and is studied by ____

Select the correct option

- Applied linguistics
- Historical linguistics ✓
- Computational linguistics
- Psycholinguistics

ulms. vu. edu. pk

ENG510 - Sociolinguistics (Quiz-IV)

Question # 7 of 10 (Start time: 05:40:23 PM, 22 January 2024)

Which of the following is a resultant process of frequent code mixing?

Select the correct option

- ○ Language death
- ○ Language hybridization ✓
- ○ Language change
- ○ Language desertion

Question # 8 of 10 (Start time: 05:40:51 PM, 22 January 2024)

Which of the following is the major determining factor in the use of terms of address?

Select the correct option

- Age
- Class
- Culture
- Gender

5:42

ENG510 - Sociolinguistics (Quiz-IV) Quiz Start Time: 05:

Question # 9 of 10 (Start time: 05:41:23 PM, 22 January 2024)

Which of the following phenomena is quite common in Urdu and the local languages of Pakistan?

Select the correct option

- Dissimilarity
- Divergence
- Reduplication
- Discrepancy

Click to Save Answer & M

quite common

Sociolinguistics-ENG510

Topic – 177: Reduplication and Sociolinguistic Scene of Pakistan

Reduplication is quite common in Urdu and the local languages of Pakistan. Here are some examples in Urdu:

- pāni- shāni
- chāy- shay
- kām- shām

Examples in Punjabi:

- gul- shul
- kum- shum
- Khayāl- shayāl

There is some ambiguity related to the term. For example, look at the use of the noun phrase H organization (or high-fi organization). In general 'hi-fi' as used in English is an informal abbreviation 'high fidelity'. Webster's dictionary does not have the entry 'hi-fi'. But Webber dictionary presents high fidelity as a noun and adjective= "minimally distorted electronic sound r records or tape". According to Colins Coubuild English Dictionary, "Hi-fi, a high-fi is on which you play records and tapes, and which produces stereo sound of very good Pakistan people generally do not know hi-fi as an English lexical item. But they know the word 'High' an English lexical item. Thus probably they use fi to reduplicate. According to Kachru (1978), It "is v common in South Asian languages" and in the process of code mixing "it is applied to English items

169

5:42

ulms. vu. edu. pk

85

ENG510 - Sociolinguistics (Quiz-IV)

Quiz Start Time: 05:35 PM, 22 January

Question # 10 of 10 (Start time: 05:41:55 PM, 22 January 2024)

Total M

Reemphasizing their idea, to ensure that they have conveyed to the listener exactly what they wanted to convey. This process is known as ____.

Select the correct option

- Divergence
- Dissimilarity
- Discrepancy
- Repetition ✓

Click to Save Answer & Move to Next Questi

[redacted]

ENG510 - Sociolinguistics (Quiz-IV)

Question # 7 of 10 (Start time: 06:03:41 PM, 22 January 2024)

In Urdu language, pāni- shāni is _____ phenomenon.

Select the correct option

- Discrepancy
- Divergence
- Reduplication ✓
- Dissimilarity

[redacted]

18:37 | 17.5KB/s

Quiz
vulms.vu.edu.pk

BC200414624: MUHAMMAD SUMAIR ANJUM

ENG510 - Sociolinguistics (Quiz-IV)

Question # 1 of 10 (Start time: 06:37:42 PM, 22 January 2024)

Code mixing is a ____ phenomenon.

Select the correct option

- global
- natural
- national
- cultural

6:46

Question # 10 of 10 (Start time: 06:44:58 PM, 22 January 2024)

In Urdu language, pāni- shāni is _____ phenomenon.

