IMP Objective

- 1) Distribution, how texts circulate within orders of discourse, can be investigated in terms of 'chain' relationships (as opposed to paradigmatic or 'choice' relationships)
- 2) An important stage in genre analysis is to examine the social and cultural context in which the genre is used.
- 3) Hammond and Macken Horarick (1999) argue that genre-based teaching can help students gain access to texts and discourses which will, hopefully, help them participate more successfully in second language spoken and written interactions.
- 4) It has been argued that multimodality must avoid the "tunnel vision".
- 5) Close look images published in Time magazines.
- 6) The term critical discourse analysis was introduced in the 1980s.
- 7) Fairclough's criticism revolves around two significant points.
- 8) Interpretation is the second stage of Fairclough 3d model.
- 9) Context is a key notion of Critical Discourse Studies (CDS).
- 10) CARS stands for create a research space.
- 11) Discourse undergoes historical change relating to social change.
- 12) CDA could include the documentation of: (minority discourses, diasporic voices, emergent discourses, all of the given)
- 13) Genre analysis can be made for speeches and other political genres, such as debates and interviews.
- 14) The implicature derived from a particular context, rather than from the use of the words alone is termed as particularized implicature.
- 15) CNA stands for Critical Narrative Analysis.
- 16) Four main assumptions of Discourse Analysis.
- 17) The acronym CADs stand for (Corpus-Assisted Discourse Studies)

ENG524 Mids

- 18) The term Positive Discourse Analysis first appeared in Martin 2004.
- 19) MCDA stands for Multi-modal Critical Discourse Analysis.
- 20) An utterance that a speaker makes to achieve an intended effect is called Illocutionary Act.
- 21) The term _____ refers to adding information to a corpus file. Mark-up.
- 22) MMDA stands for multi-modal discourse analysis.
- 23) A corpus in which new materials are continually added, older materials are discarded, and a balance is maintained between them is termed as open corpus.
- 24) The process by which text and context come together in the creation of meaning is referred to as contextualization.
- 25) Position of information in the text, and how the text fits with the overall knowledge in the related epistemic/discourse community is dealt with Discourse level.
- 26) The pragmatic meta-level is about procedural knowledge (how to 'make sense' of discourse and the world)
- 27) The concept of 'communicative competence' was proposed by Dell Hymes.
- 28) One of the main tenets of CDA is that power relations are discursive.
- 29) Meaning is the most important thing that makes a text; it has to make sense (Halliday).
- 30) According to Fairclough, the category of power, social class and Ideology should also be kept in mind while doing Discourse Analysis.
- 31) "Strategy" is the process by which ends are related to means, intentions to capabilities, and objectives to resources.
- 32) The term Corpus is used to refer to large collections of texts which represent a sample of a particular variety or use of language(s) that are presented in machine readable form.
- 33) Collective Narrative is a narrative that forms part of a group's identity.
- 34) The term —critical discourse analysis was introduced in the 1980s
- 35) Discursive strategies are investigated.
- 36) CDS developed historically out of Critical Linguistics (CL), an approach to language study developed at the University of East Anglia.

ENG524 Mids

37) Multi-Modal Discourse Analysis (MMDA)

38) Conversation views context as constructed moment by moment through conversational moves.

39) The presupposition that merely presuppose the existence of something is called Existential presupposition.

40 The term register refers to varieties of language use that are distinguishable based on situational characteristics such as purpose, mode, setting, author/speaker, and reader.

41) Do not say that for which you lack adequate evidence, is Grice's maxim of quality.

42) Corpus-Assisted Discourse Studies (CADS)

43) Stibbe (2014) further argued that the term critical does not imply “being negative”.

44) Which of the following is NOT the discursive strategy of DHA? A. Perspectivisation B. Predication C. Nomination D. Abstraction

45) It aims to depict the social object as just, rational and worthy of support. This strategy of Normalization is called Justification.

46) The term Modus Barbara is used to understand logical proofs deeply.

47) The DHA Discourse Historical Approach is three-dimensional.

48) The term meta-discourse was first coined by the linguist Zelling Harris (1959)

49) Norman Fairclough began work on CDA in the early 1980s

50) The study of meaning in relation to the context in which a person is speaking or writing is called Pragmatics.

51) Ethos - proof through the credibility of the character of the speaker.

52) Pathos - proof by the emotional disposition of the audience.

53) Logos - proof by the arguments presented in the speech.

54) Two books of Kress and van Leeuwen's "Reading Images" (1996) and O'Toole's "The Language of Displayed Art" (1994)

55) And the basis for meaning is choice.

ENG524 Mids

- 56) Early approaches used various metaphors to depict context.
- 57) MMDA is influenced by the work of Halliday (1978) and was pioneered by Kress and van Leeuwen (1996).
- 58) Public Consultative Discourse Analysis (PCDA)
- 59) Images have been given special attention in much of the work in multimodal discourse analysis.
- 60) Fairclough provides a three-dimensional framework for the analysis of text and discourse
- 61) Time Magazine usually publishes close-look images with high-level facial expressions having strong eye contact.
- 62) Bartlett's work has provided a sociocultural explanation.
- 63) CDA is a linguistic approach that emerged in the early 1990s
- 64) The DHA Discourse Historical Approach is problem-oriented.
- 65) Language is ambiguous - What things mean is never absolutely clear.
- 66) Political discourse is anchored in multi-dimensional deixis.
- 67) Language is a tool of communication.
- 68) Context can be broken down into a macro, meso and micro-dimension.
- 69) The Discourse-Historical Approach pays special attention to the fourth dimension, the historical context.
- 70) Goodwin and Duranti (1992) adopt the metaphor of figure as text and ground as context.
- 71) According to Bartlett (2012), there has been no entry of the term Positive Discourse Analysis (PDA) in Wikipedia; and on Google, there were few publications on PDA.
- 72) Jewitt (2009) describes four theoretical assumptions.
- 73) Discourse analysts frequently conceive of discourse as "text in context".
- 74) According to Malinowski and Firth; the context consists of:
 a) Field
 b) Tenors
 c) Mode
 d) all of these.
- 75) According to Piller "cultures" vary in time, space, and scale.

ENG524 Mids

- 76) If you say something that represents a threat to another person's self-image, that is called a face-threatening act.
- 77) Metaphor, even if partly based in embodied experience, is also a function of pragmatic choices and never independent of its context of use.
- 78) Metaphor is seen as a cognitive process that involves conceptualizing one thing in terms of another.
- 79) Language is always "in the world"
- 80) Language is never used all by itself.
- 81) The study of the social functions of different kinds of texts is called genre analysis.
- 82) In order to analyze, understand, and explain the complexity of the objects.
- 83) Maxims of quantity is Being brief.
- 84) Van Dijk concentrates on social cognition as the mediating part between text and society.
- 85) The investigation must be interdisciplinary.
- 86) The prototype theory was proposed by _____ (Rosch's (1978))
- 87) Presuppositions of "I used to smoke" is sentence level.
- 88) The co-text of a word is the set of other words used in the same phrase or sentence.
- 89) Viennese Critical Discourse Analysis ante litteram.
- 90) The term "topos" can be defined as an optimistically assume ultimately truth will prevail.
- 91) A key insight of CMT is that conceptual metaphors have their origins in our embodied experiences.
- 92) An understanding and critical appraisal of relevant literature.
- 93) Fill and Mühlhäusler in their book The Ecolinguistics Reader have linked ecology and language in three distinct ways.
- 94) parody: a mocking questioning of presupposed knowledge which Macgilchrist considers a form of logical inversion with a limited scope for uptake.
- 95) To understand the uniqueness of historical moments, we need to situate them in larger landscapes of time and space.