Select the correct option

- ○ Discrepancy
- ○ Reduplication ✓
- ○ Divergence
- ○ Dissimilarity

Find in document

Topic – 177: Reduplication and Sociolinguistic Scene of Pakistan

Reduplication is quite common in Urdu and the local languages of Pakistan. Here are some examples in Urdu:

- pāni- shāni
- chāy- shay
- kām- shām

Examples in Punjabi:

- gul- shul
- kum- shum
- Khayāl- shayāl

There is some ambiguity related to the term. For example, look at the use of the noun phrase H organization (or high-fi organization). In general 'hi-fi' as used in English is an informal abbreviation 'high fidelity'. Webster's dictionary does not have the entry 'hi-fi'. But Webber dictionary, (1984, p. 3 presents high fidelity as a noun and adjective= "minimally distorted electronic sound reproduction, as records or tape". According to Colins Coubuild English Dictionary, "Hi-fi, a high-fi is a set of equipm on which you play records and tapes, and which produces stereo sound of very good quality (n)".
Pakistan people generally do not know hi-fi as an English lexical item. But they know the word 'High' an English lexical item. Thus probably they use fi to reduplicate. According to Kachru (1978), It "is v common in South Asian languages" and in the process of code mixing "it is applied to English items

6:47

ENG510 - Sociolinguistics (Quiz-IV)

Question # 10 of 10 (Start time: 06:43:45 PM, 22 January 2024)

Heer and Ranjha from Jhang is very famous in _____folklore.

Select the correct option

- Balochi
- Pakhtun
- Punjabi
- Sindhi

heer

Stories of Hani and Shah Murad Chakar,
Shahdad and Mahnaz
Lallah and Granaz
Mast and Sammo
War tales are equally stirring.