ENG524 Mids

- 96) Who introduced the Discourse Historical Approach? Ruth Wodak
- 97) Fairclough considers “language” and “order of discourse” as two centripetal forces in any discursive event.
- 98) Collocation concerns the specific co-text of a word and the way the combination of words in a phrase can carry significant changes in meaning.
- 99) Cook (2008) states: — Advertising is one of the most prominent, powerful, and ubiquitous contemporary uses of language.
- 100) In referring to language use as discourse Fairclough has investigated it in a social-theoretically informed way, as a form of social practice.
- 101) Inter-textual analysis links the text and discourse practice dimensions of the framework.
- 102) Second Meta function in SFL is interpersonal.
- 103) The first assumption is that language is part of an ensemble of modes, each of which has equal potential to contribute to meaning.
- 104) The relationship between language and context is fundamental to pragmatics.
- 105) Gouveia 2007 In education, the term PDA can be used to cover various progressive strands such as:
- A) Reading to Learn programme
 - B) Critical Applied Linguistics
 - C) Curriculum Design
 - D) All of the given options
- 106) In Discourse Analysis the language beyond the level of the sentence.
- 107) Socio-diagnostic critique is both epistemic and deontic.

Subjective

Write three proofs in CDA?

- 1) Logos - proof by the arguments presented in the speech.
- 2) Ethos - proof through the credibility of the character of the speaker
- 3) Pathos - proof by the emotional disposition of the audience.

How does conversation analysis view context in understanding discourse? OR Write Two major points of conversational analysis.

Conversation Analysis (CA) views context as constructed moment by moment through conversational moves. According to the strong view, evidence of context should be found in the sequence of speaker turns. The weaker view argues that analysts may also consider the broader institutional context to achieve a more grounded analysis.

Five Types of Corpora Based on Text Selection Procedure?

- i. Sample corpus
- ii. Full-text corpora
- iii. Closed / Static Corpus
- iv. Open/dynamic corpus
- v. Collections

True false from 3rd phase of DHA.....

See Topic: 13 part 3rd phase.

Fill in the blanks given option (dysfunction, fieldwork, application oriented)

Prospective critique is strongly application-oriented. It is practical, aimed at reducing dysfunctional communication and language barriers, at improving communication within public institutions by elaborating proposals and guidelines on the basis of careful fieldwork.

True/False from Cameron topic.....

- 1) The relationship between linguistic form and communicative function is of central interest in the area of pragmatics, as Cameron (2001) argues, is highly relevant to the field of discourse analysis. TRUE
- 2) According to Cameron, workers are merely “cultural dopes” who mechanically follow rules. False {Cameron explicitly states that workers are not just “cultural dopes.”}

ENG524 Mids

- 3) Deborah Cameron (2000, 2010) and Monika Heller (2003, 2010) are well known for tracking the ways language has been centered and affected as part of the broader postindustrial commodification of knowledge and communication. TRUE.
- 4) Heller and Cameron, the iconic example of these new forms of labouring – the poster children or call center workers. TRUE
- 5) Cameron argues that micro-analytic approaches to institutional talk properly account for workplace regulation and surveillance. False {Cameron argues that they are inherently flawed because they do not properly account for these factors.}

Five counter discursive strategies by Macgilchrist?

Number	Terms	Meaning	Examples
1)	logical inversion	Giving a direct opposite argument to the dominant view.	Mainstream view: "Social media is harmful." Logical inversion: "Social media is actually beneficial."
2)	parody	Challenging a dominant idea by making fun of it.	Using humor or sarcasm to criticize a political idea.
3)	complexification	Showing both sides of an issue instead of only one side.	A news report presents both the advantages and disadvantages of a government policy.
4)	partial reframing	Looking at an issue from a different angle for a short time instead of following the usual viewpoint.	Instead of discussing immigration as a security issue, discussing it as a human rights issue.
5)	radical reframing	Replacing the dominant viewpoint with a completely different way of understanding the issue.	Instead of asking how to reduce poverty, asking whether the economic system itself creates poverty.