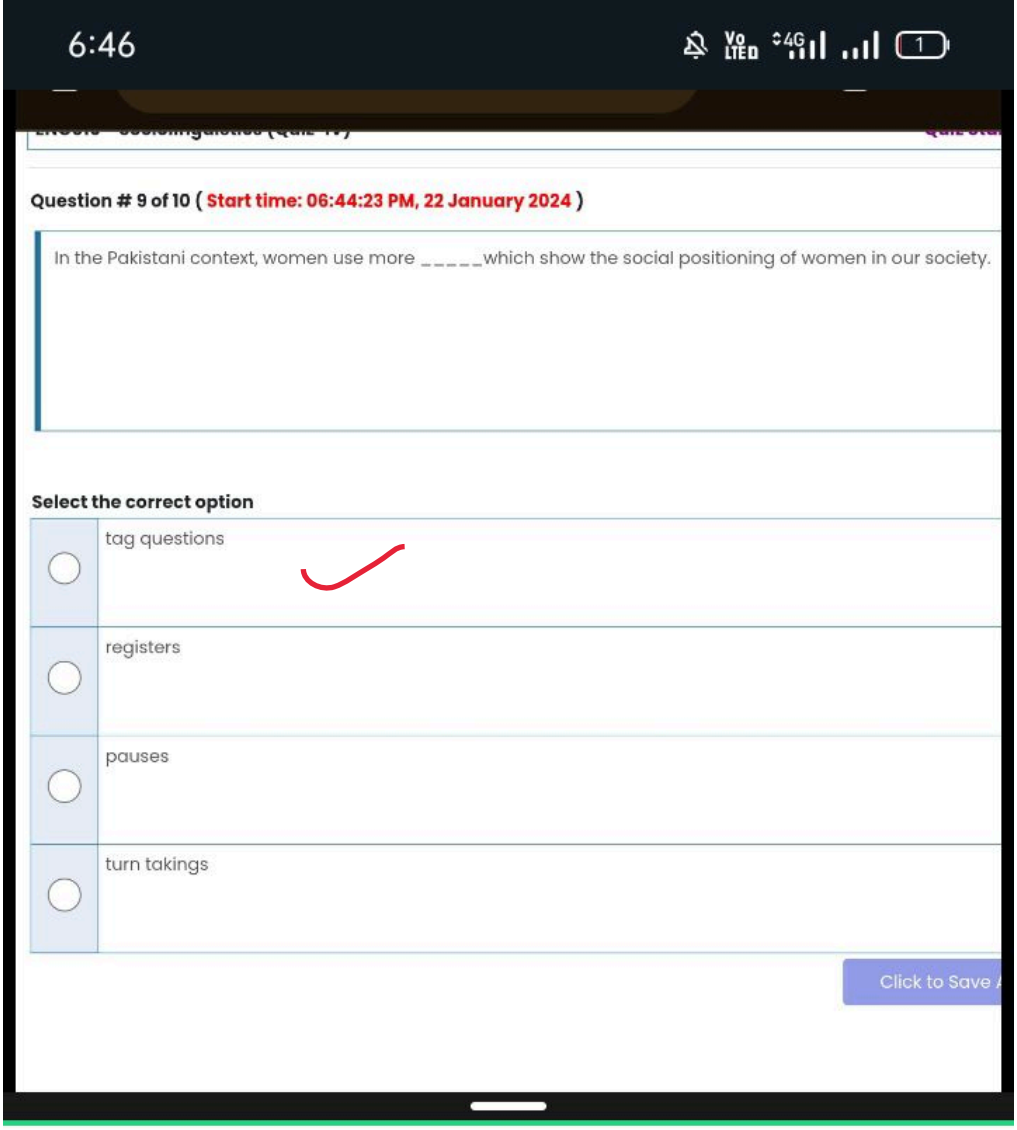

Pakhtun folklore

Songs sung with Khattak dance
The romantic tale of Adam Khan and Durkhanai features a lute-player (rabab) who music earns her love.

Punjabi folklore

Heer and Ranjha from Jhang is very famous.
Today it is celebrated in songs, movies and theatre.

In the same way, we have Saraiki and Kashmiri folklore. It is of significance to talk abo "tappay" as they are very popular. They are an oral tradition, sung by women on weddings f celebration. Tappay represent folk wisdom, cultural values, traditional rivalries, gender roles, customs a traditions. Another important oral tradition is of "lori". It is a celebration of motherhood, female gend sensibilities and culture.

women use

Sociolinguistics has a broad and sustained interest in the varieties of speech associated wi particular gender. Sociolinguistics is secondly interested in the social norms and conventions (re)produce gendered language use. Sociolinguistics, thirdly, studies the contextually specific and loc situated ways in which gender is constructed and operationalized. The study of gender and languag sociolinguistics started with Robin Lakoff's 1975 book, Language and Woman's Place. Promi scholars in this regard include Deborah Tannen, Penelope Eckert, Janet Holmes, Mary Bucholtz, Hall and Deborah Cameron. Robin Lakoff identified a "women's register", that is used to mair women's (inferior) role in society. She argued that women tend to use linguistic forms that reflect reinforce a subordinate role. Examples in this regard include minimal responses, 'mm' and 'yeah' Another example is of the use of questions. For instance, for men a question is a genuine reques information and for women it can often be a rhetorical means of engaging the other's conversati contribution or of acquiring attention. There can also be examples of turn-taking. Women's desire turn-taking gives rise to complex forms of interaction in relation to the more regimented form of t taking commonly exhibited by men. Another example can be of 'tag questions'. In Pakistani cor women use more tag questions which shows the social positioning of women in our society.

Topic – 182: Proverbs in Pakistan and Sociolinguistic Perspective

Proverbs are short, pithy sayings that reflect the accumulated wisdom, prejudices, superstitions of the human race (The New Dictionary of Cultural Literacy, 2002). It is not the ideas ra a particular phrasing that belongs to the culture and language of a particular nation. Otherwise, they often common and shared. Proverbs are oral tradition and folk wisdom. They pass down through with little change in form. Proverbs function as, general advice about how to act, how to live, reflec cultural values and physical environment from which they arise. For example, island cultures suc Hawaii have proverbs about the sea; Eastern cultures have proverbs about elephants; while Amer proverbs are about hard work bringing success. Here are some examples of proverbs from Pakis culture about women that I collected during one of my research works:

Women as unintelligent and talkative

6:47

Question # 8 of 10 (Start time: 06:43:49 PM, 22 January 2024)

Which of the following is the major determining factor in the use of terms of addres

Select the correct option

- ○ Class
- ○ Gender
- ○ Culture
- ○ Age

major determining

Address terms is an important feature of social interaction which can provide valuable information about the interlocutors, their relationship and their circumstances. Address terms play a crucial role in communication and maintaining social relationships between members of a society. They need to be studied in every language and culture. According to Yule (2006), address term is a word or phrase for the person in the context. According to Leech (1999), an important formulaic verbal behavior is well recognized in the sociolinguistic literature as they signal transactional, interpersonal and deictic ramifications in human relationships.

Modes and terms of address are important in any society for the purposes of identification and expression of ideas. The use of these terms depends upon the social rank, age, and the gender of the persons involved in any communicative situation" (Girish, 2005). In the past few decades, sociolinguists have shown great interest in studying address terms as they reflect the social relationships between members of a specific speech community. They are not static; and they vary according to the social contexts. Social factors such as class, education, occupation, age, gender, power, solidarity, politeness, race and ethnicity, religion influence the use of address terms. Culture is a major determining factor in the use of terms of address. Members of a speech community utilize various address terms according to their socio-cultural relationship. They can include proper names, nicknames, titles, pronouns, prefixes and other referent terms with semantic significance.

According to Koul and Madhu-Bala (1989), there is a difference between English and South-Asian languages in this regard. There is a multiplicity of ways in which South-Asian languages permit their speakers to mark out different kinds of relationships. In Pakistan certain honorific words and reference terms are used to address people in formal and informal situations. For example:

- Sir/ Madam
- Muhtram/ muhtarmah
- Jnāb
- molānā
- mūfti

A highly developed system of naming is used, for example, first names and surnames together with terms associated with professions and kinship. They are used in specific ways to imply particular

6:48

Question # 7 of 10 (Start time: 06:43:15 PM, 22 January 2024)

Urbanization is a _____ for modernization.

Select the correct option

- foundation
- preventer
- catalyst
- hindrance

catalyst

rather than administrative definitions of urbanisation, and they conclude that it is already 50%.