Recall the concept of Discourse Historical Approach having an eight-stage program and pic/write only the correct statement..... OR What are the eight stages of the Discourse-Historical Approach (DHA)?

- 1) Literature review, activation of theoretical knowledge
- 2) Systematic collection of data and context information\
- 3) Selection and preparation of data for specific analyses
- 4) Specification of the research questions and formulation of assumptions
- 5) Qualitative pilot analysis
- 6) Detailed case studies
- 7) Formulation of critique
- 8) Application of the detailed analytical results

ENG524 MidsWhat is the aim of positive discourse analysis?

The aim of Positive Discourse Analysis (PDA) is to invest intellectual resources in setting an agenda of social change and future aims through discourse analysis. PDA encourages a reorientation in critical thinking which considers how people make the world a better place and design interventions based on such considerations.

Metaphor in CDA?

A metaphor is the understanding of one conceptual domain in terms of another conceptual domain. In CDA, metaphors are analyzed because they shape how people think about and understand social and political realities.

Example:

If a politician says: "The fight against poverty"

Poverty is presented as a war or battle. This metaphor makes people think of poverty as an enemy that must be defeated.

True/False.....

- + MMDA focuses "specifically on how different semiotic resources are deployed in the re-contextualization of social practices for ideological purposes... True
- + Van Leeuwen and Wodak (1999) argue that social practices can be re-contextualized in language through substitutions, additions, and deletions and re-ordering of the sequences that comprise events. True
- + Particular social practice, ideas about why it is the way it is, who is involved and what kinds of values they hold. True
- + Social practices may have: participants, ideas, values and attitudes; activities; social relations; objects and instruments; time and setting and causality. True
- + In a university document, in order to see that what kind of social practices are re-contextualized, we may look upon: which causality and identities have not been deleted or substituted or added. False

True false from PDA..... OR True/False from PDA :Origin and Orientations. [See topic53]

- a) The term Positive Discourse Analysis first appears in Martin (2004). TRUE

ENG524 Mids

- b) He supports a more ideologically oriented discourse analysis which not only focuses deconstructing language in the service of power but, in addition, also on analysis of and participation in sites of successful social change. TRUE
- c) PDA focuses on positive orientations to discourse analysis. TRUE
- d) Only deconstructive activity is required for a healthy CDA. FALSE {both deconstructive and constructive activities are required.}
- e) PDA focuses only on problems and inequalities. False [PDA focuses on solutions, successful social change, and constructive forces.]
- f) Martin was influenced by Kress's idea of “design.” TRUE
- g) PDA discourages a reorientation in critical thinking which considers how people make the world a better place. FALSE {Courages}
- h) PDA emphasizes designing intervention based on consideration of improving the world. TRUE
- i) Martin’s used a term “design” which focused on using past agendas and products. FALSE {Kress}

What is discursive strategy? OR Name the discursive strategies in DHA?

In Discourse Analysis and especially Critical Discourse Analysis (CDA), discursive strategies are the methods or techniques speakers and writers use to present ideas, influence people, shape opinions, or create a particular image through language.

Common Discursive Strategies:

- 1) Nomination
- 2) Predication
- 3) Argumentation
- 4) Perspectivisation
- 5) Mitigation and Intensification

True/False Topic-35: Application of Genre Analysis

- 1) Hammond and Macken Horarick (1999) argue that genre-based teaching helps students participate more successfully in second language spoken and written interactions. True
- 2) Luke (1996) supports teaching genres of power because it always provides learners with access. False (Luke (1996) argues that teaching genres of power leads to uncritical reproduction of text and does not necessarily provide the kind of access hoped for learners.
- 3) Academic essays and dissertations are examples of genres of power. True