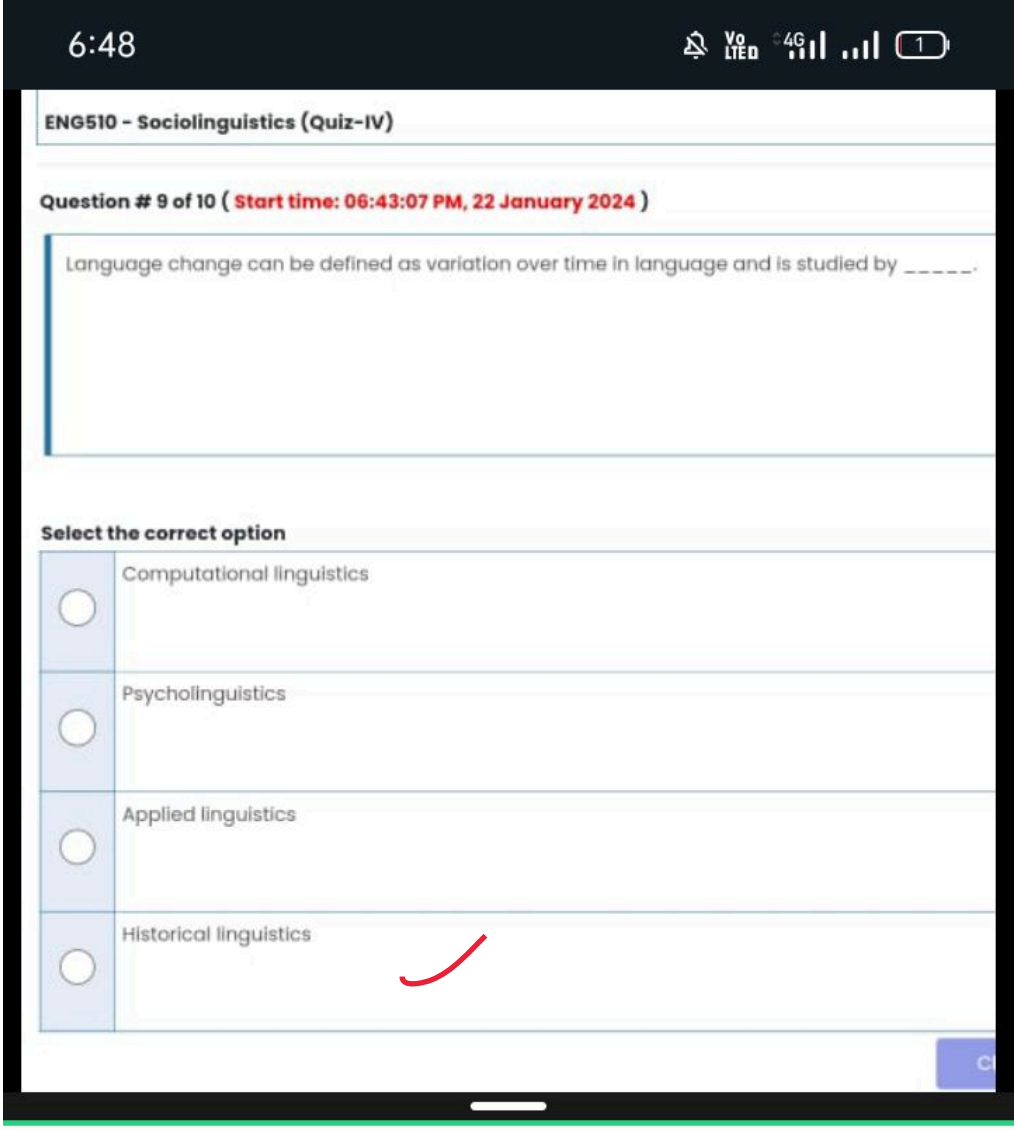

Accroding to Planning Commission, Government of Pakistan, (2011), Lahore's population is currently about 7 million, and by 2025 will exceed 10 million. As far as Karachi is concerned, it has a population of 13 million today and will be 19 million. Number of Pakistani cities with populations between .5 million and a million will be 11 – whereas today it is only two. According to Burki, Shahid Javed (2011) "Pakistan is at the threshold of a major demographic transition".

Entry into cities is to escape war, insecurity and natural disasters and also to seek new livelihoods and better basic services. High-growth industries in cities offer hope for Pakistan's floundering economy. But rising urban populations pose great challenges for job markets and service providers. Advanced telecommunications in cities provide great benefits to Pakistani society. But, language issue becomes more complicated. Urbanization, on the one hand, is a catalyst for modernization. On the other hand, it has its own challenges. Telecommunications infrastructure has hastened the growth of Pakistan's influential private media, facilitated the spread of affordable mobile technologies and accelerated Internet hook-ups.

While all of these are becoming hallmarks of Pakistani urban society; linguistic push and pull forces have also increased. Crafting an appropriate linguistic policy for this urban life will require both creativity and judiciousness. Pakistan's urban transition can be eased by funding literacy and vocational training programmes in cities and by regularizing Pakistani private education sector.

In this context, it is evident from the present linguistic set-up of Pakistan that due to urbanization, and increase in literacy more Pakistanis of new generation are speaking Urdu as a first language. However, the other dimension of the matter is that in the present times it is felt that in connection to the spread of English, Urdu may lose its relevance to masses in the face of changed cultural and economic realities.

Topic – 162: Language Change and Shift in Pakistan

language change

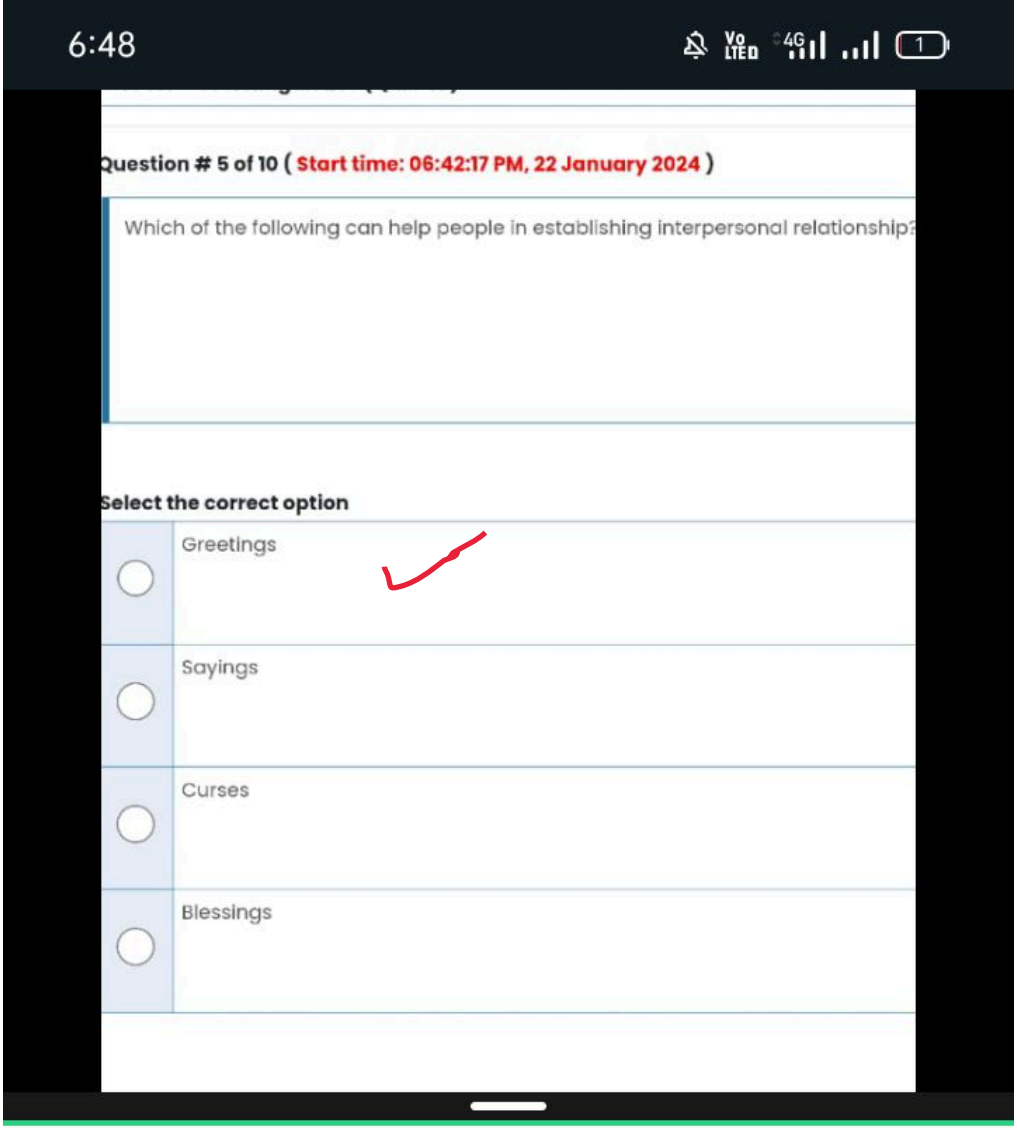

In this context, it is evident from the present linguistic set-up of Pakistan that due to urbanization, and increase in literacy more Pakistanis of new generation are speaking Urdu as a first language. However, the other dimension of the matter is that in the present times it is felt that in connection to the spread of English, Urdu may lose its relevance to masses in the face of changed cultural and economic realities.

Topic – 162: Language Change and Shift in Pakistan

Language change can be defined as variation over time in a language's phonological, morphological, semantic, syntactic, and other features. It is studied by historical linguistics and evolutionary linguistics. Language changes takes place across space and social group. Language also varies across time. Generation by generation, pronunciations evolve, new words are borrowed or invented. Types of language change include lexical changes which imply the ongoing influx of new words into any language. We need to think about the recent decades and lexical changes in Pakistani socio-linguistic context. As far as English language is concerned for example, throughout its history English has not only borrowed words from other languages but has recombined and recycled them to create new meanings, whilst losing some old words.

©Copyright Virtual University of Pakistan

interpersonal rela

Lesson 35

SOCIAL ASPECT OF LINGUISTIC PRACTICES ACROSS THE GLOBE

Topic- 171: Greetings and Sociolinguistics

Greetings are an exchange of cheerful expressions or good wishes between two people or a group of people. Greetings can help people in establishing interpersonal relationship. They can be used as an introductory remark to begin of a proper conversation. Greeting is an expression that may occur on the road, at work, shopping, the coffee shop, meetings, home and social functions. As greeting is one of the means of developing interpersonal relationships, it is worth studying from sociolinguistic point of view.