ENG524 Mids

- 4) According to Luke (1996), teaching academic essays and dissertations may lead to uncritical reproduction of text. True
- 5) Christie (1993) and Martin (1993) believe that not teaching genres of power is socially responsible. False (Christie (1993) and Martin (1993) argue that not teaching genres of power is socially irresponsible)
- 6) Disadvantaged students benefit when programs do not address genres of power. False (Disadvantaged students are especially disadvantaged by programs that do not address genres of power.)
- 7) Genre-based teaching can never limit student expression. False (Genre-based teaching may limit student expression if it uses model texts and focuses on audience expectations.)
- 8) Genre-based teaching may limit student expression through model texts and audience expectations. True
- 9) Teaching genres of power necessarily provides the access hoped for learners. False (Teaching genres of power does not necessarily provide the kind of access hoped for learners.)
- 10) Christie (1993) and Martin (1993) support teaching genres of power. True

Define Perlocutionary Act in One Line?

Perlocutionary act: The effect of an utterance on the thoughts or actions of the other person.

What is Pragma-Dialectics?

Pragma-Dialectics has been extended by van Eemeren and Peter Houtlosser (1956–2008). Pragma-Dialectics is an approach to argumentation that combines insights from pragmatics and dialectics. It views argumentation as a critical discussion aimed at resolving a difference of opinion through reasonable dialogue.

TRUE FALSE about Fairclough's Method (3D Model of CDA)?See Topic-20

- 1) Fairclough's 3D model consists of three stages: Description, Interpretation, and Explanation. True
- 2) Description stage focuses on the formal properties of the text. True

ENG524 Mids

- 3) Interpretation stage is concerned only with grammar and vocabulary. False [It focuses on the relationship between discourse and its production/consumption, cognition, speech acts, and intertextuality.]
- 4) The explanation stage is concerned with sociocultural practice. TRUE
- 5) In the interpretation stage, discourse is regarded only as text. False [Discourse is regarded as both text and discursive practice.]
- 6) Explanation stage links texts to wider social and cultural contexts. True
- 7) Intertextuality links the text and discourse practice dimensions of Fairclough's framework. True
- 8) Fairclough's framework has only two dimensions. False { It has three dimensions }
- 9) Fairclough views discourse simultaneously as text, discourse practice, and socio-cultural practice. True
- 10) Description stage analyzes vocabulary, grammar, and text structure. True

True false from Faircloughs CDA?

- + He began work on CDA in the early 1980s (T)
- + He has drawn upon the cultural-political economy (T)
- + The aim of linking CDA to his political activities. (T)
- + His collaboration with Isabella Faircloughs to bring argumentation theory (T)

Fill in the blanks (representation, immigrants, phenomenon, and meaning)

- i. A viewpoint about multimodality is the cognitive approach, inspired mainly by the work of Forceville (1996).
- ii. This approach studies how visual metaphors, in film, advertising and cartoons, for example, as with metaphors in language (Charteris Black, 2014), can be used to shape perceptions of particular phenomenon.
- iii. This approach has been taken on by some critical discourse analysts to show some visual metaphorical patterns in the representation of immigrants.
- iv. “A multimodal social-semiotic approach assumes that all modes of representation are, in principle, of equal significance in representation and communication, as all modes have potential for meaning, though differently with different modes”.

Halliday and Webster's major components?1) Ideational Component:

The ideational component represents human experience and understanding of the world. It includes:

ENG524 Mids

- Process
- Participants
- Circumstances

2) Interpersonal Component:

The interpersonal component expresses social relationships, attitudes, and interactions between speakers and listeners. It includes:

- Mood
- Modality
- Appraisal
- Politeness

3) Textual Component:

The textual component helps organize language into a coherent and meaningful text. It includes:

- Means of Reference
- Rhetorical Structure Theory
- Thematic Structure

These components work together to create meaning and make communication effective.

Explain Maxim of quality?

“Speak the truth and do not say something false or without evidence.” The Maxim of Quality requires speakers to provide truthful and evidence-based information during communication.

Main Rules:

- ❖ Do not say what you believe to be false.
- ❖ Do not say that for which you lack adequate evidence

Example of Following the Maxim

A: “Did Sara attend the meeting?”

B: “Yes, I saw her there.”

Example of Violating the Maxim

A: “Have you completed the project?”

B: “Yes.” (Even though the project is unfinished)

Difference between stance and engagement?

ENG524 Mids

Stance	Engagement
Stance means the way writers show their own thoughts, opinions, feelings, judgments, and level of certainty about a topic or about other people's ideas. A writer can: • show their personal opinion clearly (intrude), or • Hide their personal involvement and sound more objectives (step back).	Engagement means the way writers involve and communicate with their readers. Writers do this by: • addressing readers directly, • guiding their understanding, • considering their doubts, • And making them feel part of the discussion.
Example: ✚ "I believe that online learning is effective." → the writer clearly shows their opinion.	Example: ✚ "As you can see, the data supports this argument." → the writer engages the reader.

What is Pragmatic argument?

According to Kienpointner, a Pragmatic Argument is a way of supporting or criticizing a political action by looking at its results or consequences. If an action (A) produces good effects (B, C, D) and has fewer negative effects than another option (X), then that action should be supported or considered good.

For example:

"The government should build more schools because it will increase education, create jobs, and improve literacy."

Here, the action (building schools) is supported because of its positive effects.

3 Dimensions of Fairclough's Model?

- Text
- Discourse Practice (production, consumption, distribution)
- Socio-cultural Practice

What are the three parts of context according to Malinowski and Firth?

- ✚ Field: The social action or activity taking place.
- ✚ Tenor: The participants, their roles, and relationships.
- ✚ Mode: The channel of communication and the role of language in the situation.

ENG524 MidsWhat are Objections to SFL in CDA by Van Dijk and Blommaert?*Van Dijk's Objections:

- 1) Too much focus on sentence grammar
- 2) Use of difficult and esoteric vocabulary
- 3) Limitations in SFL theory of context
- 4) Anti-mentalist position

Blommaert's Objections:

- 1) Linguistic bias in CDA
- 2) Linguists do not own theories of language
- 3) Too much focus on textual analysis
- 4) Neglect of social conditions
- 5) Need for ethnographic and socio-historical analysis

Noam Chomsky's division of competence vs performance?Competence:

- Linguistic competence is the system of linguistic knowledge possessed by native speakers of a language.
- It is innate.
- A speaker still has linguistic competence even if he does not speak.

Performance:

- Linguistic performance is the way the language system is used in communication.
- It includes speaking, listening, reading, and writing.
- The actual use of language in real-life situations.

Fill in the blanks. Given words (semiotic, context, text)

SFL helps to explore these semiotic resources. SFL also tends to use texts and other semiotic materials in order to establish 'the grammar', the underlying systemic resources. Departing from the assumption that the semiotic behavior of sign-makers is guided by more or less the same conventions, regardless of the contexts and semiotic modes involved.

Cap and Okulska (2013: 9) question?

Cap and Okulska (2013: 9) question the actual role of "authorship" (production) as a defining feature of political genres due to the "intensity of migration" into new media.

Recall the concept of technologization of Discourse by Fairclough and fill in the blank given (Context, Technologization, Micro, discursive, macro, top down)

- 1) Fairclough keeps discourse at workplace in Micro domain.
- 2) He has used a term Technologization of discourse.

ENG524 Mids

- 3) Technologization of discourse is a top down intervention.
- 4) It aims to change discursive practices within orders of discourse.
- 5) No instance of discursive practice can be interpreted without reference to its Context.
- 6) Fairclough mentions macro domain of discourse, i.e. political talk, government policies.
- 7) The link between sociocultural practice and the other two dimensions involves the integration of macro and micro analysis of discursive events.
- 8) The former includes analysis of discourse technologization processes.
- 9) No instance of discursive practice can be interpreted without reference to its context.
- 10) Macro phenomena such as technologization of discourse cannot be properly analyzed without evidence of their actual effects on practice.

Three important aspects of genres?

- a) Genres are communicative events
- b) Conventions and Constraints
- c) Creativity

How "image schema" developed?