Greetings in Brazil

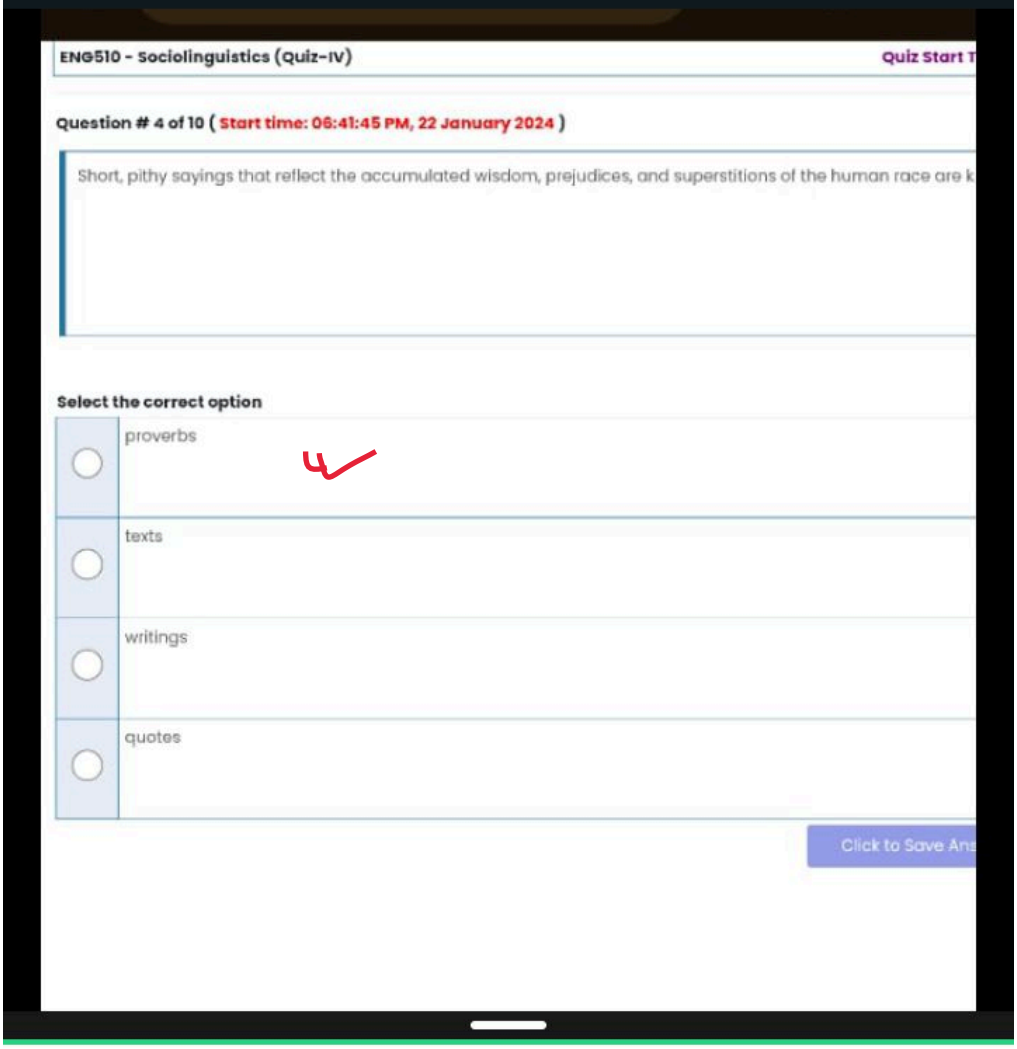

Bom dia
Good day. (R= same)
Como vai?
How are you?
Tudo bem, e voce?
All is well, and you?
Prazer em conhece-lo
Pleasure to meet you

Greetings in Lebanon

An interesting mix of both the French and Muslim/Arab cultures
Handshake while saying 'Marhaba'
Close friends exchange three kisses on the cheek, alternating cheeks in the French style

Greetings in Japan

Japanese men and women usually bow,

pithy

reinforce a subordinate role. Examples in this regard include minimal responses, 'mm' and 'yeah' etc. Another example is of the use of questions. For instance, for men a question is a genuine request for information and for women it can often be a rhetorical means of engaging the other's conversational contribution or of acquiring attention. There can also be examples of turn-taking. Women's desire for turn-taking gives rise to complex forms of interaction in relation to the more regimented form of turn-taking commonly exhibited by men. Another example can be of 'tag questions'. In Pakistani context women use more tag questions which shows the social positioning of women in our society.

Topic – 182: Proverbs in Pakistan and Sociolinguistic Perspective

Proverbs are short, pithy sayings that reflect the accumulated wisdom, prejudices, and superstitions of the human race (The New Dictionary of Cultural Literacy, 2002). It is not the ideas rather a particular phrasing that belongs to the culture and language of a particular nation. Otherwise, they are often common and shared. Proverbs are oral tradition and folk wisdom. They pass down through time with little change in form. Proverbs function as, general advice about how to act, how to live, reflect the cultural values and physical environment from which they arise. For example, island cultures such as Hawaii have proverbs about the sea; Eastern cultures have proverbs about elephants; while American proverbs are about hard work bringing success. Here are some examples of proverbs from Pakistani culture about women that I collected during one of my research works:

Women as unintelligent and talkative
• nou ki mein dus ki daadi.
• (larki ki) zuban ka taanka tut gia.
• (larki ki) gazbhar ki zuban.

6:50

Question # 3 of 10 (Start time: 06:41:02 PM, 22 January 2024)

Which of the following terms are used to name relationships in a particular society?

Select the correct option

- Kinship
- Greetings
- Blessings
- Curses

to name relation

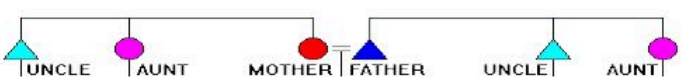

American Indians
Now you will feel no rain, for each of you will be shelter for the other.
Polish Blessing
May your heart be as patient as the earth - your love as warm as harvest gold.
Chinese Wedding Blessing
May you respect each other like honored guests.
In short blessings and curses provide insights into cultures; and are significant to study.

Topic – 173: Kinship Terms and Sociolinguistics

Kinship terminology is the system used in languages to refer to the persons to whom an individual is related through kinship. Kinship terms are the terms used to name relationships in a particular society. Each society has its own kinship terms, which reflect the culture of that society. The meanings of kinship terms reflect the relationships among kith and kin in each particular society. They invoke social meanings associated with them. Various kinship terms are used in the various social environments. Kinship terms may be differentiated by various features like:

sex (father, mother or son, daughter)
generation (mother and daughter)
collateral kinship distance (uncle and aunt)

The sociolinguistic study of the kinship terms is required to understand the social meanings associated with them. There are two types of descent involved in kinship. Patrilineal are the relations that come from the father's blood line. Matrilineal are the relations that come from the mother's blood line. Kinship refers to the culturally defined relationships between individuals who are commonly thought of as having family ties. All societies use kinship as a basis for forming social groups and for classifying people. In many societies, kinship is the most important social organizing principle along with gender and age.

6:50

ENG510 - Sociolinguistics (Quiz-IV)

Question # 1 of 10 (Start time: 06:39:10 PM, 22 January 2024)

The sentence, kitna khubsurat scene hai is an example of ___ type of mixing.

Select the correct option

- noun phrase hybridization
- noun phrase
- verb
- noun ✓

kitna

Sociolinguistics-ENG510

- setting
- addressee
- addresser
- social factors such as prestige attached to a particular language
- socio-historical background of a language

Examples from Pakistan that show various types of mixing:

1. Kitna khubsurat scene hai (noun)
2. In dono ko compare kuro (verb)
3. Yeh one-sided report hai (Noun Phrase)
4. Aj mai nay bara tasty kofta curry banaya hai. (Noun Ph Hybridization)

There are linguistic reasons as well. For example, as far as the noun insertion is concerned, evident that many a times the speakers of Urdu opt for English nouns despite the fact that the U equivalents are available. Apart from the prestige that the speakers attach to English, another reasor the choice of English equivalents can be the subtle differences of meaning that the Urdu equival cannot convey, or that the speakers think Urdu equivalents cannot convey.

One reason of making insertions of nouns is the fact that nouns are content words. Ur structural words their insertion does not have a great impact on the syntax of a sentence. Thus, the spe does not have to make great conscious effort to ensure that the chain of words within the string