Image schemas develop from our embodied experiences, especially during infancy and early childhood. As children interact physically with the world—for example, crawling and moving toward desired objects—they acquire recurring patterns of experience. These experiences are stored as basic knowledge structures called image schemas.

What are the three genres modes?

- 1) Field of discourse
- 2) Tenor of discourse
- 3) Mode of discourse

Three tools about communication?

People use different modes/tools for communication such as:

- 1) Images
- 2) Gesture
- 3) Gaze
- 4) Posture

The navigation structure for the written text?

The navigation structure for the written text requires the reader to consume the image and its caption before reading the full text of the article by opening the pages of the magazine.

Main parts of conversation?

- ❖ Opening
- ❖ Body

ENG524 Mids

Five types to select text from corpus?

- 1) the mode of the text; whether the language originates in speech or writing, or perhaps nowadays in electronic mode
- 2) the type of text; for example, if written, whether a book, a journal, a notice or a letter
- 3) the domain of the text; for example, whether academic or popular
- 4) the language or languages or language varieties of the corpus
- 5) the location of the texts; for example (the English of) UK or Australia
- 6) the date of the texts

Fill in the Blanks From the topic– "Strategies of Normalization".....

- a) Euphemization – aims to color the social object in positive tones, in terms of its appearance, character, or valuation.
- b) Naturalization – aims to represent the social object as a force or event independent of human agency, or as an inevitable outcome of the laws of nature. OR depicts it as inevitable or beyond human control.
- c) Justification – aims to depict the social object as just, rational, worthy of support.

Name the “estates” of research by van Eemeren and Grootendorst?

- 1) Philosophical Estate – clarifies the concept of reasonableness.
- 2) Theoretical Estate – develops a theory from philosophical premises.
- 3) Analytical Estate – reconstructs the argumentative structure of texts.
- 4) Empirical Estate – conducts qualitative research on argumentative moves and indicators.
- 5) Practical Estate – applies research findings to improve argumentative practice.

Face in Politeness Theory into 3 to 4 lines.

Politeness generally refers to the ideas like being tactful, modest and nice to other people. In pragmatics, politeness can be defined as ____ showing awareness and consideration of another person's face'.

Face is a person's public self-image. It has two aspects: positive face (the desire for approval and appreciation) and negative face (the desire for freedom and independence).

Discourse Analysis True false.....

See Topic-01: Introduction to Discourse Analysis

Write about “Image schema”?

Image schemas are basic knowledge structures that arise from our embodied experiences. For example, from a young age we learn to crawl and move toward objects we want; such experiences become image schemas. There are two prominent image schemas 1) Container image schema and 2) Path schema

ENG524 Mids

Path Image Schema

- It is based on our experience of forward motion.
- It includes:
 - 1) Starting location
 - 2) Destination
 - 3) The path between these two points

Views of Marian Achugar on memory and history?

Mariana Achugar has thrown some light on two constructs: memory and history. For him, memory is connected with the lived experience (testimony), and history more related with the reformulation of this experience into a scientific discourse. He further claims, memory attempts to be faithful to the past, while history aims to be truthful. Memory represents lived time and space, i.e. 'I was there'. While, history represents the locus of enunciation of the historian, i.e. 'someone somewhere did something'. Memory is focused on continuity while history foregrounds change and the reasons for change.

Difference between conventional and particularized conversational implicatures?

Conventional Conversational Implicature	Particularized Conversational Implicature
No special context is needed to understand the meaning.	A specific context or situation is needed to understand the meaning.
The implied meaning comes from specific words.	The implied meaning depends on the conversation and circumstances.
The meaning can be understood even without knowing the situation.	Without knowing the context, the meaning cannot be understood properly.
Examples: • but = shows contrast • even = something surprising • yet = something unexpected • anyway = returning to the main topic	Example: A: "Are you going to the party?" B: "I have an exam tomorrow." → B does not directly say "No," but in this context it implies that B probably will not go to the party.
